RUSSIA CHIDES HUNGARY FOR BLOW AT SERBS

Warns Nation Might Be Torn to Bits

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP).—Soviet Russia, asked by Hungary to indorse the Hungarian invasion of Jugo-Slavia, has replied with her disapproval and a reminder that Hungary, too, might one day be "torn to bits," Tass, official soviet news agency, disclosed tonight.

Hungarian Minister Joseph Kristoffy called on Andrei Y. Vishinsky, soviet vice commissar of foreign affairs, explained why Hungary had sent troops into Jugo-Slavia, and expressed hope that Russia would recognize the action as just, Tass said. Vishinsky, it continued, replied:

"If this statement was made in order to invite the soviet government to express its opinion, I must state that the soviet government cannot approve such a step on the part of Hungary.

Recalls Friendship Pact.

"A particularly bad impression is produced upon the soviet government by the fact that Hungary commenced war against Jugo-Slavia but four months after she concluded with the latter a pact of eternal friendship.

"It is not difficult to realize what would be the position of Hungary should she herself get into trouble and be torn to bits, since it is known that there are national minorities in Hungary, too."

FOURTH SUCH MOVE.

Russia's rebuke to Hungary was the fourth time Moscow has spoken out since Germany began treading on her sphere of influence in southeastern Europe. The first show of disapproval came on March 3 after Bulgaria opened her frontiers to Adolf Hitler's legions.

Then, on March 25, Russia gave Turkey a pledge of benevolent neutrality in case the Turks were attacked by Germany. Finally, after the Jugo-Slav government which aligned Belgrade with the axis had been overthrown, Russia on April 5 announced a treaty of friendship and nonaggression with the new Jugo-Slav government.

ANTI-RED PROPAGANDA

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 12.—Persons arriving in Sweden from various points in Germany to spend a short Easter vacation report the movement of many German troops toward the Russian frontier during the last week. The soviet propaganda campaign against Germany now is being answered by a German propaganda campaign against Russia, they said. Meetings are being held to revive the hatred of bolshevism and Alfred Rosenberg, who conducted the earlier Nazi campaign against communism, is directing the new drive.

Estonian, Latvian, and Lithuanian refugees are addressing the meetings and telling how soviet officials have destroyed their countries thru the introduction of class warfare and the nationalization of all private property.

Little news about Russia is appearing in the German press and no news of the new German anti-Russian policy has been published.

Banker Leaves for Europe on Mysterious Errand

New York, April 12 [Special].—Frederico Stallforth, New York private banker, left for Europe today on the Atlantic Clipper, presumably to negotiate for the purchase by the United States of Danish, Italian, and German ships seized in American waters.

"I can't say," he insisted when asked if it were true that he was on such a mission. "I don't know. I am going abroad on private business. You had better print as little as possible about me to save the state department embarrassment."

BRITISH-GERMAN BATTLE RAGES IN FLORINA SECTOR

Greece's Army Hurls Back Nazi Thrust.

COLOR MAP TOMORROW

All editions of tomorrow's Tribune will carry a full color contour map of Greece, Albania, and southern Jugo-Slavia.

BERNE, Switzerland, April 13, Sunday (AP).—British and German armored columns, supported by dive bombers and fighter planes, were reported fighting a violent battle early today in the plain between Bitolj, Jugo-Slavia, and Florina, Greece, a key point in the allied defense line across Greece.

Dispatches reaching Sofia, Bulgaria, now occupied by the Germans, said the fast moving columns were engaged in a fierce struggle—one of the first of its kind in this war between completely armored forces maneuvering on a flat plain.

Earlier British dispatches reaching here said armored car patrols scouting in the Bitolj region had destroyed a motorized German infantry unit without loss to themselves.

[The German radio in an English language broadcast heard in New York last night said that the two British wings in Greece (east and west) were reported to be giving way to the Germans.]

Greeks Halt Nazi Thrust.

ATHENS, Greece, April 12 (AP).—The hardy Greek armies of the allied left flank have battered a heavy German attacking force and thrown it into retreat in the first real test of the Greek-British line of defense thrown up across northern Hellas, the government announced tonight.

On a 12 mile battle front, German panzer units—tanks, armored cars, and machine gun mounted motorcycles—followed by motorized infantry, broke against the Greek lines.

"They were repulsed and retreated, suffering losses," the Greek official spokesman announced.

Contact On Central Front.

This action occurred Friday. The high command communique covering Saturday's Greek action said merely: "Restricted activity at various points on both [Greek and Albanian] fronts."

The Athens radio reported that German armored columns are in contact with the central front held by the main Greek and British forces.

The array of German mechanized might forced to retreat on Friday had poured down thru Bitolj [Monastir] pass into a rugged triangle formed by Bitolj, Jugo-Slavia, and Florina and Vanitsa, Greece.

Fight British Patrols.

Fighting their way past British armored patrols, the Germans struck the lines between Florina and Vanitsa and recoiled.

These two Greek towns are important junctions at the northern end of the main Greek road system. This Florina-Vanitsa sector, moreover, is the western anchor of the allied line which stretches some 100 miles to the slopes of Mount Olympus.

On the east, where the mountains slope down to the Aegean sea, British patrols clashed with German advance guards between Gianitsa and the coast, and the Greeks said the Germans who took Salonika had penetrated farther inland without establishing contact with the defense lines.

The allies previously acknowledged

EXTRA DAYLIGHT!

A rare gift of 28 extra hours of daylight is within the reach of every Chicagoan. It depends upon passage by the city council of a pending ordinance extending daylight saving time thru October. V. K. Brown, superintendent of recreation for the park district, said yesterday the added hour each day would be valuable for:

1. A game of golf or tennis after work.
2. Sailing and boating in the final few weeks of mild weather on the lake.
3. Softball, soccer, or football.
4. Children seeking healthful exercise in public playgrounds.

Recall Danish Envoy for Deal on Greenland

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister to the United States, tonight was recalled by Denmark's Nazi dominated foreign office in Copenhagen because he signed an agreement with President Roosevelt placing Greenland under the protection of the United States.

Henrik de Kauffmann. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

A spokesman at the Danish legation said de Kauffmann would let Secretary of State Cordell Hull decide whether or not he should obey the order. He added that the recall order was issued under duress.

[Dispatches from Copenhagen said the Danish foreign office had declared void the agreement between the United States and the Danish minister in Washington placing Greenland under American protection.]

Ship Order Ignored.

The envoy did not consult his government before signing the agreement with the President Wednesday, because of his country's occupation by the German troops. He acted in what he thought was to the best interest of his king and country and notified his foreign office after he had signed the agreement.

The recall was also issued because De Kauffmann had agreed to President Roosevelt's plan to purchase or charter the 39 Danish merchant ships seized in American ports by this country two weeks ago. He did not object to the President's plans even tho he had been instructed to notify the state department that the 39 Danish vessels in so-called protective custody were not for sale.

De Kauffmann ignored these instructions because the Danish foreign office is in the hands of the Nazis.

Action Illegal, Say Nazis.

BERLIN, April 12 (AP).—Authorized German sources today commented on President Roosevelt's arrangements with the Danish minister in Washington for bases on Greenland, as follows:

"That Roosevelt shrinks from no violation of law is well known. According to information we have, his arrangement with the Danish minister is illegal. Until the Danish government, however, has announced its position Germany will not make known its own. It will then, however, react in the manner deemed best and by measures deemed expedient."

President Roosevelt's proclamation opening the Red sea route to Suez to United States merchant shipping was described by the Nazi spokesman as the first open intervention in European affairs and violation of the European Monroe doctrine.

2 NEW NAZI WARSHIPS, BELIEVED ENLARGED, READY FOR SEA DUTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 12.—Germany's two new dreadnaughts, the Bismarck and the Tirpitz, are said to be ready for sea duty after trial runs in the Baltic sea this week. A naval attaché, who was permitted to make an inspection of the Bismarck, said today that the ship is much larger than her registered 35,000 tons. He believed she would be much nearer 50,000 tons. The Bismarck, like her sister ship, the Tirpitz, has unusually heavy armament with special protection against air bombs.

UNION IN CICERO FINDS QUICK WAY TO COLLECT DUES

George Stedronsky, Cicero town president, said yesterday the Electrical Workers' union employs a quaint but effective method of collecting dues. Two weeks ago about 15 electricians and other building trades craftsmen walked out on a remodeling job on his home at 1835 South Austin boulevard, Cicero.

He was puzzled by the strike until it was explained an electrician employed by the town was behind in dues and that work would not be resumed until Stedronsky persuaded the electrician to pay up.

DUBLIN TO SEE GREATEST ARMY PARADE TODAY

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 12 (AP).—This capital will witness tomorrow the greatest military parade ever held under the direction of the Irish government. As part of the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Easter week uprising in 1916, 25,000 are expected to march down once bloody O'Connell street past the general postoffice where Irish independence was proclaimed 25 years ago.

Three volleys will be fired from the roof of the building by men who fought in the rebellion.

Easter Finds U. S. at Peace and Thankful

An America at peace with the world, altho precariously, was prepared today to celebrate the festival of Easter in a mingled mood of springtime gayety and thankfulness for its blessings.

Weather forecasts indicated that Chicago and most of the United States would enjoy beautiful weather for Easter parades of finery. "Partly cloudy and continued warm," was the local prediction, and there was a chance that the mercury might climb high enough to set an all Easter record to replace the old one of 81 on March 27, 1910.

Warmest Day of Year.

Only a repetition of yesterday's temperatures is necessary to this end. The top mark of 83 was the highest of the year and made the day the warmest April 12 in Chicago's weather history. Merchants who had a huge business for the last few days said the display of new styles by churchgoers would be exceptionally brilliant.

Motor traffic much heavier than usual so early in the season was expected by highway authorities. They said travel was already on the boom last night.

The Chicago Motor club reported that it had been deluged with requests for information on how to reach the military camps in Illinois and nearby states, where many Chicagoans are in training. Camp Grant at Rockford and Camp Custer in Michigan were goals of most of the inquiries.

Florists' Sales Boom.

Florists reported a rushing business last night, and supplies of most flowers were ample in spite of recent unfavorable weather conditions. This was not true of early bulb plants, such as tulips and hyacinths, short because of lack of bulb imports from Holland.

Over the country many sunrise religious services will be held in the open air. One of the largest will be in Arlington cemetery in Washington, D. C., with tens of thousands of tourists as prospective attendants. About 50,000 are expected to participate in Chicago's dawn service in Soldiers' field.

[News of Chicago's church services will be found on page 3 of this section and in the Metropolitan section.]

Jail Inmates Will Have Pretty Easter Eggs, Too

This is Easter. Easter is the time for pretty eggs. So every prisoner in the county jail will have some at breakfast, and they'll all be tinted in gay pastel shades.

TRIBUNE STARTS INDEX OF HISTORY TOLD IN ITS FILES

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

An index of the history told by pages of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE since its first issue of 400 copies printed on a hand press nearly a century ago up to the latest edition of the World's Greatest Newspaper is now in process of compilation.

The enormousness of the task is accepted by THE TRIBUNE with a realization of the project's tremendous value to future historians, students, and the public.

Task to Take 15-20 Years.

Except for a gap of six and one-half years shortly after the newspaper's beginning in 1847, indexers will have before them all the pages edited during the period when Chicago grew from a town of 16,000 to a metropolitan area of nearly 5,000,000 inhabitants. Today more than 3,000 persons are employed by THE TRIBUNE, whose speed presses meet demands of a daily circulation in excess of one million.

No decision has yet been made on the number of volumes to be published in the index encyclopedia which, it is estimated, will contain between 6 and 10 million references. Fifteen to 20 years probably will be required to complete the work.

Despite the complexity of compilation, indexers say the results will provide a simple method thru which news items may be located quickly. As they go thru the old files, the indexers read every story carefully, recording a summary of each item on a 5x3 inch card with the year, month, day, page, and column number. Some stories, including several persons and events, may be cross indexed as many as 20 ways.

Indexers estimate that 2 million cards ultimately will be placed in steel cabinets. The cards will be used in the same manner as the index of a history book. They will be classified according to subject matter and then filed alphabetically, so that summarized accounts of all events will be readily available.

Altho indexing of newspapers is not a new idea, there exists no complete index covering so long a period as THE TRIBUNE contemplates.

The index will be a key to the treasure house now locked away in bound files in three large rooms occupying two floors near the top of Tribune tower. It will bring to light contents of priceless volumes that had their creation in a number of humbler buildings.

Modest Beginnings Appear.

Pages from which the index is being prepared go back to the struggles of a pioneer era when printing of THE TRIBUNE took place in a single room on the third floor of a building at Lake and La Salle streets. Later, the paper was published in quarters over a grocery at Lake and Clark streets. It moved to a plant at 53 Clark street in 1852, then to Dearborn and Madison streets, and finally to Tribune tower.

The indexers are impressed by the difference between methods of news gathering in the days when reporters "covered" stage coach depots and the river front, and the modern age of swift communication facilities that keep the editors in constant touch with all parts of the world.

Study of the faded files also shows the indexers how the sensational story of a day may become of little significance in the passing years and, conversely, how an obscure item may have great importance in the light of later events.

A Visitor in 1855.

It was a day in the summer of 1855 when a tall, gaunt man climbed the stairs of the Clark street office

PASSENGERS SEE CIO CREW GET DRUNK ON LINER

Officers Let Them Have Their Way.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 12.—Life on the ocean waves under the flag of the American merchant marine is a precarious adventure these days.

Traditions have been tossed overboard to make way for the new order under the CIO's National Maritime union, which has organized 30,000 seamen along the Atlantic and gulf coasts. Communists occupy key posts in the union and its policies conform to the dictates of the Red party line in Moscow.

To see how the seamen perform their duties and observe their conduct toward passengers this correspondent recently made a voyage to Havana and back to New York. Experiences southward bound on the President Hayes of the American President Lines were related yesterday.

Returns on Monterey.

Today's report covers the return trip on the Monterey of the New York and Cuba Mail Line, a company heavily subsidized by the federal government. This is the former Ward Line which operated the ill fated luxury cruise liner Morro Castle. The Morro Castle caught afire off the Jersey coast in 1934 and 137 persons lost their lives.

The 113 members of the crew aboard the Monterey, which slipped out of Havana harbor at dusk on a Thursday night, were to a man members of the CIO's NMU. Passengers aboard the vessel, as on the President Hayes, witnessed numerous incidents of insolence, insubordination, and rudeness which, pieced together, paint a sordid picture of lack of discipline at sea.

The high water mark in lack of discipline on the Monterey was a brawl the crew staged the first night out from Havana. They drank, danced and sang. The officers made no move to stop the celebration which went on far into the night.

Log of the Voyage.

A day by day log of the voyage from Havana to New York follows:

March 27.—Sailing time at 7 p. m. But came aboard early to watch the crew. The Monterey took on a cargo of rum, sugar, honey, and Cuban beef, the latter destined for Canadian consumption. The seamen straggled up the docks, one by one and in little groups, and entered the crew gangway at dock level. Passengers complain their room stewards were late on the job because they had been tippling in Havana's waterfront joints.

Later in the evening saw the crew hold their party on the afterdeck in full view of the passengers above in the smoking lounge. About a dozen of them, Negroes, Cubans, and Americans, were singing and tap dancing. Walked down with another passenger to get a closer view. A case of beer on deck was rapidly diminishing. "That could never happen on a crack foreign liner," said my companion.

CIO Rally on Deck.

March 28.—Three passengers told me of the CIO meeting staged by the crew on deck coming up from Vera Cruz the night before the Monterey docked at Havana. There was much speech making but two or three leaders seemed to control the meeting, according to the passengers. They watched from the lounge but couldn't make out what was being said.

Asked several members of the crew later what was taken up but they dodged giving any specific information. Each trip, they said, the entire CIO crew held such a session. There were other smaller meetings for the seamen of the deck department, stewards' department, and the "black gang" of the engine department.

Talked to one of the older stewards, a family man, who had been on many of these runs. He said there were always several outright communists in each crew. They were the best and loudest talkers and the most skilled in controling meetings. He thought the Reds were usually in a minority and declared it was a shame the majority of the seamen wouldn't organize against them. Said as soon as one spoke out he was labeled a "scab," "enemy of labor," or "stooge" for the shipowners and would be blacklisted by the union.

COL. M'CORMICK SEES TOUGH JOB AHEAD FOR NAZIS

Discusses War Situation in Greece, Africa.

The battle of Greece may prove to be more like Verdun, the Somme, and the Argonne than any of the blitzkriegs of the last few years, Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, said last night. He spoke on the Chicagoland hour of W-G-N and the Mutual network.

The Greek front, Col. McCormick pointed out, is said to be only 185 miles long, much of it impassable, and to be defended by a million men. It should be difficult to punch a hole thru such solid resistance, he declared, and without a hole thru the line, Hitler's tactics cannot work.

Col. McCormick also described the military situation in Africa, and said that the two battles of Greece and Africa will decide the fate of the Suez canal. He concluded:

"To win, the Germans will have to win them both. However, if the British and Greeks are successful in either one, they will still control Egypt, Alexandria, and the Suez canal and still be in the stronger position in the war."

After discussing the current war, Col. McCormick resumed his story of the American west, and outlined the events of the Mexican war, which completed the United States.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's address:

"Hitler's victories have all followed the same pattern: First he established a battle line so long that it could not be held in strength at all points; then he broke the line and sent thru armored columns to ravage his enemies' rear areas. In the opposing armies, combat troops were concentrated at the front; behind them were undefended telegraph wires, telephone lines, railroads, roads, munition dumps, depots, and headquarters.

"With these thrown into confusion, the combat troops could neither be directed nor supplied, and fell an easy prey to his forces.

"After the fall of Poland, the lesson might have been learned to fortify all headquarters, depots, bridges, and defensible towns; but this was not done; nor was it done after the battle of Flanders; nor was it done in Jugo-Slavia. It was not done in our maneuvers last summer, but I sincerely hope it is part of our present doctrine.

Hitler's Line in Greece.

"Be that as it may, Hitler has not a very long line in Greece. The front across the Greek peninsula is said to be 185 miles long, much of it impassable, and to be defended by an army of a million men.

"It should be difficult to punch a hole thru such solid resistance, and without a hole in the line, Hitler's tactics cannot work.

"The battle of Greece this time would seem to be more like Verdun, the Somme, and the Argonne, than the blitzkriegs we have witnessed in the last few years.

"The Turkish boundary is no longer, but if generals can ever learn by the experience of others, the Turkish generals must have learned not to try to hold this line, but to retire on their fortifications of Chatalja outside of Constantinople, which are only 25 miles long, and the neck of the Gallipoli peninsula, which is only five miles wide. These they should be able to hold against any assault.

Strong Natural Defenses.

"Back of their defensive positions lie the Bosporus and the Dardanelles, almost bottomless streams, everywhere more than half a mile wide, with currents of three to five miles per hour.

"In view of the great natural strength of the Turkish positions, it might be a good guess that Hitler will try such a stratagem as enabled him to take Norway. Again, the Turks are fully warned and should not be caught napping.

"From the information upon Africa that has been published, I conceive the following to have been the course of events:

"The Italians planned to take Greece; then having reduced the water and air routes across the Mediterranean to some 260 miles, to pile over enough aviation to make Alexandria and the Suez canal untenable.

"The Germans believe that the possession of Derna, in force, would dominate the Suez canal, and Hitler has insisted that whoever controls the Suez canal controls Africa.

Italian Plan Goes Awry.

"The Italians advanced into Egypt to shorten the distance to Suez, but when the attack on Greece was defeated, this program was interrupted. The British then made their successful torpedo attack on the Italian fleet in Taranto, gaining complete control of the Mediterranean, and shortly afterward sent a British army to Egypt around the Cape of Good Hope so that the Italians did not learn of it. This army gave them superiority in Africa and, with it, surprise. There followed the British victories in Libya.

"The British now controled Derna, and therefore the landing place for airplanes from Greece.

"When the Germans were ready to attack Greece, with or without the consent of Jugo-Slavia, they sent the Italian fleet to make a diversion. The fleet was destroyed, but German troops reached Africa and, in turn, surprised the British and drove them back to Tobruk, regaining possession of Derna.

"The two battles of Greece and Africa, apparently, will decide the fate of Suez. To win, the Germans will have to win them both. However, if the British and Greeks are successful in either one, they will still control Egypt, Alexandria, and the Suez canal, and still be in the stronger position in the war.

STORY OF MEXICAN WAR

"It was the Mexican war which completed the United States.

"President Polk was only a dark horse nominee in the Democratic convention of 1844. He was elected by a minority of the popular vote. The annexation of Texas had been Tyler's issue, not his. The platform for the reannexation of Texas and the reoccupation of Oregon had been a political deal to which he was not a party.

"When Texas annexation became a fact before his inauguration, southern interest waned in Oregon, but in the Northwest Territory, always the most nationalist section of the country, people insisted on 'Fifty-four—Forty or Fight.' There was, therefore, considerable international speculation as to Polk's future conduct. He did not leave the matter long in doubt.

"By the terms of the annexation agreement, the United States was to settle with Mexico the boundary of Texas. The old French claims extended to the Rio Grande, tho the Texans had never advanced beyond the Neuces river. In order to be in possession of the whole claim, while negotiating the boundary, Polk dispatched an army to the Rio Grande river.

Claims Whole of Oregon.

"Then with the entire American military establishment on the Rio Grande, and depending upon overseas communication, which the British navy could cut, he assumed an unyielding attitude on the Oregon question. In his brusque inaugural address, he said that the whole of Oregon was by right American—was settled by Americans—and that the government owed them the duty of protection. He reasserted that the Monroe Doctrine forbade further colonial settlement on this continent.

"The American claim was for the entire territory west of the Rocky mountains from California to Alaska. The British claim was the boundary of the Columbia river.

"When Great Britain failed to modify her insistence upon the Columbia river boundary, congress, with the full support of Polk, denounced the provision of the treaty of 1818 that America and Great Britain should hold Oregon in joint occupancy.

Ends in Compromise.

"In the end the boundary was compromised. The 49th parallel, which had been accepted as the north end of Louisiana, was extended to tidewater, and this after war had begun with Mexico. The British ruling class, owning stock in the Hudson Bay company, was conciliated by a provision allowing it to operate on the American side of the boundary.

"Because American soldiers have not been hereditary aristocrats, headed by nobility and royalty, it has been customary for military historians to disparage them. This, I am sorry to say, is no less true of American historians, even military historians, than of foreigners.

"Polk's preparations for the war were perhaps the most comprehensive ever made. They included first, a diplomatic mission to negotiate for the desired ends; second, the weakening of enemy resistance by sowing discord in his ranks, attempted in three ways: Santa Anna, the recurring president of Mexico, then exiled and living in Havana, was allowed to slip thru our blockade on the understanding that he would overthrow the existing régime in Mexico, and then make a treaty giving to the United States upper California, New Mexico, and the Rio Grande boundary of Texas.

Secret Mission Across Mexico.

"A lieutenant of marines, one Gillespie, was sent secretly across Mexico to tell Thomas Larkin, the American consul at San Francisco, to persuade the Californians to throw off Mexican sovereignty and accept annexation; and to find Capt. Fremont of the engineer corps, who was somewhere on or near the Pacific coast with a force of about 70 soldiers, actually or ostensibly on a surveying expedition, and use them as a center around which to rally the American settlers and trappers in the Sacramento valley.

"He was also to notify Commodore Sloat that if and when he should learn that war had broken out, he should occupy the Californian ports and formally annex the state.

"The military plans were no less comprehensive. The main force on the Rio Grande was to invade Mexico at Matamoros, ascend the river to Camargo, and then strike south to Monterey; a second army, to move out from San Antonio, cross the Rio Grande at Eagle Pass, and take possession of Chihuahua. A third expedition would leave Fort Leavenworth, cross the boundary at Bents Fort and take possession of New Mexico, then cross the desert and invade California.

Declaration of War.

"Altho Mexico had threatened war if the United States should annex Texas, and had broken off diplomatic relations as soon as this had been done, she made no military demonstration when Gen. Taylor moved an army to Corpus Christi, but when he advanced to Point Isabel on the Rio Grande, Gen. Ampudia, commanding the Mexican army at Matamoros, demanded that he retire north of the Neuces river or accept battle. Shortly after, a Mexican force ambushed an American outpost and the United States declared war.

"Time will not permit me to detail the ensuing campaign so graphically described in his autobiography by our greatest general and military writer, Ulysses S. Grant, and briefly by me in my life of the general.

"It will suffice here to say that Gen. Taylor won the two battles at Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma, ascended the river to Camargo, marched overland, and stormed Monterey. Col. Kearney advanced on Santa Fe, where an army gathered to meet him. This army was so thoroly undermined by American propaganda that it disbanded without offering battle. Gen. Wool started from San Antonio with 4,000 men and a large wagon train. He is described as a strict disciplinarian, a man of ceaseless vigilance and tireless energy, but he lacked the heart of a soldier, failed to attain his objective, and sought refuge by joining Gen. Taylor.

Col. Doniphan's Expedition.

"Col. Doniphan, a volunteer frontiersman, detached from Kearney's force with 800 other frontiersmen, conducted a train of American merchants thru El Paso, won the battles of Presidio and Sacramento, and captured Chihuahua. This he held for two months, altho not joined by Gen. Wool, and then conducted his army to Gen. Taylor at Saltillo. Commodore Connor occupied Tampico with a naval force and was reinforced by Louisiana volunteers. Contact was established between Gen. Taylor's force at Saltillo and Tampico.

"After giving their orders to Commodore Sloat and Consul Larkin, Lieut. Gillespie overtook Capt. Fremont marching north toward Oregon. Fremont returned to the neighborhood of Sutter's fort, where he was joined by a number of trappers and settlers.

"In the tense atmosphere, hostilities broke out between the Mexico California troops and the settlers. The latter declared that California was an independent state and raised a flag consisting of a red bear and a red star on a white background.

"Sloat could not make up his mind to occupy the ports until he heard of the revolt; then he took possession of Monterey and San Francisco.

Navy Takes San Francisco.

"When word came to Fremont that the navy had occupied San Francisco, the American flag was immediately adopted and his force moved there.

"Commodore Stockton, who replaced Commodore Sloat, commissioned Fremont a major, Gillespie a captain, took their force to San Diego by sea, and occupied Southern California.

"The Southern Californians later took up arms and it required the combined forces of the navy, Fremont's volunteers, and a hundred regulars under Gen. Kearney, who had arrived across the desert, to subjugate them after a number of skirmishes.

"All of the original objectives of the Americans had now been obtained. New Mexico and California were occupied. Taylor had taken Monterey and Saltillo—Connor, Tampico—and Doniphan, if not Wool, had occupied Chihuahua. The only part of the plan that failed was that Santa Anna, having seized the presidency, refused to stay bought and would not negotiate a peace.

Army Sent to Mexico.

"'To conquer a peace,' to use President Polk's term, it was decided to send an army under Gen. Scott to occupy Vera Cruz and march on Mexico City.

"The diversion of a portion of Taylor's army to the coast to attack Vera Cruz could not be concealed. Santa Anna, learning of it, conceived the brilliant idea of attacking Taylor while Scott was in transit, on the military principle of defeating the enemy in detail.

"He came upon Taylor at Buena Vista, and was completely defeated. The consequence of his brilliant idea was that he was compelled to turn back and meet Scott's assault with his own army weakened in numbers, in material, and in morale.

"How Gen. Scott's army was assembled, how it landed, bombarded, and took Vera Cruz, how it fought its way up the mountain slopes in the battle of Cerro Gordo, how it waited for replacements and reinforcements at Puebla, then fought the battles of Contreras and Churubusco, and finally entered Mexico City after the bloody assaults of Molino del Rey and Chapultepec, I will refer you again to the memoirs of Gen. Grant.

"The American armies had marched a total distance of 14,000 miles, over bad roads, and none; had won 14 battles and many skirmishes, always against heavy odds, and without sustaining a defeat. Such a record is unsurpassed in history.

"By this time the nation was conquest-minded. There was a strong movement to occupy and hold the whole of Mexico, but President Polk insisted upon his original plan.

"The treaty of peace brought into the United States New Mexico, California, and the disputed part of Texas—526,000 square miles of territory. Adding to this 292,000 square miles between the Columbia river and the 49th parallel, acquired under threat of war, we find that James Polk, the dark horse of 1844, contributed to the United States more territory than the original 13 colonies, more than the Northwest Territory, more than the Louisiana Purchase, or the annexation of Texas. This almost forgotten President was one of the greatest conquerors of all times."

MUSIC IN EASTER SPIRIT

Festal music in the Easter spirit characterized the musical portion of the program.

Mark Love, W-G-N basso, sang a passage from Moussorgsky's "Boris Godounov," incuding the "Coronation Scene." Mr. Love also sang "Two Grenadiers," by Schumann. Miss Ruth Slater, contralto, sang Franck's "Panis Angelicus," with the W-G-N chorus.

The orchestra and chorus, under the direction of Henry Weber, presented "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "The Messiah" and the "Pilgrim's Chorus" from Tannhäuser," by Wagner. The orchestra concluded the program with the "Good Friday Spell" from Wagner's "Parsifal." The program was produced by William A. Bacher.

Special guests included army and navy men from Fort Sheridan, from the headquarters of the 6th corps area, and from the Naval armory.

Park Activities Drop at End of Daylight Saving.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

Park district statistics on out-of-doors activities in September and October gave added impetus yesterday to the move to give Chicago another month of daylight saving time in the fall.

The figures showed that participation in park activities in past years has dropped sharply with the return to regular time the last Sunday in September, altho the weather remains ideal for sports for several more weeks.

Daylight time becomes effective the last Sunday in April. An ordinance which would continue it until the last Sunday in October, instead of September, has been introduced in the city council by Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] and Ald. John J. Grealis [44th]. A second public hearing on the measure will be held Tuesday.

Leaders Indorse Plan.

Mayor Kelly, scores of public officials and civic leaders, and a majority of the aldermen have indorsed the time extension.

V. K. Brown, superintendent of recreation for the park district, said this extra time would be especially prized by office and factory workers who are denied many of the benefits of October weather because of the early darkness under regular time. He said that with an extra hour of daylight each day during the month these thousands would find time for picnics, golf, tennis, boating, or softball during evenings.

He said their children also would have an extra evening hour for healthful exercise in playgrounds.

The park figures showed that these pleasures are not possible for most Chicagoans under the old time schedules.

Attendance Drop Shown.

Last September 125,363 persons played tennis on the public courts during September, when daylight time was in effect. In October, after daylight time ended, the total was 44,488, altho records show there was little difference in weather conditions of the two months.

Attendance records for five courts, selected at random from Brown's files, showed as follows how the number playing tennis dropped off suddenly with the switch from daylight to regular time:

Courts.	Sept. 22-28. Total.	Sept. 29-Oct. 5 Total.	Per cent dec.
Palmer	470	340	28
Grand Crossing	430	233	45
Hamilton	410	285	31
Marquette	850	790	7
Columbus	566	465	18
Totals	2,726	2,113	22

The records on golf attendance showed a similar drop, according to Harry O'Hare, park district superintendent of operations. Golfers who played during daylight time in September totaled 44,703. The following month there were only 26,203, a decline of more than 41 per cent. The sharpest drop occurred after 4 p. m., according to hourly reports from the five park district courses.

Late Hour Players Fewer.

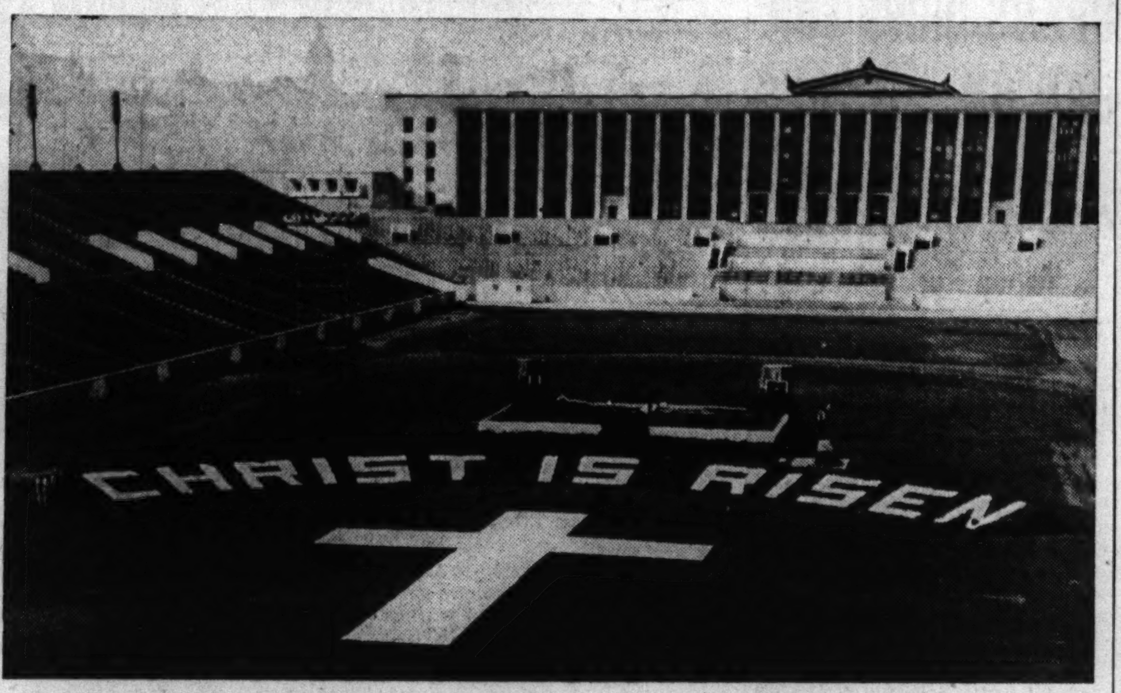
On an average October day during regular time there were only 21 golfers on the courses between 4 and 5 p. m. and none after that. The total between 4 and 5 p. m. on a September day was 124, and in the next two hours 82 more teed off with plenty of time to play a full round under daylight time.

Under daylight saving darkness would not fall until between 6:52 and 7 p. m. Oct. 1. Even on the last day of the month it would not be dark until between 6:06 and 6:15 p. m., insuring workers the safety of daylight while going home.

Dig to Rescue Two Boys Buried in Snow Avalanche

North Bend, Wash., April 12 (AP).—An avalanche of snow fell off McClellan butte tonight, burying two high school boy hikers and injuring another. CCC enrollees and state patrolmen frantically dug in the snow to find them. The boys were listed as Jay Gage, 17 years old, and Claude Covington, 18, both of Seattle.

Decorate Soldiers' Field for 50,000 Worshipers



Workmen were busy yesterday preparing Chicago's big open air stadium for the ninth annual Easter sunrise service, expected to be attended by 50,000 Protestants.

CHURCHES OFFER JOYOUS EASTER SERVICES TODAY

50,000 Are Expected at Sunrise Rites.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A thousand Chicago altars have shed their mourning symbols and today the crosses on them are brilliant, banked with flowers. It is Easter, and processions of the faithful will throng to all the city's churches.

More than 50,000 Protestant worshipers are expected to greet the Easter morn in Soldiers' Field, where the ninth annual Sunrise service will be held. Dr. Walter D. Kallenbach, blind evangelist, former member of Paul Whiteman's band and ex-athlete, will be the preacher.

More than 250,000 men of the city's Holy Name societies will receive holy communion at masses offered before 422 Catholic altars. At least 200,000 of these will be new members of the societies gained since Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch started a drive on March 21.

Service at Cathedral.

The archbishop will pontificate at solemn mass in Holy Name cathedral at noon, with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison the assistant priest.

Three thousand officers and enlisted men of Fort Sheridan will attend an open air Easter service at the Post parade ground at 10:30 a. m. The service will be in charge of Chaplain Ira M. Williams. Designated as a patriotic assembly, the public is invited. Rabbi Solomon Jacobson will participate in the service by offering a prayer for divine guidance.

Central church, Orchestra hall, will be the destination of hundreds of Michigan avenue promenaders at 11 o'clock when the Rev. Dr. Harold Ruopp will preach.

Two morning services will be held at First Methodist church, Chicago temple, 77 West Washington street, this morning. The Rev. Churley A. Bloomquist will preach at 9 o'clock, and the pastor, the Rev. Dr. John Thompson, at 11 o'clock.

Near North Side Services.

On upper Michigan avenue, the processions of worshipers will lead toward old St. James Episcopal church, Wabash avenue and Huron street; Fourth Presbyterian church, Michigan avenue and Chestnut street, and St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 1424 North Dearborn parkway.

The Rev. Dr. Dudley Scott Stark will be the preacher at the 11 o'clock service in St. Chrysostom's, with other morning services at 7 and 8 o'clock. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson will be the preacher at 8:30 and 11 o'clock services at Fourth Presbyterian church.

Two choral celebrations of holy communion have been scheduled for 8 and 11 o'clock by Dr. Duncan Hodge Browne, rector of St. James church.

The Rt. Rev. Wallace Edmonds Conkling, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, will deliver the Easter sermon this afternoon before a combined Knights Templar service at Medinah temple.

POPE'S EASTER MESSAGE TO DEAL WITH WAR, PEACE

ROME, April 12 (AP).—Priests went from house to house tonight to bestow blessings on the homes of Italians in keeping with an ancient custom, while the Catholic world awaited Pope Pius XII.'s Easter radio message tomorrow. He is expected to deal with war and peace as well as the resurrection.

The war, which dampened the traditional Easter joy of Europeans, caused the pope to cancel his usual elaborate mass in St. Peter's, but from his private study he will broadcast his message in Italian at 1 p. m. [5 a. m. Chicago time], ending with his blessing on Rome and the world.

An English version will be broadcast at 6:15 a. m. Chicago time. The broadcast will be over two short wave lengths, 31.06 and 19.84.

AMERICA FIRST OPENS DRIVE FOR BAN ON CONVOYS

Asks Telegrams to Back Tobey Resolution.

The America First committee marshaled its forces yesterday for a nation-wide drive to insure congressional passage of the Tobey anticonvoy resolution, which would prohibit the use of American men and vessels to transport war supplies to belligerent nations.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the antiwar organization, called for a barrage of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls eclipsing in volume those sent to Washington, D. C., during the lend-lease bill fight. Members of the 700 America First chapters thruout the nation were urged to write to their senators, urging immediate action on the resolution.

Other Antiwar Developments.

The move in the anticonvoy campaign was only one of a number of developments yesterday in the America First committee's drive to keep the United States at peace. Others included:

1. Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan units of the America First committee announced they would send delegates to the giant antiwar rally Thursday night in the Chicago arena, 400 East Erie street, at which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will speak. An audience of 10,000 persons is expected.

2. Plans were drawn for another massmeeting in the arena Sunday, April 27, when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will visit Chicago on his cross-country speaking tour which will carry him into nine states during the next month.

3. Plans went ahead for the first appearance as an America First speaker of O. Z. Whitehead, young actor from the cast of "Life with Father," who will address a rally at 4 p. m. today in John Woolman hall, 1174 East 57th street. Whitehead was prevented from addressing an America First rally, last week, but the ban since has been lifted by the New York producer of the play.

4. Six other community meetings were scheduled in the drive for 1 million America First members in Illinois.

Wood Warns Convoys Mean War.

In announcing the campaign against the use of American convoys to transport supplies to Great Britain, Gen. Wood declared:

"It is generally conceded that if we convoy goods some of our ships will be sunk, and then we will be in the war up to the hilt. When the lend-lease bill was before congress, most of the senators and representatives who voted for that measure said they were against our becoming involved in a shooting war.

"That being the case, we are confident that the Tobey resolution will be passed by congress if the majority of Americans who are opposed to our entering the war make known their desires to congress.

Fight Up to People, He Says.

"Whether we do or do not use our ships and men to convoy goods into the war zone is up to the people of America. The congress has the will to pass the Tobey resolution; of that I am certain. That body must, however, be shown that the majority is against war. The only way that can be accomplished is by means of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls to the members of congress."

The anticonvoy resolution, introduced in the senate by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] is pending before the senate foreign relations committee.

It provides that "except in a time when the United States is engaged in war, hereafter no part of the land or naval forces of the United States, and no vessel documented, or aircraft registered or licensed under the laws of the United States, shall be used, directly or indirectly, beyond the limits of the territorial waters of the United States and its territories and possessions, to transport or deliver . . . any articles or materials to or for the use of any foreign country . . . which is engaged in actual hostilities with one or more foreign countries. . . ."

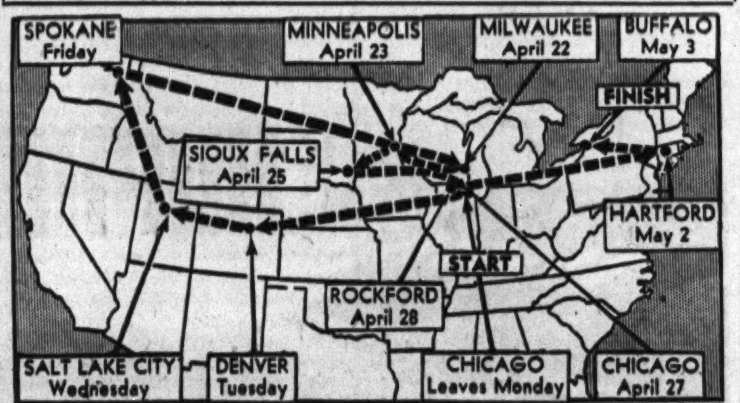
Lindbergh to Urge Peace.

All 61 America First chapters in Illinois will be represented at the antiwar rally Thursday night. Gen. Wood will introduce Col. Lindbergh, who will speak on the necessity for the United States to remain out of the European conflict. An organ recital and mass singing of patriotic airs will precede Col. Lindbergh's address. The rally will begin at 8 p. m.

Dr. William Gellerman, associate professor of education at Northwestern university, will address a meeting of the Oak Park chapter at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the chapter headquarters at 736 Lake street in the suburb. The Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, professor at the University of Notre Dame, will speak at 8 p. m. Tuesday at a rally sponsored by the Glencoe chapter of the America First committee in the community house in Wilmette.

John W. Maselter, staff lecturer, will address two meetings this week —Tuesday at 8 p. m. at 1211 Devon avenue and Wednesday at 8 p. m. at 3730 North Clark street.

Senator Wheeler's Speaking Tour



The route planned by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, starting tomorrow, in the interest of keeping America out of war.

WHEELER CALLS RED SEA ACTION AN 'ASININE' ONE

It's Way to Get in War, Senator Warns.

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] today called President Roosevelt's action in opening the Red sea and the Gulf of Aden to American shipping "an asinine policy" that might force the United States to fight single handedly "in all parts of the world."

"The war mongers in France have destroyed the French republic and the war mongers in England have all but destroyed the British empire," he said. "The same type of war mongers will destroy the United States if we keep on letting our sentiments rather than our judgment control our policies."

How to Get in War.

Wheeler added that "of course if any one wants to get us into the war the way to do it is to take more and more chances on sending our ships where they are most likely to be blown up."

If American ships are destroyed, he predicted, an effort will be made to involve the country in war. "The people should realize," he added, "that if we get into this war the chances are very great that we'll be fighting all over the world—and we'll be doing it alone."

Meanwhile Sir Arthur Salter, chief of the British shipping mission in this country, paid his first call on Secretary of State Cordell Hull today. He told newspaper men the President's action in opening the sea lane for American ships to Suez would give very valuable aid to Great Britain. For every ship placed on the North African run, he said, it would be possible for Great Britain to transfer a ship to the North Atlantic, where U-boat conditions have been increasingly serious. He said his conference with Hull was chiefly a "courtesy call."

The Convoy Question.

The question of convoys also figured in comment by legislators on the President's newest moves in foreign affairs.

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the house foreign affairs committee, expressed doubt that the President approved Committee Chairman Sol Bloom's advocacy of American convoys for war shipments.

Bloom's approval of convoys, Fish declared, demonstrated that he "is now openly for war."

While saying that congress would disapprove convoys at present, Fish added that he strongly favored the establishment of an air base in Greenland—a step made possible when this government took Greenland into its system of hemispherical defense earlier this week.

FIGHT FOR PEACE BRINGS RESULTS, SAYS REP. MUNDT

Efforts of the American people to keep out of the war have made a strong impression in Washington in the last ten days and the nation is safer from involvement than it was two weeks ago, Representative Karl Mundt [R., S. D.] said yesterday. Mundt, a member of the house foreign affairs committee and Senator Burton K. Wheeler's joint congressional committee against war, was enroute to Washington, D. C., after a series of speeches in the middle west.

"The pressure of public opinion is beginning to be felt even by the war mongers," he said. "The fight is a long way from won, but the results being obtained should encourage every American to work even harder to keep our boys from a shooting war abroad. The work of the America First committee already has been of inestimable value.

"We who are against war in Washington have been encouraged by the new swing, and I'm becoming optimistic after talking with folk in the middle west. They are determined to keep out of war, and they are letting Washington know it."

NAZIS ENCIRCLE BELGRADE; CLAIM SERBS DOOMED

BERLIN, April 12 (AP).—German military observers termed Jugo-Slavia a closed chapter tonight, reporting the gradual encirclement of Belgrade. With Jugo-Slav political unity shattered by establishment of an independent Croatia and with both Serb and Croatian armies reported dissolving, the Germans said there was nothing left for the Jugo-Slav kingdom but the final curtain.

The country, they asserted, is completely cut off from outside aid.

[The German radio as heard in New York yesterday said at least 14 Jugo-Slav divisions now have been "completely annihilated." The radio also said that 31 Jugo-Slav planes either had been destroyed or damaged in an air attack on a flying field in North Bosnia yesterday.]

Join Forces with Italians.

Germans awoke today to hear their radios blaring the national anthem and "We Sail Against England," following the high command announcement that German and Italian forces had joined their lines in southern Jugo-Slavia at Lake Ochrida.

This achievement after a six day campaign, they asserted, sealed the fate of Jugo-Slavs still in central Serbia.

The high command said furthermore that Nazi units were advancing from several sides on Belgrade, Jugo-Slav capital, while in the south Jugo-Slav resistance was declared "broken in hard fighting."

Belgrade was confronted, from these accounts, with an unforeseen approach from the south. It long had been the Jugo-Slav plan in the event of a German war to sacrifice the capital, if necessary, and withdraw to the hills to the south.

Retreat Is Cut Off.

But the Germans first occupied the hills, unexpectedly cutting off the retreat before it even started. Thus, in German eyes, it seemed there now is nothing for the Jugo-Slav troops in the capital and its environs to do except stay put and await the Germans when they choose to close in.

[A New York recording of the Athens radio last night said Jugo-Slav troops had launched a violent counterattack apparently in the area southwest of Skoplje. In general, Jugo-Slav resistance was described as stiffening, and it was stated that a strong Jugo-Slav contingent was driving southward from the center of the country, "breaking the German efforts to check them."]

In the north, Croat resistance has "collapsed under the pressure of the overwhelming and rapid advance of German forces."

Nazi mountain fighters and infantrymen were reported to have reached the Sava river at several points northwest of Zagreb, the German occupied Croat capital; advanced to Karlovac, in northwestern Jugo-Slavia, and occupied Vardazin, on the Hungarian border.

Italians Move Down Valley.

ROME, April 12 (AP).—Italian troops marched down the Sava river valley in northern Jugo-Slavia tonight after occupying Ljubljana, capital of Slovenia.

Fiume's twin city of Susak, in Jugo-Slavia across the Eneo river, was joined to it under the Italian flag after surrendering yesterday without bloodshed. The town of Ziri also was occupied.

The Italian forces from the north were advancing, dispatches indicated, with the intention of joining the German army which occupies Croatia and its capital, Zagreb—just as Italian and German troops made contact yesterday in southern Jugo-Slavia on the eastern shore of Lake Ochrida.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, said that at Susak a committee of dissident Croat civilians appeared on the bridge leading to Fiume and requested that Italian military authorities occupy the town. The Italians demanded unconditional surrender and this was assured, after which Fascist troops took over.

Mrs. Ford's Birthday

Detroit, Mich., April 12 [Special].—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford quietly celebrated their 53d wedding anniversary and Mrs. Ford's 74th birthday in their home in suburban Dearborn today. The double anniversary fell yesterday, but the Fords were too busy to observe the day.

ITALIAN KING GRANTS PARDONS TO 2 AMERICANS

ROME, April 12 (AP).—King Victor Emmanuel today pardoned George Ehret, formerly of New York, and Miss Grace Gunther, long-time American resident of Florence, who were convicted last November of illegal dealings in foreign exchange. Ehret had been given a seven year term and Miss Gunther six years.

George Ehret.

Both are expected to be released from prison soon upon payment of their fines, about $15,000 for Ehret, and about $2,500 for Miss Gunther. The United States embassy asked clemency after they were convicted. The king granted the appeal in accordance with the custom of issuing pardons during the Easter season.

They were convicted of collecting large sums in American dollars and selling them for lire in excess of the official rate.

U. S. TO CONVOY SUPPLIES, SAYS GEN. JOHNSON

The United States is edging closer to war every day, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson said yesterday as he stopped in Chicago on his way to Washington, D. C., from Los Angeles, Cal. He said American warships soon would begin convoying supplies to Great Britain, adding: "Then we'll be in the war. I wouldn't set a date for actual entrance, but it won't be very long. Every administration step since passage of the lend-lease bill has been a step toward war."

TELL HOW NAZIS SHUT BACK DOOR TO JUGO-SLAVIA

Officers Say Crucial Point Was Weakly Defended.

BY DANIEL DE LUCE.

WITH GREEK FORCES ON THE NORTH ALBANIAN FRONT, April 11 [Delayed] (AP).—Three Jugo-Slav officers told me today that only one division, composed mostly of Croat reservists, was stationed on the crucial southeastern frontier when the Germans, dropping parachutists, broke thru from Bulgaria and sealed Jugo-Slavia's back door.

Inside Greek Lines.

The Jugo-Slav officers were among 200 who have arrived inside the Greek lines. They said fewer than half a dozen German tanks took the Jugo-Slav town of Bitolj [Monastir] and that unsupported Jugo-Slav forces were overwhelmed piecemeal.

The Greeks, with icy calm, are holding fast to their mountain positions against German attempts to swing around behind them.

Florina Is Evacuated.

When Florina [in northern Greece below Bitolj pass] was evacuated, truck convoys removed all wounded from hospitals. The commanding general was the last officer to leave.

[Some military experts thought the dispatch referred to the evacuation of Florina civilians. Others said it might indicate that the Greeks do not intend to fight for Florina itself, but shift their lines slightly southward of the city.]

One twin engined Jugo-Slav bomber landed on a Greek air field and its crew said a number of Jugo-Slav divisions still were resisting strongly in Bosnia.

STRICKEN AT WORK; DIES.
Karl Koller, 66 years old, 3646 North Christiana avenue, was stricken by heart disease yesterday while at work in Foote Brothers Gears and Machine company plant at 5103 South Western avenue. He died a few minutes later.

Jugo-Slav Army Doomed, Say Germans

Nothing but the final curtain remains for Jugo-Slav resistance to the German-Italian invasion, Berlin military observers said last night. Principal developments of yesterday are told on the map.

MYSTERY VEILS WHEREABOUTS OF BOY KING PETER

The whereabouts of Peter II., 17 year old king of Jugo-Slavia, became enveloped yesterday in mystery.

King Peter.

A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, stated the German radio had reported the king was in Greece on his way to London. A London dispatch said the Jugo-Slavian legation had been advised by its government that Peter was with his army at the front.

BULGARIA TO BID FOR INCLUSION OF ALL MACEDONIA

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 12 (AP).—The inclusion of Macedonia, most of which was ceded to Serbia and Greece after the 1912-'13 Balkan war, in greater Bulgaria was foreshadowed today in the press as a result of German military victories and settlement of a long standing disagreement between two branches of a Macedonian revolutionary organization.

SWEDISH PASTOR TELLS AIR TRIP ACROSS EUROPE

A trip from Stockholm, Sweden, to Chicago, including a plane flight across Europe, was described yesterday by the Rev. Lewi Pethrus, who made the journey with his twin sons, Knute and Paul, 16. The Rev. Mr. Pethrus is associated with the Philadelphia Swedish Pentecostal church, 5437 Clark street. He is 57 years old and had been pastor of a Stockholm church for 30 years.

The trip started Feb. 23 and the three traveled to Berlin by plane, stopped there overnight, and flew across France to Barcelona, Spain. The Rev. Mr. Pethrus said that in Barcelona they had to wait two days to get train tickets for Madrid. When they reached Madrid they waited two days more before they could obtain transportation to Lisbon, Portugal.

Altho they had purchased tickets on the Clipper in advance, they had to wait a month in Lisbon. The refugee problem in the port is critical, the Rev. Mr. Pethrus said, with more than 10,000 refugees clamoring for transportation. They left Lisbon April 6 and arrived in Chicago Friday.

TANKS FIGHT BIG BATTLE ON PLAIN IN FLORINA ZONE

that the Germans had taken Gianitsa. Details and extent of these preliminary land maneuvers were obscured in official silence. Official descriptions of aerial warefare were more liberal.

The British related that they heavily bombed German concentrations in the towns of Veles and Prilep in southern Jugo-Slavia and the Greek village of Kilkis in the German occupied Greek panhandle and in the Galikos area. Strong German fighter plane opposition was encountered, the British acknowledged.

The Germans continued their air raids on the Piraeus, port for Athens, sending over 16 waves of bombers in four hours last night. The Greeks said at least two of them were shot down. Civilian casualties of 20 dead and 31 wounded were admitted.

Nazis Foresee Flight by British.

BERLIN, April 12 (AP).—Germany today kept sharp eyes on the developing battle of Greece. The communique made no mention of operations in Greece, but the question in many quarters was whether the British and Greeks would put up a last stand to save the Balkan operations or try to leave in military transports which, according to German information, are being gathered in the port of Athens.

German spokesmen indicated they were satisfied either way—whether the British and Greeks make a stand or withdraw—but they were betting there would be a hasty British withdrawal soon.

DNB, official German news agency, today reported renewed bomb attacks on the ports of Salamis and Piraeus, saying that a 5,000 ton ship was sunk.

JUGO-SLAV LOSS ROOSEVELT'S, TOO, ITALIANS CLAIM

ROME, April 12 (AP).—Italy's newspapers today declared the plight of the Jugo-Slavs had damaged the prestige and "political and moral solvency of the two Anglo-Saxon empires" and reflected an especial defeat for President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Premier Mussolini's Il Popolo d'Italia likened Mr. Roosevelt to President Woodrow Wilson who, it said, learned about the Balkans from his Serbian barber while being shaved.

Citing how President Wilson "arranged Jugo-Slavia," Commentator Mario Appelius said that if Europe's destinies were to be decided by Mr. Roosevelt, he would turn it into a "kind of enormous Jugo-Slavia," but "fortunately, Europe is protected against Roosevelt's cataclysm by the bayonets of the axis."

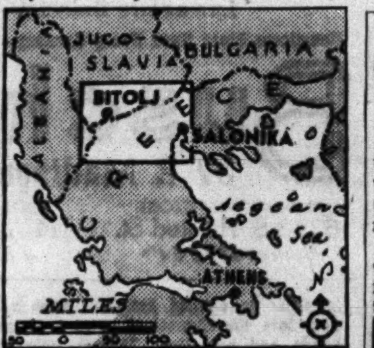
British and German armored forces are fighting a bitter battle in flat country within the triangle, according to a dispatch from Berne, Switzerland. Earlier the Greek army had repulsed the Germans in the same area. Major developments of yesterday are told on the map.



Rectangle inclosed in heavy lines locates area included in larger map.

Iraq Troops Capture Fort from British, Rome Reports

New York, April 12 (AP).—The Rome radio tonight reported that Iraq troops have captured the fort of Ruiba, in Iraq, from a "considerable" force of British troops.

U. S. MINISTER'S BELGRADE HOME IS LEFT IN RUINS

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—The state department today said it had heard from Jugo-Slavia that the Belgrade residence of the American minister, Arthur Bliss Lane, had been "virtually destroyed."

The message, timed late yesterday, said that all members of the legation staff and their families were safe, also that the legation offices and consulate still were intact.

Further, it said that Robert B. MacAtee, first secretary, was with the Jugo-Slav government "somewhere in Jugo-Slavia" and that Col. Lewis J. Fortier, military attaché, was with Jugo-Slav military authorities. The message also said that Cavendish W. Cannon of Salt Lake City, third secretary of the American legation at Athens, and Mrs. Cannon, who had been on their way to the United States, are also safe in Belgrade.

CHURCHILL HAILS 'UNCONQUERABLE' SPIRIT OF BRISTOL

Confers Degree on Winant Amid New Raid Ruins.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 12.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill praised the "unconquerable" spirit of bomb-scarred Bristol today as he conferred honorary degrees of doctor of law on American Ambassador John G. Winant and Robert G. Menzies, premier of Australia, at the University of Bristol.

The premier inspected the fresh ruins of the long, severe German raid last night and told grimy defense workers that "we will give it back to them."

He spoke to a large audience at the university, itself bearing the marks of the Nazi air attacks. He is its chancellor.

Inspired by People's Spirit.

"I go about the country whenever I can escape for a few hours or days from my duty at headquarters and I see damage done by the enemy's attacks, but I also see, side by side with the devastation and amid the ruins, glad, confident, bright, and smiling eyes gleaming with consciousness of being associated with a movement finer, higher, wider, than any human or personal issues," he said.

"I see the spirit of an unconquerable people, I see a spirit bred in freedom, nursed in tradition, which has come down to us thru the centuries and will enable us most surely at this moment, this turning point in the history of the world, to bear our part in such a way that none of our race who come after us will have any reason to cast reproach upon their sires.

Hails U. S. Ambassador.

"That we should be assembled here, and gathered here in this way, is such a mark of fortitude and phlegm, of a courage, of a detachment from material facts worthy of all that we have learned to believe of ancient Rome or modern Greece."

Churchill praised Winant, saying: "He is a man whose whole life has been a preparation for a cause which he is now called upon, in a position of great responsibility and influence, to sustain. I must assure all of the strong feeling of uplift and encouragement, the strong feeling of the grandeur and imperishable character of our cause which association with him raises in my breast."

After receiving his degree Winant said, "I shall always think first of the patience and character and courage of the people of Bristol."

From here Winant and Churchill went to the Welsh port of Cardiff, where they were hailed by miles of waiting crowds shouting "Good old Winnie!" and "Three cheers for the Stars and Stripes!"

BRITISH GENERAL DEWIART SEIZED ON WAY TO EAST

LONDON, April 12 (AP).—The war office tonight announced that Maj. Gen. Carton Dewiart "has fallen into enemy hands while on his way to the middle east." No details were given, but military sources said he had been en route to the middle east by plane.

Rome Reports Capture.

ROME, April 12 (AP).—It was officially announced today that one of the British generals captured in North Africa by axis forces is Maj. Gen. Carton Dewiart, who commanded British troops in central Norway a year ago. Dewiart was a veteran of the world war, in which he was wounded eight times, losing an eye and an arm.

[The Germans and Italians previously had announced that six generals and two colonels were captured in the African desert near Derna. The British named only three generals who were missing. Later Cairo dispatches said three brigadiers also were captured.]

To Be Seen at the Circus

Opens Friday

Wild animals will begin roaring in the Chicago Stadium today, and clowns and acrobats and trick riders will begin their rehearsals for the Greater Olympia circus, which opens in the Stadium Friday evening. The performers are coming from every corner of the land, since the circus is made up of acts which scored successes thruout the country in the last year. Terrell Jacobs is bringing his herd of elephants from their winter quarters at Peru, Ind. A number of high wire troupes will be on the program. Two hundred truck loads of loam will be used to cover the floor of the rings.

EASTER DAWNS IN LONDON THRU RAIDLESS SKIES

LONDON, April 13, Sunday (AP).—Up to an early hour today. London had been without an air alarm for its second successive night. The only incidents reported were in the provinces where single raiders were said to have dropped bombs on a south coast town and in the South Wales area, causing only insignificant damage, in sporadic stabs.

The British said two German fighter planes were shot down late yesterday, one by a British fighter over northern France and the second near the French coast.

Heavy damage to Germany's naval arsenal, submarine and shipbuilding yards at Kiel and surrounding areas was said by the air ministry to have followed a fiery royal air force night attack on April 7. Reconnaissance pilots, it said, reported direct hits on ships under construction, workshops, factories, and other buildings.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 11 [Delayed].—A well informed diplomatic source estimated today that 12,000 Greek soldiers and 20,000 Greek civilians have taken refuge in Turkey. This source predicted that Bulgaria soon will advance territorial claims upon Jugo-Slavia and Greece in an effort to fulfill her dream of an outlet to the Aegean sea.

British Claim 132 Enemy Planes Downed at Malta

New York, April 12 (AP).—The British radio, in a summary heard here today, said 132 axis planes have been shot down over Malta since the start of the war. The probable destruction of 44 more and damage to 58 was claimed.

Nazis Bag Three Planes.

BERLIN, April 12 (AP).—A German communique said that three British Hurricane fighter planes were shot down today during a fight at Malta, with no losses for the Germans.

HUNGARY'S ARMY SEIZES 2 CITIES IN JUGO-SLAVIA

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 12 (AP).—Hungarian troops, after breaking thru the fortified Jugo-Slav line between the Danube and Tisa rivers, have captured the cities of Sombor and Subotica, the general staff announced today.

Sombor is about 12 miles and Subotica five miles inside the northern Jugo-Slav border, northwest of Belgrade, the capital.

The Hungarians were continuing on the 90 mile route toward Belgrade, which is situated about 25 miles below the confluence of the Danube and the Tisa.

Activity by Croats.

Hungarian newspapers said Col. Fabian, former commander of air forces in the fifth Jugo-Slav army, had turned his planes and men over to the new Croat state and had been appointed chief of staff of the Croat army.

The Hungarian radio declared the Croat government had appointed commississars in two of Dalmatia's chief cities, the ports and naval bases of Split and Dubrovnik.

Union to Coöperate.

The Union of Croat Workers, the radio said, proclaimed its coöperation with the new régime of Premier General Sladko Kvaternik, and the chief of the Mohammedan church urged all Moslem Croats to join with the new government. [Croat is predominantly Catholic.]

Gen. Kvaternik was reported to have ordered the arrest of all Serbian deputies in Croatia, and at the same time made a second radio appeal to all Croat officers and men in the Jugo-Slav army to stop fighting and return to Croatia at once.

Son-in-Law of Churchill Injured in Auto Accident

LONDON, April 12.—Edwin Duncan Sandys, 33 years old, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's son-in-law, who is a member of parliament for the Norwood division of Lambeth, received injuries believed to be serious in an automobile accident today. His feet were crushed.

NAZI RELATIONS WITH TURKS ARE ON THE UPGRADE

BERLIN, April 12 (AP).—Neutral observers tonight said that altho German troops have approached ever closer to the Turkish border, first in Bulgaria and now in Greece, there is every indication that Turkish-German relations are improving.

Relations between these states seem normal or even cordial, these sources said.

An authorized German spokesman declared the evacuation of certain classes of civilians from Istanbul and other parts of European Turkey was regarded as "a measure for which we presume the Turks have justification, but Germany is not concerned nor does it cause worry here."

To An Advertising Agency Man with Billing . . . and Executive Ability

We are a fully recognized Chicago agency with a billing in the bracket which shows the highest net profit.

Our method of operation assures us a consistent monthly profit; stable employment for our staff and maximum service to our clients.

We have capital sufficient to handle a volume several times greater than our present billing, but frankly we do not want that much.

We are taking additional office space. And if the right man comes along as the result of this advertisement we will make arrangements for the necessary space for him, too.

There is not a windbag or a remittance man or a rainbow chaser in our outfit and there won't be if we can help it.

But for an able man with some worthwhile billing, who is more than just a salesman or an account executive, and who has executive ability, we think this offer provides an exceptional opportunity. There is a splendid balance of creative and selling ability here and plenty of plain horse sense.

How much for you? We think a fair answer is to say, "Better than the average." For if you are the man we want, you know all about the facts of life of the agency business and you will recognize the right offer when you see it.

The changes contemplated in our floor space are imperative right now. So if you are interested, get in touch with us—either direct or through your attorney if you prefer.

AXIS AND BRITISH PATROLS CLASH WEST OF TOBRUK

RAF Rips Motor Column of Two Foes.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 12 (AP).—Far-ranging British and German-Italian armored patrols clashed today in a wide area west and southwest of Tobruk while the royal air force announced it wrecked nearly 100 axis tanks and motor vehicles and inflicted many casualties in a swoop on the road from Ain El Gazala to Tobruk.

Twenty-five axis planes were destroyed in a sharp series of fights, 21 of them being hit on or over Derna airport on Thursday night, the RAF added. It admitted the loss of three planes in fighting in Africa.

Reports from the Libyan desert said the contact between ground forces had not yet developed into a battle, but implied that this might come in the defense of Tobruk, which the British hold and which the Germans are striving to bomb.

Axis Force Nears Tobruk.

Nearness of the advancing Germans and Italians was indicated by the RAF exploit on the road from Ain El Gazala, which is only 50 miles west of Tobruk.

Besides 16 Messerschmitt planes wrecked at Derna, a big Junkers bomber was destroyed as it tried to take off, a Heinkel and a Junkers troop transport, and two other planes were downed in combat, and hangars and supply dumps at that port were blown up, the RAF reported.

Two German bombers raiding Tobruk were shot down and an Italian plane was blasted into the sea 60 miles north of Alexandria, Egypt.

The South African air force meanwhile pressed the cleanup of Ethiopia, announcing it destroyed eight Italian planes at Gimma.

Two German planes were reported destroyed when they raided the British Mediterranean fortress of Malta.

Near Tobruk, Say Italians.

ROME, April 12 (AP).—Axis troops advancing eastward across Libya were reported today by the Italian high command to have occupied Ain El Gazala, less than 50 miles west of Tobruk. The high command also reported the capture of a British "divisional general." He was said to have been seized with the crew of a British plane captured on the north African front.

Pursuing Foe, Nazis Report.

BERLIN, April 12 (AP).—The German high command reported today that German and Italian divisions were continuing pursuit "of the defeated enemy" in North Africa.

German and Italian Stuka [dive bomber] units, protected by chasers, dropped heavy calibre bombs on Tobruk port facilities, fired a transport ship and heavily damaged another ship, it added, and accompanying pursuit ships downed one British Hurricane.

CLASH REPORTED BETWEEN TROOPS OF ECUADOR, PERU

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 12 (AP).—Dispatches from the frontier village of Huaquillas today told of an exchange of shots between Peruvian and Ecuadorian military detachments on the banks of the Zarumilla river. No casualties were reported.

The dispatches said the incident originated with gunfire from the Peruvian bank of the river against Ecuadorian boats taking provisions to a military post.

[Peru's unsettled frontier with Ecuador has been the occasion of a new flareup in diplomatic relations. The diplomatic clash came when Ecuador's foreign minister appealed to the other American governments to settle the issue, asserting Ecuador is ready to negotiate with Peru "if the latter country gives a guarantee of 'lealtad' (honesty) in its negotiations." This drew a sharp protest from the Peruvian foreign minister.]

PRINCE VISITS NORSE SHIPS IN U. S.; SALE HINTED

New York, April 12 [Special].—Heavily guarded by police, Crown Prince Olaf and Crown Princess Martha of Norway today visited the Bethlehem Steel company shipyards in Brooklyn, where seven Norwegian ships are undergoing repairs.

Altho it could not be confirmed, it was reported that the visit, during which the prince spoke to more than 250 officers and members of the crews of the ships, was in connection with the possible sale of the ships to the United States.

The royal couple will attend church here tomorrow and after the service will visit the Bay Ridge yards of the Bethlehem company, to meet Norwegian seamen assigned to ships tied up there.

MOTHER VISITS DOOMED KILLER; PLANS NEW PLEA

Mrs. Bertha Watson of Detroit, Mich., visited in the county jail yesterday with her son, Orville Watson, and his gunman comrade, Edward Riley, who are under sentence to die in the electric chair on June 12.

Mrs. Watson said she would confer with their attorney on the possibility of an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Watson, who is 31 years old, and Riley, who is 37, are under sentence for the murder of Alexander Ferguson of 2525 Leland avenue.

ROOSEVELT SON TO TAKE SECOND BRIDE TOMORROW

Judge Will Perform Marriage Rite.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 12 (AP).—James Roosevelt and Romelle Schneider, his former nurse, will be married by a municipal judge on Monday.

The President's eldest son said today at a press conference he regretted he could not be married by a Roman Catholic priest. This is because he has been divorced. He formerly was married to Betsey Cushing of Boston, Mass.

Bride Is a Catholic.

Miss Schneider is a Roman Catholic. Roosevelt has been reported taking instruction in that faith, altho his mother denied last week that he contemplated changing his belief.

Young Roosevelt, a captain in the United States marines reserve at San Diego, Cal., has been granted three days' leave for a honeymoon.

The ceremony, scheduled for 1 p. m. Monday, will be held at the Beverly Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Converse. Mrs. Converse is the former Anita Stewart of the films. Municipal Judge Arthur S. Guerin will conduct the ceremony in the presence of about 15 guests.

Mother to Attend.

The guests will include Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who will arrive from the east by plane Monday; Roosevelt's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger of Seattle; Mrs. Agnes Schneider of Beverly Hills, mother of the bride, and Miss Schneider's brother and sisters, George Schneider, Notre Dame university student; Phyllis Schneider, young Roosevelt's secretary, and Mrs. L. F. Tubbs of San Diego.

Roosevelt is a motion picture producer and spends his free time at his studio near here.

Another Roosevelt Marriage.

Dedham, Mass., April 12 [Special].—Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, 21 years old, who made her debut in the White House three years ago, today became the bride of a young English architect, Edward Proctor Elliott, 25, with her aunt, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as one of the guests.

After the ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal church and reception for 800 persons, the young couple left on a wedding trip by automobile. Mrs. Roosevelt went to Washington, D. C., where she will stop briefly for Easter services before speeding across the nation by plane for the wedding of her son, James, to his former nurse, Romelle Schneider, in Los Angeles, Cal., on Monday.

Elliott of Brierly, Yorkshire, England, has been in this country since September, 1939. Before leaving England, he said, he volunteered for army service, but was "deferred" by the British government in order that he might come here to study architecture on a fellowship. He left school last June, but said he plans to remain here indefinitely.

thus losing his livelihood. Nobody tries to curb the distribution of communist literature on the ship.

An officer told me some of the older men on the line who had opposed the infiltration of communist influence into the union had been beaten up and knifed. Now they were silent.

Captain Is Reticent.

March 29—More incidents of lack of discipline. Passenger from New York told me he called for a steward to bring a tray of food down to his cabin for his wife, who had been seasick. After a half hour the steward had not shown up and he called back. The telephone operator was surly, but finally the steward arrived.

Capt. H. A. Church, a skipper on this line for 21 years, took me up on the bridge as we passed the brick, red hulled Diamond shoals lightship off Cape Hatteras. The captain was reticent about the crew.

At the captain's dinner heard a passenger request a waiter to take his menu to the skipper for an autograph. The waiter slammed it down on the table and refused. "He doesn't like the captain," some one explained. Another waiter took it over.

March 30.—Good weather, but the Monterey crept up the Jersey coast, near where the Morro Castle burned, making only eight knots. We were told if we docked at New York before 5 p. m. the line would have to pay the customs and immigration men double time for Sunday.

In the dining saloon noticed the same hurrying up of the service and slamming of dishes around that occurred just before the President Hayes docked at Havana. Otherwise the arrival at New York was without incident.

MERCURY SOARS, BUT POLICE STILL WEAR OVERCOATS

Chicago's traffic policemen and others of the force who work in conspicuous places sweltered in their heavy overcoats yesterday and will do the same today even tho the mercury stays at high levels.

Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed rank, said that uniformity of garb had to be enforced and that it is still too early to order the overcoats to the mothballs. "There'll be some more cold days," he added.

Early in May the order to prepare for inspection in spring uniforms will be given, and after the inspection the overcoats will be dispensed with. Summer uniforms, without coats, usually are permitted only in July and August.

The park police follow virtually the same schedule under orders of Chief Roger Shanahan and are still overcoated.

Parachutists in the Air

American parachutists of the 501st parachute battalion, Fort Benning, Ga., maneuvers. This is a view from the ground as they left three transport planes to float down to their "objective."

Improvement Noted

Fort Benning, Ga., April 12 (AP).—Members of the 501st parachute battalion are showing improvement in that form of warfare, officers said after maneuvers here this week. Sixty men tumbled from huge planes after first dumping out fighting equipment which included machine guns and hand grenades. Parachutes attached to the equipment had hardly touched the ground before the men landed and set up the guns. In most mass jumps such as demonstrated this week 10 to 12 men are assigned to a plane.

NAVY APPOINTS ADMIRAL PUBLIC RELATIONS CHIEF

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Following a war department precedent, the navy today placed Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, one of its top ranking officers, in charge of an expanded public relations branch.

Secretary Frank Knox announced that Admiral Hepburn, former commander in chief of the United States fleet, would take charge of the branch as "director of the office of public relations" May 1.

At the same time, navy public relations will be shifted from control of the office of naval intelligence and placed directly under the secretary.

Knox announced that Hal O'Flaherty, managing editor of the Chicago Daily News of which the secretary is publisher on leave, would report in the new office next week as an assistant with the rank of lieutenant commander in the naval reserve.

Red Cross Relief Ship Ends Marseilles Mission

NETWORK OF 37 CHICAGO GROUPS ASSISTS EUROPE

Gathers Money, Materials for War Relief.

A criss-crossing network of 37 agencies in Chicago, with many names and many sponsors, is gathering money and materials to ship to Europe. A list supplied by the Chicago Association of Commerce names these agencies, 23 of whom have concentrated their work under the banner of the British War Relief Society, Inc., Illinois committee, 30 North Michigan avenue.

Attempts have been made to merge many of the groups, reduce overhead expense, and prevent duplication of effort, but these moves have been only partially successful. Jealousies among the groups played their part in the failure.

Out of the welter of organizations, two in Chicago have forged to prominent positions. They are the British War Relief society and Bundles for Britain, 163 North Michigan avenue.

Supplies Shipped Free.

Richard Elmhurst is executive secretary of the British War Relief society, the only group outside of the American Red Cross that is permitted to ship supplies free on British ships. This organization solicits money, clothes, and other supplies.

Orville Taylor, chairman of Bundles for Britain, said that organization stresses complete coöperation with all other groups working to help England. "It's primarily an organization of ladies collecting material and supplies," he added.

The English Speaking union, 360 North Michigan avenue, Mrs. M. Ogden West, executive secretary, and the Belgium Relief Fund, Inc., have coördinated their efforts with both the British Relief Society and Bundles for Britain.

Working within the relief society are the following groups:

Better-Ole.
British American League of Women.
British Consulate General.
British Empire association.
Canadian Legion.
Chicago Manx society.
Chicago Scottish Choral society.
Chicago Welsh Women's club.
Cricket aggregation.
Daughters of the British Empire.
Daughters of Scotia.
Daughters of Scotia and Scottish Clans.
Daughters of St. George.
Illinois St. Andrews society.
Illinois Ulster society.
Imperial Women's Veterans corps.
Ladies' Auxiliary, Scottish Old People's home.
Les Filles de France.
Orange Societies.
Orkney and Shetland society.
Sons of St. George.
United British Societies.
Welsh unit.

Other groups represented in Chicago are:

Norwegian Relief, Inc., 135 South La Salle street. Orlando Ingvoldstad, executive secretary.

American Friends of France and Urgent Relief for France, 410 South Michigan avenue, both aiding the British War Relief society.

American Scandinavian alliance, 624 Wrightwood avenue.

Polish American Council organization, 1018 Noble street.

Paderewski Fund for Polish Relief, 20 North Wacker drive.

American Friends Service committee, 633 South Maple avenue, Oak Park. Miss Jeanette Stetson, secretary.

In addition to the groups soliciting relief for Europe, there is the Chicago Committee for Aid to China, 53 West Jackson boulevard. Coöperating with this group are the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China, China Aid council, Associated Boards for Christian Colleges in China, and Chinese Industrial Coöperatives.

From New York, where the aid-gathering societies are even more numerous, several are conducting mail campaigns in Chicago and several have indicated they may open Chicago offices.

U. S. PARACHUTE TROOPERS BEING TAUGHT SEWING

It's an Important Part of Their Training.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rantoul, Ill., April 12.—A unit of the army's new parachute troops is at the air corps technical school near here learning to match woman's handiwork with sewing machine and needle and thread.

The troopers, temporarily detailed here from their headquarters at Fort Benning, Ga., are learning to sew, to repair their clothing, and patch rips, and to repair, pack, and care for their parachutes. This phase of their training is similar to instruction given the German parachute troops who played an important part in last summer's battle of France.

They'll Be Instructors.

Two officers and 24 men have started a 10 week course. After it's over, they will be experts who can vie with any dressmaker or tailor. They even will have made some of their own flying suits. When they return to Fort Benning they'll conduct sewing courses for the other parachute troopers.

At first glance, visitors to the classes here can see little connection between the operation of sewing machines and the well-known combat tactics of such troopers, whose duty it sometime might be to drop behind enemy lines to disrupt communications, destroy bridges, and generally cause confusion in the enemy territroy.

Before they can be dropped completely on their own into enemy territory, explained Russell Carrington, the civilian instructor conducting the course here, these men must become experts in a score of fields.

Guns Aren't All.

Of course they must be able to wield submachine guns, be familiar with explosives, and know a lot about radio and telegraphy.

But in addition they must be absolutely self-sufficient as regards food, clothing, and the maintenance and repair of the parachutes. That's what they are getting here.

It will not be necessary for every parachute trooper to take the course, but there will be a large number who must take it to qualify as parachute riggers. There will be from 10 to 20 men in each parachute company who can rig and pack parachutes. And part of this rigging training involves becoming expert with sewing machine and needle.

It would be almost impossible to have a parachute division unless the parachutists themselves could take care of the 10,000 parachutes such an outfit might possess.

Practice on Paper.

Carrington showed the first work of his class—the sewing of sheets of brown wrapping paper. This, he explained, is the first step in familiarizing the men with the five types of sewing machines which the army will furnish to parachute riggers. These include high speed types capable of as many as 3,000 stitches a minute. The men must become so expert with them that they can sew right up to a seam and then stop without running one stitch over, Carrington said.

The next step is in sewing heavy duck canvas into bags, cushions, etc. Finally, the men work with parachute silk and with electrified sheep shearlings—an electrically treated sheep hide with sheared wool attached. This is the material used in making flying suits.

Packing and caring for parachutes is the final stage of the coure, Carrington explained. The men are allowed to repair tears in a parachute up to a foot in length, but anything larger means that the parachute is sent to the army's special parachute repair depot at Wright field, Dayton, O.

Difference in Parachutes.

A parachute trooper's parachute is like a pilot's, Carrington said, except that it is connected to a line which remains attached to the airplane when the parachutist jumps. This line jerks open the parachute. A pilot's chute is opened by a rip cord which the pilot himself must pull as he is falling.

The parachute troopers, all of them young, spare, and rangy, are spending seven hours a day in the school. Most of this is at a sewing machine. Later they will get special instruction in hand stitching and tying knots in thread.

Nebraska Twister Hurts 12; Fair Buildings Wrecked

Benkelman, Neb., April 12 (AP).—A twister tonight leveled Dundy county fairgrounds buildings, destroyed four houses, and injured 12 persons, one seriously. Crowds of Saturday night shoppers were stranded in darkened stores as lights blacked out.

ANTI-WAR DRIVE COLLEGE GROUP GAINS RECRUITS

40 States Represented in Membership.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 12.—Lounging around the Yale club here one winter afternoon three months ago, a dozen young lawyers, bankers, and business men fell to discussing the war and found they were all agreed it would be disastrous for the United States to enter the bloody conflict. They decided to do something about it.

Enroll 1,000 Members.

Today their rapidly expanding organization, "College Men for Defense First," has enrolled more than 1,000 active members in 40 states. One hundred universities and colleges are represented on the roster. Twelve members are graduates of English universities.

Their platform has only two planks. They are:

1. Build an impregnable national defense.
2. Stay out of war in Europe.

Richard A. Moore, Yale '36, the lanky, red headed lawyer who is chairman of the executive committee, said the movement favored giving aid to Britain as long as none of the measures lead to war. The college men are fighting agitation for American convoying of war materials as certain to plunge the country into war.

Opposed to Convoys.

"We feel that the only way we can become involved in this war is by sending ships over looking for it," declared Moore in an interview. "Our position and our resources make a successful attack on us impossible. Yet a tiny minority is preaching hysteria and fear.

"This war the minority is demanding would last anywhere from 3 to 10 years because naturally we would want to win. It would take the greatest expeditionary force, the greatest expenditures in world history. It would leave this nation decimated and broke. Then would come the end of democracy and the rise of communism."

Bullet Victim Dies; Car linked to Booze Hijacking

William Gallagher, about 40 years old, of 601 North Raynor avenue, Joliet, died yesterday in a hospital in Cairo, Ill., of a bullet wound. He was brought to the hospital by two men who disappeared before they were identified. State highway police at Joliet later received word that two men in an automobile with license plates issued to Gallagher had participated early yesterday in the hijacking of a truck containing 55 cases of whisky near Olive Branch, Alexander county. The hijacking did not involve shooting, the police were told.

NEW PRICE CZAR SCANS ADVANCES IN COMMODITIES

Counts on Using Pressure of Public Opinion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The administration, it was announced today, will not crack down on industry to prevent price increases, but will rely on the economic pressure of public opinion to keep prices from skyrocketing.

This policy was announced by Louis Henderson, newly appointed price czar, as he took over the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. Henderson had been in charge of price control in the Office of Production Management before the new unit was created.

He announced that he has ordered a study of price increases in steel, coal, drugs, chemicals, hides and leather, building materials, paper, machinery and equipment, cotton and textiles, and metals.

"These commodity prices are straining at the leash," Henderson said. "Unless the increasing price tendencies correct themselves in these commodities, their control will be our major problem."

Henderson said he had examined price control systems of Germany, Italy, Britain, and Japan under wartime conditions and found that penalties did not produce goods.

Holds Penalties Futile.

"If we have to place reliance on sanctions and legal punishments, we will have reached the top of the production effort," Henderson said. "No amount of penalties is a substitute for supplies—they cannot be effective.

"We will rely on economic rather than legal sanctions."

Henderson announced that he had created a price administration committee to make recommendations regarding maximum prices and to determine cost elements.

The committee is composed of himself, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones as loan administrator, Defense Coördinators William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, and members of the federal tariff and trade commissions.

Plans to Fix Ceilings.

Henderson said that his agency had not yet considered action on the high cost of living—food and rental prices.

"The essence of control," he said, "does not lie essentially in the price fixing administration, but resides largely in the question of supply and capacity."

Henderson declared himself against a rise in steel prices because the prices in that industry are already 5 per cent above the 1939 level. On cotton textiles, he asserted that some operators have been greedy and overreaching.

He declared that the new unit will be interested in any unwarranted wage rises.

Among other items under scrutiny by his unit, Henderson listed lead, secondary nickel, copper, brass materials, quicksilver, and lumber.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] today questioned President Roosevelt's right to set up the new price agency, and said he was studying several of the chief executive's recent actions to determine whether he had exceeded his authority.

BARTENDER FOUND HANGED.

Galesburg, Ill., April 12 [Special].—The body of Carl Ronquist, 24, bartender at Wataga, was found hanging in an abandoned garage there this morning. His friends said he was in an early draft call and had been worrying about his prospective army service. An inquest will be held here tonight.

REVEALS ICKES MOVE TO CENSOR ALASKA'S PRESS

Publisher's Daughter Tells of Demands.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JUNEAU, Alaska, April 12.—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' attempt to censor the press in Alaska was disclosed today as one of the many hidden causes why the legislature recently demanded his ouster or the transfer of his great powers over the territory to some other federal department.

Ickes' efforts to have the editor of Alaska's largest newspaper fired for writing an editorial displeasing to him were disclosed by Mrs. Helen Troy Bender, daughter of former Governor John W. Troy. The publisher here of the daily Alaska Empire, Troy, who incidentally is in a local hospital seriously ill, was governor of the territory by appointment for six years until late in 1938.

John E. Pegues, an Alaskan newspaperman for 31 years, was editor of Troy's paper from 1920 until 1935, when he became executive secretary of the Alaska Planning council.

Ickes' Freight Bill Attacked.

After Ickes' unexpected ascent to power in 1933 he imposed a toll of $9 a ton on freight shipped over the Richardson highway from Valdez to Fairbanks in competition with the government owned railway, which he controls.

Pegues wrote an editorial assailing Ickes for arbitrarily imposing a dictatorial will upon the territory in a form that would mean increased living costs for all Alaskans in the interior. He pointed out that the highway, 470 miles long and gravel surfaced only part of the way, had been built and maintained with territorial, as well as federal, funds.

Pegues' editorial questioned the legality of Ickes' act in the light of a law declaring that federal highway funds may not be used for roads including toll bridges, such as the one on the Tanana river on the Richardson route.

Dismissal Plea Is Ickes' Reply.

Ickes wrote to Gov. Troy, demanding Pegues' dismissal. The governor replied that Pegues' contract gave him complete editorial freedom. Because of his position, Troy did not publicize the matter. He has since been replaced as governor by Ernest H. Gruening, an "outsider" now in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Bender, who is now publishing the Alaska Empire, said, "You can easily imagine what I thought when I heard Ickes say in his radio debate with Frank Gannett that there is no freedom of the press. Perhaps he meant there would be none if he had his way."

Governor's Report Censored.

In 1938, Ickes struck out of Gov. Troy's report a statement referring to the 3 per cent tax on gold and platinum as "an especially heavy rate" and a factor adverse to the progress of Alaskan mining. Ickes, who wanted a tax of 8 per cent on both gross gold production and net profit, said the statement might "be an invitation to the legislature not to increase the tax."

Gov. Troy submitted a bill calling for a 5 per cent tax, partly in deference to Ickes' demands, and the legislature, which learned of the source of the measure, killed it in 11 minutes.

CRASH KILLS ARSENAL EMPLOYE.

Davenport, Ia., April 12 (AP).—Wilburn Hill, East St. Louis, Ill., employed at the Rock Island arsenal, was instantly killed and his companion, Howard Crowe, Rock Island, was injured seriously when Hill lost control of the motorcycle they were riding and crashed into a concrete bridge near Pleasant Valley, Ia., on highway No. 67 last night. Crowe has a fractured leg and internal injuries.

D. A. R. TO HONOR DESCENDANT OF THE RED COATS

Washington, D. C., April 12 (AP).—Daughters of the American Revolution, for the first time in their half century history, will hear their annual congress opened by a descendant of the British Red Coats—for it's not the year 1776, but the year of house resoluion 1776 [the dictator act].

It is anticipated that Neville Butler, counsellor of the British embassy and minister to the United States, as the main speaker at the opening session tomorrow night, will touch on the import of H. R. 1776. His topic is "The Price of Liberty."

In years past the opening address usually has been given by a high United States official. This will be the first time any member of the foreign diplomatic corps has given it. Last year neutrality was a main topic. Speakers this year include Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, and Breckinridge Long, assistant secretary of state.

U. OF C. SPONSORS ADD $57,750 TO 50TH YEAR FUND

New pledges totaling $57,750 were announced yesterday by the citizens' board of sponsors of the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary celebration. TRIBUNE STARTS ENORMOUS JOB, INDEXING FILES

All News Since 1847 to Be Classified.

"Aren't you the new editor from Cleveland?" asked the visitor.

"I am Medill, the new editor."

"Well, I guess you'll do just as well."

"And will you please tell me whom I have the pleasure of addressing?"

"Well," said the visitor, "down by Sangamon river they used to call me Abraham Lincoln. Now they generally call me Old Abe, tho I'm not so old either. I came to subscribe for the paper. I can't get it regularly down our way, so I borrow it from a neighbor. But sometimes he lends it before I get around. Now I want to pay for it six months ahead."

History Making Alliance.

The Lincoln-Medill acquaintance ripened into friendship and then into a history making alliance. Two years later Old Abe was candidate for United States senator from Illinois and THE TRIBUNE was carrying the details of all Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Joseph Medill rescued the newspaper from near bankruptcy in 1855. From that year on, the indexers find the mellowed pages beginning to share in the mighty destiny of a wonder city. They see how suitable was the summing up of a modern commentator:

"Joseph Medill was a builder more than a battler, yet he created on THE TRIBUNE a fighting tradition that meant honest patriotism and abiding solicitude for nation and city. Such leadership the heirs of his responsibilities and opportunities were to carry over into the 20th century."

Plant Destroyed by Fire.

THE TRIBUNE plant was destroyed in the great fire of 1871, and it was necessary to borrow $54 to print a "cheer up" issue, the columns of which provided intimate and accurate details of the catastrophe. However, indexers find that the fire caused no gap in the collection of editions.

Index accomplishments thus far include the years 1857, 1858, 1859, and 1860. One indexer is working from the beginning up to 1880. Another has started with 1880 and will go up to 1910. A third has started with 1910 and will bring the work up to 1940, where the current index commences.

The indexers find files available from Jan. 6, 1857, to the present time, without a break. Collections in various parts of the United States have been depended upon for the files between 1847 and 1857, which have been micro-filmed for the completed project.

By using the micro-film process, it has been possible to obtain files for three and one-half years during the first decade of publication. Files for six and one-half years of this early period are still being sought.

Historical Societies Assist.

Coöperation with the micro-film work was given by the American Antiquarian society, the Chicago Historical society, the Illinois Historical society, the Iowa State Historical society, which had the largest number of issues, and the New York Historical society, which supplied isolated copies.

When the first of the 2,440,000 columns to be indexed was printed the Mexican war was still news. Accounts of civil war battles are told under increasingly large headlines by the first of THE TRIBUNE's war correspondents.

History making news scoops stand out in the files. There is the day in 1898 when THE TRIBUNE gave the government and the world the first news of Dewey's victory at Manila Bay. There is the story of how THE TRIBUNE gave the United States senate its first copy of the Versailles treaty in 1919. And there are hundreds of stories by TRIBUNE men who wrote the history of a century as it happened.

First Telegraph Service.

Editors and printers who struggled with the early editions were thrilled by the installation of their first telegraphic news service in the west in 1849. They were thrilled again two years later when the newspaper brought to Chicago the first "power press." It was powered by a pony hitched to a revolving shaft. Items of 1855 were printed by the first steam press installed in Illinois.

Fortunately, the early editions were printed on rag paper that has resisted decay, but the type is so fine that the indexers doing constant reading find it necessary to use a magnifying glass.

Indexers note that THE TRIBUNE contained no more than four pages until 1870. A copy for Oct. 29, 1851, shows the masthead placed at the top of the left hand column. There are no headlines. There is "News from California" about mining ventures. It was taken for granted, in presenting an article, that the reader was already familiar with what had gone before.

In the village stage of Chicago's development, it was not considered necessary to identify persons by their first names. A robbery at the Tremont house in 1857 is given considerable mention, but most crime stories seem to concern horse stealing and even a theft of hogs within the city limits. Much is made of street improvements devised for lifting Chicagoans out of the mud.

A News Figure of 1859.

Indexers discover that Blondin not only walked across Niagara Falls on a tight rope once, according to the files of 1859, but made the journey on a dozen occasions; at one time on stilts and again carrying with him a stove.

In contrast to the number of pages devoted to sports in THE TRIBUNE of today, indexers find only a few lines are given to baseball in the issue of July 9, 1858. There was no thought then of sponsoring events such as a Golden Gloves tournament, an annual contest between American and National baseball league stars, or an annual football game between college and professional players. Announcement is made in 1858 of a baseball game played at Harrison and Halsted streets. No players are mentioned, but rules of the contest are printed for the edification of fans.

McVicker's theater opened in 1857, and Maggie Mitchell was playing at the old Chicago theater. In 1860 much was made of the dedication of Kingsbury hall, devoted to music and drama. These theatrical ventures were to lead into the golden age of opera and the drama in Chicago during the "gay nineties."

Early files tell of the construction of many new buildings, welcomed with pride and without forewarning of their doom in the great fire.

All paragraphs in the early editions were set by hand, as was the entire New Testament in 1881, and that in a single night.

Notable Tribune Feats.

Among TRIBUNE "firsts" of which the publishers did not dream in early days were: Printing the first dispatch ever sent by wireless of a rescue at sea, 1908; a rotogravure section on paper from THE TRIBUNE's own timber lands, 1915; perfection of the "coloroto" printing press, 1922; newsprint color advertising, 1926, and a new 16 unit multicolor comic press, 1937.

In the early issues leading up to 1860, now fully indexed, there are no photographs to catch the eye, but in 1859 the first map appeared enabling readers to become acquainted with the gold region of Pike's peak.

Even as late as the world's fair year of 1893, the only illustrations used were crude line drawings to accompany hand set type. THE TRIBUNE was not to open its own engraving department until 1887, or print its first halftones until 1897. Comics printed in colors were not to be introduced until 1900. The new high speed presses costing $1,250,000 were to be ordered in 1933.

Yet indexers of the early issues marvel at the way Joseph Medill overcame the handicap of meager facilities. They understand why he has been called a man "dominated by no force outside of his own brains and conscience" and how his character has influenced the newspaper of today.

Beaumont, 26 years old, is from New Orleans; Miss Adams, 20, from New Ulm, Minn. Their film careers will postpone a honeymoon for several months.

How The Tribune Is Being Indexed

Here is an example of how news stories printed in THE TRIBUNE in 1859 were summarized and indexed as part of the project that will provide a complete index of the newspaper's files since its beginning in 1847. In this case, events concerning John Brown, the abolitionist, are recorded on four cards, each of which is filed under a different classification:

The cards used for the index are of a quality that will last for centuries. They will be filed in steel cabinets alphabetically according to subjects, so that references to any subject can be located quickly and easily.

A DARING JUNGLE SAFARI COLLIDES WITH AN AMBUSH

Adventurer to Give Travel Talk to Grand Jury.

BY CLAYTON KIRKPATRICK.

Leonard Balter.

The Jivaro Indians, buried in the obscurity of the Ecuadorian jungle in South America, may never know how close they were to fame and the blessings of civilization. And maybe they don't care.

But in the United States are some 400 hardy adventurers who will learn with mixed feelings of regret and relief of the collapse of the Leonard D. Balter semiscientific expedition to Ecuador. For them it will be the end of a dream of prospecting in streams with exotic names for "blue clay balls with cores of solid gold." It also may result in saving their gold gained in more prosaic ways.

The shimmering bubble that promised them "reckless adventure," "the praise of scholars," and "fabulous fortunes" was pricked yesterday in a hearing before Edwin K. Walker, United States commissioner. Last night the mild little Mr. Balter, charged with using the mails to defraud, sat in the county jail waiting to tell his story to the federal grand jury next week.

It Probably Will Be Good!

Chances are the story he tells will be good. His ability to marshal words and ideas is attested by the form letter he wrote to would-be explorers who answered his advertisments in magazines.

What arm chair adventurer could resist a promise like this? "You'll be going up those rivers just as I did for 10 years and as I expect to for at least two more. Where? Well, maybe up the Rio Itecoahy [lat. 5:5, long. 71:25] looking for a small stream which contains blue clay balls with solid gold cores. Some day I'll tell you the story and show you my maps."

Life anywhere would seem pretty drab compared with the adventures Balter recounted in his letter.

A Brush with the Indians.

For example there was his encounter with the Cibios Indians:

"I once was guide for a London expedition on the Cuyuni river in British Guiana, and it nearly cost me my life. We had been going up river for several days trying to establish contact with the Cibios tribe, which was reputed to be hostile. We knew they were watching our progress, but for some reason they refused to be seen by our party.

"I was trailing the party with a black boy in a dugout canoe. My idea was that their strategy would be to attack from the rear. I felt sure that if they appeared it would be only a sham attack with a little waving of spears. Instead they attacked our party from the front.

"It would not have been serious had not Pincard, a London correspondent, lost his head, picked up his rifle, and blasted at them. As it was we barely escaped with our lives. I read an account of it later in the London Times."

A Tinge of Business, Too.

Despite the language of high adventure, the letter has an unmistakable businesslike quality. Its four pages are divided neatly under subheads such as locale, object, finances, transportation, and equipment.

Description of the locale shows an impressive knowledge of the country: "S. E. Ecuador on the Paute Santiago river and its S. W. tributaries. This region is reached by taking the rail from Guayaquil to Cuenca—auto trail to Paute—thence by canoe. In the event this route is too hazardous we will travel overland to Loja and take the Zamora Santiago river."

The section on finances was particularly interesting to postal authorities. "Each member must deposit not less than $300 prior to March 20, 1941, and be ready to supply at least $100 when we meet in New Orleans May 25." Inspectors said about $1,000 had been sent to Balter.

He's Been Around, All Right.

A. A. Imus, chief postal inspector, said Balter, who was born in Boston, and who lives at 164 Prairie street, Batavia, has spent 12 of his 37 years in prison. Imus said he was in the Waupun, Wis., state penitentiary for 10 years on a robbery conviction. The federal penitentiary in Leavenworth, Kas., was his abode for two years after he was convicted of transporting a stolen car across a state line.

Since his release from prison a year and a half ago, Balter has been selling musical instruments and dreaming about South America, Imus said.

Balter, who is 5 feet 3 inches tall, readily admitted his stories of high adventure in South America were fakes. But he insisted he really meant to lead his intrepid band in search for the clay covered nuggets of gold.

196 DISTRICTS ELECT SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS

Lively Contests Develop in County-Wide Voting.

Sharp contests were reported in some of the 176 elementary school districts and 20 high school districts of Cook county which elected school board members yesterday.

One of the closest was in Leyden Community High school district. Norman W. Trumbull, with 817 votes, and Arthur Kellermann, with 759 defeated Alfred Belz Jr., who polled 613.

In the Blue Island Community High school district Fred Hohman and Henry L. Duff were elected board members, polling about 500 more votes than two opponents. In the Cicero-Stickney High school district George Petru and A. M. Janecek were winners.

Forest Park elementary district No. 91 elected Charles W. Meseke and Edward B. Lane, the latter by a narrow margin, over competing candidates. In the Norwood Park nonhigh school district No. 216 voters made a writein campaign to elect Reinhardt Kopplin over Adam Schilling, who was on the ballot.

Evanston O. K.'s Tax Proposal.

Voters of Evanston Township High school, District 202, approved the educational tax proposal by a vote of 3,466 to 386. The ballot gives the school board the right to raise the school levy from the present $1.37½ per $100 valuation to as high as $2.

The voters also approved, 3,097 to 343, a pension act placed on the ballot under state law, giving the school board authority to institute a pension system for aged, retiring employés. Both the board and employés would contribute to the pension fund. Ira Westbrook was unopposed for election as a board member.

Cicero township's election, which brought out a large vote, resulted in the defeat of James J. Pelikan, who has been a member of the township school board for 19 years. John C. Stoffel, a Cicero insurance man, polled 15,334 votes to Pelikan's 10,074.

Dozens of children watching a fire last night in a Scott's 5 cent to $1 store at 3215-3217 Broadway received an unexpected treat when streams of water from fire hose sent cigarets, toy rabbits, playthings, and other trinkets scooting into the street. All were quickly retrieved by the children.

Several thousand persons jammed the streets to watch the blaze, which occurred shortly after the store closed at 9:30 p. m. Second Deputy Fire Marshal Michael Cody estimated damage to the one story building at $10,000.

AUTO UPSETS 2D, HITS TRUCK, NEWS STAND AND STORE

Driver, a Nurse, Then Takes Street Car.

Mrs. Phrona Vining's car did five things in rapid succession yesterday after she reached the intersection of Kimball avenue and Irving Park road: [1] Overturned the car of Aaron Singer, 1508 South Central avenue; [2] bounced off a laundry truck driven by John Springer, 3231 Octavia avenue; [3] struck a newsstand; [4] crashed on into the window of a drug store, damaging the soda fountain, and [5] shook the building until Mrs. Helen Dorsey, living above the store, fell out of bed.

Mrs. Vining, a visiting nurse 48 years old, took a street car home to 4330 North Hermitage avenue.

Watchman Killed by Car.

Anthony Onofrio, 56 years old, of Steger, in southern Cook county, a night watchman, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile driven by George Starkey, 28, also of Steger. The accident occurred at 34th street and Emerald avenue, Steger.

Miss Mary May, 66, of 1234 West Madison street, died last night in County hospital of complications resulting from injuries received last Nov. 15 at May street and Washington boulevard, where she was struck by an automobile driven by Rene Gaspard, 36, of R. R. 1, Deerfield.

Walk Against Truck Fatal.

Peter Abrahms, 41, of 3751 Leland avenue, a freight handler, was fatally injured when he walked against the side of a truck in front of 1818 North Central avenue. The truck driver was Emil Mohr, 1931 Fullerton avenue.

Up to 2 p. m. yesterday, 224 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 169 were killed in Chicago, where 5,911 were injured in the same period.

FILE 2 ABORTION CHARGES AGAINST LOOP PHYSICIAN

Charges of performing an abortion and conspiracy to perform an abortion were placed yesterday against Dr. Henry J. Millstone, who has offices at 5 South Wabash avenue and at 7502 Cottage Grove avenue, his home.

Dr. Millstone was arrested in his downtown office Friday by police raiders led by Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek. Also arrested were Marie Larson, 6646 Maryland avenue, a nurse, and Roberta Powell, colored, 6319 South Park avenue, an attendant.

Papanek said that another woman—a housewife—was also found in his office immediately after an operation. Investigation at the Cottage Grove avenue address led, Papanek said, to the finding of another woman allegedly operated upon by Dr. Millstone. The physician and the two women seized with him, who were accused of conspiracy, denied the charges. They were freed on bond after a hearing on a habeas corpus petition before Judge Julius H. Miner. They will appear in Felony court tomorrow.

Negro Seized for Attack on White Woman in Alley

Policemen Norman Pattison and Walter Green of the North avenue station last night arrested a colored man who, they said, had attacked an unidentified white woman in an alley at the rear of 401 North Leavitt street. The woman, about 40 years old, was taken to County hospital, where physicians said she was in critical condition as the result of blows on the head. The Negro, arrested at the scene, said he was Ivory Pitts, 29, of 2311 Warren avenue, a laborer. He was held without charge.

SAN CARLO OPERA IN TOWN AGAIN; OPENS WITH 'AIDA'

Critic Gives Much Praise; Finds Few Faults.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The friendly and versatile San Carlo Opera company is back in Chicago again, with a variety of nightly performances scheduled until next Sunday evening. The opening bill at the Auditorium theater last night was Verdi's "Aïda," which any right-thinking opera company will schedule on its first night whenever it can.

And so once again the historic arches of the Auditorium theater resounded with the splendid music of the triumphal scene, as the lustiest singers in the company and the full array of orchestra, chorus and stage band coöperated in piling Verdi's magnificent climaxes one upon another.

The performance moved along with immense vitality, yet with many expertly controled nuances, under the direction of Carlo Peroni. Mobley Lushanya, the American Indian soprano, sang the title rôle. She has evidently been working hard at the part, for it begins to take better shape than in her previous appearances, with the top notes effectively projected, and the middle register a little less breathy and pale.

Aroldo Lindi sang Rhadames with his usual sang-froid, knocking the spots off a high C in the triumphal scene, and generally singing with more gusto than refinement. Mostyn Thomas' Amonasro is cut off the same bolt of cloth as Mr. Lindi's Rhadames, but both are undeniably effective.

An Objection to Costuming.

Coe Glade sang Amneris, the princess, for the first time in several years. She did everything in her power to rewrite the libretto completely, for in her version of the story it seems likely that Rhadames must have preferred Aïda to the princess simply because he recoiled from the devices of a lurid siren of the Theda Bara period. Her costumes, in their unparalleled vulgarity, were of an outmoded, exotically revealing design of the kind abandoned as bad taste by Earl Carroll years ago. Because of her dark and woolly vocal production, her singing lacked directness, and her voice no longer carried as well as it used to.

The ballet presented its usual dances with assurance. Harold Kravitt, Charlotte Bruno, Richard Wentworth and Francesco Curci were other participants.

HIGHWAY POLICE REORGANIZATION PLANS APPROVED

Examinations Will Begin Next Saturday.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 12—Governor Dwight H. Green today approved the report of the special committee he appointed last December—before his inauguration—to recommend ways and means of reorganizing the state highway police force and placing it on a merit basis.

In consequence a series of ten examinations in that many cities will start next Saturday and will continue until May 1. Grading the results of the tests will require at least a month, but it is now believed that the state force will be completely reorganized some time in June. Strict standards are to be observed and the only question left open is that of age limitations. These are to be set by the governor.

Gen. Hammond Chairman.

The members of the committee are Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, chairman; Henry B. Chamberlin of the Chicago crime commission; Charles C. Fitzmorris, Robert L. Gordon, Prof. Ernst W. Puttkammer, Arnold Niles, and Milton H. Summers.

The first examination scheduled will be held in Chicago—for districts 3 and 4—at the Illinois Research hospital of the University of Illinois next Saturday. There have been 859 applicants listed as eligible to take the test.

Dates of Other Examinations.

The schedule of the other examinations is as follows:

Place—	Applicants	Date.
Elgin	110	April 22
Dixon	107	April 23
Peoria	100	April 24
Springfield	103	April 25
Alton	71	April 26
Anna	39	April 28
Vandalia	45	April 29
Lincoln	97	April 30
Kankakee	99	May 1

Force Has 118 Vacancies.

A large part of the report was devoted to the story of weeding out unqualified applicants. There are now 99 vacancies for patrolmen and 19 vacancies on the radio and office staff. For this total of 118 positions there were 5,626 aspirants. Questionnaires were sent to them and, on the basis of their replies, 3,743 were found unqualified.

The other 1,883 were found worthy of full examinations. Of that number, 253 are now in the state service. Another 133 were found to have special qualifications because of experience or training, and there were 1,370 found qualified to enter the examinations for patrolmen. There also were 49 applicants for appointment as clerks and 78 aspirants to radio positions found qualified for these official tests.

Discussing the report, Gov. Green described the standards set by the committee. They are not original, but are those the committee, after looking over the whole field of merit systems for police, found the most satisfactory.

Many to Take Examinations.

"In its report to me," said the governor, "the committee emphasized the fact that the questionnaire was merely for the purpose of eliminating the men obviously unfitted for police work so that a great number of applicants could be graded down to the number to which further examinations should be given. The committee has suggested that examinations begin April 19.

"The committee is working in close coöperation with T. P. Sullivan, chief of the highway force, and has tentatively decided on the form the examinations will take. It is probable that there will be two forms of tests, the personnel test, covering general information, and the O'Rourke test, which has been adopted by the International Police Chiefs' association. It will require about one and one-half hours for each man on these tests.

"The standard form for physical examination used by one of our big railroads has been abbreviated and will be used. In the first examination laboratory tests have been eliminated, but it is possible that they will be applied to the final group who are qualified after the preliminary tests.

"Experienced surgeons and physicians have been retained to prepare and give the physical examination, and they will be assisted by a number of senior medical students. The department of public welfare will also help. Fingerprints will be taken by the state bureau of identification."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE NEWSPRINT SHIP SAILS FROM MILL

Carries 3,000 Tons; Trip Is First of 1941.

At noon yesterday the big motorship Chicago Tribune left the Tribune's paper mill at Thorold, Ont., and nosed its way into the Welland canal with a cargo of 3,000 tons of newsprint—the first of THE TRIBUNE fleet to start the 880 mile trip to Chicago this season.

The specially constructed newsprint carrier will travel across Lake Erie, thru Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair river, Lake Huron, and the Straits of Mackinac, and down Lake Michigan to the dock in the Chicago river.

Ship to Dock Wednesday.

T. C. Brand, Tribune traffic manager, said the ship will dock Wednesday.

Altho traffic on the lakes has been under way for several weeks, according to Brand, there still is heavy ice in the St. Clair river, north of Detroit, Mich.

Following the Chicago Tribune on successive days will be the steamship New York News, carrying 2,375 tons of newsprint; the steamship Outarde, 1,997 tons; the steamship Heron Bay, 2,750 tons, and the motorship Franquelin, 2,045 tons.

Three to Bring Paper to Chicago.

For the rest of the year the Chicago Tribune, the Outarde, and the Heron Bay will continue to carry newsprint from the mill of the Ontario Paper company to Chicago, while the others will transport pulpwood from the Ontario forests to the mill.

Last year the first trip was started April 22. The boats are operated by the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company.

ST. CLAIR RIVER ICE JAM HALTS LAKE SHIPPING

Detroit, Mich., April 12 [Special].—Interlake traffic was tied up again today after a downwind flow of ice from Lake Huron had clogged the St. Clair river opposite Tashmoo park.

Early this afternoon more than 30 ore and coal boats lay at anchor at points beyond the ice jam while the Great Lakes Towing company and tugs Louisville and Wyoming, and a 70 foot coast guard boat strove to clear a path.

ILLUSIONS ABOUT HITLER.

Probably not the least discouraging aspect of the German drive into Greece and Jugo-Slavia is to be found in the astonishment expressed in some official circles that the success should have been so immediate and complete. This reversion to an underestimate of the military force under the Nazi high command is indication of an illusion in understanding. The most powerful fifth column Herr Hitler finds in any country is the persistent refusal of both the people and their leaders to comprehend what the Nazi military can do when the preparations are complete and the decision has been made.

It is strange that after Poland, after Norway, after the Netherlands, Belgium, France, and Dunkirk any mind can be so deceived by a period of inaction in which Hitler is supposed to be hesitating if not nonplused. He will never be overthrown by misconceptions of his planning, of the studiousness of his high command, and of the material and man power available.

The fact that the Italians have been engaged since October in a series of campaigns each resulting in failure and disasters wherever undertaken should not have built up any false confidence in the power of little countries to resist the real enemy when he appeared. But such is the power of self-deception that once again it was expected that because Hitler struck late he would strike without the usual devastating effectiveness of his land and air forces.

It may be that he later will encounter the difficulties of terrain, but it would be foolish to imagine that any problem has not been completely examined or that the Nazi force will blunder into something that had not been foreseen. The time spent in negotiations with—which means coercion of—the Balkan countries should have been ominous enough to any one who recalled anything of the previous maneuvers. Hitler could ask no better subversive force in a country with which he is at war than that the country should forget what he has done and imagine that he will be unable to do it again. There is a natural bent to allow hope to take the place of awareness and to believe what it is pleasing to believe.

Cæsar once revealed that a part of his strategy was to tell the enemy what the enemy desired to believe, which was that its military forces were superior to his own. It is unlikely that Mr. Churchill allows himself any such vain imaginings, altho it is to be remembered that Mr. Chamberlain's government when Norway was invaded was guilty of the expression that Herr Hitler had missed the bus.

It is our concern, considering the course our government is taking, that there should be in Washington so many exhibitions of unjustifiable confidence in things that are not so. The British have put up a magnificent fight in Africa and what the Greeks have already done may be as memorable as Marathon, Thermopylæ, and Salamis. But achievements which inspire illusions and lead to false notions of realities do not accomplish purposes of warfare.

Herr Hitler will not be overthrown and sent to the fate his ambitions have earned for him by miscalculations of his cunning, of his ability, of the military intelligence of his high command, or of the tremendous power which that command unfortunately is able to employ. A correct idea of his unscrupulousness must be balanced by a correct idea of the forces which he can use. Self-deception is the first invader to penetrate a country he attacks.

SCRAP STEEL.

The magazine Iron Age noted recently that as a result of the government's fixing of the price of scrap steel trading in this commodity has almost ceased.

Perhaps the burocrats in Washington will hail this as an achievement and as a step toward victory in the war toward which the administration is rushing, but the ordinary citizen will have his doubts. If trading in a commodity has ceased it seems probable that supplies will not come forward in adequate quantities. If that is what is happening, it is certain that the war effort will be severely hampered.

Scrap iron and scrap steel are among the most essential of war commodities. Unless very large quantities are available at the mills the present rate of steel production cannot be maintained. As it is, a number of experts have concluded that within a few months drastic priorities will have to be imposed to assure a steady supply for the armament factories. Mr. Roosevelt himself has been pressing for increases in steel making capacity.

Without scrap to feed into the furnaces or with an unreliable supply, it is altogether certain that the efficiency of the furnaces and mills will be reduced. They will produce less than they otherwise might.

The government has imposed its price restrictions with a view to preventing what is called a rising spiral of commodity prices. Nobody, surely, wants to see an inflationary boom in this country as a result of armament expenditures, but neither does any one want to see production impeded by burocratic stubbornness.

This administration has ordered an increase in the price of hogs with the announced purpose of bringing out a larger supply. The same principle is not permitted to operate in the metal markets.

There is small reason to fear that if the restrictions were removed the price would necessarily become dangerously high. The higher the price of scrap goes the larger will be the quantity offered. That has always happened in the past and will happen again. As the stocks grow the price will tend to fall, unless the government permits the market to be cornered. The federal government already has ample powers to deal with such a situation in the unlikely event that it would arise.

MR. FRANKFURTER TURNS REACTIONARY.

The Supreme court, speaking thru Mr. Justice Frankfurter, has held that the common laborers' joint council of Chicago, its late unlamented president, Mike Carrozzo, and others committed no violation of the antitrust laws when they prevented the use of truck concrete mixers in the Chicago area.

The truck mixer loads up with cement, stone, sand, and water at a central yard where the materials can be measured exactly and mixes them on the way to the construction site. The resulting mixture is both better and cheaper than that prepared on the site, better because it is more uniform and cheaper because mixing in transit reduces labor costs appreciably.

Chief Justice Hughes and Mr. Justice Roberts, dissenting from the Frankfurter opinion, characterized it as legislation. If their view is accepted, the philosopher of the New Deal is attempting the most reactionary sort of legislation possible. He is seeking to give minority groups the power to deny society the benefits of industrial progress.

The course he is following is not a new one. Stupid and shortsighted men have followed it since the industrial revolution began. Mr. Justice Frankfurter is a mental descendant of the weavers of England who smashed the power looms that performed at far less expenditure of human effort the tasks they had been doing painfully and slowly by hand.

This obstructionism has always failed, because it injures the groups that practice it as much as it does society in general. Labor unions that have insisted on retaining slow handicraft methods when machinery would have enabled them to increase production have sunk in importance and in the earnings of their members. It is the unions that have adapted their processes to machinery whose members receive the highest pay and find the most employment.

The typographers furnish a classic example. Half a century ago they faced the choice of adopting the typesetting machine or fighting it because it could outstrip half a dozen hand compositors. They accepted the machine, and today it earns any member who can meet his union's standard of competence many times what the swiftest hand compositor ever earned.

There is a national as well as an individual stake in the utilization of improved machines. The efficiency of many branches of British industry has been declining, or at least has failed to advance as fast as that of other nations, for several decades. In part this is due to the backwardness of management, but that backwardness is itself a product in large part of the policy of the trade unions, which have often vetoed the installation of labor saving machinery.

Intelligent labor leaders have long recognized that the only source of wages is the production of the worker. The more he produces, the more there will be to share. Mr. Justice Frankfurter lends his influence to the misguided forces that would ignore that fact. His logical goal is the India visioned by Gandhi, where every Indian will have only one shirt, but will be busy, and presumably happy, because it takes him so long to spin and weave it by hand.

The basis of the latest Frankfurter opinion, as well as of other recent ones that grant labor organizations the right to take any measures, including those of violence, without fear of punishment provided for any other organizations committing the same acts, is the Clayton and Norris-La Guardia acts. The opinions stretch the meaning of those acts far beyond any purpose discussed or intended by congress when they were passed. The remedy is the amendment of the acts to restrict them to their original purpose.

HOME RULE

The judiciary committee of the house of representatives at Springfield has favorably reported a bill to prohibit cities in Illinois from extending daylight saving time beyond the present limits in April and September. The vote was 8 to 5. Dispatches from the capital say that the vote in committee is not to be taken as an indication of the sentiment in the house as a whole.

It is to be hoped that this forecast will be proved correct. After many years of Democratic rule, Illinois at last has a Republican legislature and a Republican governor. The margin of victory could have been a good deal wider than it was last November. If the Republican leaders are determined to lose their gains in Chicago and to guarantee a reversion to Democratic control of the state government, they could hardly choose a better way than to demonstrate to the voters that the Republican party is the enemy of home rule.

If the people of Chicago want to extend the benefits of daylight saving into October they have and should continue to have the right to do so. They will properly resent the raising of legislative barriers to the carrying out of their will.

Editorial of the Day

IT IS WE WHO MUST MAKE UP OUR MINDS.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

The favorite argument of isolationist Americans today is that before we give all-out aid to the British we should know the British peace aims. It is an ironic argument, because those same isolationist Americans are the chief reason why Britain cannot state her peace aims.

No one with a sense of history would be so foolhardy as to predict the postwar world until he knows what position the United States will be willing to occupy in that world. Mankind is waiting, not for British peace aims, but for American peace aims. What responsibilities will America accept when the war is over? The question cannot be answered until we know what responsibilities America will accept while the war is raging.

What are we doing today, with our lend-lease bill and our ship confiscations and our other ambiguous acts? Are we helping the British because we have a sentimental feeling for them, as Mr. Hoover seems to suggest? If so, we should stop at once. There is no place for sentimentality in this iron age.

Are we helping the British because we think a Hitler victory might destroy all that we hold precious? In that case we should stop talking "peace" and admit that unless the war ends very soon we shall infallibly join it. The Germans cannot long allow our goods to reach England. And if our fate is at stake in the war we cannot long allow the Germans to prevent our goods from reaching England.

It is the Americans who have to decide where they stand, not the British. There can be no sensible peace aims for the free nations until the present and future position of America has been at least partly clarified.

FOOD FOR EUROPE'S HUNGRY

BY THE REV. JOHN A. O'BRIEN.
[The University of Notre Dame.]

Among the many appeals streaming into America from the countries of the old world none is so worthy of our attention as that which comes from the peoples of the five small democracies, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Finland, and central Poland. It is the elemental human cry of hungry and starving people for food.

They are cut off from the food supplies of the continent by the German blockade. They are cut off from supplies overseas by the British blockade. Caught between the upper and the nether millstone of the warring forces, these helpless little nations will be slowly ground to death if succor does not come to them from America.

The population of these five little countries totals about 37 million people, of whom about 15 million are children. About 13 million are Protestants, 3½ million are Jews, while more than 20 million are Catholics. Brave people, they fought valiantly against overwhelming odds for the preservation of their democratic way of life.

Due to the rigorous blockade, they have had no imports for more than eight months. Harvest time is still many months away. Hunger is stalking night and day among these people, threatening them with epidemics of disease and death.

The plight of Belgium has already reached an acute stage. A commission of Americans experienced in famine relief completed a survey of the food situation in Belgium early in February. It has cabled that the ration in Belgium is but one-third of the ration available in Britain and Germany.

The supplies for even this meager ration, the Americans reported, will be exhausted before the end of February. Unless relief comes from some source the eight million men, women, and children face extinction. Altho the other invaded countries have greater resources, they too will face a similar fate before the next harvest.

The National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, is seeking to find a way by which food may be brought to these peoples thru the coöperation of both Britain and Germany. Thus far Britain has refused to allow any food to pass her blockade for these starving peoples. Germany was the invader, her officials replied, and Germany should be held responsible for their feeding. Germany replies that they were always largely dependent upon imports and that, therefore, the British blockade is the chief cause of the starvation staring them in the face.

We condemn the overrunning of these small countries. We understand the desire of the British to starve the German population into submission, as they did with the help of America in the world war. But the stark fact remains that while both sides argue these people will starve unless help comes soon.

The national committee has proposed that agreements be made by the German and British governments with a neutral organization:

[b] By which supplemental supplies can be imported thru the German and British blockades and protected.

[d] To the end that the lives of millions of children, women, and men can be saved from the inevitable famine and pestilence which confront them, and that renewed hope may be given to them in the ideals of mankind.

If such agreements can be secured, then arises the question of good faith in adhering to the promises made. A two weeks' supply of imported food would be the maximum inside the occupied countries at any one time. Such a stock, ranging from 120,000 to 150,000 tons, even if it were all seized, would be less than three days' food supply for Germany, and thus could have no importance in prolonging the war.

During the previous world war more than 11 billion pounds of food were imported to Belgium thru the blockade and distributed with the domestic food. This involved an expenditure of nearly 900 million dollars. We have the testimony of Herbert Hoover that none of this food went to the Germans. The agreement was respected by both Britain and Germany. Ten million people in Belgium and northern France were saved from starvation thru the work of this commission.

When the proposals were made in October, 1914, for the importation of foodstuffs into Belgium after the fall of Antwerp, they were viewed with much misgiving and anxiety. They ran directly counter to every dictate of military prudence. But so successful was the commission in safeguarding the food for the people of occupied Belgium and northern France that when they finished their work they received from Lloyd George, prime minister of Britain, unstinted praise. "It is one of the finest achievements," added Herbert Asquith, "in the history of humanitarian and philanthropic organizations."

The five small democracies do not ask appropriations from the American government, nor for intervention by the American government, nor for ships, nor even for food from the United States. They will find all these resources for themselves if their own stocks of food are not taken by the Germans and if foodstuffs are allowed thru the blockade by the British.

All they ask is that the powerful voice of America be raised in support of such an agreement as will protect their domestic produce from the occupying forces, open the doors to imports, and safeguard the distribution. There is no powerful voice that can plead in their behalf except that of the American people. The voice of the American people, rising strong and clear above the tumult of war, can spell the difference between life and death for these afflicted people.

We wish to present the case for the feeding of these starving people in a noncontroversial manner. Does it not seem unfair for Britain to ask America to send her mountains of armament, food, and other resources, while she prevents America from sending any food to the starving women and children of the small democracies? Is she not injuring her case before the bar of American public opinion by her unwillingness to allow food to reach these starving people, even when the assurance is given that it shall not fall into the hands of the Germans?

It is obvious that if our government will intercede for these starving people Britain will not refuse the nation which alone stands between them and certain defeat. Our government without delay should see that arrangements are made for food to reach the starving people of the small democracies. This is elementary humanity, elementary mercy, elementary Christianity.

Reflecting the mind of the overwhelming majority of the American people, that great humanitarian, former President Hoover, has lifted his voice in a moving appeal for these unfortunate victims of war. Let us follow in his footsteps and deluge our President, our secretary of state, our senators and congressmen with appeals that food be sent at once to the starving people of the small democracies.

Like time and tide, hunger waits for no man. The need is urgent. The appeal is the worthiest of all that have come to us from Europe. Let us act while there is still time to save these brave people from the gnawing torture of increasing hunger and the agony of death by starvation.

The Chicago headquarters of the National Committee on Food for the Small Democracies are at 400 N. Michigan avenue. The committee will welcome the help of every American citizen in rescuing these people from starvation, misery, and death.

EASTER AND A RESURGENCE OF GOOD.

THE festival of Easter brings to each of us renewed hope in the ultimate triumph of truth. Our spirits are revived, for we all retain within our beings tendencies that give birth to noble impulses. Propensities and traits, long dormant, may be roused out of their winter lethargy with the performance of kindly acts and generous deeds.

Few have such opportunities to serve mankind as the physician. He sees humanity in all its phases—from dawn to sunset—even unto the small hours of the night; and many and frequent are his meditations. I cannot agree that medical men deserve to be labeled agnostics, nonbelievers, or atheists. Nevertheless, it has been urged repeatedly that their many battles with the grim reaper breeds a type of callousness quite incompatible with true religion.

We may grant that the superficial student of biology can interpret nature's alchemy in glib phrases. But one who is really wise, capable of delving deeply into the kaleidoscopic reactions of living things, will quickly reach a point beyond which reason cannot penetrate. Life defies analysis. It has resisted the combined effort of a world of investigators to reproduce it.

Is there anything then beyond and behind the visible manifestations which we observe all about us? Certainly, there are many factors that human ingenuity cannot fathom and we may well doubt the possibility of their penetration. All the forces of chemistry and physics have not been able to produce active, streaming protoplasm; the contents of the functioning cell.

What a drab world this would be were we dependent utterly upon a scientific explanation of every impulse. We would be so occupied with our interpretations that there would be no room for imagination, happiness, color, and joy. A race of long visaged, acetic talking robots would people the earth. There is far more to life than mere existence. Were it not so we would be obliged to deny the rôle of the emotions, family ties, and such basic virtues as loyalty, idealism, and consideration for others.

No one can define thought or create it. It cannot be reduced to a mathematical formula. Who has ever crystallized an idea? Some vital principle operates within each of us which is quite apart from the physical body, altho disposition is influenced somewhat by the state of the health. What we do and are is motivated by will, desire, and ambition.

We must all admit that death of the cells which compose the human frame leaves something behind. That great storage battery—the mind—was well charged when respiration ceased. It ran down only because the circulation failed to feed its home—the brain. But energy cannot vanish. It can only be transformed—perhaps into some invisible agent which we do not comprehend.

There is no use in attempting to seek concrete evidence, demonstrable scientifically, of immortality. But we know that the cosmic scheme is not to destroy that which is good. The burning candle may symbolize existence. With the passing of time it grows shorter and shorter until there comes the final expiring flicker. So far as the candle is concerned, all is darkness—but what has become of the light? This phenomenon has been accounted for by the distinguished astronomer, H. N. Russell, who holds that the rays stream into interstellar space and keep on forever.

No, we cannot view the changing seasons, the orderly grouping of the constellations, without an abiding consciousness that there is a supreme element at work, far beyond our ken. Man needs faith in order to hold to his sanity, to enable him to keep going with head erect and eyes front.

Easter, which symbolizes resurrection, marks the period when nature makes ready to don her gayest garments. She touches the earth with sunlight and the power of a trillion Niagaras is unleashed.

A BUCK PRIVATE HAS HIS SAY.

Camp Grant, April 9.—Some ardent pro-British New Dealer would probably love to have me court martialed and shot at sunrise for expressing this opinion, but I'll probably end up shot anyway if the Britain First committee has it's way—so, here goes.

Congratulations on your editorial captioned "Senator Wheeler's Message." We fellows in the army wish there were a few more people and organizations in the country who would exercise some pro-Americanism. The Union Nowists, the Gibson Girls, and the Give Away a Few Billionists have hog-tied American sentiment just about long enough.

Isn't it singular that 99 44/100 of these Britain firstites are those who can't hold a cane in their hands without shaking, let alone a gun? They spiel off "fightin' words," but we're the poor suckers who will have to do their fightin'. Why haven't we just as much a right to express where the majority of the members of the army stand on this defending America business?

Would it surprise the Britain First committee to learn that the vast majority of boys and officers in the army are in favor of aiding America first? They can get a cross section of sentiment in no time by coming up to Camp Grant and sitting in on a few discussions around the barracks. Some of them would be profoundly shocked.

But some say: "You aren't supposed to say anything, now that you're in the army!" Sure we're in the army—the army that will have to fight to defend even those fifth columnists and British propagandists who would take our very freedom and liberty away from us. What do these birds have at stake, anyway? Who runs the risk in the long run?

Actions speak louder than words. I haven't seen Gibson, Pepper, the socialites, the international bankers, and the strikers volunteering for active duty.

I'm not a pro-Hitlerite, a Nazi sympathizer, a Fascist, a communist, or an appeaser. I'm just like the thousands of other fellows with me—I'm an American and A BUCK PRIVATE.

SUBWAY NO MAN'S LAND.

Chicago, April 9.—Can't something be done about the condition of the loop street crossings? The northeast corner of Dearborn and Jackson [where the old Great Northern stood] is especially disgraceful. I have seen people fall there numerous times lately and I myself fell last night trying to step down from the ridiculously high curb, tearing great holes in my hose and skinning both knees. We pedestrians have suffered inconvenience and danger all winter—wading in mud, water, gravel; walking planks and detouring into the street. My dignity, patience, and knees are deeply injured! That subway is a pain generally. Can't something be done at once?

I. BISBEE.

VISITOR TO CAMP FORREST.

Chicago, April 8.—I have just returned from a short visit in Tullahoma, our son having been called into service while I was away from Chicago. I was fortunate in being able to see my boy several times.

I was pleasantly surprised at the camp's general condition. I knew I would see mud, and it was there. There had been much rain, and the campsite is a clearing of what had been wooded ground. But I saw the good results of "mind and brawn" over mud. It won't be so hard on the contingents which will follow this first large induction. Trees and stumps are cleared away, and catwalks are built connecting all barracks and roads. The roads are already solidified with ground rock and will be further improved.

No one lives in tents. The barracks are attractively built and nicely spaced, according to company division. Every soldier has a window near his allotted space.

The morale seems excellent. Every group one sees along the roadside or in the fields seems to be a happy, healthy group, brimming over with gayety and army quips, the occasion permitting. The boys whom I know there seem to have gone into their service with the proper attitude, perhaps a bit grudgingly in spots, but on the whole, wholeheartedly, and they know it must be done.

All in all I am satisfied and at peace since I glimpsed Camp Forrest. I feel it will further build up our boys physically, mentally, and morally, and that if it ends there, it may be we mothers who will owe an additional debt of gratitude to our glorious country. MRS. PAUL LEVY.

AMERICANS ONLY.

Wilmette, April 5.—The President has proclaimed an "I am an American" day. I would suggest the addition of the word "only" to the slogan. Perhaps the President also thought of that, but realized that such a restrictive term would exclude as participants many of his newest followers—as well as some of his old ones. AN AMERICAN ONLY.

PIANOS FOR CAMP FORREST.

Camp Forrest, Tenn., April 7.—The 108th engineers regiment, formerly of 3401 South Wentworth avenue, Chicago, and now stationed at Camp Forrest, is in need of a piano. We feel sure that some good Chicagoan or some public spirited institution or company could, for a few dollars, make many men happy by this donation. Articles like rugs, curtains, window shades, floor lamps, parlor chairs, divans, couches, and radios in working order can be readily used to give comfort to tired, and sometimes homesick, soldiers. Nothing will be turned down, for there are other chaplains here who are equally anxious to help their men.

If the people of Chicago will respond to this worthwhile need by sending such articles prepaid, since there are no funds available for these, the young men who have left civil life and jobs to go into the service cannot help but appreciate such a gesture.

FATHER EDWARD J. SAUNDERS,
Chaplain 108th Engineers.

PISTOL WIDOWS.

Chicago, April 7.—Why so hot because once in a blue moon a woman or two takes a pot shot at a mean and moronic spouse, to his everlasting undoing?

Perhaps the juries who free such women are cognizant of the fact that courts, laws, and juries are strictly man made and man controled. Perhaps they realize, too, that even the unwritten law was invented by some Adam to free himself from the stigma of murder and its consequent penalty.

Perhaps they realize, also, that by and large, women do not take life, and when they do there arises the suspicion of a long succession of tolerated abuse.

In the last analysis the loss to the state of Illinois of a no-good male or two is small potatoes when one looks about and notes the mass murder of women and children abroad occasioned by the stupid political blundering of the lords of creation. FLORENCE L. SIVERTSON.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts 5 points. Then look for the correct answers on page 8, part 2.

1. Which one of the following chemicals is generally used for seasoning food Sodium chloride Sodium carbonate Potassium nitrate Calcium chloride.
2. A man said to be slaphappy had probably been earning his living as a Gigolo Pugilist Comedian Acrobat.
3. A city that was referred to as a "gastronomical Nirvana" would be noted for its Wide streets Tall buildings Large industries Fine restaurants.
4. In formulating his famous Mendelian Law of inheritance, Gregor Mendel had experimented with Roses Apple trees Peas Sweet corn.
5. If a person said he wished to "talk turkey," would he be Hungry Serious Joking War-minded.
6. Today commemorates the most influential figure in all recorded history. Most of our colleges and universities were founded by sects rooted in the lofty code of morals which He delivered to mankind. The bulk of our hospitals were likewise so founded, as were the Salvation Army and Red Cross, the YMCA, and YWCA, the CYO and numerous other altruistic organizations. The Boy Scouts meet each week under the towering spires and crosses that mark His churches. The latter are really dynamic, vital mausoleums or living tombs wherein his faithful followers can gather. But all too few today expend enough energy to visit these vital "tombs" and pay tribute for their blessings. But it was always so. Of the many thousands whom He fed with the loaves and fishes, or healed of disease and blindness, how many came to the tomb on that first Easter? You deserve one point for answering this question and one point for each person you can name who visited the tomb on that fateful morning.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problems a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self addressed envelope will expedite handling.

WIFE'S PROPERTY.

Chicago, April 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am writing to see if you will kindly tell me if I could hold my wife's holdings in case of death and she leaves no will. Money involved was left by her deceased mother, bu tmy wife has added to it from time to time from my earnings.

1. Her mother's estate was left to be divided equally to my wife and her sister. Also in the holdings is a property in Streator sold on contract and one share of stock in Bank of Streator which cannot be divided.

2. If a will would be the safest procedure will you kindly state that too? I heard that her sister could hold two-thirds if there is no will. C. H.

1. This implies that your wife's mother left a will. Rights would depend on the wording of the will. If it left the assets in joint tenancy or gave your wife only a life interest, then you would have nothing after her death, if she were the first to die.

2. We suggest that you have a personal interview with an attorney.

LOST AND FOUND.

Chicago, April 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In my room in school we are studying lost and found articles. I would like to know what the laws are in Illinois concerning lost and found articles such as if you must advertise and if so how long, etc. H. M.

Section 27 of the statute relating to lost goods makes it the duty of finders of goods worth more than $5 to inform the owner, if known, and make restoration without compensation, or if the owner is unknown, to take the goods within five days before a justice of the peace and make affidavit, of which an entry shall be made on the justice's book and a certified copy on the county clerk's book. Section 28 provides that in all cases where such goods shall not exceed $15 it shall be the duty of the finder to advertise on the door of the courthouse and in three other public places and if no person appears within 12 months the ownership shall vest in the finder, but if the value exceeds $15 the county clerk shall within 20 days from receipt of the justice's certificate place notice for three successive weeks on the courthouse door and in three other public places, and if the goods are not reclaimed within six months the finder shall deliver the money to the county treasurer, other securities to the county clerk, to hold for the owner, or goods to the sheriff, who shall sell at public auction and pay the proceeds into the county treasury.

A thing voluntarily laid down or forgotten is not "lost" and should be held for the owner. 19 Cyc. 539.

PATCHED PLANE SAVES 26 OF BYRD MEN IN ICY TRAP

Tell of Perilous Hops Thru Polar Fogs.

Their story follows:

The expedition's two ships, the North Star and the Bear, took off the men assigned to the west base in Little America early in February and headed toward the east base on Palmer peninsula.

An easy move was expected, but instead they found ice filling Margaret bay. Winter was closing down and supplies aboard the ships dwindled as they passed a month in Melchior harbor waiting for an opportunity to bring out the men from the base 200 miles away.

Down to Penguin Eggs.

The ships kept in contact with the base by radio. When the men reported their meat was gone and they were living off penguin eggs, the North Star headed for Punta Arenas on the Strait of Magellan for fuel and supplies.

While the North Star was making the voyage to Punta Arenas, the Bear pushed ahead alone and forced a way thru the ice to a point off Mikkelsen Island, about 112 miles from the base.

Haste was now imperative if the men were to be taken off before increasingly bad weather forced them to pass another winter in their ice locked base. The men at the base acted accordingly and repaired their transport plane, which had been damaged, fitting on a new propeller and a new ski.

It was risky business. Ashley Snow, navy pilot, found he couldn't gain enough altitude with the patched up plane to clear mountain peaks. The 26 men then decided to chance flights thru fog which filled the mountain passes.

Two Perilous Flights.

Snow made two perilous flights, successfully landing the men on a plateau on Mikkelsen Island.

Behind them at the base the men left the bodies of their dogs, companions for 15 months in the antarctic. There was no room aboard the plane for the dogs and the men killed them rather than abandon them to starve in the icy wastes.

Bulky scientific instruments also had to be destroyed and the plane itself was abandoned atop a plateau. With the aid of ropes, the men descended 250 feet from the plateau to the edge of an ice pack.

Soon they were aboard the Bear, but all danger had not yet passed. For a time it appeared the Bear would be frozen in, but a cut was made thru the ice and the ship made the open sea. From that point on, there was clear sailing.

Reserve Militia Uniforms to Be Issued Late in May

Leo M. Boyle announced today. The war department has approved priority orders for the blue twill material and tailoring will begin about May 1. Boyle reported that allocation of rifles and other equipment had been completed.

COURT REFUSES DRAFTEE'S PLEA FOR INJUNCTION

Judge Michael L. Igoe of the United States District court refused yesterday to issue an injunction restraining selective service officials from inducting Julius Thunack into the army next Tuesday. Judge Igoe also declined to review records of Thunack's classification in the 1A division.

Thunack, who is 30 years old, lives at 2146 Belle Plaine avenue. He contends that he should have 3A classification because his mother, Mrs. Bernette Thunack, 56, is entirely dependent upon him. Judge Igoe held that Thunack had been given a fair hearing.

INDIANA TRANSIT OFFICIAL HEADS SURFACE LINES

C. W. Chase to Succeed Guy A. Richardson.

Charles W. Chase of Indianapolis, Ind., was elected president of the Chicago Surface Lines yesterday by the street car system's joint board of management and operation. His election was approved by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, who has jurisdiction over the system, which is now in receivership in the federal District court.

Charles W. Chase.

Chase will resign as president of the Indianapolis Railways, Inc., to accept the Chicago post in which he succeeds Guy A. Richardson, who resigned last February.

Modernized Indianapolis Lines.

Indianapolis Railways, which Chase has headed for the last nine years, operates all Indianapolis local transportation properties. Its system includes street cars, trackless trolleys, and motor buses. Under Chase's direction the company has been modernized and rehabilitated after being reorganized in 1932.

Chase was born in Milwaukee in 1877. He received a degree from the University of Chicago in 1899 and attended Harvard law school from 1899 to 1901. He practiced law in Chicago for many years and then became president of Calumet Gas and Electric company and moved to Gary.

Reorganized Gary Lines.

Later he was vice president of the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend railroad and president of the Shore Line Motor Coach company. In 1917 he reorganized the Gary Street and Interurban company. He went to Indianapolis in June, 1932.

James P. Tretton, vice president and general manager of Indianapolis Railways, will supervise that company's operations temporarily, the company announced. Chase will remain a member of the board of directors.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER; MATE QUIZZED

Emporia, Kas., April 12 (AP).—The body of Mrs. William E. Cox, 42 years old, wife of a postal clerk, her throat slashed, was found in the Cottonwood river today. Cox, when questioned by authorities, said he and his wife had been quarreling and that when he went home at 1:30 a. m. on Feb. 28 he found her hanging from a rope in the bathroom. He said she was dead and in cutting the rope the knife slipped and her throat was slashed. He said he did not want any one to know she had committed suicide, so he wrapped the body in a blanket and tossed it into the river. Early in March Cox reported to police that his wife had disappeared.

AN EASTER BOOM HITS MARRIAGE LICENSE BUREAU

The pre-Easter Cupid provided the marriage license bureau in County Clerk Michael J. Flynn's office with a rush of business yesterday as 545 couples applied for permission to wed. Seven clerks were kept busy past the noon closing hour.

Sidney Summerfield, chief clerk, attributed the rush to the warm weather, the fact that it was the last day of Lent, and that many wished to be married before being drafted into the army.

Summerfield said 8,545 licenses have been issued so far this year.

BARE PRESSURE PUT ON FORD BY U. S. OFFICIALS

Behind the Scenes Story of CIO Strike.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—The behind the scenes story of the 10 day CIO strike at the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant, which ended yesterday, came out today. It was disclosed how pressure was brought to bear on the company to settle the strike, altho the peace terms are regarded as a victory for Henry Ford in that the most important CIO union demands were not met.

The pressure was applied in several ways—thru President Roosevelt, in sending Philip Murray, CIO national president, to sit in on the negotiations here; thru Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins; thru the National Labor Relations board in Washington, D. C., and Detroit; thru insufficient police protection at the start of the strike, and thru failure of local authorities to prosecute hundreds of CIO terrorists.

Governor Is Criticized.

Many persons think Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner put the company "on the spot" by making public his peace proposal before the company received it. Ford officials are unanimous, however, in crediting the governor's diplomacy and conduct of the negotiations with ending the strike as it did.

It was learned that the lack of enough police protection, resulting in CIO vandalism and violence on April 2 [first day of the strike], so disturbed Ford himself that he said:

"I'll turn over my plant to the state of Michigan. I don't want my 38 years of effort to be smashed this way."

The governor's alarmed reply is said to have been:

'No. How could we run a plant like Ford's?"

Court Forbids Violence.

The next day Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle issued a temporary restraining order against further CIO violence, and there were only a few disturbances afterwards.

Murray, the CIO head, came here from Washington, D. C., on Tuesday. This was at the direction of President Roosevelt. The sending of Murray had been requested by Gov. Van Wagoner in a telephone call to the White House the night before.

Company officials said that their negotiations with Murray were quite agreeable. He returned to Washington late on Tuesday. At about that time Federal Labor Conciliator James F. Dewey telephoned Secrtary Perkins to make a routine report. Then her office released a statement in Washington that the company was about to recognize the union.

Makes Company Angry.

The company, infuriated by this statement, which it branded false and a breach of faith, almost broke off negotiations. It seemed the next step would be certification of the strike to the National Defense Mediation board. Van Wagoner and Dewey opposed this, feeling it would prolong the strike and further delay progress on $150,000,000 of armament contracts which the Ford company has.

Gradually negotiations were resumed, and on Thursday the governor issued his peace proposal, which he admitted was not to the full liking of the union or the company. Copies of the proposal were handed to newspapermen before others were delivered to the CIO and Ford officials.

The Union Accepts.

The union accepted within two hours. One proviso called for reemployment of the 85,000 workers, including five CIO men discharged as troublemakers, and for referring of the cases of three others fired for the same reason to a special arbitration board consisting of the governor, Dewey, and Ford and union officials. Another was that regular grievance machinery for settlement of disputes in the plant was to continue.

The company wanted one important addition. This was that the union's complaint of unfair labor practices, scheduled for hearing next Monday at the Detroit office of the NLRB, be postponed until after an employés' election to determine their bargaining agents. The NLRB in Washington on Monday ordered such an election within 45 days.

An NLRB Monkey Wrench.

Before the union could reply officially, altho it had indicated it would not object, Frank H. Bowen, regional NLRB director, threw a monkey wrench into the proceedings. He said he knew of no reason why the hearing should be postponed.

It required a telephone call by Gov. Van Wagoner to Dr. Harry Millis, chairman of the NLRB in Washington, yesterday morning to overrule Bowen. Dr. Millis ordered the hearing delayed, and shortly after came the announcement of the stirke settlement.

More than 200 CIO pickets were brought to police headquarters during the strike. Baseball bats and bludgeons were taken from them, but they were not held on any charge. On Thursday two company witnesses in the injunction case before Judge Tuttle were assaulted by a union goon squad on the steps of the Federal court house in the heart of Detroit.

Later, the two testified that police would not arrest the goons but merely took the names and addresses of a few of them. The witnesses also told of the communist domination of the striking union [Local 600, United Automobile Workers, CIO].

This and other testimony of CIO sabotage and violence prompted Judge Tuttle to order a transcript of the entire record in the case sent to United States Attorney John C. Lehr for possible federal prosecution.

When the injunction suit was dismissed yesterday, the judge refused the request of union attorneys to strike out testimony relating to the communists.

Eight CIO men were arrested yesterday and held for investigation on complaint of two colored Ford workers. The eight were carrying baseball bats, hammers, and wrenches. The Negroes said the eight had tried to kidnap them. Today police released four of the eight and charged the others with carrying dangerous and concealed weapons.

Ford Victory Claims.

The Ford company's claim of victory in the strike is based on these points:

1. Postponement of the labor board hearing. The company has charged the local labor board office is radically inclined, and would not give the company a fair hearing. Company officials charged that if the hearing was immediately the union would try to smear the company in an effort to swing the employés' election to the CIO.

2. The election will be held within the plant, preventing any stuffing of ballot boxes by the CIO and allaying any workers' fears that they cannot safely vote for American Federation of Labor affiliation or for no unionization at all.

3. The five men rehired were only minor trouble makers. The other three, Ray Pilon, Jack Wilkie, and Andy Dewar, whose cases are submitted to arbitration, were major disturbers, the company said.

The Service Department.

4. The company's service department, which the union wanted abolished, will continue to function. This department, which polices the plant, had been accused by the union of spying on employés, a charge the company emphatically denies.

5. The union has not won any contract with Ford and is not the bargaining agent. If the union wins the election, it may negotiate for a contract.

6. No wage increases were provided in the settlement. The company has indicated, however, that it may grant increases.

"There is nothing in the settlement that the union couldn't have gotten without a strike," said I. A. Capizzi, Ford attorney.

As it was, the strike caused workers a pay roll loss of $900,000 a day. About 20,000 of the employés will be on the job when the River Rouge plant resumes operation on Monday, and the other 65,000 will return during the week as machinery, said to have been damaged by CIO unionists to the extent of nearly a million dollars, is repaired or replaced.

Goldfield, Nev., scene of early century mining booms, was blanketed with fifteen inches. Residents on side streets were faced with shoveling their way to Easter morning church services.

Snowslides blocked off an eight mile section of the highway running south across 11,018 foot high Red Mountain pass from Ouray, Colo., to Silverton, Colo.

The snowfall since Friday in the Savage basin measured 18 inches.

GRAND JURY RIPS CIO LEADERS FOR STRIKE VIOLENCE

Returns Report on Indiana Harvester Clashes.

Richmond, Ind., April 12 [Special].—CIO leaders were accused by the Wayne county grand jury today of having planned the "violent and illegal" activities that took place here on March 27 in connection with a strike at the local International Harvester company plant. Twenty persons were injured in a battle between CIO pickets and employes returning to work under police guards.

The jury specifically blamed Clifford Kerr, president of the Richmond local of the Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee [CIO], and Robert Foley, a union organizer from Chicago.

"Violent and Illegal."

"They and others," the jurors' report said, "not only were active in planning, preparing for, and instigating this violent and illegal conduct, but they also were present at the International Harvester company plant actively aiding and abetting in the violence on March 27."

Others named in the report for "instigating illegal acts and for assisting and encouraging lawlessness" were Dewitt Gilpin, CIO educational director; Thomas Dublinski, and "a man named Blanchard."

A week ago the jury returned indictments against four persons on charges of inciting to riot at the strike scene. The names of the defendants have not been divulged.

"Certain additional indictments for conspiracy to commit a felony and for assault and battery," the jury said, "might properly be found a matter which we leave to the discretion of the prosecuting attorney as to the filing of criminal affidavits."

A Hint to Prosecutor.

The jury said it had not returned additional indictments at this time in order to avoid any legal technicalities that might arise as a result of the expiration of its present term on Monday. However, immediately after making a report of its tenure, the jury was recharged by the Wayne Circuit court to continue its investigation of strike disorders.

The CIO union went on strike at the plant on Feb. 17 seeking higher wages, abolition of piece work, and other concessions. A total of 1,200 men were thrown out of work. Production was resumed about two weeks ago after the disputants agreed to refer points of difference to the national mediation board.

VICTIMS OF CIO STRIKE DENIED JOBLESS FUNDS

State unemployment compensation has been denied to approximately 3,500 men who were thrown out of work in the recent CIO strike at the International Harvester company plants.

The compensation was sought thru the American Federation of Labor, of which organization most of the petitioners were members. The workers asserted that they had not called the strike and were simply its victims. As a result they lost more than three weeks' pay, they said.

However, J. T. Bobbitt, state supervisor of unemployment compensation, ruled that the loss of work resulted from a labor dispute and the men involved were a party to it one way or another. Harry O'Reilly, director of organization for the AFL, said an appeal will be filed.

Suburbs Invest Nearly Four Million Dollars in New Residences

MARCH BUILDING SETS HIGH MARK FOR LAST DECADE

Rising Trend in Progress Since 1933.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Home building during March continued the outstanding feature in the Chicago suburban area construction field, where residential building has been increasing since 1933. Permits were issued last month for 581 homes, costing $3,955,234, in 84 suburban communities. This is a record for the last decade. For the same month last year there were 440 home permits, valued at $2,831,727.

Building of all types established a March high for the last decade. Permits were issued for structures costing $5,199,845, compared with $3,550,582 in March, 1940.

Quarterly Figures Impressive.

The progress shown by figures compiled by the Bell Savings and Loan association for the first three months of 1941 is even more impressive. Building of all types totaled $13,351,068, compared with $8,642,693 for the first quarter of 1940. This is a gain of 54 per cent.

During the three months permits were taken out for 1,340 homes valued at $9,308,314, against 833 homes costing $5,530,002 in the 1940 period.

City Lags Behind Suburbs.

Suburban building continues far ahead of construction in Chicago. New building of all types in the city during March was valued at $3,422,957, or $1,776,888 less than the total in the suburbs.

The average cost of homes erected in the suburbs continues slowly to decrease. In 1940 it was $5,337. For the first quarter of this year it was $5,256. In March the average cost $4,997.

Alterations, repairs, and modernization of homes in the suburban region produced building business during March amounting to $378,809, compared with $287,175 last year.

Pennsylvania Road Rents Office in Otis Building

The Pennsylvania railroad has leased for 10 years 40 by 90 feet on the first floor of the Otis building and will consolidate two loop offices there probably some time in May. The new quarters will front on La Salle street.

Arthur Hood Purchases South Winchester Flats

The Live Stock National Bank of Chicago, trustee, sold to Arthur Hood the six apartment building at 7935-37 South Winchester for an undisclosed consideration. Realty Renting Agency, Inc., represented the bank and S. D. Wronski & Co. the purchaser.

Remodeling of Lighting Fixture Plant Completed

The Electro Manufacturing company, manufacturer of fluorescent lighting fixtures, will open its new plant on April 15, at 2000 West Fulton street. According to Lang, Weise & Cella, who represented Electro, it will be the largest single floor fluorescent lighting fixture factory in the world. The building has a floor space of 65,000 square feet. It was remodeled at a reported cost of $35,000.

TWO NORTH SIDE LANDMARKS WILL BE MODERNIZED

Small Residential Units to Be Feature.

Mrs. William Ernest Walker.

Two widely known near north side residential properties are to be modernized. One, the 59 year old trio of stone front houses at 142-48 East Ontario street, is being rebuilt into 12 modern studio apartments, with three shops on the ground floor.

The eight story apartment building at 936 Lake Shore drive, at the northwest corner of Walton place, built in 1917 at a cost of $500,000, will be entirely rebuilt inside beginning May 1. It has seven apartments, one to a floor, containing 14 rooms and 5 baths each. These will be converted into 35 suites of 2, 3, and 4 rooms.

Figures in Both Projects.

Mrs. Mildred Rogers Walker, widow of William Ernest Walker, one of Chicago's outstanding architects of his time, and granddaughter of Edward Kendall Rogers, one of Chicago's earliest settlers, figures in both modernization programs. She and relatives own both buildings. Her husband designed 936 Lake Shore drive and occupied the 12 room bungalow on the roof—said to be the first of its kind in the country.

Edward Kendall Rogers and his wife came from Boston by covered wagon and canal and first settled within the walls of Fort Dearborn. One of their two sons, Edward Kendall Rogers Jr. built the three stone front houses at 142-48 East Ontario street in 1882, one being occupied by his family. The four daughters of the builder and the daughter of his brother now own the property.

Promise Completion May 1.

According to Everett R. Cook of Cook & Jackson, Inc., managers of the property, completion is promised for May 1 by the architects, C. McKinley Olson and Oliver Sandquist. The property is just east of Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Walker is vice president of the 936 Lake Shore drive corporation which holds title to the building at that address. She and some of her relatives own most of the stock. Carroll H. Sudler Jr. of Sudler & Co., managing agents, is president of the corporation.

Mrs. Walker will occupy one of the remodled apartments. The $119,000 modernization program is planned by Skidmore, Owings & Merrill, Chicago architects. October occupancy is planned.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE WILL MOVE TO NEW NORTH SIDE SPACE

The Woman's Exchange of Chicago, pioneer charitable organization, yesterday leased for five years new quarters in the 900 Michigan Avenue North building, at the northwest corner of Michigan and Delaware. Harold L. Storch of Ross, Browne & Fleming, agents for the property, represented all parties.

Mrs. William M. Spencer, who has been president of the exchange for four years, said that the new quarters will be "L" shaped, with entrances on both Michigan and Delaware. Frazier and Raftery have drawn plans for a $10,000 remodeling program, scheduled for completion early in June.

The woman's exchange has been at 942 North Michigan avenue for the last 20 years, moving there after many years in the loop. It retails a wide variety of merchandise, largely donated or made by the recipients of charity, and the proceeds from the operation of the business are used for various charitable purposes.

The space leased is now occupied by the Steuben Glass company, which will move to Marshall Field & Co.

To Be Modernized

(Story in adjoining column.)

Another tall Lake Shore drive apartment building, at the northwest corner of Walton place, is to have its big apartments remodeled into small living units. Work is to be started May 1.

HEAT TREATING FURNACE FIRM IN NEW PLANT

The Lindberg Engineering company, manufacturer of heat treating equipment used in airplanes, gun parts, and shell cases, yesterday moved into a section of its new quarter of a million dollar plant now under construction at the northeast corner of Campbell avenue and Hubbard street.

A. N. Lindberg, president, said the company, formed six years ago, now employs 300 persons, compared with 75 in 1939. It has a backlog of orders totaling $2,000,000, he said, and is operating on two shifts a day.

The plant, designed and built by Abell and Towe, Chicago contractors, will have over 50,000 square feet of floor space. This is more than double the space at the company's present plant at 221 North Laflin street.

New Highland Park A. & P. Store to Have Parking Lot

Work has been started on a one story building at 96-108 North First street, Highland Park, from plans by Alfred S. Alschuler, Inc. It has been leased to the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company. Lee Loeb, the owner, said this will be the first store building in Highland Park to provide parking space. The A. & P. will move its present Central avenue store to the new location on June 1.

MERCHANDISE MART LEASE.

Eisenberg & Sons, Inc., now at 847 West Jackson boulevard, maker of women's dresses, jewelry, and cosmetics, has leased 30,000 square feet of space in the Merchandise Mart.

At the Realty Boards

Henry W. Jansen.

Henry W. Jansen, treasurer for two years of the North Side Real Estate board, heads the slate of new officers for the year beginning June 1. Unless the unexpected happens he will be elected president of the board on May 13, succeeding Harold V. Glos. There is no other ticket in the field and none expected. Jansen has his real estate office at 7203 North Western avenue. Arthur S. Whiston was nominated for vice president; Joseph F. Pagano, for secretary, and Louis G. Franke for treasurer.

Clement A. Studebaker, head of the Chicago Real Estate board's news bureau, has entered active service in the United States army, and is stationed at Camp Grant, Ill. He is a former member of the National Guard. He left for Camp Grant on April 8 after a year with the realty board.

Stone's Restaurant Rents Store at 3819 Broadway

The store at 3819 Broadway, formerly occupied by Lipson's Food Shop, has been leased by Mrs. Inez L. Newman to Stone's Restaurant and Delicatessen, for an undisclosed term. Kaplan & Co., was broker in the deal.

RADIO COMPANY LEASES SPACE IN AUSTIN BUILDING

Hudson-Ross, Inc., radio and phonograph dealer, yesterday leased 6,000 square feet of space in the F. C. Austin building at the southwest corner of Clark and Jackson, for a headquarters store. Four stores with a total frontage of 85 feet on Clark and Jackson and the east half of the second floor were leased for a term of years. Robert Booth of Sudler & Co. represented all parties.

The lessees will install a new porcelain store front and remodel the interior of the stores into one unit from plans by Pioso, Peterson & Lang, architects. Three adjoining stores fronting on Jackson have renewed their leases and also will install new store fronts.

Hudson-Ross, which has stores at 8 East Randolph and 159 West Madison, purchased the business of the Rose radio store now occupying part of the Austin building space just leased.

Detroit, Mich., April 12 (AP). — Boston's bruising Bruins etched hockey history into Detroit ice tonight by capturing the Stanley cup with a 3 to 1 victory over the Red Wings, their fourth consecutive triumph in the best of seven final series.

Before 8,125 spectators, one of the smallest crowds in National league playoff history, the Bruins carved out their victory along a familiar pattern. Spotting Detroit the first goal, Boston scored three times in 12 minutes of the second period and went on to gain possession of the cup for the second time in three years.

Sweep Sets a Record.

By closing out the series in minimum time, Boston became the first team to win four straight games in the final series. Six years ago the Montreal Maroons blanked the Toronto Maple Leafs in a best of five series.

Little Bobby Bauer connected with what proved to be the winning goal while Jimmy Orlando, Detroit defense man, was sitting out two minutes for holding. Orlando had barely found a comfortable seat when Bill [Flash] Hollett fired home the tying goal on a face-off pass from Milt Schmidt.

A minute later Bauer poked Schmidt's rebound into the nets and Eddie Wiseman flicked home a 15 footer before the period ended. Detroit took the lead in the first period when Carl Liscombe beat Goalie Frank Brimsek with a whistling 40 footer.

Says They're the Greatest.

For most of the game Brimsek was under pressure, however, making 28 saves to 17 by Mowers. Detroit had 49 shots to Boston's 30.

Fondling the Stanley cup in a wild dressing room demonstration, Manager Art Ross proclaimed his Bruins as the greatest hockey team ever assembled.

If not the greatest, the Bruins should qualify as the least superstitious of athletic teams. Tonight's game was the 13th straight in which they have gone unbeaten against Detroit.

EVASHEVSKI WEDS DAUGHTER OF U. S. SENATOR BROWN

St. Ignace, Mich., April 12 (AP).—Ruth M. Brown, daughter of United States Senator Prentiss M. Brown, and Forest Evashevski, Michigan football captain last year, were married here today.

Many of Michigan's political and athletic notables attended the wedding in the St. Ignace Methodist church.

Evashevski is to report soon as football coach and assistant professor of physical education at Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y.

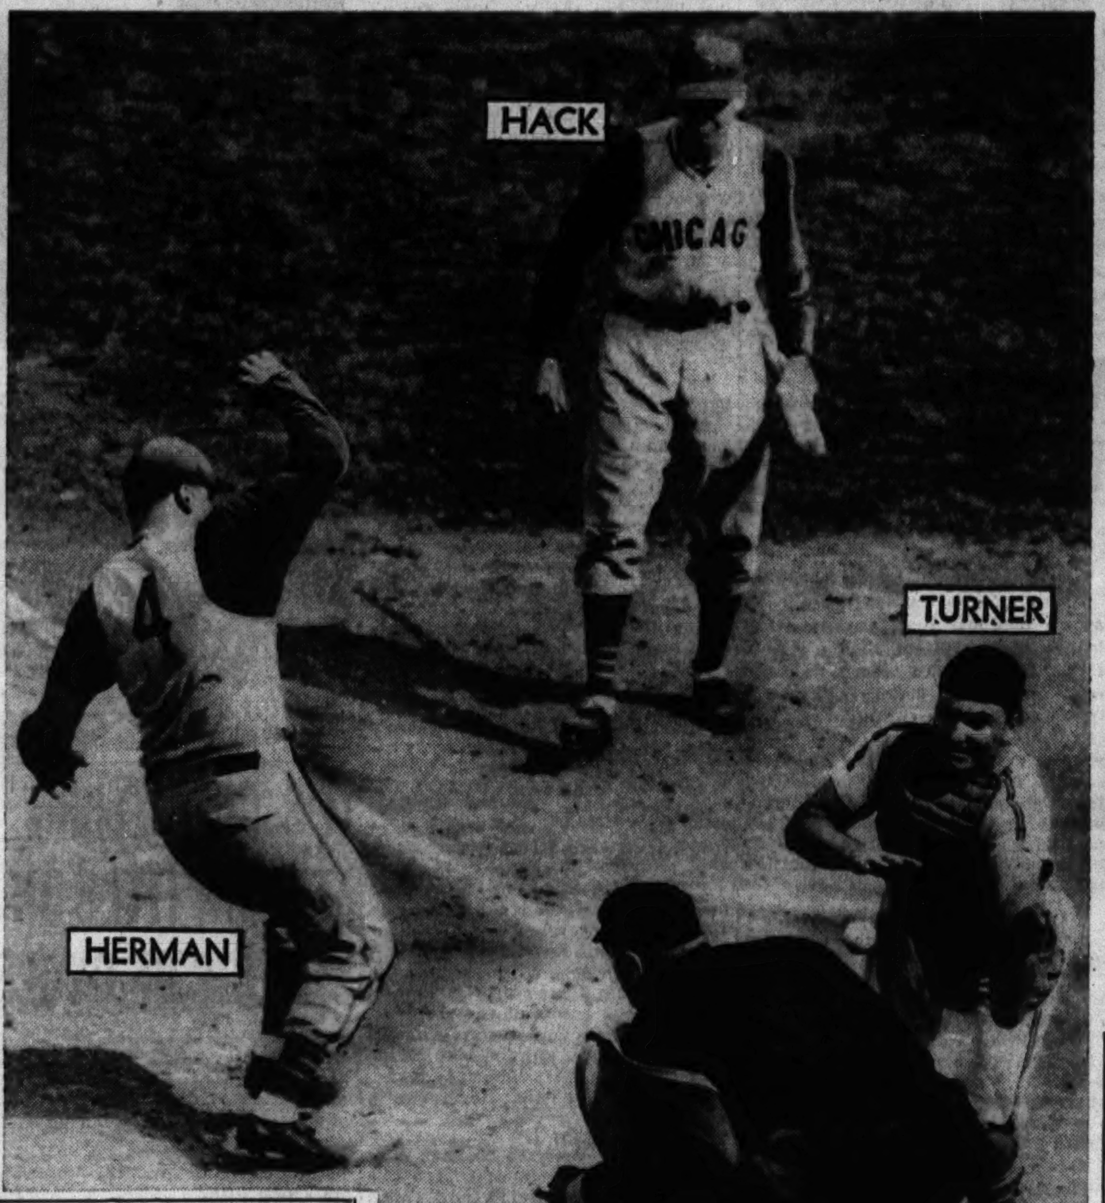
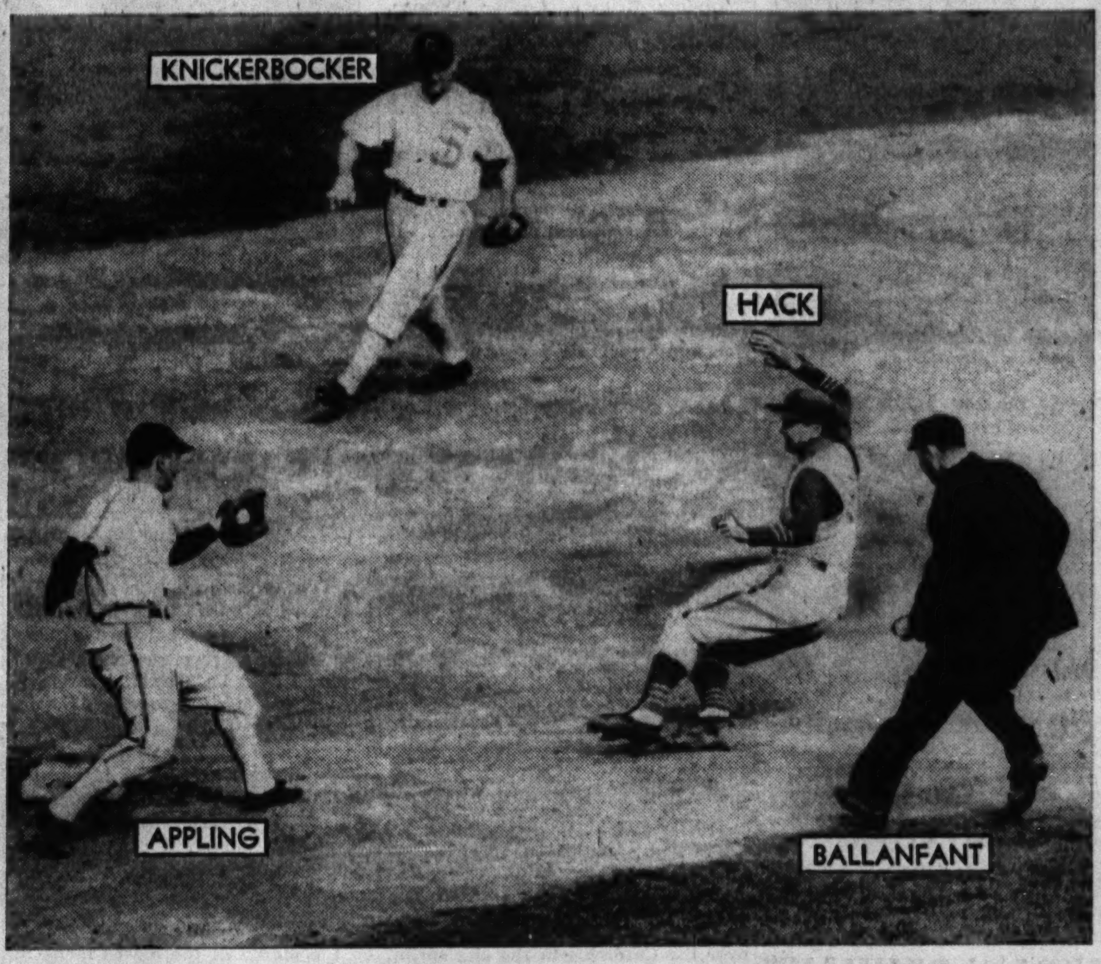
GOOD BASEBALL AND BAD AS CUBS ROUT A JINX



The caliber of play ranged from brilliant to terrible as the Cubs defeated the White Sox, 6 to 4, in Comiskey park yesterday to clinch the spring baseball championship of Chicago. In this shot, Capt. Billy Herman of the Cubs is scoring the last of five runs made by the Cubs in the first inning as Catcher Tom Turner takes Julius Solters' throw from left field. Umpire Cal Hubbard and Stan Hack are interested spectators. The victory gave the Cubs an 8 to 5 edge in the series with only today's game left to play.



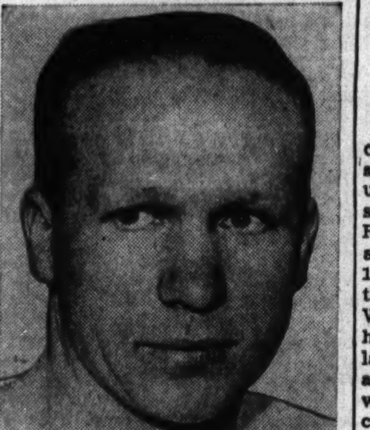
The brighter side for the Sox is illustrated here as Luke Appling, having taken Turner's throw in the second inning, prepares to tag Hack. Stan had singled and was attempting to steal. Bill Knickerbocker and Umpire Lee Ballanfant also are on the scene. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Platak Sweeps to 7th NAAU Handball Title

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The National AAU's annual handball tournament ended yesterday in the Lake Shore club with a demonstration of the fact that there are two distinct types of this sport—the kind that Joe Platak plays and the kind that every one else plays. For the seventh consecutive year, Joe took the NAAU title, brushing aside his final opponent, Stanley Hitz of Harrisburg, Pa., 21-4 and 21-7. The first game took 16 minutes, and the second 22 minutes.

Hitz, who has been the national YMCA champion for the last two years, tried hard despite the heartbreaking shots with which Platak squelched a number of his rallies. But in the end the young Harrisburg athlete went the way of all the others who have challenged the champion. No one had been able to get more than 7 points off Platak in any game thruout the week long tourney.



JOE PLATAK.

Hitz Is Baffled.

Hitz, who is a switchboard operator for the Bethlehem steel company, was playing in his first NAAU tournament. He obviously was puzzled when called upon to cope for the first time with Platak's style of attack. Platak, a former St. Ignatius high school boy who now is an accountant at the Stevens hotel, went about the job of cutting down his opponent in his usual inexorable way.

He made one run of six and followed up with another of five before Hitz was able to score at all. After Platak had worked his advantage to 14 to 1, Hitz put on a flurry that earned three points. Then Platak brought his total up to 20 with six in quick succession, and soon thereafter he got the other point necessary to terminate the game 16 minutes after it had begun.

Platak Gets Going.

Hitz took a 1 to 0 lead in the second game and held it for several handouts. Then Platak moved out to a 12 to 1 advantage with runs of

INDIANA LOSES OUTSTANDING LINE, BUT COACH LOOKS FOR STAR BACKS

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., April 12.—For a coach who has lost ten of his 1940 starting eleven Bo McMillin of Indiana university seemed unperturbed as he sent a black shirted squad against a Red team in a regulation game this afternoon in Memorial stadium. Since 1938, when Indiana was said to have the best group of sophomores in the Western conference, the Hoosiers have won six games, three of them last fall. Consequently, as 17 seniors are concluding their last semester's work, McMillin can afford to be a bit complacent.

He'd Like a Couple of Runners.

"I believe we had the best line in the conference last year," the Indiana coach said today in retrospect. "We didn't have a runner with the punch, except for an occasional flash. The pictures of the Northwestern-Notre Dame game show exactly what I mean. In that game Don Clawson of Northwestern twice ran over tacklers to score. He had power. Bill DeCorrevont scored the other touchdown by shiftiness. That's the kind of ball carrying we have needed to match our brilliant line."

McMillin didn't say this in these words, but the impression remained that he is more than willing to trade rugged line play for a couple of ball players who can run in the open field. At the same time McMillin is soft pedaling the prowess of two Hoosier backs, Lou Saban of La Grange, Ill., and Bill Hillenbrand, Memorial High school, Evansville, Ind., who proved the claims made for them in today's game won by the Blacks, 7 to 6.

Hillenbrand Leads Drive.

The Blacks clinched the victory in the first half when Full Back Bob White place kicked the point after Hillenbrand's touchdown plunge. Tuffy Brooks went over for the Reds in the first period from the 1 yard line but Capt. Gene White's try for the point was blocked.

Hillenbrand was the spark which set off the Blacks' second period drive of fifty-five yards. Twice he made off tackle gains of twelve and fourteen yards, respectively, which set up the score after a long forward pass, Dale Swihart to Saban, had put the ball in the Reds' territory.

The teams lined up as follows:

REDS [6].		BLACKS [7].
Jack Nash	L.E.	Theodore Hasapes
Fred Huff	L.T.	Bob Zimmy
Bob Ricketts	L.G.	Al Bragalone
Walter Jurkiewicz	C	Ken Moeller
Gene White	R.G.	Charles Steele
James Trimble	R.T.	Edward Bell
Howard Elliott	R.E.	Robert Mulroc
Eddie Herbert	Q.B.	Lou Saban
Al Rucinski	L.H.	Bill Hillenbrand
Dan Preger	R.H.	Dale Swihart
Harry Brooks	F.B.	Bob White

Hillenbrand when he entered Indiana last fall after flirting with other midwestern universities was the DeCorrevont of Hoosier high schools altho his reputation did not have the natural buildup De Correvont received by playing for a metropolitan prep school. The Bloomington side line boys report Hillenbrand is ready to go this fall. He'll be Indiana's left half back, or tail back as the position is called under the McMillin system of single wing back, unbalanced line offense.

Must Dispose of Herbert.

Saban was coached at La Grange by Indiana graduate Chuck Bennett but before he can become a regular he must dispose of Eddie Herbert, quarter back on the 1938 and 1939 teams who did not play last year because of injury.

Capt. White, right guard, who kicked the field goal which beat Purdue last fall, is the only returning starter, but there are 12 varsity letter men available. Among the linemen is Jim Trimble, 220 pound senior from Uniontown, Pa., who will be of tremendous help at right tackle if Uncle Sam doesn't call his number in the draft. Other letter men are Jack Nash, left end; Mike Dumke and Howard Elliott, right ends; Al Bragalone, left guard; Charles Steele, right guard; Walter Jurkiewicz, center, let-

Chicagoans' 1,338 Leads ABC Doubles

St. Paul, Minn., April 12 [Special].—Chicago bowlers continued to dominate the 41st annual tournament of the American Bowling congress today when Bill Flesch and Harry Ledene Jr. soared into the lead in the doubles.

The two members of the Monarch Beer team, which relinquished its 1940 team title in scoring only 2,855 last night, rolled up a total of 1,338 in displacing Ned Day and Elmer Koch of Milwaukee, the previous doubles leaders.

Flesch hit the highest total scored in the doubles thus far when he clustered strikes for games of 258-220-244. He went thru the 30 frames without a split or an error in totaling 722. Ledene, who made a countrywide exhibition tour when only 12 years old, scored 196-202-218 for a 616 series.

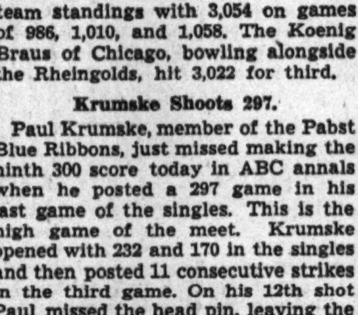
Schlitz Duo Gets 1,264.

Rolling on adjoining alleys, Jack Bishop and Joe Puccinelli, members of the Schlitz five of Chicago, scored 1,264 on games of 403—469—392.

A 1,346 total won the doubles title for Herb Freitag and Joe Sinke of the Chicago Pabsts last year.

The Chapin & Gore team of Chicago's North End Traveling league rolled into third place tonight with a score of 3,033. Three splits and two errors in the last five frames of the third game kept them from ousting Vogel Brothers from first place. Chicago bowlers now occupy the first four places in the main event of the tourney.

Last night the Rheingold Beers of Chicago rolled into second place in team standings with 3,054 on games of 986, 1,010, and 1,058. The Koenig Braus of Chicago, bowling alongside the Rheingolds, hit 3,022 for third.



Bill Flesch. Harry Ledene Jr.

Krumske Shoots 297.

Paul Krumske, member of the Pabst Blue Ribbons, just missed making the ninth 300 score today in ABC annals when he posted a 297 game in his last game of the singles. This is the high game of the meet. Krumske opened with 232 and 170 in the singles and then posted 11 consecutive strikes in the third game. On his 12th shot Paul missed the head pin, leaving the 1, 2, and 7 pins standing. His 699 series was high for the day.

Vic Malecki gave Chicago 10th place in the all events when he piled up an aggregate of 1,917. Malecki had 636 in the team event, 637 in the doubles, and 644 in the singles.

Expect Attendance Mark.

Total attendance for the first 30 days of the meet was 76,479, Henry J. Lund, managing director of the St. Paul ABC tournament committee, announced today. With 24 days of competition remaining, new

IT'S CUBS' TURN TO WIN TITLE, AND BEWARE OF YANKEES, TOO

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs will win the 1941 pennant, ahead of at least two better teams, possibly three. It is so writ by precedent and we are staking our very all on the oft publicized circumstance that the Cubs have won the pennant every three years, beginning in 1929. They won with the best team in the league in 1929 and 1932. They played over their heads to conquer in 1935, the main factor being a 21 game winning streak in which they could do nothing wrong in some three weeks while they became sizzling hot. They won in 1938 when the rest of the league, especially the Pirates, fell away from the Cubs instead of the Cubs running away from the league.

We don't know how they are going to win in 1941, but we are sure they will.

If it were any other year than 1941, which is three years after 1938, six years after 1935, nine years after 1932 and 12 years after 1929, we'd say the current Cubs are too uncertain in several vital spots to win the next National league pennant. But there you have the calendar precision covering so many years without a bobble that you just can't use reason and place them in fifth place, where they finished last year and where they perhaps should finish this year, were it not for overwhelming precedent which has established the Cubs as the most unswerving cycle team in the history of the majors.

Burns' Selections

Here's how Edward Burns predicts the 1941 National league baseball race will finish:

1. Chicago.
2. Brooklyn.
3. Cincinnati.
4. New York.
5. St. Louis.
6. Pittsburgh.
7. Boston.
8. Philadelphia.

Pitching Is Uncertain.

The most uncertain department is the pitching, a common problem in baseball management. They have Claude Passeau, a 20 game winner with last year's fifth placers, who should be even better this year. Bill Lee probably expects to win 20 games or more. Larry French and Vern Olsen wouldn't swoon with surprise if they came up with 30 games between them. Charley Root is determined to win seven games to reach the 200 victory mark.

That's 77 games right there. A total of 95 games would just about clinch the pennant. Listen to Dizzy Dean, Swede Erickson, Ken Raffensberger, Vance Page, and Jake Mooty tell about it and you'll soon know where those 18 straggling victories are coming from, provided the boys get enough help from the new ace reliever, Tot Pressnell. This group, ex-

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Joe McCarthy and his New York Yankees may pull a heavy oar, in fact the heaviest of the eight in the 1941 American league race, scheduled to get away from the barrier Tuesday afternoon.

Slowed down last season by the inevitable decline that sooner or later torments consistent winners, the Yanks in some quarters were figured to stay on the skids for a long period. But new blood has been injected. The transfusion will bolster the older men who may have grown a bit too complacent and the result could easily be distasteful to the seven other entries, all of whom have ambitions to finish somewhere above eighth place.

However, even if the Yanks bounce back or if some other contenders, the Cleveland Indians, for instance, should finally make good, the race promises to be a close affair, such as the 1940 campaign, which hung in the balance almost to the finish line. Naturally, the owners want it to be close. It helps at the ticket windows.

Vaughan's Choices

Irving Vaughan allows that the 1941 American league baseball race will finish as follows:

1. New York.
2. Cleveland.
3. Chicago.
4. Detroit.
5. Boston.
6. St. Louis.
7. Philadelphia.
8. Washington.

Yankees Well Balanced.

Those who are selling short on the Yanks because of their fadeout last season are satisfied that this is to be the Indians' year. Whatever there is to be said about the Indians' chances of producing a world series for their constituents must be based on the arm of one man—the peerless Bob Feller. He is the bellwether of the outfit. Remove him from the Indians either by injury or an army draft summons and there wouldn't be much left. On the other hand, the Yanks are fairly well balanced and, what's more, one or two other clubs in the league might develop a similar balance as the result of improvements made during the winter.

The Yanks get away to a head start, playing at Washington tomorrow in the first major league game of the season. Other American league openers will be played Tuesday with Chicago at Cleveland, Detroit at St. Louis, Washington at Boston, and Philadelphia at New York.

If there is a sleeper in the eight team field it probably is the White Sox, who for several seasons now have been uncorking surprises which enabled them to grab leases on first division apartments. Manager James Dykes appears to be better fixed than at any previous time in his short but spectacular career as a boss. He has a quantity of good extra infielders, all of whom can operate at second, short, or third. So he is doubly protected at the spots in which he formerly was undermanned. Having fairly competent men on the bench awaiting a chance means that the regulars will think twice before trying to figure out how to get a vacation.

Sox Batting May Improve.

Along with his utility strength Dykes may have a good supply of pitching, at least enough to get along happily. Dykes' pitching staff isn't all-star material but, unless a few phe-

SLUGGER TAKEN TO HOSPITAL; HAS PNEUMONIA

North Siders Win Spring Title.

Wright Stricken

TAFT WRIGHT, White Sox slugging outfielder who played in the city series games against the Cubs Friday and yesterday, was rushed to Mercy hospital late last night in a serious condition with pneumonia. Trainer Ad Schacht, who resides in the Sutherland hotel, 47th street and Drexel boulevard, with Wright and a number of the other Sox players, discovered Wright's condition.

Dr. J. D. Claridge, team physician, ordered Wright's removal to the hospital. Dr. George F. O'Brien, specialist, was called into consultation early today. The player's temperature was 104 degrees at 10 o'clock last night, but had dropped to 103 at 2 o'clock this morning. Dr. Claridge said Wright's present plight was probably brought on by an attack of influenza and bronchitis he suffered recently while at the team's spring training headquarters in Pasadena, Cal.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs are spring baseball champions of Chicago by virtue of a 6 to 4 victory over the White Sox in Comiskey park yesterday. The series stands at eight victories for the Cubs to five for the Sox.

Tho they can't tie or win the series now, the Sox positively will show up at Wrigley field this afternoon for the final of the 14 game series. To make sure of this Manager Jim Wilson of the Cubs promised Manager Jim Dykes of the Sox that he would start Dizzy Dean. The Sox cast, augmented by the sharp tongues of Manager Dykes and Coach Mule Haas, gave Diz the works in Wichita, Kas., last Thursday, and Diz, nothing if not a courageous man, is eager to play an encore in a baseball and repartee match.

Successful, but Impotent.

The Cubs won the game that assured them supremacy without much difficulty. Nevertheless, there was little about their attack to cause jabberings of ecstacy from those who would praise their power. They made five of their six runs in the first inning with a hitting total of two rookie singles, one by Eddie Waitkus and one by Lou Novikoff.

The shortcomings of Pitcher Johnny Humphries and an error by Luke Appling made possible the victory cluster.

From the second inning to the seventh, the Cubs went hitless against Humphries, Orval Grove and Thornton Lee. They wasted a scratch single in the seventh and in the eighth scored their final run on a single and stolen base by Lou Stringer and a single by Clyde McCullough. Thus all the hitting effecting the scoring was done by four rookies. Friday another rookie, Pitcher Paul Erickson, was the big factor in the Cubs' 2 to 1 triumph.

V. Olsen Fares Better.

Vern Olsen, who was knocked out by the Sox in Amarillo last Wednesday tho the Cubs also gave him a five run lead in the first inning in that contest, was much better yesterday. Vern pitched six innings in which he was socked for only five hits. Vance Page pitched the last three innings and an infield scratch was the extent of the Sox's activity at his expense.

The game was played before a crowd estimated at 7,500. The Sox executive who usually supplies the crowd figures was not readily available, after the Cubs took the series. The temperature ranged in the 80s, the finest day the Cubs or Sox have experienced this spring in California, Arizona, Texas, Kansas and Illinois.

Trouble Starts Quickly.

Humphries, the starting Sox pitcher, indicated trouble for himself right off by passing Stan Hack. Waitkus sent Hack to third with a single to right, after which Dom Dallessandro flied to Mike Kreevich. Mike and Appling executed a perfect relay when Hack broke for the plate, but Tom Turner dropped the ball and the error enabled Stan to score the first run of the afternoon.

Bill Nicholson walked, then Lou Novikoff singled to right, Waitkus scoring and Nicholson reaching third. Bill Herman drew Humphries' third pass, loading the bases. Humphries balked, this enabling Nicholson to trot home while Novikoff went to third and Herman to second. Lou Stringer was safe on Appling's fumble, Novikoff scoring and Herman reaching third. Herman scored and Stringer took second on Clyde McCullough's fly to Julius Solters. Olsen ended the inning with a fly to Kreevich.

Sox Get Busy.

The Sox runs in the third inning were accomplished thus wise: Turner singled to center and Bob Kennedy, batting for Humphries, walked. Bill Knickerbocker flied to Novikoff, but Appling busted a double against the left field wall, scoring Turner and Kennedy. Olsen grabbed Joe Kuhel's bouncer and tagged him and Stringer threw out Solters.

The Sox scored in the sixth on a pass to Kuhel, a late fielder's choice play and a single by Dario Lodigiani.

In the ninth Lodigiani scratched the lone hit off Vance Page. He was forced by Wright on the latter's grounder to Waitkus. Kreevich walked. Then the bases were filled when Stringer fumbled Turner's grounder. Kolloway ran for Turner. Rosenthal was sent to the plate for Lee and sent a fly to Dallessandro on which Wright scored the final run for the Sox. Knickerbocker grounded to Hack, who stepped on third to force Kreevich and end the game.

REVIVED YANKEE TEAM TRIES TO REGAIN PENNANT

noms are produced by some of the other teams Dykes' staff probably will prove as well balanced as any in the competition. As an aid to the pitchers the Sox hitting should be an improvement over last season when their team average was the third best in the league. This improvement, of course, depends on Mike Kreevich shaking off his 1940 slump and on Bill Knickerbocker, ex-Yankee, being a better bat wielder than any of those employed at second base last year.

Detroit's Tigers, altho the current champions, are being totally neglected in the doping by the experts. The Tiger layout was a patchy affair last year, especially around the inner defense and doesn't give any promise of being any better. They won a lot of their games because of the home run power of Hank Greenberg and Rudy York, especially in their own park, which is ideally constructed for the purpose of the two mentioned gentlemen. The Tiger pitching is spotty. Then there is the possibility that Greenberg will be snared by Uncle Sam's draft board.

Boston Short on Pitching.

Boston's Red Sox, on whom a fortune has been expended by Owner Tom Yawkey, have all their assets in one basket. It is a fairly powerful hitting team. But in their craze for hitters the Red Sox bosses overlooked the importance of pitching and for several years now have made no headway because of this deficiency. If they get any worthwhile pitching this year it will have to be done by rookies and only a superoptimist would count on such a development. Unless these rookies appear, the Red Sox might finish in the second division.

Connie Mack thinks his Athletics are better than before, at least enough so to escape eighth place. The Browns will rise a bit if they can find pitching to team up with their hitting. The Washington Senators, on paper, appear to be the weakest of the entire lot. Their hitting is poor and their pitching little better. So the first division scramble, barring injuries or draft calls, should be exclusively a matter for the Yanks, the Indians, the White Sox, and Tigers.

GREENBERG HITS HOMER TO BEAT CINCINNATI, 3-1

Tigers Finally Win Two in Row from Reds.

Cincinnati, O., April 12 (AP).—A home run by Hank Greenberg with one on accomplished for the Detroit Tigers today what the whole team couldn't do in the 1940 world series—win two games in a row from the Cincinnati Reds. The final score of today's exhibition game was Detroit, 3; Cincinnati, 1.

Tommy Bridges, Luther Thomas, and Johnny Gorsica combined to hold the world champions to four hits. Whitey Moore and Elmer Riddle yielded only five, but Whitey was wild and the first two of his five walks resulted in runs.

With two out in the first inning, Whitey passed Charley Gehringer and then threw a fast pitch to Greenberg, who relayed it over the left field wall for enough runs to win the ball game.

Thomas allowed the lone Red run in the sixth. He walked Ernie Lombardi and Jimmy Ripple and a couple of force plays scored Dick West, running for Lombardi. Score:

St. Louis, Mo., April 12 (AP).—Two new Browns, George Caster and Johnny Allen, pitched shutout ball today as the Browns made their 1941 home debut with an 8 to 2 victory over the Cardinals in the city spring series.

Caster, formerly with the Athletics, yielded two hits in three innings, and Allen, former Indian, was even more stingy, yielding only one in a similar stretch. Elden Auker, who started for the Browns, gave up four hits, three of them coming in the first inning for the Cards' pair of runs.

The defeat broke a 13 game exhibition winning streak for the Cardinals. The two teams play again tomorrow. Score:

RED SOX, 11; BEES, 6.

Boston, Mass., April 12 (AP).—His old teammates, the Boston Red Sox, put an abrupt stop to the comeback attempt of Wesley Ferrell today by banging his offerings for seven hits in three innings to take an 11 to 6 verdict from the Boston Bees in the intracity series.

A five run cluster in the third was enough to provide the margin of victory in a free hitting contest. In the third Ferrell mixed three passes with a triple by Manager Joe Cronin and doubles by Sammy Hale, Frank Pytlak and Lou Finney to help the Red Sox sew up the ball game.

Babe Dahlgren was the big noise for the Bees, collecting four hits, one a double, in five official trips to the plate. Score:

BOARD OF STRATEGY

AMERICAN AND NATIONAL LEAGUE LEADERS PREDICT BANNER YEARS

BY FORD FRICK.

[President of the National League.]

New York, April 12 (AP).—Ordinarily, to ask nothing more from a baseball season than a carbon copy of last year's results would be a weak position to take as opening day approaches.

This year, however, the National league could hardly ask more than a repeat of 1940's triumphs in the all-star game against the American league and a world championship in October to top off a great pennant race.

The Cincinnati Reds today are stronger than last fall. Our prospects for a close flag fight depend on the merits of the moves made by Brooklyn, St. Louis, Chicago and the other clubs in strengthening their lineups.

Keeps Excitement Going.

Somebody called April baseball's "if month." It's been going on all over the baseball map, baseball writers, fans, the players themselves. If it weren't for the little word "if," baseball might still be the national game but the season opening wouldn't be half as exciting.

A lot of smoke usually means fire. The more "ifs" there are in April, the hotter the pennant race. The plentitude of "ifs" this spring may mean for the National league its most interesting pennant race in many years.

What About the Cubs?

Experts' consensus picks the Reds to repeat, with the Dodgers and Cardinals their most serious challengers. But the "iffing" game goes further than these three clubs. Just try attaching an "if" to the Cubs' Lou Novikoff or the Pirates new pitchers or the hitting prowess in exhibition games shown by the Giants and Bees and you get an array of potential contenders.

BY WILL HARRIDGE.

[President of the American League.]

Given a close pennant race such as we had last year, the American league likely will establish a second straight attendance record this season—one which I believe will be the best we ever have enjoyed.

This may sound optimistic, but as we await the opening of the 1941 season tomorrow and Tuesday, I think all signs point toward an unusually successful campaign for the players and club owners and a tremendously interesting one for the spectators.

Record Falls in 1940.

Last year the American league set an all-time attendance mark of 5,433,791, a showing which surpassed by 1,163,189 the number attracted to our games during the 1939 season. That 1940 drawing power was a fine tribute paid us by baseball enthusiasts who showed they enjoyed the championship race among Detroit, the eventual winner, and Cleveland and New York.

One reason I think a new attendance figure may be set this season is based on the makeup of the various clubs. Cleveland, with a new manager, figures to be in the thick of the battle. New York's rookie infield stars, Phil Rizutto and Gerry Priddy, plus the experiment of shifting Joe Gordon from second to first base, will make the Yankees a closely watched team.

Tigers Can Hit.

Detroit has the power to be dangerous all the way, and I have heard many predictions that Charley Gehringer, the Tigers' fine veteran second basemen, is headed for a great season. Improved pitching could put Boston in the fight, while Chicago and St. Louis should have better clubs. The St. Louis team may be one of the surprises of the year. Washington and Philadelphia have been showing strength in their exhibition contests.

The national defense program, giving employment to thousands, will help the game, for I think more persons than ever will turn to baseball as a recreational outlet. I don't believe the draft will have any marked effect on the game in general. A few stars may be called, but new material will come up to fill the positions—and baseball fans always are interested in new players.

Senators to Turn On Lights.

Again we will have 35 night games, with Washington coming into the afterdark setup for the first time. And with many unable to attend day contests, our night attendance showing should be one of the bright spots of our program. For many years the fans loyally have supported our league, and club owners, players, and executives will do everything in their power to merit support again this year with an interesting, hard fought race.

Yankees Beat Dodgers, 3 to 2, in 9th Inning

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 12 [Special].—The New York Yankees nipped the Brooklyn Dodgers in the ninth inning for the second straight time today, winning, 3 to 2, in Ebbets field. Joe DiMaggio drove in the winning run when, with two out in the ninth, he lashed a 400-foot double against the left-center stands to score Tommy Henrich, who had coaxed his fourth successive walk.

The Dodgers went down fighting in the ninth. They filled the bases with two away on Lew Riggs' double and walks to Dolph Camilli and Pinch Hitter Jimmy Wasdell. But Johnny Sturm, filling in at first for the Yanks, slapped down Babe Phelps' hard smash and tossed to Pitcher George Washburn for the final out.

The flashy finish failed to erase the memory of some redhot pitching by a couple of comeback kids, Lefty Gomez and Van Lingle Mungo. Mungo, fresh out of the doghouse following his Cuban spreeing, gave up only two reluctant hits, walked three, and fanned six in the four innings he toiled.

TEXAS LEAGUE COMMENCES 53D SEASON TODAY

Dallas, Tex., April 11 (AP).—The Texas league begins its 53d season today with Dallas playing at Fort Worth, Tulsa at Oklahoma City, San Antonio at Shreveport, and Houston—favored to win the pennant—at Beaumont.

The games mark the debut of three managers, Wally Dasheil at Dallas, Francis [Salty] Parker at Shreveport, and Gordon Hinkle at Beaumont. Returning managers are Eddie Dyer at Houston, Rogers Hornsby at Oklahoma City, Roy Johnson at Tulsa, Bob Linton at Fort Worth, and Marty McManus at San Antonio.

League President J. Alvin Gardner predicts a marked increase in attendance and interest principally "because there is more employment due to the vast defense program, meaning more money to spend."

WHITE SOX, CUBS END FEUD TODAY; LYONS VS. DEAN

John Rigney Ordered to Delay Workouts.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The city series, spring variety, will be closed this afternoon in Wrigley field. The Cubs, notwithstanding the recent bruisings inflicted on the apparently defunct Diz Dean, will start him on the mound today, not so much because of his ability, but as a drawing card. At Wichita, Kas., last Thursday the Sox blew Diz to bits with five hits and six runs in two innings. The Sox starter will be the gentlemanly Ted Lyons, followed by Rookie Jack Hallett.

The White Sox have been ordered to assemble at Comiskey park tomorrow morning for a final preseason workout. They'll leave at night for Cleveland, where on Tuesday afternoon they'll be confronted by none other than Bob Feller, who in the 1940 opener here held them hitless. The Cubs will not practice tomorrow unless rain should keep them inactive today.

Johnny Rigney, the Sox's ace righthander who returned direct to Chicago after being left at the Pasadena, Cal., camp because of a strep infection of the throat, has orders from the club physician to remain out of uniform for several more days. There isn't much chance he'll do much, if any, pitching before May 1.

The demotion of Lou Novikoff, the Cubs' rookie slugger, from the third to the fifth notch yesterday, is easily explained. He hadn't been hitting his weight.

The Cubs think they are pretty giddy with their shiny blue colored jackets, but wait until you see what Jim Dykes is going to spring for the use of Sox pitchers on cold days. The pitchers will be encased in long fleecelined coats, the exterior of which is a blazing red satin.

Bill Lee, who held out on the Cubs until Friday, worked out again yesterday, but on orders from Manager Jimmy Wilson devoted most of his time to running. Wilson thinks the big fellow's pitching arm is in condition as the result of the throwing he did at home while conducting his salary campaign, but the boss wants to get the General's long legs toughened up before putting him to work.

Manager Dykes has been greatly distressed for the last 10 days over the failure of his choice hitters like Taft Wright, Joe Kuhel, and Julius Solters to get any results from their bat swinging. But Dykes, never the kind to develop daily panics over lineups, thinks he'll go a little farther with the present setup.

Indians Pound Bowman; Beat Giants, 7 to 1

New York, April 12 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians landed on Bob Bowman, former Cardinal pitcher, for nine hits and all their runs today to beat the New York Giants, 7 to 1, for the Tribe's ninth victory in a dozen exhibition games with the National leaguers.

The Indians scored four runs in the first on a walk and four singles, and got three more runs in the fifth. The second outburst included a home run into the lower right field stands by Roy Weatherly. Bill Lohrman and Ace Adams held the Indians scoreless for the last four innings.

Lefty Al Milnar and Mel Harder combined to hold the Giants to two hits, one of them a homer by Mel Ott. Ott returned to the lineup in right field after being out for a week with a strained side.

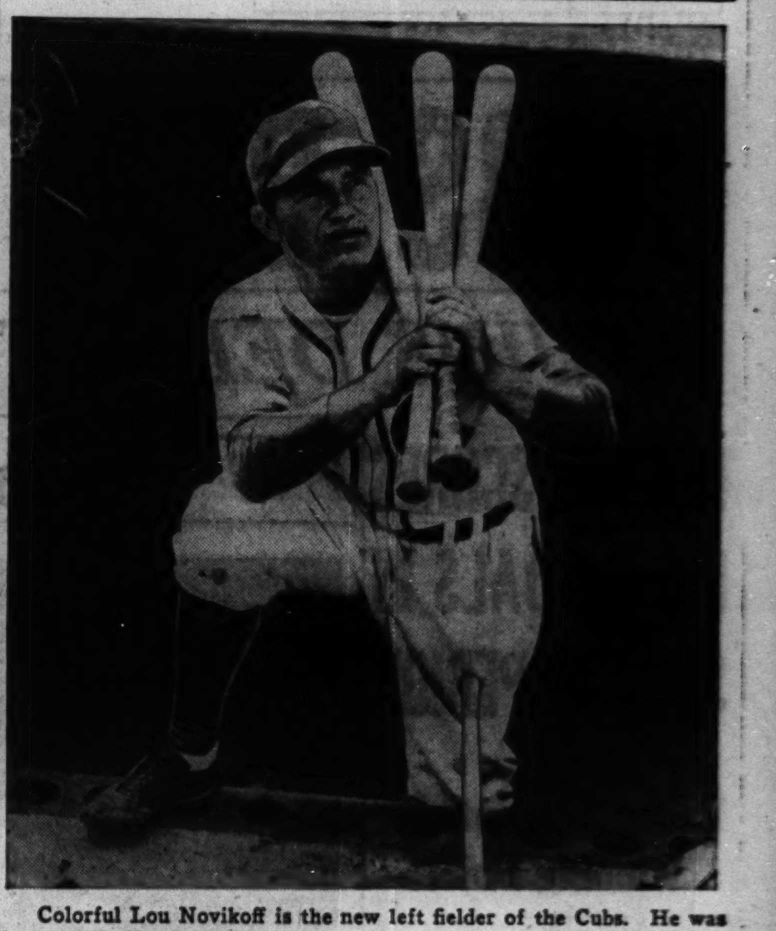
MEET THE NEW CUBS

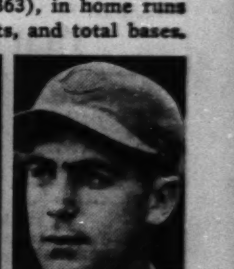


Colorful Lou Novikoff is the new left fielder of the Cubs. He was the 1940 Pacific Coast league champion in batting (.363), in home runs (41), in runs batted in (171), in runs scored, total hits, and total bases.

C. McCULLOUGH, Catcher.

BOB SCHEFFING, Catcher.

ED WAITKUS, First baseman.

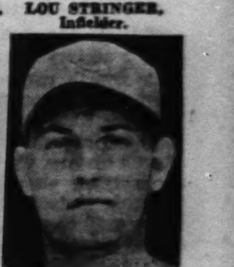


BARNEY OLSEN, Outfielder.

CHARLEY GEORGE, Catcher.

LOU STRINGER, Infielder.

BILLY MYERS, Shortstop.



TOT PRESSNELL, Pitcher.

When the Cubs open the National league race against Pittsburgh in Wrigley field Tuesday, these newcomers will be in uniform.

IT'S CUBS' TURN TO WIN TITLE ON BASIS OF CYCLE

cluding Erickson and Pressnell, won 17 victories last year, so that the quota for 1941 can be formed by allotting a half victory apiece to Newcomers Erickson and Pressnell.

100 Victories Is Goal.

The total victories might jump to 100 if Page wins more than his last year's total of one, Lee equals his all time tops of 22 and Clay Bryant comes back from Tulsa to win a couple of games. However, it would be easier to write feature stories about the three year cycle if the Cubs were to win with 99 games, 99 being a multiple of 3, according to our hasty mathematical analysis.

There has been some uncertainty about the Cub catching. But there may be some surprises here from Al Todd's substitutes or successors. Most of the thought has been that Clyde McCullough may nudge the veteran Todd out of a job, but Bob Scheffing has won considerable enthusiasm from those who have things to say in Cub matters.

Augie Galan's busted knees and Dom Dallessandro's short legs, not to mention Hank Leiber's holdout, have made center field a worry spot. But outfielders develop and go on sale as the season moves along, as witness Brooklyn's Joe Medwick and Cincinnati's Jimmy Ripple. The Cubs couldn't do better in the matter of power and good enough fielding than they will with Lou Novikoff and Bill Nicholson.

Play Pirates Tuesday.

The Cub infield, with the possible exception of first base, should be the best in the league.

So there you have it—the Cubs win the pennant without our having mentioned Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer of the Reds or the $135,000 the Dodgers are supposed to have paid for Kirby Higbee, a Cub castoff rookie of May, 1939.

The Cubs open the National league season in Wrigley field on Tuesday against Pittsburgh, while New York plays at Brooklyn, Boston at Philadelphia, and St. Louis at Cincinnati.

one, seven, three and one. Hitz took another point and Platak responded with five. Again Hitz scored and this time Platak came back with three, putting him within one point of the title. Hitz worked his total up to 7, however, before Platak whacked over the shot that settled it.

Thruout the match, Platak was slapping over those spectacular kill shots that traveled like a bullet and hit the wall an inch or two above the floor. Sometimes he'd vary this procedure with strokes that skimmed the ball along the sidewall and let it come back on a roll. He put deceptive hops on it and Hitz was in a dither trying to guess what was coming next. And thru it all Platak was as serene as tho he were playing in a club exhibition instead of a national championship final.

Old Champs Return.

The doubles final resulted in the comeback of the 1938 and 1939 champions, Frank Coyle and Edward Linz of New York. They defeated the defending title holders, Joe Gordon and Joe Goldsmith of Los Angeles, 21-15, 21-10.

In the singles play-off for third place, Edward Rawlings of Kansas City, beat Jack Emas of Philadelphia, 20-21, 21-11, 21-8, and in the doubles play-off, Dr. Milton Lappin and Albert Zerbo of Detroit defeated Jeff Capell and William Keays of San Francisco, 20-21, 21-18, 21-12.

ILLINOIS DEFEATS INDIANA, 10 TO 7; SQUARES SERIES

Drisch, Relief Pitcher, Gains Victory.

Bloomington, Ind., April 12 [Special].—Driving out 14 hits and taking advantage of seven Hoosier errors, the University of Illinois baseball team defeated Indiana, 10 to 7, today in the second game of their opening Big Ten series. The Hoosiers subdued Illinois' conference co-champions, 2 to 1, here yesterday.

John Drish of Cicero, Ill., relief pitcher, yielded only two hits in the last five innings, and was credited with the victory. Only one run was charged against him. Sophomore Chuck Campbell, in his first start on the mound for the Illini, held the Crimson fairly well in hand until the fifth when two runs were scored and two Hoosiers were on base with none out. Drisch promptly retired the side.

Paul Milosevich of Illinois got three hits in four times at bat and drove in four runs. All the visitors except Dreschsler, who replaced Drish in right field when the latter was called into the box, made at least one hit.

Sophomore Dale Boehm, Indiana's third hurler, limited Illinois to one run and seven hits in his six innings. He also hit a single and double and drove in one run. Score:

SOCCER LEAGUE RESUMES PLAY IN 2D ROUND TODAY

Swedes Oppose Germans; Kickers vs. Schwabens.

BY OFFSIDE.

The second round of the International league spring soccer, which was postponed from last Sunday, will resume today with another schedule of matches in every division. The Major division, with four games, has two outstanding matches, the Swedish-Americans meeting the German-Americans, and the Kickers opposing the Schwabens.

The Swedes, who suffered their worst defeat in years at the hands of the Slovaks two weeks ago, will welcome the extra week's layoff so as to give some of their injured players a chance to recover. These include Johnny O'Boyle and David Rarity, who will be making their first appearance today. The Germans, altho far down the league table are noted for creating upsets, and will attempt to knock the champions out of the running.

Kickers May Surprise.

The Schwabens, in third position hope to increase their points total altho the Kickers have the distinction of winning over the Spartas this year.

Soccer fans are looking forward to next week's match between the past and present professional stars set to be played in Sparta stadium for the British relief fund. Among those already named to perform are Albie Shalcross, Pete Mair, Bob Wylie, Johnny Easton, and Johnny Paulton. Officials who will handle the match are Sheldon Govier, former Pullman star, Wilfred Cummings, former treasurer of the National Soccer association, Joseph Triner, Ben Govier, and Jack Johnston. ter man in 1939, and Brooks, White, Earl Doloway, and Swihart, backs.

Bob Zimny and Charles Jacoby are Chicago sophomores who currently are listed on the second team. Zimny was graduated from St. Rita High school and is a left tackle sharing that position with Fred Huff, Bloomington junior. Jacoby, a blocking back, was graduated from St. Ignatius. Swihart, Elkhart, Ind., letter man, is his principal rival, but there are three other sophomores listed. They are Ed Schienbein, Indianapolis; Don Preger, South Bend, and Dave Feldman, New York.

Meets Four Big Nine Foes.

Indiana's 1941 schedule is divided equally between nonconference and conference opponents. Detroit, Notre Dame, Texas Christian, and Nebraska form the first half after which Indiana meets Wisconsin, Iowa, Northwestern, and Purdue, in this order. Thus Indiana conceivably may surprise the Big Nine, but because of the handicap of playing only four conference games it must win them all. The Notre Dame-Indiana game in South Bend Oct. 4 may be the game of the week in view of the return of Frank Leahy to his alma mater as head coach.

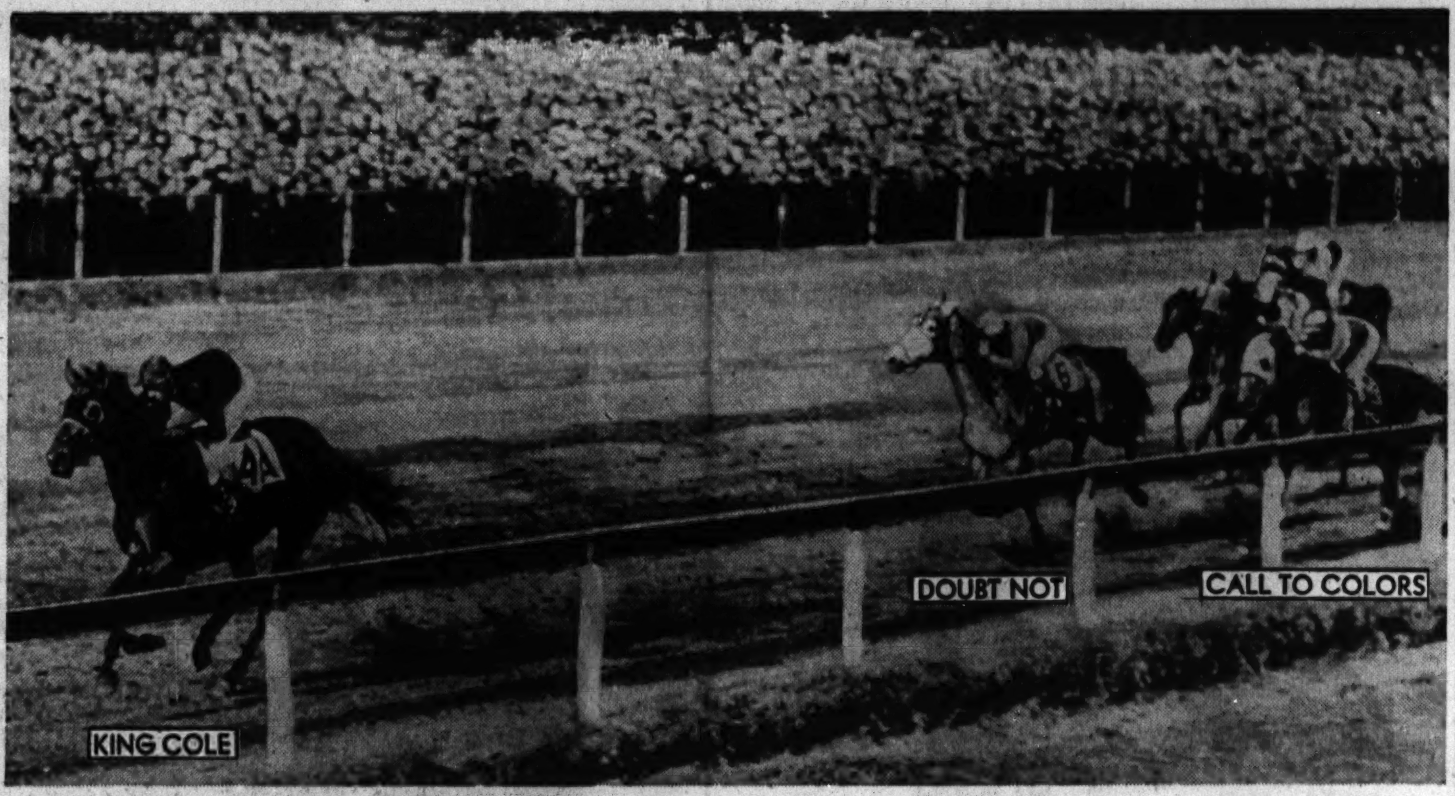
"We finally have caught up with Leahy," McMillin said today facetiously. "Indiana played Boston college when Frank still was an assistant at Fordham; played Fordham when he had gone to Boston college, but now we'll see his version of Notre Dame football."

METROPOLITAN LEAGUE SEEKS 4 MORE TEAMS

The Metropolitan Amateur Baseball league will meet Tuesday evening at 127 North Dearborn street to consider applications for the second junior and second senior vacancies. The league expects to open its season on May 11.

A special meeting will be held on April 29, at which time movies will be shown and admission will be by ticket only.

NEW YORK GREETS A NEW RACING SEASON



King Cole sprinting home in the Paumonok handicap by three lengths, the feature of opening day yesterday at Jamaica race track, ushering in the 1941 New York season. King Cole's stock in the Kentucky Derby rose as the result of his victory.

Records Set in New York's Race Opening

New York, April 12 [Special].—King Cole's Kentucky Derby stock soared today when he captured the Paumonok handicap as the New York metropolitan racing season opened at Jamaica. Overshadowing the fine showing of this colt, tho, was the outpouring of fans. All attendance and betting records fell as the Metropolitan Jockey club opened its new $1,000,000 plant.

The official attendance was 37,284, which displaces the previous high of 27,696 set on Wood Memorial Saturday a year ago. The Wood Memorial is the biggest prep for the Derby and invariably attracts Jamaica's biggest crowd. It will be run on April 26. The betting record at Jamaica was $1,050,068, also set last year when the Wood was renewed. Today's betting total was $1,288,551. These Jamaica records, however, are under those set last year at Belmont.

Fitzsimmons' 4th in Row.

King Cole, which is expected to be a starter in the Wood Memorial, won eased up by three lengths in a field of 10, leading Doubt Not, who landed second by half a length over Call to Colors.

The $9,300 renewal of the Paumonok was finished in 1:11 4-5 over a fast track and gave Trainer Jim Fitzsimmons his fourth consecutive winner in the stake. In the previous three years he had sent out Snark, Johnstown and Fighting Fox to win in that order.

Two Derby Eligibles Beaten.

Coupled with Fenelon and heavily played, King Cole returned $3.60, $2.50 and $2.50 across the board and earned $6,600 of the purse. Handled by Porter Roberts he went to the front at the break and never left the result in doubt. All knew of his speed last year, but it remains to be seen if he can run the Derby route of a mile and a quarter.

Two other Kentucky Derby eligibles, Market Wise and Perisphere, were out of the money in the secondary feature, the Cedar Manor sprint. It was won by Zacatine.

RED DOCK WINS $1,500 HANDICAP AT KEENELAND

Lexington, Ky., April 12 (AP).—Mrs. Payne Whitney's Red Dock passed the leaders in the final furlong to win the $1,500 added Spendthrift handicap at Keeneland today.

The son of Peace Chance led J. R. Neville's Sky Ball by a length and a half. A. C. Ernst's Alhalon was third, two lengths farther back.

Under Jockey Albert Bodiou and an impost of 115 pounds, Red Dock covered the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45 3-5 and returned $6.80, $4.20 and $3.80. Sky Ball paid $17 and $8.20. Alhalon's price was $5.40.

In the $2,500 added Ashland stakes for three year old fillies, Valdina Myth beat Hal Price Headley's Laatokka. Croan and Brooks' Blue Lily was third. Valdina Myth took charge in the stretch and finished the six furlong test in 1:13 to pay $9.40.

WHEN ICE GOES THE LAKE TROUT WILL BE BITING

And Look Out! They Will Swat Your Lure.

BY BOB BECKER.

The lake trout fishermen won't have to wait much longer. They soon will be able to satisfy the urge to go fishing, for the ice ought to leave the trout lakes in the north country about the first week in May. Then the boys can put their bait casting and trolling rods together, haul out the spoon and plug lures, and connect with some husky lakers.

Bob Watts, a resident of the Minnesota-Quetico border country, reminded us a few days ago that in 1940 the ice left the border trout lakes about the end of the first week in May. Of course, no one can predict [at this time] the exact date when spring will nudge winter out of the lakes up there on the boundary line, but one may expect that this welcome ouster of the ice king will occur early next month.

A Big Change in Appeal.

The sport of early spring fishing for lake trout has been growing in the middle west for many years. We can recall when only a handful of fishermen went north as soon as the ice left the lakes and the big trout could be taken in shallow water. Now hundreds go north for a few days of fun early in May. The fact that the lakers are in shallow water and are eager to swat lures in the spring is the big attraction to anglers who want to catch good sized fish without dragging big spoons along the bottom of a lake.

Of all the large sized fish in our midwestern waters, apparently none dislikes warm weather and warm water like the lake trout. Right after the ice goes out the lakers are in their element. The water is freezing cold. They're hungry and extremely active and they wallop lures. As the sun warms the water, down they go, and midsummer finds them in some of the deepest holes in our northern lakes.

Take Assortment of Lures.

A sturdy tubular steel rod, five or five and a half feet long, a good casting reel, a Nylon line suitable for either casting or trolling, and an assortment of underwater lures of various types will get the trout early next month. Lakes in northern Minnesota, the Quetico and Lake of the Woods waters are some of the favorite fishing spots for midwestern anglers.

It's wise to take along quite an assortment of casting and trolling lures for this early fishing. A large percentage of the foolers that can be used for either bass or muskie fishing will land lake trout. Pictures of many of these lures are shown in the Tribune's fishing handbook: "Which Lures and Where," which is sold by the Public Service office of the Tribune, 1 South Dearborn street, and in Tribune Tower. The cost of the book is 30 cents by mail. This 84 page, well illustrated fishing guide gives fishermen suggestions on spoons and underwater plugs for lake trout fishing as well as tips on successful wet and dry fly rod lures, for trout and black bass.

SPOTTING THE PINS

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The 44th annual state bowling tournament, conducted by the Illinois Bowling association, will open Friday night on the Windy City recreation alleys, 2101 South Cicero avenue, when the first 72 of 1,815 five man teams roll their three game series. The 72 teams will represent bowling establishments, the opening night having been designated as Bowling Proprietors' night. Mayor George Stedronsky of Cicero will roll the first ball in a brief program over which Marvin Erickson, I. B. A. head, will preside.

Entry and prize list of the tournament will be the largest in the organization's history. The previous record entry was 1,484 teams, last year's total. The doubles entry will be 1,542 and singles, 3,054. The prize list will total $25,666.

Probably the most unusual bowling tournament of the year in Chicago is scheduled for next week-end when the Great Lakes Deaf Bowling association holds its annual competition on the Chicago Arena's 24 alleys. A total of 340 individuals will compete, including 12 teams from Detroit. New York, Cleveland, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Akron, Miami, Fla., and Indianapolis are among cities to be represented. . . . The Mineralites piled up 6,622 pins in two matches last week, an all-time record 3,368 at Windy City Monday night and the Randolph league's high of the night, 3,254, Thursday. In our arithmetic that's a 3,311 average, or 1,104 per game. The Gills' lead was cut to a game at Randolph when they dropped two and the second place Budweisers, defending champions, won two.

Entries in the Blue Ribbon Boosters association tournament, to be held week-ends beginning next Saturday, close at midnight tonight with Allan Schuchter, secretary at the Madison A. C., 4723 Madison street. The event will be held at the Madison A. C. . . . Eighteen Chicago teams, including four man combinations from THE TRIBUNE, Daily News and Daily Times, will compete in the first Printcraft Bowling congress tournament which opens next Saturday for a four day run at Linsz recreation, Cleveland, O. The total entry is 120 teams. . . . Honor scores in the Tuesday Men's Junior league at Bowling Lanes:

Budweisers Reduce Laner Ebonites' Lead.

Two more nights to go and only six games separate the nine teams between second and tenth places in the "400" league. Three are tied for second place, six games behind the leaders, and three more are deadlocked in seventh place. . . . Art Temple upset 662 pins as his Gold Coast Budweisers, runnersup, won two games from the leading Laner Ebonites in the Playdium Major. The circuit's high total, 3,048, was rolled by Kruse Service Stations, who won three from Broadway Arcade. Joe Aubert of the Kruses, with 686, was the league's high man. . . . Only three matches are booked in the North End Traveling league tomorrow night. They are:

Schamberger Schlitz vs. De Luxe recreation at De Luxe, 7 p. m.; Koenig Brau vs. Fox De Luxe at Kaadlund, 7 p. m.; Samuelson's Kids vs. Jolly Jacks at Monte Cristo, 7:30.

Wabash No. 1 and Woodlawn continued their sweep thru all competition in the south division of the Patrolmen's club league, Wabash scoring triple victories over East Side and Englewood No. 2, and Woodlawn shutting out Wabash No. 2 and Traffic Division in successive weeks.

Vogue Tyres cut Old Corner Budweisers' lead in the South Shore Major to three games by winning three from Segal Liquors, while Old Corner was dropping one to Gilmore's Tavern. A few of the honor scores:

Lou Sargert, 258, 693; Bobby Hayes, 264, 685; Frank Bach, 236, 671; Frank Brown, 267, 666; Bill Geise, 225, 660; Harold Mensch, 225, 658; Lou Byerly, 256.

The Gold Coast Major league race will be decided in the stretch, it appears, the Gills having only a three game lead over Marx Restaurant, with five weeks remaining. Tuesday's schedule:

Triangle Bowling Shirts vs. Budweisers; Gold Coast Recreation vs. Marx Restaurant; Kruse Service Stations vs. Gills; De Luxe Recreation vs. Oscar F. Nelsons; Atlas Pragers vs. Art Williams Jewelry; Ballantine's Restaurant vs. Playdium.

Classic Has an Open Date Tonight.

The Classic league has an open date tonight because of ABC schedules that are keeping Classic bowlers in St. Paul over the week end. Chicago teams again are prominent in the week's billings at the ABC. North End and Greater Chicago Traveling league teams are on today's schedule; Joe Gratz's Pepsi-Colas, North End leaders, and Charlie Wass's Michelobs of the Classic league are on Thursday night, while Friday's listings include Lee Hile's Ruppert Knickerbockers of the Classic, and Saturday night's card brings out Jule Lellinger's Birk Trophy Beers, the team which set the all-time ABC record with a 3,234 score in 1938.

Leo Reininger just about clinched the championship for his team, North Center recreation, when he rolled a 254-253-233—740 series, the season's high in the North West Traveling. Jack Sampayo, who has averaged 221 for the last 21 games, fired a 686 series and leads the individuals with 205. . . . Athletic Equipment company, with 3,171, tops the teams in Gold Coast's handicap event. Nestor Johnsons are second with 3,108.

Edens Gain Second Place in Stevenson Major.

Walter C. Eden Insurance won the odd game from the Budweisers to take a one game lead over the Buds in the battle for second place in the Stevenson Major. The Gills won three from Raymer's Kids to extend their first place margin to seven games. They hit 3,204. In a special match DeYoung Fuels won three games and the series, 2,887 to 2,650, from the DeYoung women's team. Schell Insurance won 12 of its last 15 games to capture the Ridge Country club men's league title. Schells finished with 51 games won and 39 lost, holding a three game margin over Fairbanks Morse. Jule Franke, Ridge secretary, intends to remain active in bowling thruout the summer, being president of Ray Schalk's summer league.

A 245-203-258—706 series by Jules Sowa led American Glass to a three game victory over the H. H. Herbsts and extended the winners' Insurance league lead to seven games. . . . Trophies will be distributed and prize money paid in the Windy City major and junior leagues Tuesday. Jerry Peck also announced a $3 individual sweeper, four games across eight alleys.

Bee Kranz Rolls 662 at Pioneer.

Happenings at Pioneer as relayed by Mary Fechtmeyer: Bee Kranz fired that big series, 202-222-238—662, which, with Betty Latham's 564, led Budweiser to a 2,651 series. Clara Hartwig opened with three splits, then struck eight times for 235. . . . ILLINOIS RETAINS GYMNASTIC TITLE IN NATIONAL TEST

Sophomore Wins 2 Events to Clinch Victory.

Table of Points

Illinois	68	Chicago	39½
Minnesota	52	Temple	15½

Caton Cobb, brilliant University of Illinois sophomore, won two events—the side horse exercise and the parallel bars competition—to give the Illini another year's hold on their National Collegiate AA gymnastics title in the meet last night in Bartlett gymnasium. New individual champions were crowned in seven of the eight events. Illinois won with 68 points, Minnesota was second with 52, Chicago third with 39½, and Temple fourth with 15½.

The Illini won only three of the eight first places, but displayed sufficient team strength to win the meet by a safe margin, adding the successful defense of their NCAA championship to their Big Ten and National AAU titles.

Twins Star for Maroons.

A pair of University of Chicago twins, Earl and Courtney Shanken, turned in the best performance in the meet besides Cobb's. Earl was the only individual champion to defend successfully a title won last year, retaining his long horse honors. Courtney Shanken was the only double winner in the meet besides Cobb, clinching both the rope climbing and the all-around title.

Newton Loken of Minnesota won the horizontal bar event, replacing Norman Boardman of Temple, and Delver Daly, also of the Gophers, won the flying rings event, which was not defended since Bill Butler of the Navy, last year's winner, did not compete.

Another Sophomore Wins.

Jack Adkins, another Illinois sophomore, took first honors in tumbling, another undefended title which last year was won by Joe Giallombardo, also of the Illini, who has been graduated.

The meet was full of upsets, four of the five defending champions in the meet being unseated. Harry Koehnemann of Illinois dropped to second place in the sidehorse; Bob Hanning of Minnesota dropped to third place in the parallel bars; Paul Fina of Illinois was relegated to fifth position in the all-around competition; and Boardman of Temple dropped from first to sixth in the horizontal bar. In addition, George Szypula of Temple, National AAU tumbling champion, was able to do no better than third.

LONG HORSE—Won by E. Shanken, Chicago, 797.7; Baley, Illinois, second, 774.4; C. Shanken, Chicago, third, 769.5; L. Fina, Illinois, fourth, 745.3; Houston, Temple, fifth, 745.2; Loken, Minnesota, sixth, 737.

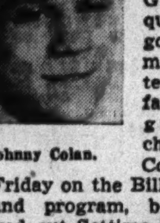
Colan's Ready for Battle with McBride

Johnny Colan, promising New York middleweight prospect, is ready for his second Chicago appearance in a 10 round bout against Frank McBride, 1940 north side Golden Gloves qualifier, in Marigold Gardens tomorrow. Fourteen thousand fans were not given much chance to judge Colan in his début last Friday on the Billy Conn-Gunnar Barlund program, because Johnny knocked out Settimo Terracina after only 55 seconds in the first round.



Johnny Colan.

Inasmuch as McBride is a clever boxer and can punch in his own right, Colan is expected to encounter difficulty landing a convincing blow. Frank has lost only one decision in 10 appearances. He won his last three fights, his victims being Jack Whittinghill, Terracina, and Henry Schaft.

Colan Owns 22 KO's.

Colan, who was born of Italian parents 19 years ago, has been defeated three times in 34 starts. The knockout of Terracina was his 22d in this manner during an 18 month campaign. Before entering the money ranks, Johnny competed in the New York Golden Gloves tournament as a lightweight. He was eliminated in the first round when unlucky enough to draw Ray Robinson, the eventual champion. Supporting matches tomorrow:

Ernie Derho vs. Tito Taylor [5], 150.
Eddie Miller vs. Richard Rigali [4], 130.
Tony Sopko vs. Ralph Guajardo [4], 148.
Leonard Bostick vs. Johnny Trotter [4], 175.

Jujitsu, No Less.

Oki Shikina and Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer are opponents in a windup wrestling bout in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tomorrow. They will perform under jujitsu rules. Additional matches pair Ed Virag with Pete Schu, Rudy Kay with Senor Macias, Pierre La Belle with Al Williams, and Mike London with Kid Chapman.

Wally Zale.

Zale now holds the outdoor and indoor midwest titles as well as the Western honors. He is credited with having set a national record last year by winning 67 feature races in outdoor and indoor competition.

The Chicago driver anticipates strong opposition tonight from Myron Fohr of Milwaukee, whom he defeated by less than half a lap in the century last Sunday, after a neck and neck driving duel in the last 15 laps.

Twelve will qualify tonight in four eliminations at 15 laps each for the 40 lap feature.

Time trials are set for 7 p. m. and the first race for 8:30.

5 EVENTS LISTED IN CENTRAL AAU MEET THURSDAY

Water Ballet Title Event Among Features.

The largest Central AAU swimming and diving meet of the season will be held Thursday evening at the Shawnee Country club in Wilmette. Five championship events will be held, including three of the most spectacular—the water ballet, men's highboard diving, and women's lowboard diving.

Introduced to championship competitive swimming in the Shawnee pool last winter, the water ballet event now has been officially adopted by the Amateur Athletic Union of America and added to its list of title events. Water ballet teams are composed of eight girls. Points are awarded on the basis of precision and difficulty of the water gymnastics in each squad's routine.

Colleges, Clubs to Compete.

Many colleges and private clubs of the Chicago area will be represented in the meet. Among those expected to send their aquatic stars are Chicago Teachers College, Wright Junior college, Blackhawk Park, Chicago Towers club, Waukegan High school, Wilson Junior college, the University of Chicago, and the Lake Shore club.

The Shawnee team, the host, will attempt to keep intact its remarkable three year string of team victories in swimming meets thruout the middle west. Their tiny squad boasts two of America's most versatile younger stars in Lois Wenzel, who will be favored to win the 300 yard individual medley championship, and Barbara Ramser, whom coaches expect to win the diving event. Both are members, with Alice Miller, of the Shawnee junior medley relay team which last summer won the national championship. Miss Ramser was runner-up in the national senior women's lowboard title event in Buffalo, N. Y., two weeks ago.

Men's Diving Event.

Heading the list of entries in the men's highboard diving will be Miller Anderson and Tom Powell of the Chicago Towers club and Fred Vergie and Dick Skarda of the Lake Shore club. Miss Ramser's competition in the women's diving will be offered by Adeline Potter, former junior AAU champion, and Gladys Clark, both of the Lake Shore club.

Entries for the meet will close on Tuesday and should be filed with George Eckert, swimming coach, Shawnee Country club.

And Think How Nice It Was Outdoors!

The Chicago Athletic association had no idea, when it scheduled the event, that the weather would be so delightful yesterday. So its indoor golf clinic went on, as arranged. Johnny Revolta (left), Evanston professional, demonstrates a shot, while Jerry Cooke (center), CAA pro, and Horton Smith, Oak Park pro, await their turn.

WARMERDAM SETS NEW VAULT MARK OF 15 FT., 2⅝ INS.

Palo Alto, Cal., April 12 (AP).—Cornelius Warmerdam, former Fresno State star, pole vaulted 15 feet 2⅝ inches today, bettering his own unofficial world record.

Warmerdam, competing for the San Francisco Olympic club against Stanford university, cleared the new high mark on his third attempt. His previous record of 15 feet 1⅛ inches was set last year at Fresno.

Representatives of the Amateur Athletic union were on hand to check the height. Application for official recognition as a new world's record will be made.

The official world mark of 14 feet 11 inches was set jointly by Earl Meadows and Bill Sefton, University of Southern California athletes, in 1937. Warmerdam's height of 15 feet 1⅛ inches is an official American record.

200 at Golf Clinic

Four of the Chicago district's leading golf professionals appeared yesterday before 200 members and guests of the Chicago Athletic association in the annual CAA golf clinic. The quartet included Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Horton Smith of Oak Park, Jim Ferrier of Elmhurst, and Jerry Cooke, professional at both the CAA and the Edgewater Golf club.

AUSTIN RETAINS FENCING TITLE; HYDE PARK 2D

Austin won the city high school league fencing championship for the fourth consecutive year in the annual meet yesterday at the University of Chicago, with 134 points.

The Austin foursome and their scores were: Walter Johnson, 38; William Barr, 32; Robert Nelson, 34, and Edward Murphy, 30.

William Abraham of Lindblom and Johnson tied for individual honors, which scores did not count in the team total, and the former won the fence-off. Herbert Winter of Hyde Park was third.

CLUTCH-PUSHING IS WORK!
—More than you realize, in a car with standard transmission.

YOU'RE DOING THIS 36% OF THE TIME! —22 minutes out of every hour of driving in city traffic!

YOU'RE DOING THIS 228 TIMES PER HOUR OF CITY DRIVING!

SCIENTIFIC "EFFORT-METER" TESTS, conducted in 15 major cities, establish that the driver of a standard transmission car "pushes out and lets in the clutch" an average of 228 times an hour—that his left foot is actually on the clutch pedal a total of 21.6 minutes out of each hour. During the same period, he shifts gears no less than 171 times. All of this means work—more effort than the average driver realizes, until he tries the simple, easy Hydra-Matic way of driving!

-Take it Easy!

WITH HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE* (AND HYDRA-MATIC, ALONE) THERE IS NO CLUTCH TO PRESS, NO GEARS TO SHIFT!

TRY the "drive" that goes all the way to make things easy for the driver! It's Hydra-Matic—the drive that cuts operating effort to the minimum. Tiresome clutch-pushing is out. Manual gear-shifting is out. All you do is step on the gas to go, steer while you're going and step on the brake to stop. No other drive in the world is so simple and easy to operate as Hydra-Matic—and no other car in the world gives you more thrilling performance than a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile. Why not get more fun out of driving? Drive the easy Hydra-Matic way, today—in a smart, swift-stepping Oldsmobile!

INDUSTRY GIVEN SEVERE JOLT IN ARMING EFFORT

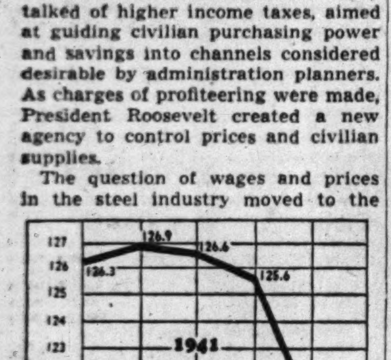
Gropes Thru Price and Wage Unrest.

BY LELAND FORRESTER.

Business took some severe jolts last week, with several major indices of activity dropping decisively as government officials and industrialists, groping in a fog of domestic and international developments, sought to find the answers to many pressing problems. straight month.

Federal authorities, by word and action, showed increasing concern over the threat of inflation. They talked of higher income taxes, aimed at guiding civilian purchasing power and savings into channels considered desirable by administration planners. As charges of profiteering were made, President Roosevelt created a new agency to control prices and civilian supplies.

The question of wages and prices in the steel industry moved to the front as one steel company granted a pay increase. The problem for steel makers was how to keep the price of their product down, as the government wishes, and at the same time meet demands for wage raises.



The course of industrial activity in recent weeks, as measured by the Associated Press seasonally adjusted composite index, which is based on 1929-'30 activity as 100.

Cost of Living Rises.

A few scattered pay boosts were reported in other industries as studies disclosed that the cost of living for workers has risen for the fourth month.

Work stoppages still were snarling the armament program and interfering with industries not directly involved in labor disputes. The effects of cessation of soft coal mining hurt the railroads, cutting their freight business, and caused steelmakers to bank several furnaces to conserve coke. The Ford strike—now settled, with plants scheduled to reopen tomorrow—caused automobile production to tumble.

Industries, many of them still a long way from the real peak of the armament demand, faced serious difficulties in building up their labor supply. In the Chicago area alone a half million additional men will be needed by factories in the next three months, the Employers' Association of Chicago estimated.

Britain to Buy Eggs.

International influences played an increasing part in the shaping of farm price program. Plans of Great Britain to buy millions of dozens of eggs in America were announced. The United States farm price pegging plan is tied in with an effort to fill the food needs of Britain, and as the Washington government moved into the markets with that in view, monthly reports showed that our reserves of butter, eggs and most other cold storage food products are smaller than usual for this time of year.

War news from the Balkans temporarily depressed the commodity and security markets.

The week's reports by corporations disclosed mixed results as to earnings in the various periods covered. Some companies earned much more, and some less, than a year earlier, but gains in sales were general, and sharp increases in taxes were shown in most cases.

Easter Brings Buying Rush.

One of the most favorable showings of the week was made by retail trade, which reflected the Easter buying rush. Business was so good in many centers that merchants likened it to that of the Christmas season, Dun & Bradstreet reported.

Another stimulating development was a new wave of railroad equipment buying. In a single day two roads alone ordered more than $15,000,000 of rolling stock.

Engineering construction contract volume was one of the few business indices that pointed sharply upward for the week. Awards exceeded 139 million dollars, more than double the volume of the preceding week. Banks increased their loans to business.

The Associated Press weekly index of industrial activity, based on 1929-'30 figures as 100 and adjusted for seasonal variations, fell to 120.5, a new low for the year, from 125.6 a week ago. Comparisons follow:

Sheaffer Pen Profit Climbs in Fiscal Year

C. R. Sheaffer.

C. R. Sheaffer, president of W. A. Sheaffer Pen company, Fort Madison, Ia., yesterday issued his annual report to stockholders and employés, showing a 10 year peak in earnings, much larger taxes, and increased bonuses to workers.

For the fiscal year ended with February net income was $812,937 after all charges, equal to $5.13 a share on common stock, compared with $744,294, or $4.66 a share in the preceding fiscal period. This was the company's most successful year since the 1930 fiscal period, when its business in the manufacture of fountain pens, pencils, ink, and mucilage produced net income of $1,530,715, or $7.75 a share.

"Total sales increased nearly a million dollars during the year with foreign as well as domestic sales showing a material gain," Sheaffer said.

Pays 15 Per Cent Wage Bonus.

"As part of Sheaffer's profit sharing bonus plan, in line with increased payments to stockholders, employés were paid, as their share of the profits, 15 per cent of their year's earnings, compared with 13¾ per cent in 1939. [Common dividends totaled $3.25 a share, against $3 the year before.]

"On the basis of the February payment to stockholders, 17½ per cent of wages have been accrued and provided for in our statement for December, 1940, and January and February, 1941. Accruals for March, April, and May, and the amount paid for the full six month period ended June 1, will depend upon the dividend."

The company's federal, state, and local tax bill increased 82.8 per cent over the preceding fiscal year, with federal income taxes alone increasing 131 per cent, Sheaffer said.

Taxes Take 58.2 Per Cent.

Direct taxes took 58.2 per cent of the year's earnings, against 34.9 per cent the year before, and were equivalent to $340.72 for each employé, compared with $226.48. The bill was equivalent to 91.3 per cent of the amount paid shareholders in dividends, against 54.2 per cent in the former year.

DOUBTS ON WAR BEAR DOWN ON STOCKS AND MARKET ENDS LOWER

New York, April 12 (AP).—War doubts continued to bear down on the stock market today and the list finished a generally discouraging week substantially lower. Traders today were inclined to cut commitments pending outcome of the critical Balkan battle between the allied and German armies.

Some comfort was derived from the settlement of the Ford strike, but the labor situation was still sufficiently spotty to keep buying ardor subdued. Threats of a General Motors walkout and the deadlock in the coal wage dispute were viewed as market handicaps.

Steels and motors touched new lows for the year, along with a number of others. Rails and oils were fairly resistant as net revenues for the carriers mounted and quotations for crude and gasoline showed further rising inclinations.

CHICAGO TRADE EXPANDS.

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange expanded yesterday to 12,000 shares, but prices followed a downward course. Commonwealth Edison led the list in turnover at 1,400 shares and eased ⅛ point net to 26⅞. Midland United preferred moved against the trend and gained ¼ point to 6⅜.

PRICES OF OATS MOUNT ON U. S. BID FOR SUPPLY

Bullish enthusiasm ran high yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. All deliveries of oats and May soy beans sold at new seasonal high prices. Announcement that the government would purchase an undisclosed amount of cash oats, presumably for export, was responsible for an upturn of 1 cent on the May delivery of that grain. May soy beans sold at $1.19¼ at one time, a new high since January, 1940.

Closing sales on wheat futures showed net gains of 1⅛ to 1¼ cents and corn gained ⅜ to ⅝ cent. Soy beans finished ⅝ to 1⅛ cents higher, the latter on May.

Buying of wheat futures attributed to mills marked trading in that grain.

Lard showed an easier undertone in sympathy with cottonseed oil and on the failure of government buying of hog products to develop. Closing sales were 7½ to 15 cents per 100 pounds lower.

DECLARES U. S. SHIPS PROVIDE STABILITY FOR LATIN AMERICA

Nelson Rockefeller.

Chester, Pa., April 12 (AP).—Eventual political upheaval in South American nations unless those countries get needed materials from the United States was predicted today by Nelson Rockefeller.

Rockefeller, United States coordinator of commercial and cultural relations between the American nations, spoke at the launching of the new $5,000,000 liner Rio de Janerio, intended for South American service.

"Unless the needs of our neighbors are given priority by our government, the situation can become very serious," he declared.

"This is an opportunity long awaited by the axis controled minorities, which are to be found in all of the countries of the western hemisphere. If a single country falls, the mechanism for joint inter-American action, for hemisphere defense, will be disrupted. We will then have to pay the price many times over in men and machines to regain what has been lost."

RAIL LIENS PUT UNDER PRESSURE IN BOND MARKET

New York, April 12 (AP).—Secondary and "receivership" rails were under pressure in the bond market today and losses outnumbered gains.

Baltimore and Ohio convertibles lost ⅝ of a point. Most other losses were also fractional, as in Rock Island General 4s of '88, Erie 5s, Pere Marquette 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s of '69, and 'Frisco 4½s of '78.

Others unchanged to a bit lower included Studebaker 6s, Youngstown Sheet 3¼s, Continental Oil convertible 3½s, and Anaconda 4½s. Commonwealth Edison convertibles lost a point. Atlantic, Gulf, and West Indies 5s advanced 2 in brisk trade.

In the United States government section small gains were the rule.

NEW TAX HUNT FACING HOUSE AFTER RECESS

May Get Requests for 1½ Billions.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—With congressmen straggling back from their brief Easter vacation, serious attention will be given soon to a tax bill which must raise about 1½ billion dollars in new revenues.

No details have been forthcoming on the form of the new taxes, which usually are not made known until a bill is presented by the house ways and means committee. However, the sentiment appears definitely to be for stiffer rates on individual and corporate income, an upward revision in the gift tax rates, and possible boosts in the "nuisance" taxes on gasoline, luxury items, theater admissions, liquors, tobacco, etc.

Federal tax experts estimate that at least 1½ billions must be raised in new taxes this year. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. has expressed the hope that a rule may be established of financing two-thirds of government expenditures thru taxes and the other third by borrowing.

Leaves 3 Billions Needed.

On this basis the preliminary budget of 17½ billions in expenditures for 1942 would call for 12 billions in revenues instead of the budget estimate of 8 billion 275 million dollars, or an increase of more than 3 billions in revenues. Not all of this need be raised by new taxes since a rising national income, as generally predicted, would increase revenues on the basis of existing rates.

Altho the budget estimates have already been tossed into a cocked hat by supplemental requests for appropriations including financing of the British war effort, congressmen are not disposed to seek much more than 1½ billions in new taxes now. They would rather boost the tax bill more gradually.

One of the taxes to get increased attention will be the so-called excess profits tax of 25 to 50 per cent aimed at removing exorbitant profits from the armament program. New Dealers from the President down are not satisfied that the tax is strict enough. But since clarifying legislation was needed at this session on the excess profits tax rushed thru last fall it is likely that more deliberate action will be taken in revising the levy upward.

Weekly Pay Tax Suggested.

Sentiment is increasing for a broadening of the income tax base to make the burden of financing the cost of American and foreign armaments felt more directly by the general public. It is argued that there remain too many voters who have been benefited from government spending but have not shared directly in the tax impositions occasioned by this spending. One of the proposals in this connection is a flat tax of 5 or 10 per cent on weekly pay envelopes of $30 and up. This would apply to gross incomes and allow no exemptions. Tax deduction would be made at the source of income. The conservative National Economy league sponsors the 10 per cent gross tax, but congressional enthusiasts have trimmed the proposal to 5 per cent at the maximum, which, it is estimated, would raise 3½ billion dollars annually.

Some idea of what might lie in store for the public is seen in the proposals of Senators Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio] and Tom Connally [D., Texas].

Asks 10% Basic Rate.

Taft proposed that the normal tax rate on personal incomes be raised from 4 to 10 per cent and that exemptions for married persons be reduced from $2,000 to $1,500. Connally's proposal, which twice was knocked out of tax measures last year after passage by the senate, would provide for wartime tax boosts from 4 to 10 per cent on individual incomes and reduce the exemption for married persons to $1,600. Surtaxes on individual incomes would start with 6 per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income and rise to 80 per cent of income in excess of $50,000.

Oil Industry Called Ready in Peace, War

Henry M. Dawes.

The oil industry is prepared to meet the requirements which the government has indicated may be demanded of it in event of war, Henry M. Dawes, president of Pure Oil company, Chicago, told stockholders yesterday at their annual meeting in Columbus, O.

"The industry is justified in saying that it is ready for peace or war," said Dawes. "It has augmented crude oil reserves and has sufficient refining capacity to meet the combined domestic and wartime demand.

"It has prepared itself without adversely affecting any current demands which may develop for ordinary domestic needs and without loan or subsidy from the government."

Declares Gasoline Price Too Low.

In 1940 the average price for gasoline was the lowest in the history of the industry, but there has been some improvement since the beginning of this year, Dawes reported.

"While the present trend is upward, the price is still below that which is necessary to permit profitable operation of refineries," he said.

Dawes said concerning production of crude oil and the demand for refined products:

"In the first quarter of 1941, Pure Oil's crude output continued at the level established in the final quarter of 1940, a year in which the company's production went to a new high record. The company has continued its orderly development of the new Cumberland field in Marshall and Bryan counties of southern Oklahoma, and to date has drilled 25 wells, all of which have been productive. Production from the company's other fields is satisfactory, altho severely curtailed by proration restrictions in many states.

Consumption Up 12 Per Cent.

"Early forecasts indicated a probable increase of 8 per cent in gasoline consumption [nationally] in 1941 over 1940, but in January and February a record breaking demand developed which ran approximately 12 per cent higher than in the corresponding period last year, indicating a probable increase in 1941 of 9 to 10 per cent."

Stocks of gasoline on April 5 totaled 99,112,000 barrels, including 6,527,000 barrels of aviation gasoline, Dawes said. He termed the accumulations "not excessive."

At the meeting four directors whose terms had expired were re-elected.

SOUTHERN COAL MINES OFFER TERMS OF WORK

But Union's Leader Fails to Reply.

New York, April 12 (AP).—The southern soft coal operators who bolted the Appalachian joint wage conference and set up a separate organization called on the United Mine Workers [CIO] today to start immediate negotiations for a wage contract and announced their terms for resuming work pending such an agreement. Their letter to John L. Lewis, UMW president, was delivered at 11 a. m., but Lewis left for Washington to spend Easter with his family.

At the same time, they declared their break from the eight state Appalachian conference, largest bargaining group of its kind in the world, was definite and, insofar as they were concerned, "for all eternity." Besides setting the wages and working conditions for more than 300,000 miners working a majority of the nation's bituminous coal mines, the conference has set the standard for all the outlying districts.

Group Employs 150,000.

In the southern group were operators from southern West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee—an area employing about 150,000 miners and producing about a third of the nation's annual soft coal tonnage of 450,000,000.

In their letter to Lewis, they proposed resumption of mining under extension of the old contract, except for the wage scale, until a new contract could be negotiated. The old contract expired April 1. As for wages, they proposed a raise of 60 cents a day and an equivalent boost for miners working on a tonnage basis.

The wage question caused the southern bolt. The union demanded elimination of the present differential between north and south to make the basic rate thruout the industry $7 a day, compared with the present rate of $6 in the north and $5.60 in the south. Northern operators agreed to this; the south rejected it.

Plan Opposed by Lewis.

L. T. Putman, who spoke for the southern group, said they had no objection to the union signing immediately with the north—a move that had been expected until Lewis indicated last night the union would not agree to such a partial settlement.

Putman said also that his group—set up as the Southern Coal Operators' Wage conference—was not withdrawing its request for action by the National Defense Mediation board. The new organization, Lewis was told, was opening an office in Washington where the mine chieftain could communicate with the southern operators at any time.

Coal men estimated today that supplies above ground in the United States were about sufficient to meet 28 days' normal industrial demands.

Angas Scores Again

(1) Since this advertisement appeared last Sunday, the market has fallen 5 points. (2) Note also the sharp fall since Digest 69, "Bear Market," was issued on Nov. 14, with Dow at 136.

TRADE SLUMP AHEAD
In Non-Armament Trades
COMING BARGAIN-COUNTER
For Stocks

The author regards the above 16-page Digest, No. 73, as a very special issue. (Price $2.00). Altho the market is already a few points down, the above Digest is in no wise out of date—indeed more timely.

TRADE . . . At present it is widely argued that so long as war expenditure continues most non-armament industries will also boom. Major Angas strongly disagrees. He forecasts a definite decline in non-armament trade and an attempt to let swollen inventories run off. He is alone in the wilderness in presenting this argument . . . but perhaps you ought to read it.

Inventories again are huge, as in 1937; and today, as in all inventory inflations, they are said to be "justified" because conditions are "different!" (There is always some new "excuse." But beware. History is likely to repeat itself most rudely.)

COMMODITIES . . . The current wave of gambling in commodities is condemned as economically ill-founded and highly dangerous.

COMMON STOCKS . . . Although common stocks are cheap on actualities Major Angas does not regard them as cheap ON PROSPECTS. And he does not mince words in saying WHY. Arguments are presented why the Dow may make new lows. But curious forces are already in operation which will eventually cause stocks to boom. (Read this Digest).

Economy—$13 Saved

Note that a REGULAR subscription costing $25 is a great economy. Last year nineteen Digests were issued (acual value $38) . . . thus regular subscribers saved $13. Digests are issued whenever market conditions warrant. Minimum, 15 per year.

One Year $25 ☐ DIGEST SUBSCRIPTION Half Year $15 ☐

RECORD . . When in the election-time boomlet Major Angas issued Digest 69, "Bear Market," with the Dow at 137, he was widely ridiculed. But who was right?—And remember that Major Angas has hit every important top and bottom since 1938. C413.

Don't be like the short-sighted crowd—who only read Angas forecasts AFTER they eventuate. Every investor should read Digest 73 AT ONCE.

3 BULLS EYES

1. It was Major Angas, who perhaps alone, of all investment conselors, advised complete liquidity before the 25-point crash of April, 1939, and the 32-point crash of 1940, and the recent 20-point fall.
2. He also hit the two panic bottoms of 1939 and 1940.

INCREASED MEAT COSTS TO REACH CONSUMERS SOON

Prices Already Are Far Above Year Ago.

Consumers may expect to pay some of the highest spring meat prices in recent years, stockyards interests said yesterday. They explained much of the increase would result from the government pork buying program, designed to stimulate hog production by assuring farmers higher prices.

Current meat bills, as measured by the live costs of animals at the stockyards, are above any other spring season in four years, and second highest since 1930. The three principal classes of meat animals—steers, hogs, and lambs—together averaged $10.15 a hundred pounds last week, compared with $8.30 a year ago, an increase of $1.85, or 22 per cent.

Price Changes Vary Widely.

Altho meat bills, as a whole, were estimated to be running between 20 and 25 per cent higher than a year ago, some meat cuts showed considerably more gain, altho a few showed declines. The various beef cuts last week were wholesaled from 10 to 53 per cent higher than in 1940, the cheapest cuts showing the largest percentage gain. Lamb meat ranged from 14 per cent lower to 9 per cent higher than a year ago. Pork was 12 to 57 per cent higher.

Live hog prices at Chicago last week registered the sharpest advance for any week since September, 1939, and the fastest April rise on record. The average for the six days rose 90 cents to $8.65, highest since July, 1938. The price showed a gain of $3.50, or 67 per cent, over a year ago.

Buying to Start Soon.

Government representatives said that federal buying of pork will commence immediately, and sufficient purchases will be made to warrant $9 hogs on the Chicago market.

Final prices for the various classes of hogs were 65 to 90 cents higher than on the day the new pork and hog program was announced. The various kinds of fresh pork in the same period rose 7 to 12 per cent.

The six day steer average last week, at $10.95 a hundred pounds, was up 15 cents. Most steers and yearlings closed steady to 25 cents higher. Heifers rose 25 to 50 cents, but cows declined 10 to 15 cents. Calves sold steady.

Slaughter lambs averaged $10.90, which was 5 cents above a week ago, altho final quotations were lower.

SAVINGS BONDS.

Three new series of savings bonds will be sold by the United States treasury starting May 1. They will replace the savings or "baby" bonds of which more than 5 billion dollars in maturity value have been sold since March 1, 1935. The last of the baby bonds, series D, will be issued this month.

The new issues comprise the following: Series E, the defense savings bonds, to mature at face value in 10 years, offered at a 25 per cent discount, and yield 2.9 per cent interest if held to maturity; series F to mature at face value in 12 years, offered at 26 per cent discount and yield 2.53 per cent if held to maturity, and series G [a departure from savings bond financing] offered at face value to bear 2½ per cent interest payable semiannually, and mature in 12 years.

The cash values of the savings bonds at different stages before maturity have been fixed by the treasury to discourage holders from cashing them. The redemption values of the old type baby bonds compared with those of the new series in percentages of $100 maturity value follow:

*Not redeemable in first half year.

The table of redemption values is an essential consideration to the investor contemplating the purchase of savings bonds. For the investor who may need his cash after a few years, the cash values are unfavorable. The savings bonds are useful mainly for long term savings.

In weighing the investment merits of savings bonds, the investor should consider these factors: The bonds are not transferable, cannot be cashed except at the United States treasury or its agencies, cannot be used as collateral for a loan, are now fully taxable, bear a low yield in the early years, and, except for the series G, bring no regular income.

The advantages of savings bonds for long term investment are the relatively high rate of interest if held to maturity, absence of price fluctuation, and high quality rating.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by BOB BECKER

Dog Kills Birds.

April 12, 1941.

ANOTHER stray dog has left his mark on the Wheaton farm. This canine prowler and killer entered a small game bird pen by digging under the wire fencing and then killed four pheasants—two Lady Amhersts and a pair of beautiful goldens.

This is not an unusual story as far as the farm records are concerned, because once or twice each year roving dogs that have turned into killers enter the farm and cause trouble of some kind—trouble that commonly ends with a killing of farm stock. There have been times when ewes and lambs have been killed by these raiders; on other occasions dogs have worried waterfowl and pheasants which were incubating eggs, and caused other damage.

Watch for Vagabonds.

The farm residents like dogs, and almost every family owns at least one house pet. But like hundreds of other farm residents they have to keep watch for the vagabond canines that either are homeless and are living by their raids on farm stock or have a home near by and are allowed to run all day instead of being kept at home.

We have noticed on the farm that a lone dog may attack sheep or kill poultry, but more often it's two or three dogs that make such raids. This is not surprising, because one dog that has become "a self-hunter" easily leads his canine pals into cross-country trips, and on these trips they soon learn the game of chasing poultry, sheep, and other stock. In many cases these attacks end in killings.

Dogs have no legal protection when they are not on their owners' property. If the dog which killed the farm pheasants had been seen [it did its work at night] the farm residents would have been legally permitted to shoot it. That is the only recourse for landowners who are faced with serious losses caused by stray dogs.

Too Much Spring Fever.

The mallard ducks on the farm are considerably ahead of other waterfowl on the place. In fact, the flockmaster was saying this week that they're too far ahead of the other birds or else a couple of mallard hens are suffering from too much spring fever. That's the only way he can explain the way the mallards have been dropping eggs into the shallow water at the edge of the pond instead of depositing them on dry land or in a new nest. The flockmaster hopes that these hens with the ultra modern ideas on egg laying will change their tactics. We have seen the fowl on the farm leave eggs in some unusual places, but never before has any aquatic bird dropped eggs in the pond like the mallards did this week.

The swans, noted for the big nests which they build each spring, are going to be moved to their own private pool where they will have considerable seclusion. They're so pugnacious during the nesting season, being always ready to sail into anybody that comes near them, that it's wise to give them a corner of dry land and a stretch of water to themselves.

fast-moving new Western mystery serial which will keep you guessing to the end

HERE'S THE WAY IT STARTS:

YELLOW JACKET'S postoffice was a rack of pigeon holes in the front corner of Badey's Emporium. Around 11 o'clock each morning after the mail stage from Sabinal got in, the loafers lounged on the dry-goods counter while old man Badey sorted out the mail.

This morning the procedure was no different from usual. In the drift of idle talk and low laughter from beyond the rack of pigeon holes, old Badey squinted through his bifocals at the topmost letter of a stack he held in his left hand, and with his right hand he deliberately placed it in its correct box. Fred Curtis, the clerk, was taking care of the trade beyond the postoffice.

Nobody saw old Badey when it happened. He had just read the address of a letter and had had his hand halfway to the General Delivery cubby hole when his hand paused. And then as the name he had read sank into his consciousness, he dropped the letter like he would have dropped a hot iron. Gingerly, he picked it up again and read: "Mr. Dave Coyle, General Delivery, Yellow Jacket, New Mexico Territory. Hold till Sept. 1, and return."

Old Badey's panic was immediate and complete. The first thing he did was natural enough. He poked his head out of the wicket and surveyed the loafers in the store. He knew them all, men, women and children, and still he was uneasy. The second thing he did was explainable; he looked at the feed mill calendar on the wall behind him, and it said Aug. 31. The third thing he did was pure instinct. He called up to the clerk, "Finish sortin' this mail, Fred," and left the store, taking the letter with him.

Across the wide and dusty street, wedged in between two wooden-awninged buildings, was the Sheriff's office, and old Badey made for it. He tramped into the small office to find Sheriff Harvey Beal, his feet cocked up on the roll-top desk, in conversation with his deputy, Ernie See.

Old Badey put the letter on the desk and said hoarsely, "Take a look, Harve."

Beal was a bland-faced heavyset man whose wide and innocent blue eyes were trusting an affable. He was also a slow-moving man, but now, because he read the excitement in old Badey's face, he moved with alacrity. He picked up the letter, read the address and came out of his chair like he'd been kicked out.

"Where'd you get this?" he demanded swiftly.

To find out what the letter meant, continue the exciting first chapter in tomorrow's Tribune.

MOTORS—TRAFFIC—HIGHWAYS

MOUNTAIN AIR, MOONLIGHT STOP A MIDNIGHT RUN

Lure Tribune Car Into Roadside Retreat.

BY HAL FOUST.

Grafton, W. Va., April 10.—[By Mail.]—The headlights of the Tribune road car searched both sides of the highway as we curved, soared, dipped, and curved, west bound in U. S. 50 thru the Allegheny mountains. The gasoline gauge was low. The beams picked up a pair of fuel pumps under a sign reading "Hill Top Tavern."

We stopped. There was no light in the place. It was 1:30 a. m. We were not sure how many more mountains were between us and the next gasoline station. Our horn blasted. A head appeared from a second story window and the voice said, "I'll be there in a minute."

Good Intentions Changed.

Since leaving Washington, D. C., shortly after dark, it had seemed a night for travel, not for rest. Treading the accelerator was an urge to be away from government bureaus, talking politicians, and war speculations. The wind thru the car windows was clean. Moonlight was peaceful on wooded hillsides and in valleys where frogs croaked from creeks.

We had left behind a panorama of reflected lights on the Potomac river, a reflection of the ever growing architectural monuments to government control of this and that. We had traveled the Lee-Jackson highway hallowed by history of former generations of Americans.

The road was bordered by weathered rock fences and vine entwined rail fences. Dogwood and magnolia were abloom. We had climbed into the altitudes of mixed evergreen and deciduous woods with floors of rhododendron. We had been happy to be traveling.

Ah, They're Soporific.

But with the momentum ended, while waiting for the gas attendant, the mountain air and the moonlight were soporific. As he filled the tank, we inquired about a room and bought one for the night.

It was a clean room, on the second floor, with hot and cold water in a wash basin and with a bathroom down the hallway. A marble topped lowboy and a red rocker looked genuinely old. The price was $1.50.

The bed was comfortable, but it was too close to the highway for a quiet night. There were minutes of complete silence foreign to city bred ears. Then from a distant valley would come a low hum, fading out periodically, but returning each time with slightly more volume. Soon a fast traveling automobile would swish and roar by the tavern to be heard thereafter as a reoccurring murmur in another valley.

Morning Comes too Soon.

Next we heard a familiar clink of a bell measuring gasoline from a pump below our window. Sun was shining into a window where we had seen moonlight only a moment before, it seemed. Distant ridges were of the blue that has named the mountains a hundred miles south of here. Another day had started. The Tribune road car was waiting for us to continue our travels.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Wide public acceptance of the new model automobile brought out by Nash Motors in the low priced field has brought Nash the largest sales in its 25 years history and established a new all time first quarter record, W. A. Blees, general sales manager, reports. During the first quarter, dealers delivered 26,193 new Nash cars to customers, he said, as compared with 13,070 in the first quarter of 1940. The new car is called the Ambassador 600. While it is getting record automobile production Nash is maintaining its preparedness program on schedule, he added.

The basic principle of fluid drive has been in use for years, so this development in automobiling is far from being a novelty, comments C. E. Bleicher, vice president and general sales manager of the De Soto division of the Chrysler corporation. He said the first development of this principle, known as hydro-kinetic power, was announced prior to the last world war by an eminent European scientist and engineer. It was further developed in 1929 by the Daimler corporation of Great Britain. Fluid drive makes gear shifting unnecessary.

If and When War Ends, Road Plans Will Aid Employment

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12 [By mail.] — A postwar depression, if and when world war No. 2 ends, may include a blessing for Chicago's congestion-harried motorists.

"Our program holds attractive prospects for Chicago and other cities planning superhighways," says H. S. Fairbanks, chief engineer of the federal road administration. "We hope to be ready to start construction on major traffic facilities as an unemployment relief measure as soon as world peace brings an end to millions of jobs in armament activities."

Dovetails with Illinois Plan.

"Could the federal plans be dovetailed with a proposal for toll superhighways now pending before the Illinois legislature?" he was asked.

"I'm quite sure this could be done," he replied. "I know of no reason why federal grants could not pay part of the construction cost of a toll project."

The federal road administration has a recommendation pending before the budgetary commission for congress to appropriate $12,000,000 at this session for planning highway projects for construction during an anticipated peacetime depression. The jobless would be assigned to improvements of lasting public benefit rather than to raking leaves and leaning on shovels, as WPA squandered millions in piddling.

Federal and State Funds.

The $12,000,000 would be matched 50-50 by state road funds for this preliminary work. It would be apportioned among the states on the same basis as regular federal aid appropriations are apportioned. On this basis the Illinois highway department would have $500,000 of federal money plus $500,000 of its own money for planning.

The appropriations for construction under this unemployment relief program would be enacted by congress after the aid to the British empire production is ended. It is believed here that these appropriations will have to be substantial to cushion an economic shock from a sudden halt in the government's spending of billions for armaments.

"Our surveys," Fairbanks said, "indicate that the most acute need for better roadways is in large cities. It is there that the accident toll is highest and the economic loss from delays is greatest. It is in the metropolitan areas that there will be the greatest need for unemployment relief.

Interregional Terminals.

"So urban centers will probably receive a large portion of this unemployment relief highway construction. The projects would be planned, in many instances, as terminals for interregional superhighways between large centers of population. The safe express rural roadways would be continued into the center or thru the large cities.

"The Cook county toll superhighway proposal," he continued, as if familiar with the plan, "might be combined with parking lots to be built and operated by the same authority. Parking is as much a problem as providing pavements for moving vehicles, and we are beginning to recognize that parking is just as much a governmental responsibility.

"One toll could pay for use of the express roads and for use of the parking lots. An annual fee might be charged so that a car with a metal tag or windshield sticker, as evidence that the fee had been paid, would not have to stop at toll gates.

Propose Off-Street Parking.

"Better off-street parking facilities are needed in all cities. Curb parking is much more expensive to society. It costs more to provide storage space for an automobile on the street than it does to provide storage space off the street."

The toll superhighway bill pending at Springfield would create a road building authority, headed by the Cook county highway superintendent. It would be empowered to sell $30,000,000 in bonds to pay for initial constructions. Tolls, probably at a rate of 10 cents for automobile trip, would be used to pay bond requirements. Revenue in excess of bond requirements would be used for construction of additional mileage.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

AGAINST COMPULSION INSURANCE.

East Chicago, Ind., March 28.—It's all as simple as that according to Mr. Paul Hugo Little, who addressed your column in a recent letter, merely pass a law requiring that the owner of each automobile licensed by the state secure public liability and property damage insurance. But evidently Mr. Little makes secondary his much wiser solution to the rising tide of automobile accidents, stringent examinations for driver's license applicants.

May I suggest to Mr. Little that together with more strict examining of driving license applicants, the most simple solution is constant and impartial enforcement of driving regulations as they now stand on the books of Illinois and every other state of the Union. Beyond that, permit me to point out the falseness of Mr. Little's Utopia.

In one state which passed such a compulsory automobile insurance law a number of sizable casualty insurance carriers were forced out of business within a few brief years because of the unprecedented number of claims. At the present time there are thousands of drivers in that state, licensed by the authorities, but such poor drivers that no insurance company wishes to carry their liability. As a result, all companies licensed to transact business in that state are forced to underwrite their proportionate share of these highly undesirable risks.

In further consequence [here let the shoe pinch slightly, Mr. Little] rates for public liability and property damage insurance have had to be appreciably increased to cover losses caused by these poor drivers. In other words, the prudent courteous drivers who were wise enough to carry insurance before any such ill-conceived legislation was enacted, those drivers now help to carry the load for the irresponsible, reckless, featherheads who have been state-licensed by lax examiners.

Of what value are the safety engineering and education of the National Conservation bureau and the National Safety council when such laws practically declare an open season for automobile hunting? Gentlemen of THE TRIBUNE staff and Mr. Little, please think twice before fostering such a foolhardy piece of legislation as a compulsory automobile insurance law. ROBERT M. MITCHELL.

HORN TOOTERS.

Chicago, March 26.—Much has been written about the automobile horn tooter, but I believe more is in order. For years I have wanted to express myself on this subject, but not until the article about Judge George Quilici appeared in THE TRIBUNE recently, did I decide to put my thoughts on paper.

Unless horns on cars are used to attract attention, they serve no real good, but can cause a lot of damage, by confusing the driver ahead of you, causing him to get in a hurry and perhaps do things he wouldn't ordinarily do. To honk the horn at a pedestrian may cause him to jump right into the path of the car.

The amber light on a stop and go signal is the neutral time between red and green to shift gears, and give the moving cars a chance to get stopped, the horn tooter thinks it is his cue to mow every one down. If they only knew they wouldn't honk at me, for if they do it just takes three times as long for me to get going. A good many drivers honk at me and when they speed around me and glance at me, as if to say, "You farmer, you, are you afraid to drive that car?" they don't know that when I want to go fast I take my wife out to the airport and we pilot a light plane up where there is plenty of room and 100 miles per hour is nothing.

I have been driving a car for 20 years without the slightest accident, never have scratched a fender, but just notice the fenders on the car of a horn tooter. A man is very brave under the protection of his car. Driving should be controled like flying. F. H. LOUDEN.

From Edison to Fluorescent

By JOHN A. MENAUGH

DEVELOPMENT of artificial lighting rightly comes under the subject of scientific progress. It is more, however, than a mere part of scientific progress. It is the key constantly employed in unlocking the doors to the chambers of science's mysteries.

This is quite obvious when one ponders the subject. Progress in science actually can be measured to a fair degree of accuracy by the steps in the development of artificial illumination. The closer man has approached the simulation of daylight the more marvelous have been his attainments in scientific fields in general.

The graphic history of lighting as revealed here in "The Tree of Light" should provide the reader with a quickly grasped understanding of how all lighting as produced by man has come from three fundamental sources—combustion, electrical discharge, and incandescence. In the first two cases we shall let the stories be told by the illustration itself, since the purpose of this article is to deal with incandescent lighting, the main source of artificial illumination today and the one that has been put to a greater and wider diversity of uses. (Continued on page eight.)

British Guiana—America's Southern Defense Post

Washington, D. C.

BRITISH GUIANA is to constitute the southernmost defensive outpost of the United States under the deal by which this country sent 50 World war destroyers to Britain as the option price of a chain of naval and air bases extending from Newfoundland to Britain's only territory on the South American continent.

British Guiana extends from 60 to 540 miles north of the equator on the northeast coast of South America. It is southeast of the West Indian Islands, where the United States is constructing five sets of army and navy defense outposts.

The colony has a coast line of 250 miles and extends inland to a depth of about 500 miles. It has a total area of 90,000 square miles, of which only 1 per cent is developed—the other 99 per cent is almost impenetrable jungle.

British Guiana is one of the few dark spots left in the world. The map shows that little of the country is known beyond its three principal rivers—the Demerara, the Berbice, and the Essequibo—and their branches.

The colony has a population of 335,000, of which nearly one-half are East Indian immigrants and their descendants. Blacks are the next most numerous element of the population, native Indians the third, and whites but a small group. Most of the whites are of Portuguese descent—the Briton is rarer here than in other British colonies in the Americas.

In the jungle country a black tribe—the descendants of runaway slaves—are more fierce than the native Indians. The black tribesmen levy tribute on all who enter their domain—prospector or government official.

Most of the population is gathered on the alluvial flats on the Atlantic coast. This area was first settled by the Dutch, who created for it a system of canals and sea defenses patterned after those in Holland.

This alluvial soil is highly rich, particularly in nitrogenous matter and phosphates, and therefore extremely fertile. The interior of the colony consists of swampy grass plains, called savannahs; sand hills covered with dense jungle forests, known locally as bush country, and the mountain range far inland. In ages past the soil which forms the alluvial plain was washed from the sides of these mountains over the savannahs and sand hills to the coast.

The bush country is occupied by wild life. Here and there a few Indians gather in villages. Occasionally a woodcutter, gold prospector, diamond washer, or charcoal burner builds a camp in the forest. Many never come out.

In the interior gold, diamonds, and bauxite are found in commercial quantities. The deposits of the aluminum-bearing ore are considered the best in the world. The deposits are being worked by a Canadian affiliate of the Aluminum Corporation of America at Mackenzie, a company town 60 miles up the Demerara river from Georgetown, the colony capital.

Bauxite is the number one military secret of the colonies because of the important part aluminum plays in airplane construction. Freighters make their way up the river to the company town to be loaded with the ore and head for Mobile or Norfolk in the United States or Canadian ports where the ore can be reduced.

A large sandbar off Georgetown prevents the freighters from taking on more than a half cargo of the ore. To offset the effect of this obstacle to navigation a reduction plant is now being built at the bauxite community.

An effort was made to deepen the river channel by dredging, but this only succeeded in increasing the hazard to navigation because of the alluvial character of the coastal plain. It was found that dredging raised the height of the bar rather than lowered it.

Altho gold is produced in some quantity, its production is not as profitable as might be expected, because of the difficulties encountered in working the jungle. Dredges which cost $150,000 must be abandoned when a claim is worked out. It has been found to be cheaper to purchase a new dredge in Britain and have it shipped to a new area than to dismantle an old dredge and set it up 10 miles from its original site.

More money has been lost than made in gold, I was told during an 11-day visit to British Guiana on an inspection tour of the defense bases. The second day of my arrival a prospector sent me a letter asking me to stake him for the working of a rich jungle lode which would make us both independently wealthy.

Even had he made good his promise, had he been successful in his persuasion, the gold would have done me little good. Colonial laws forbid one to take out more than $120.

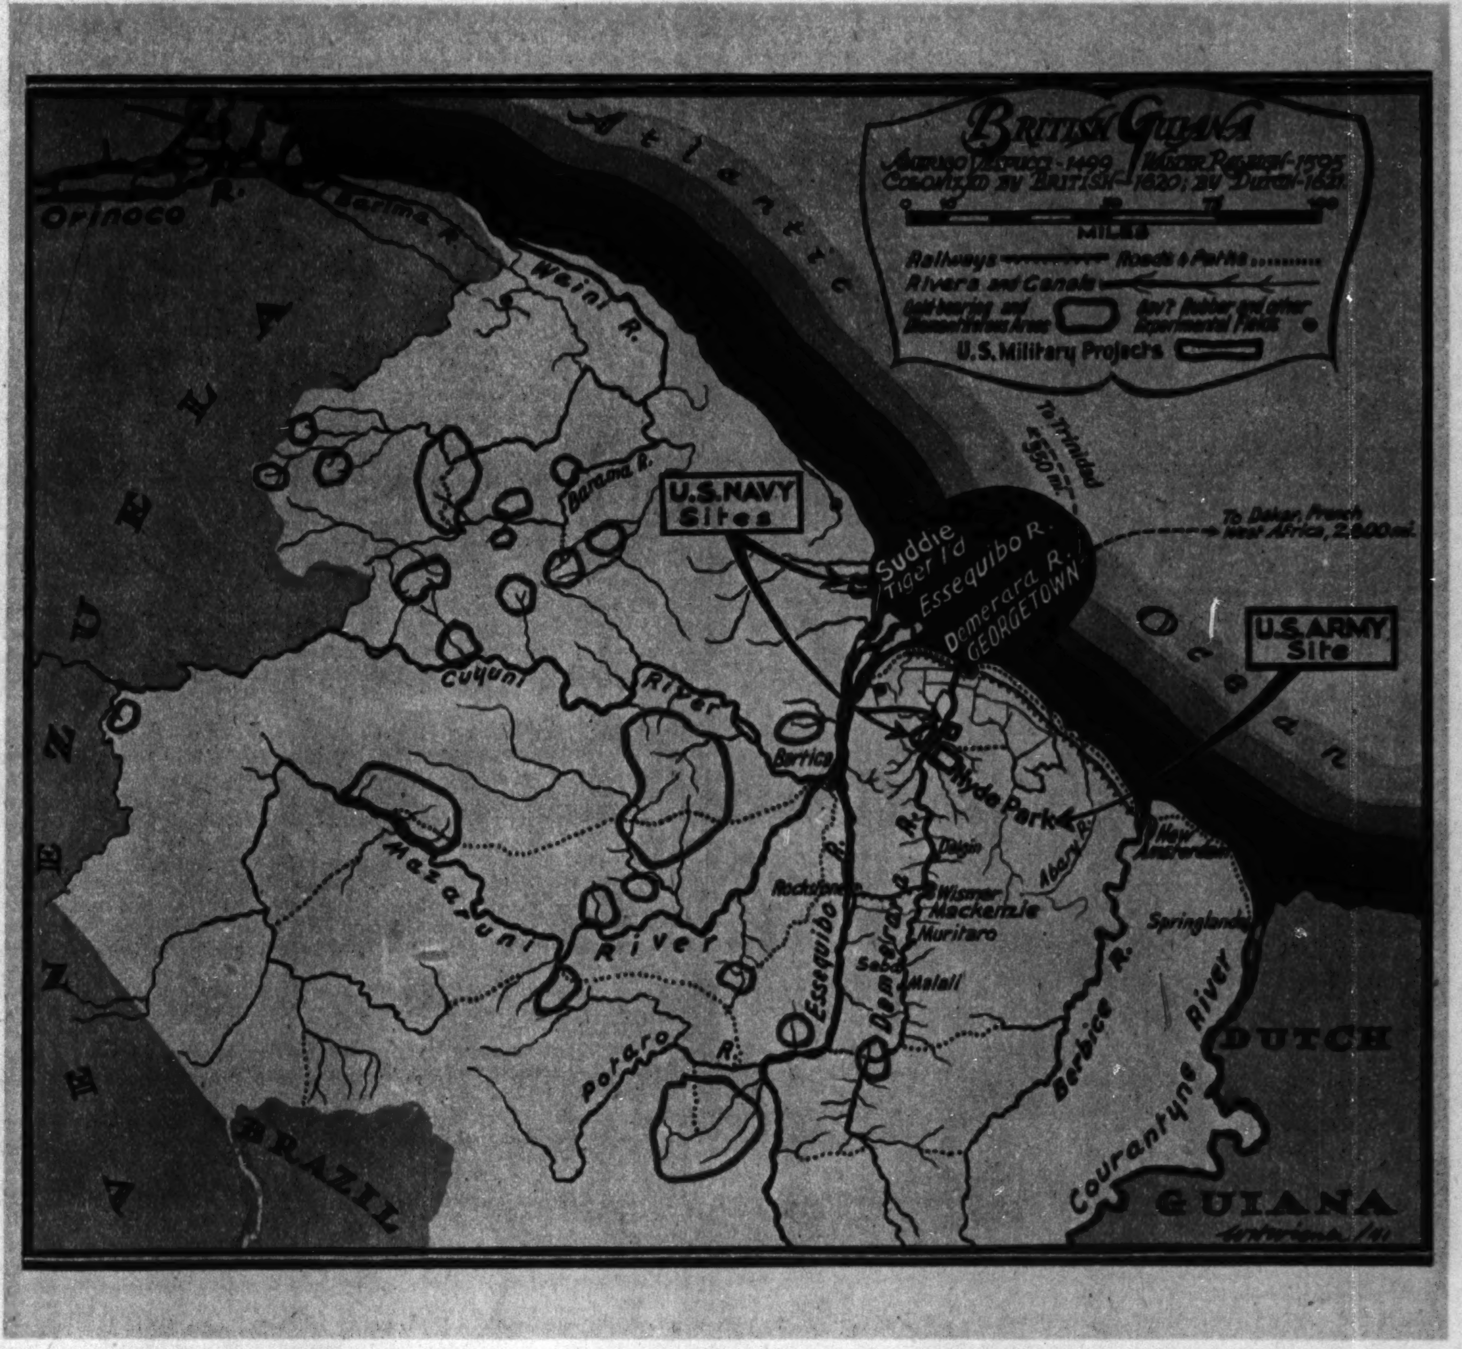
It was gold that attracted the first white man to Guiana in the 16th century in quest of the mythical golden kingdom of El Dorado. This myth, which attracted no less a figure than Sir Walter Raleigh, owed its origin to the lustral rite of Chief Guatabita of the Guiana area. First to sight the coast, in 1499, was Amerigo Vespucci, after whom the Americas are named.

On festive occasions this chieftain anointed himself with a sticky substance, rolled himself in gold dust, and plunged from a ceremonial raft into a lake in his domain of Chibcha. Word of mouth communication of that day transformed the golden man into a golden kingdom.

Raleigh made his first attempt to find the golden kingdom in 1595 after his unsuccessful attempts to colonize Virginia. He was no more successful in the new quest, but he returned for a final attempt in 1617-'18. At that time Elizabeth, whose favor he had won at the expense of his cloak, was dead and choleric James I. sat on the throne of Britain.

This expedition cost Sir Walter his head. While he was at Trinidad 400 English under his lieutenant, Lawrence Keymis, attacked the Spanish town of Son Thome on the Orinoco river, committing a number of atrocities. Spain and England were at peace. Raleigh's enemies, working thru Count Gondomar, induced James to send the explorer to the scaffold on which he died Oct. 29, 1618.

Colonization began in 1620 by the British and in 1621 by the Dutch. The French were also attracted to the area. The portion now known as British Guiana changed hands several times, finally becoming British in 1814 when the Dutch and French Guianas were also established by treaty.



In addition to gold, bauxite, and diamonds the colony produces cane sugar, rum, molasses, and many kinds of timber, notably greenheart, which is heavier than water. Surveys since the outbreak of the war have established the presence of oil and other minerals, but no effort has been made to work for these raw materials.

The capital of the colony, Georgetown, is a city of 65,000 inhabitants. It was named after George III. on its founding in 1781. Its houses are built on stilts to keep out the damp and are of so flimsy a construction that a sneeze in a bedroom on the third floor makes the silverware rattle in the dining room on the first floor.

Drainage trenches are bright with the vivid Victoria Regina lilies and frogs, whose croaking, along with the crowing of roosters and barking of packs of dogs, makes a bedlam of what guidebooks call the still tropical nights. For some reason or other tropical roosters crow 24 hours a day and not at dawn, as do well behaved barnyard lords at home.

Georgetown's greatest problem is its water supply. This at present consists of cisterns of rainwater. In periods of drouth these run low and water shortage becomes a critical problem. The only bath facilities are gravity showers of rainwater. Hot water for bathing is unknown. Lack of minerals in the water is a serious threat to health.

The climate is pleasant, altho the city is within 300 miles of the equator. An almost constant offsea breeze, known locally as "the doctor," is a boon to comfort and health.

British Guiana is strategically important to the United States because it offers this country a foothold on the northeastern coast of South America. The colony is half way between the Panama canal and Natal, the nearest point to the African coast on the South American continent. This city would be a logical point of attack for an invader.

Georgetown is less than three hours by air from Port-of-Spain, which is an important air center on North and South American and European flying routes.

The colony does not afford ideal sites for air and naval bases. The alluvial plain is too low for safe situation of airfields or seaplane ramps. Neither the coast nor the river harbors afford facilities for establishment of naval bases.

The American army and navy are therefore merely developing auxiliary air bases in the colony which will be stepping stones between major bases at Trinidad and bases to the south which may be built jointly with Brazil.

The army has selected a site on the right bank of the Demerara river 27 miles upstream at the village of Hyde Park, selected, as nearly as this correspondent could determine, as a sentimental gesture to the commander in chief, Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose family home is at another and infinitely superior Hyde Park in New York state.

This tract, some 400 yards wide, is to extend back from the river a matter of two or three miles. First plans called for 2,500-foot airplane runways, but these have been extended up to 5,000 feet to accommodate the largest of the American bombers and will undoubtedly be extended again to about 7,500 feet to permit almost simultaneous landing of a fleet of bombers or patrol vessels.

The navy has a somewhat similar site at Suddie, on the left bank of the Essequibo, which is nearer the sea, but is condemned as impractical by almost all air experts. At the time this correspondent was in the colony several parties of naval men were scouting the Demerara river in the vicinity of the army site for a new naval location.

This territory, which is in the jungle, has almost no value, and sites can be had practically for the asking. It is believed that the crown owns much of this land, but the question of title is not important, because the area has but little value.

A visit to the army base site on the Demerara river is a thumbnail version of Stanley's search for Livingstone in darkest Africa. I spent a day and a night at the site in my inspection of the chain of Caribbean bases and found that life in the jungle is without a dull moment.

I set out early one morning with Maj. Robert Kinzie McDonough, a descendant of John Kinzie, Chicago's pioneer settler. No better companion could be found for such a journey than this story-telling grandson of an army engineer, who is in charge of army construction at this site.

We rode in the front seat of the only left-hand drive truck in the colony, with Carl Buckley at the wheel. Bouncing in the back were James Darling, chief civilian engineer of the project; Raymond Siegert, a surveyor, who once worked for the Chicago sanitary district, and Francis Schultz, another civilian engineer, fresh from the Fort Peck dam.

It took an hour and a half to negotiate 23 miles of road which became narrower and rougher as we went deeper into the country. Where the road gave up we disembarked and made for the river, where a launch waited. In another hour the launch chugged four miles up against the tide to the landing stage of the grocery of Ng-a-Kein, the Celestial merchant of Hyde Park, known locally as Mr. Manassas, but I could not determine why.

A winding and treacherous path led to the jungle and base site a few hundred feet away. The last thing I saw before I plunged into the tunnel cut thru the jungle foliage as a surveying line was a frigate bird, which resembles the ravens that feed near the site of the scaffold where many a head dropped in the Tower of London. I did not regard this as an auspicious omen.

Within a few minutes after entry I thought the glimpse of the bird was a prophecy of evil. One of the accompanying natives flicked his machete at what I thought was a bit of vine and a decapitated eight-foot snake writhed in our path.

"Poisonous?" I gasped, aware that the deadly bushmaster, fer de lance, and coral snake are numerous in the bush country.

The native nodded his head emphatically in the affirmative. I dropped back. By this time I was drenched with sweat and condensed moisture, as were the other members of the party. The tunneled path, cut to the outermost surveying lines, was like a steam bath. By the time we reached the outer lines water was dripping from my soaked trousers and shirt. I could feel a puddle in my boots.

Near the outermost surveying line the machete of another native severed a small snake not unlike our American garter snake. Again a native gave solemn assurance that the creature was deadly. I felt less ill at ease over snakes, because the second was obviously harmless. Later I learned that the native regards all snakes as deadly, which is not a bad rule when one is in doubt.

I was amazed to find that the sand in the hill we had climbed was not unlike that of the sand dunes at Miller, Ind., but had been brought to this luxuriant growth by centuries of effort by nature.

We were quite an impressive train as we entered the last tunneled avenue into the jungle. Machete carriers were in the van, and the rear was brought up by natives carrying plane tables and an alidade. Our lunches, wrapped in wicker baskets, were balanced on the heads of the rearguard.

"Balanced rations," Siegert quipped as we entered the deeper gloom of the newly cut line.

Looking at Hollywood with JOHN CHAPMAN

Hayden Authentic Member of Adventurers' Group

Hollywood.

THE movies are wide open for somebody who's big and young and handsome to make a killing, and each studio is bringing along several carefully chosen candidates who may in time topple some of our screen veterans from their positions among the box office big ten. Paramount, for instance, has in its leading man contingent one Stirling Hayden, who looks like the answer to a maiden's prayer and who quite definitely is the answer to a press agent's invocation. For Stirling belongs in the small Hollywood company of he-man adventurers.

And it is a small company. Many film notables, from C. B. De Mille to Donald Crisp and Eddie Albert, have become yachtsmen after they have made their way in the movies; others, like Clark Gable and Gary Cooper, have become huntsmen. But few have been world vagabonds or have had glamorous prescreen backgrounds.

One of these is Yachtsman George Brent, who had a life of thrills and danger as an Irish rebel—and foremost among them is Errol Flynn, who was a veritable sailor of fortune. He has sailed the world, pearl fished in Tahiti, prospected in New Guinea.

"The difference between Flynn and me," says Stirling Hayden, "is that he likes to sail somewhere and have a good time when he gets there—and I just like to sail, and don't care where I'm going."

Flynn, 32, is the son of an Irish college professor; Hayden, 25, is the son of a New York newspaper advertising executive, who died when Stirling was 9. Hayden is blond, blue eyed, stands 6 feet 5, weighs 190 pounds—all big bones and well trained muscle. He had never faced a camera before Ned Griffith signed him to play the "other man" in "Virginia," and has had no stage experience.

His next assignment is with Dorothy Lamour in "Dildo Cay," and while waiting for it he has been taking voice and drama coaching, which is all right, but he has more fun working out in the Paramount gym.

He tried to get a job as technical adviser on De Mille's seagoing epic, "Reap the Wild Wind," but it was no soap. C. B. is Hollywood's No. 1 yachtsman, and his 106 foot Seaward is the colony's biggest ship.

Hayden, who, among other things, is a real Gloucester fisherman, is mildly amazed at having become a screen personality. The studio, rushing him into a quick buildup, shipped him off on a personal appearance tour in connection with "Virginia." He made the fish wharves of Boston and was surprised when old salts, of whom he had once been one, looked impressedly at him and asked for autographs. And he felt good and foolish when he found that some girl had written with lipstick on his borrowed car her phone number and the message, "I love you." He was positively dazed by the time the Boston date wound up with his judging a waltz contest on Beacon hill.

But the movie business is all right, just the same; he hopes it will make him enough money so he can own a schooner. He almost owned one once, but when a partner left him, he couldn't carry the financial load and lost it. He went to New York in a vain attempt to raise $5,000, and this was how he met Producer-Director Griffith and got into the movies.

Stirling went sea-daffy when he was 15, so he never got headed toward any normal career his good, middle class upbringing warranted. He was born in Montclair, N. J., Dutch on his mother's side, English on his father's. His father's name was George Walter, and when his mother remarried, Stirling adopted his stepfather's name of Hayden. After Walter's death, Stirling and his mother lived in a dozen cities in the east, mostly New England.

The first sailing came during summers spent at Boothbay Harbor, Me. School was endured at Wassookeag, in Dexter, Me. ("Twenty-four students and 28 automobiles," says Stirling), and at the Browne & Nichols school, Cambridge, Mass. Here young Hayden captained the crew and the wrestling team. Family financial difficulties put an end to his education and he went to sea as a working sailor.

His first job was aboard the schooner Puritan, bound from New London, Conn., to Balboa Beach, Cal. After the vessel was delivered Stirling rode freight trains back home, took a job selling haberdashery in the Gloucester branch of a Boston department store. That winter, and for a year thereafter, Hayden was with a fishing crew off the Grand Banks.

Then he went into business for himself, buying a little sloop for $150—on time—and taking fishing parties out. Next came another delivery job—to help take a small schooner from Boston to Florida. This landed him in the millionaires' playground with a few cents in his pocket, so he spent two weeks, at $4 a week, washing dishes in a Miami night club, the Pirates' Den. A new ship job turned up—fireman on the steamer Florida, plying between Miami and Havana.

During this hitch Stirling got his master's papers, warranting him to command any sailing vessel up to 700 tons. At the time he got them he was the youngest lad ever to qualify as a skipper—and with them he obtained his first command. As master of the Chiva he traded between Turk's Island, Grand Cayman, Port au Prince, and other West Indies spots.

Then, as had Flynn, he got the chance to cruise the world—as mate of the Yankee. The crew consisted of college lads, who knew nothing about sailing and who had paid $3,000 apiece to see the world and learn.

Next—and this would be three years ago—Hayden signed as navigator aboard the Gertrude L. Thebaud for her race against the Nova Scotiaman, Bluenose, in the international fisherman's race. A Boston reporter covering this story did a piece about Stirling and said he ought to be in the movies. Hayden thought he'd never live this one down. For months after the article appeared in Boston and Gloucester, Stirling couldn't touch port without some sailor taunting, "Yoo, hoo, you ought to be in the movies!"

He finally escaped as skipper of a square rigger, Florence Robinson, and traded in Tahiti. Two years ago he became the captain of a millionaire's cutter, and right after that came the chance he long had dreamed of—to own his own ship. With a partner he bought Aldebaran, a schooner which once had belonged to Kaiser Bill, and planned a passenger service between Hawaii and Tahiti. This run is still his ideal for money-making and fine sailing.

The war ended the Hawaii-Tahiti project, so Hayden turned back to Boston from Panama. Off Hatteras a storm damaged his schooner and he had to make port at Charleston. He had no money and his partner quit. Borrowing enough to pay off the crew, he left his ship and went to New York to try to borrow the five grand needed to clinch the purchase. Unable to find any investors and really on the rocks, Stirling remembered the "you ought to be in the movies" line.

He got in touch with the Boston reporter who had authored it, made a contact thru him with an agent, sent photographs. The agent showed the portraits to Ned Griffith, and Griffith, who was eastbound on a casting and location jaunt for "Virginia," looked up the sailorman in New York and signed him on.

Stirling Hayden is fancy-free in that small and fortunate group of Hollywood bachelors, and nobody has been able to pin a girl on him. He has been to night clubs twice—both times doing publicity duty as escort of Madeleine Carroll, who played the girl in "Virginia." He lives with his mother, Frances Hayden, in a small house in Laurel canyon and also has a beach camp at Redondo.

When he has money enough, which should be soon, he'll buy a boat he can live on off San Pedro. I'd guess his present salary to be $200 a week, with more coming at stated option times, and with a cash bonus in lieu of a contract change at the end of each picture. Weekends, being boatless, he sails with more fortunate friends—Warwick Tompkins and Ralph Millikan, son of the noted Cal Tech scientist.

Hayden's best friend is probably William Holden, another of Paramount's upcomers, who plays the lugubrious second male lead in "I Wanted Wings." For a long time Holden was one of the eligible bachelors, but now he and the Warners' brunette, Brenda Marshall, are bespoken. Bill, too, likes yachting, but is an amateur at it. He likes water skiing, badminton, guns, and music, and hates dancing.

Another member of Hollywood's small company of gentleman adventurers is Metro's John Carroll. He was a deep sea diver, a steeplejack, a ship's cook, a seat-of-the-pants flyer, and leader of an orchestra.

Warners' famous one-eyed director, Raoul Walsh, was in the theater from the start of his career, but had an exciting soldier of fortune interlude with Pancho Villa in Mexico.

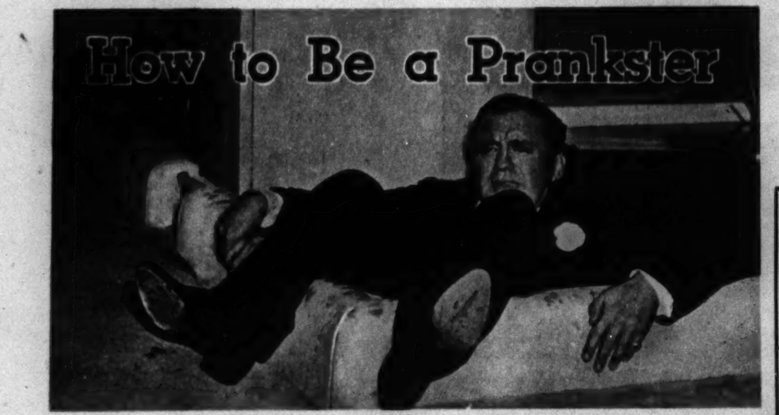
How to Be a Prankster



Jack Benny is the victim of a film prankster.

THE PRACTICE of playing pranks on one's friends is quite ancient, but in recent years the scientific student minds of our universities have attacked the problem seriously. At the University of Chicago, for instance, the masters of shenanigans have listed the modern streamlined gags that have proved most effective by experiment. Here they are:

1. The dresser trick: Remove all drawers and turn dresser upside down. Replace the drawers and turn dresser right side up. The drawers are now inverted, and when the victim pulls them open everything will fall to the floor.

2. Milk bottles: A row of milk bottles filled with water are leaned against the outside of a door opening in. When the victim opens the door the bottles topple inside. Effective on any one except professors wearing rubbers.

3. Pie bed: The lower sheet is folded so that when the victim slips into bed he or she can go only half way down the bed.

4. Jello or grapenuts: Everything in the room which can be considered a receptacle is filled with lemon jello or grapenuts—shoes, pipes, ash trays, bowls, etc. Expensive but very effective.

5. Alarm clocks: Several alarm clocks are hidden about the room, set to go off at various intervals during the night.

6. Egg in hat: A bet is made with victim that he can't hold an egg with his fingers by putting them thru the crack of a door on the hinge side. When the egg is in position the victim's hat is placed on the floor directly beneath the egg and the victim is left thus.

7. Water glasses: Wager victim cannot hold two glasses filled with water (or ink!) on back of hands, with each hand flat on desk. When glasses are in position, whisper a courteous good-by.

8. Funnel: For a girl with skirt. Funnel is placed in victim's skirt. Bet is made that she can't place a dime on the forehead, then lower head so that dime falls into the funnel. As soon as her head is tilted back to hold the dime some one produces a glass of water and pours contents down the funnel.

9. Upside down glass of water: A piece of cardboard is placed over a glass of water. The glass is inverted and placed upside down on desk. When the victim picks up the glass the contents run over desk.

10. Shoe polish: Black shoe polish is rubbed on telephone receiver. The victim gets a black ring around his ear.

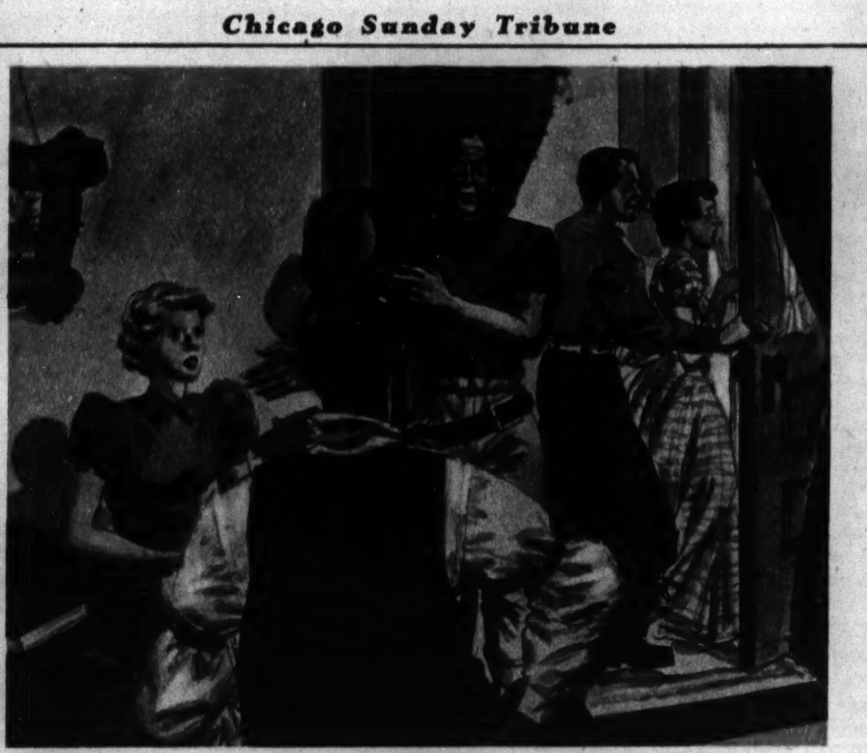
WHISPERING SMITH

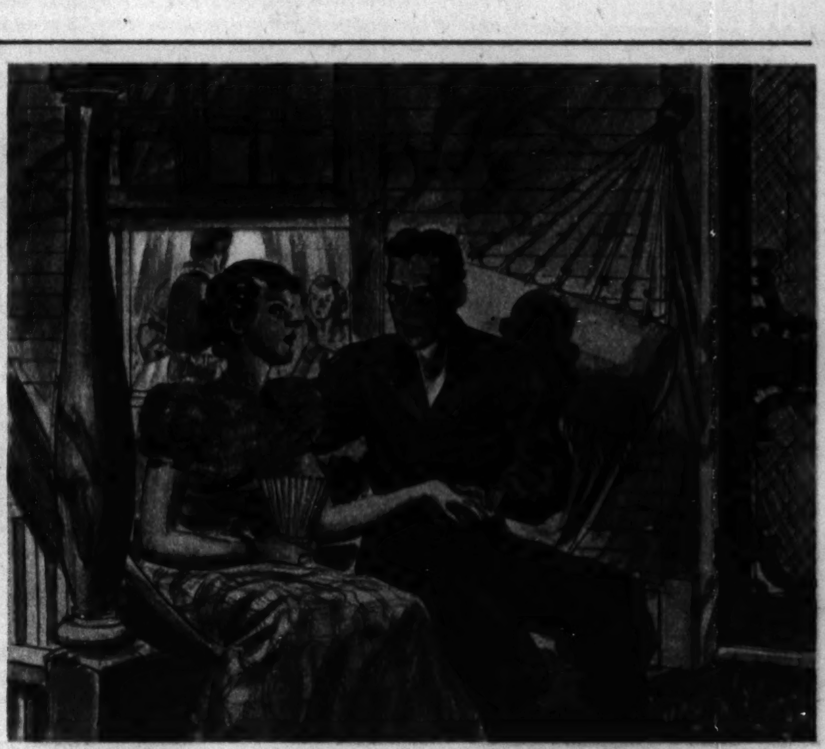
A picture drama of railroading in the west, based on the novel by Frank Spearman.

ILLUSTRATED BY AUSTIN JEWELL

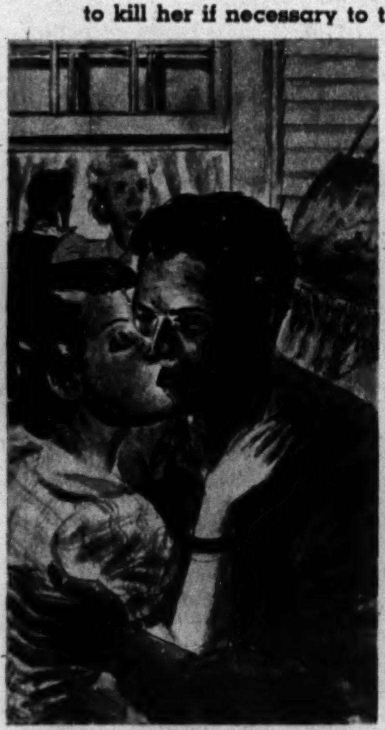
WHAT HAPPENED LAST WEEK In an effort to offset the revengeful plans of Murray Sinclair, discharged railroad employe, Whispering Smith, friend of the road, and George McCloud, division boss, blast a dam to relieve flood pressure on the ranch of Dicksie and Lance Dunning. This act ruins Sinclair's ranch. Murray retaliates by inviting his estranged wife, Marion, to visit him. He plans to kill her if necessary to thwart Smith, who is fond of her.



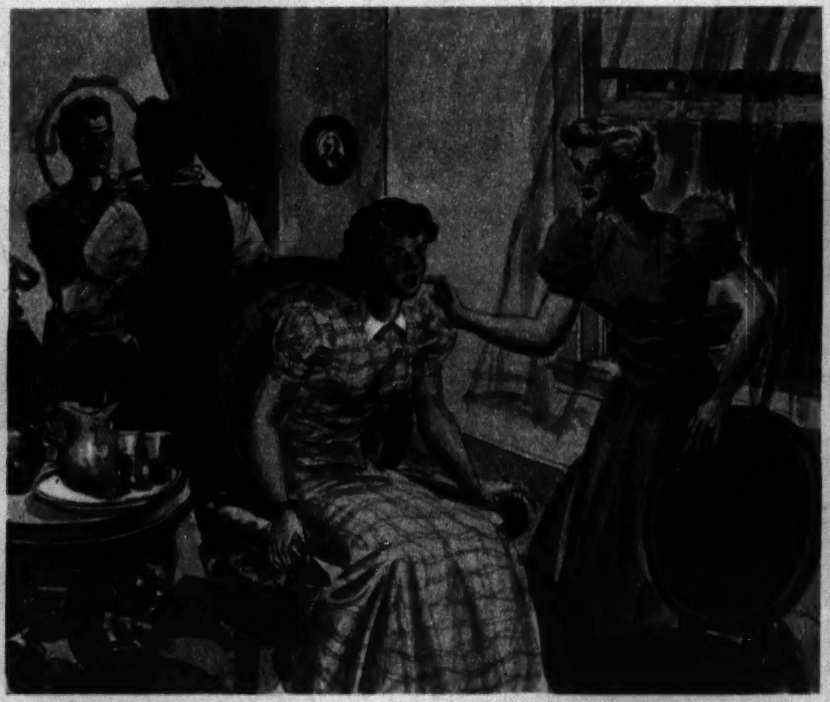
1 Coached by Sinclair as to what to say, the messenger asks Marion to come to Sinclair's ranch. "Us boys think you could straighten Murray out, ma'am." Whispering Smith nods agreement. At that moment Dicksie and McCloud leave the room.



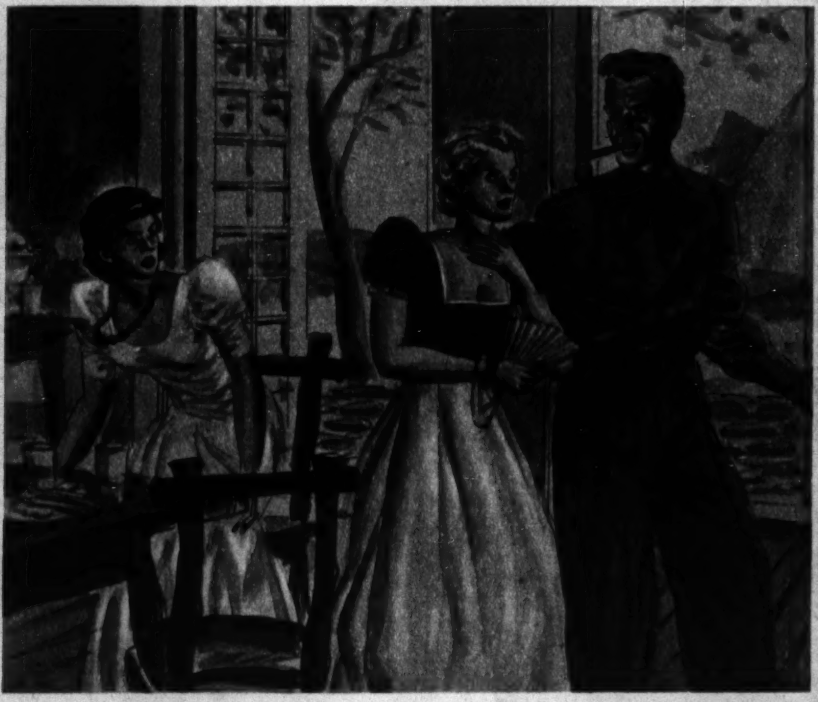
2 On the porch, when Dicksie starts to talk about Marion, McCloud interrupts: "Dicksie, there is something more important to be said. You know that I have cared for you for a long time. Will you do me the honor of being my wife?"



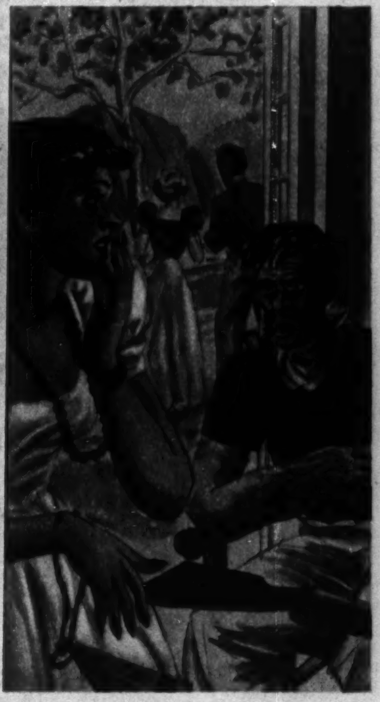
3 When Marion comes out to tell Dicksie her plan to see Sinclair she finds Dicksie wearing a ring.



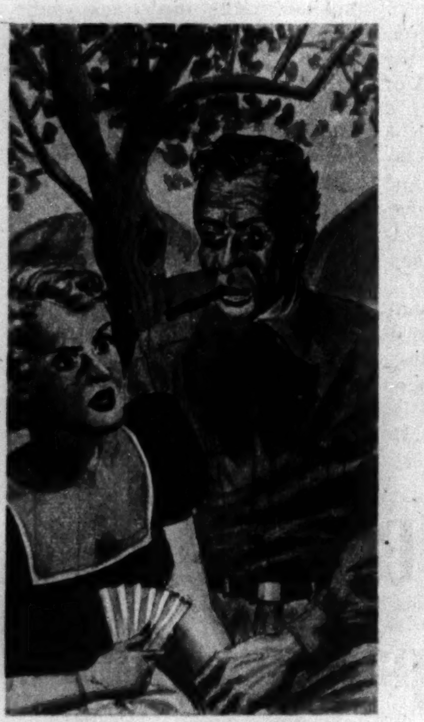
4 "Congratulations, George," smiles Whispering Smith. "She's a fine girl. And he's a fine man, Dicksie." Marion is almost as thrilled as Dicksie, but in a moment she asks the girl to accompany her to Sinclair's ranch. Dicksie agrees.



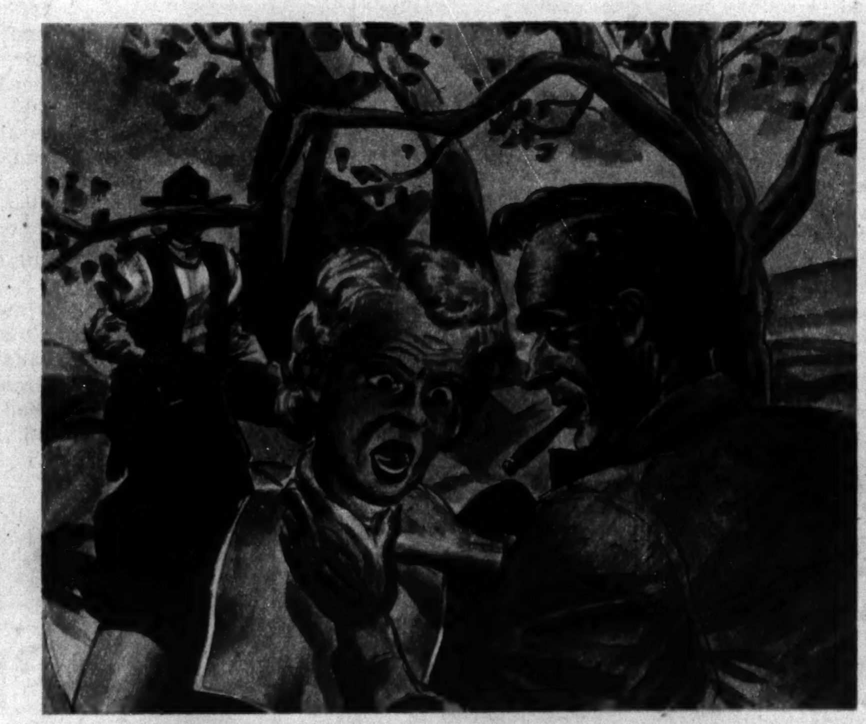
5 Several days later the two women make the trip. They are greeted by Sinclair, who has rebuilt his ranch and spruced himself up. Conversation is the usual ranch talk, and finally Murray asks Marion for a few words alone. She goes outside with him.



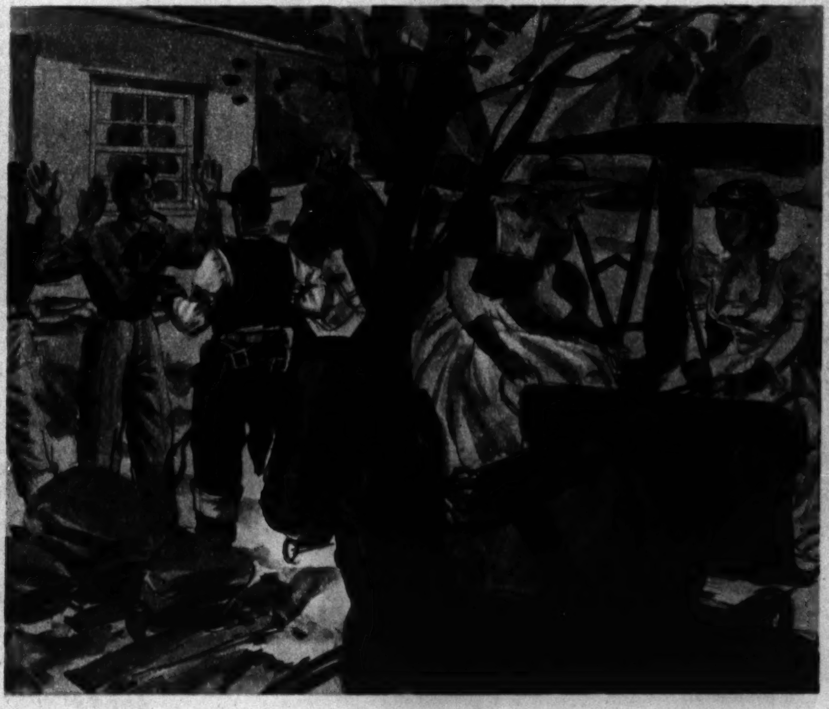
6 Nervous as an hour passes without word from Marion, Dicksie tries to go out, but is halted by a guard.



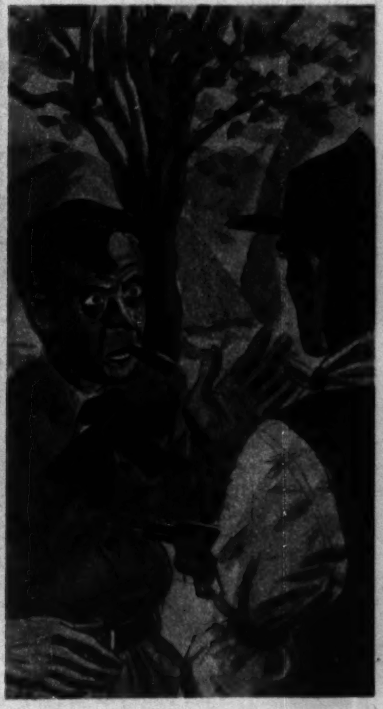
7 Meanwhile, outside, Marion's final words enrage Sinclair: "No, Murray, I'll never come back to you."



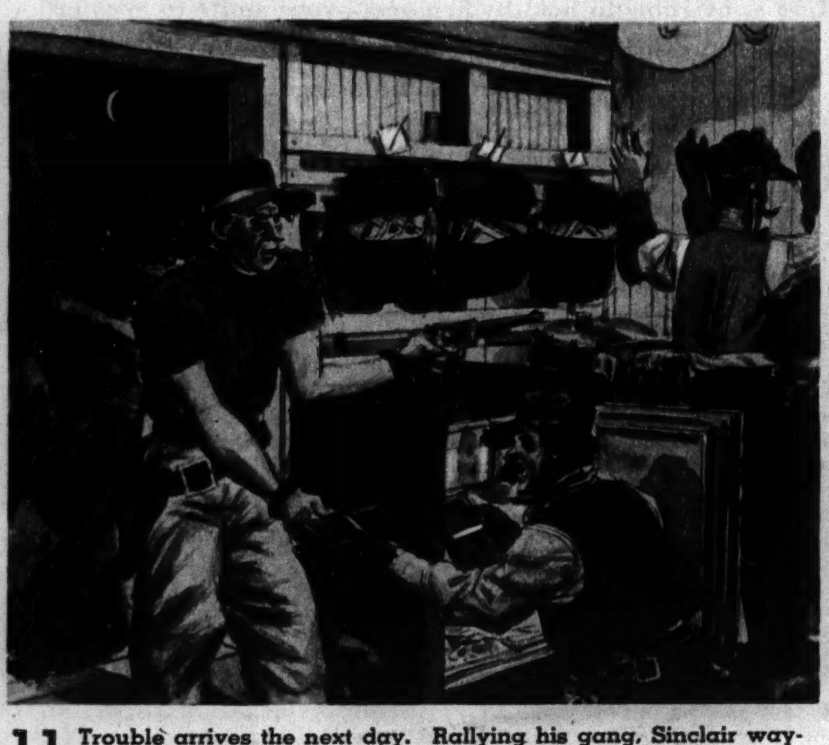
8 Murray snarls his reply: "I'll never let Whispering Smith have you, Marion. I'll kill you first." His hands clutch her throat, only to relax suddenly in response to Whispering Smith's quiet: "That's enough, Murray. Reach high!"



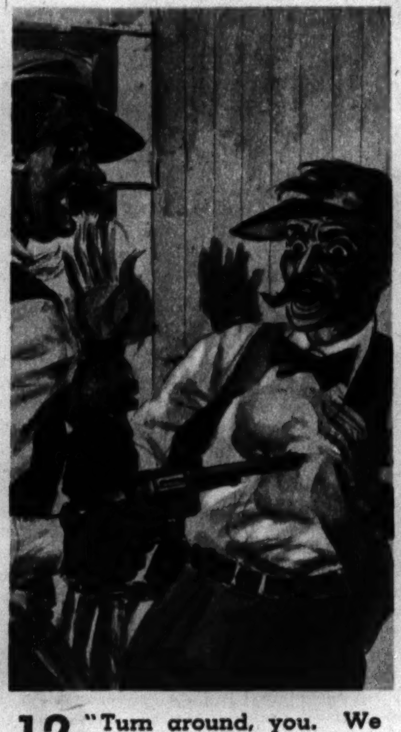
9 Dicksie, seeing Smith's timely arrival, surprises the guard, disarms him, and rushes to the yard. Covering Sinclair and the guard, Smith orders the girls to drive home at once. Raging, Sinclair shouts a new threat.



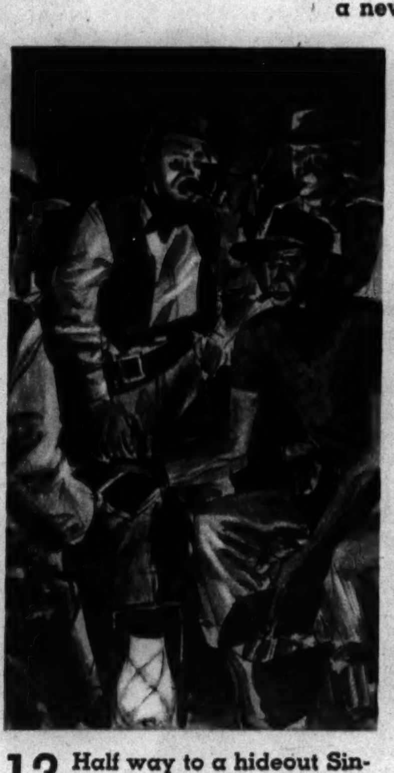
10 "You've always wrecked my life, Smith, but I'm not thru! There is going to be plenty of trouble."



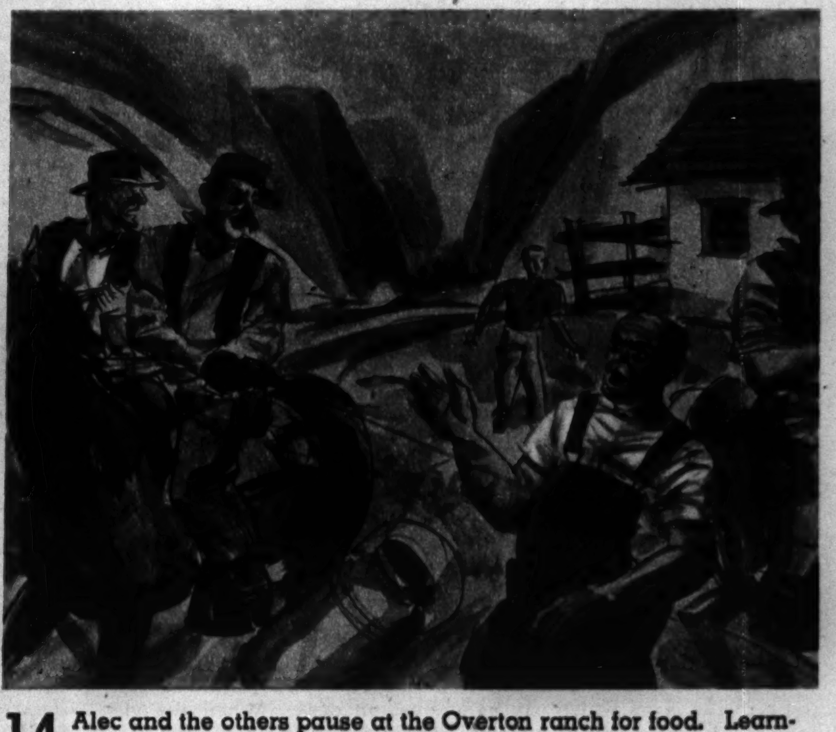
11 Trouble arrives the next day. Rallying his gang, Sinclair waylays a train bearing a currency shipment. "Hurry, Alec," he says to his henchman rifling the safe. Sinclair stuffs the money into his saddlebags and mounts. Alec turns to the clerk.



12 "Turn around, you. We don't want any witnesses." Before the man can speak Alec shoots him in cold blood.



13 Half way to a hideout Sinclair orders a division of the loot. "I'll go to the ranch; you boys hide."



14 Alec and the others pause at the Overton ranch for food. Learning that Smith, McCloud, and Dicksie have been there, Alec takes pitiless action. Without warning he kills Overton, just as Smith and the others return ready for a real showdown. (Continued next Sunday.)

Green Garlands for Easter Lamb

Mint Leaves and Minted Apples Add Flavor

By MARY MEADE

DECK THE Easter roast of lamb with a garland of mint leaves and green minted apples. This festive garb will give the meal a spring flavor even if nothing else in the menu does.

Choose tart apples of medium size. Peel and core them. Make a sirup by cooking 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water together for five minutes. Tint with green food coloring, using it sparingly. Light green is appetizing, but an overdose of color will make the apples look like Christmas. Flavor the sirup with a few drops of oil of peppermint. Simmer the apples in the sirup until tender but not soft. This amount of sirup is sufficient for six apples.

Roast lamb at 300 degrees, uncovered, at 40 minutes to the pound for a boned, rolled cut. Leg of lamb or another cut with the bone left in should be roasted about 30 minutes to the pound.

If you've bought a cut for stuffing, the cushion shoulder, for example, you may wish to try this springlike stuffing:

PINEAPPLE STUFFING FOR LAMB

3 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups soft bread crumbs
Salt, pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 No. 2 can drained crushed pineapple

Sauté onion in melted butter until tender. Add crumbs and brown lightly. Add salt and pepper to taste, parsley, and pineapple. Season meat inside and out with salt and pepper, stuff, and sew or skewer edges together.

• • •

If you've left your Easter dessert until the last minute here's a good suggestion—an orange floating island pudding, juicy with orange slices, fluffy with eggs. This is a Florida version of an old favorite.

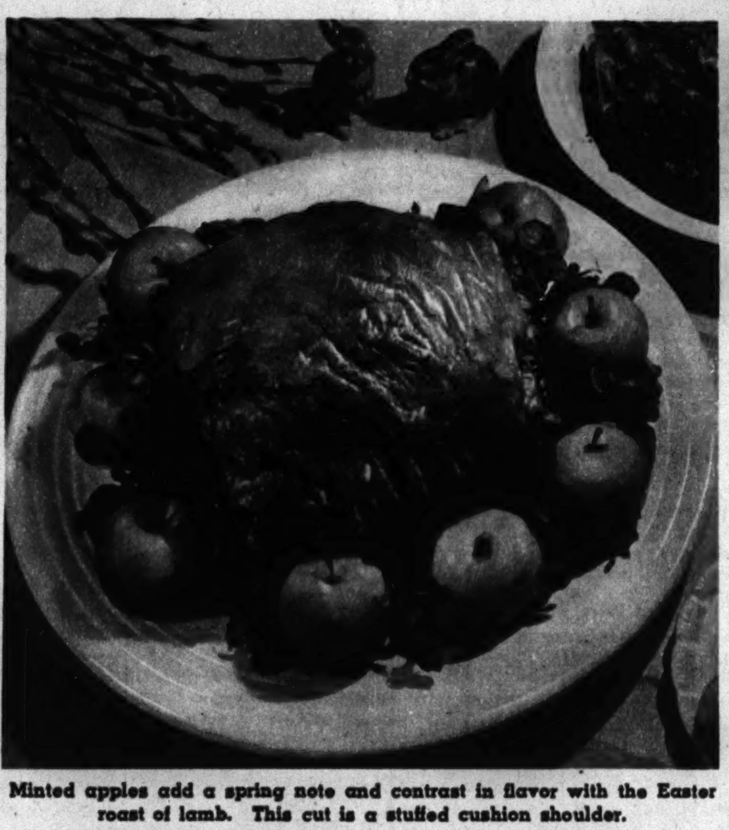
ORANGE FLOATING ISLAND
(Serves six)

4 oranges, peeled and sliced
⅓ cup sugar
2 cups milk, scalded
4 eggs, separated
¼ cup sugar
Few grains salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup confectioners' sugar for meringue
Candied cherries or jelly

Peel oranges with sharp knife and cut into even slices. Arrange in the bottom of a serving dish, sprinkle with the one-third cup of sugar, and chill. Beat egg yolks slightly, stir in the one-fourth cup of sugar and salt. Pour scalded milk over egg and sugar mixture and stir over hot water until custard coats a metal spoon. Add vanilla. Chill and pour over orange slices. Make a meringue of egg whites and confectioners' sugar by beating whites until stiff and adding confectioners' sugar gradually, beating after each addition. Drop meringue by spoonfuls on custard, or cook it first by dropping it into a shallow pan of water at the boiling point, covering for three minutes. If the meringue is cooked be careful not to overcook it. Lift from the water with a spoon and place on custard. Garnish meringue with candied cherries or bits of jelly.

To vary this pudding, try pouring the custard over chopped pitted dates. Sliced blanched almonds or shredded coconut may be folded into the custard or sprinkled on top of the pudding for flavor contrast.

This is a Florida version of floating island. There are sliced oranges under the custard, and the meringue topping is garnished with bright-colored jelly.



Minted apples add a spring note and contrast in flavor with the Easter roast of lamb. This cut is a stuffed cushion shoulder.

Match Your Handwriting with the Movie Stars'

By SHIRLEY SPENCER

(Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.)

Joe E Brown

THERE is a feeling of expansiveness and activity expressed in the large, vigorous writing of Joe E. Brown. It reveals so many of the qualities one expects him to have.

First there is the gusto with which he does everything. His gestures are as large on paper as they are in real life. Nothing small or petty about Mr. Brown. Note the wide swing of his pen as he puts down the words with assurance and vigor. If he is going to do anything he wants to do it on a large scale. He has to be right in the middle of it, giving it everything he's got.

They say that a large mouth shows generosity. I am not reading his face, but his handwriting, and there certainly is an exceptionally generous spirit reflected in his script. He likes to spend with an open hand, and that means, too, that he likes to have the wherewithall with which to do such spending. The circle "i" dots indicate his exotic tastes. Another proof of his free spending urge is the very wide margins which he uses, never writing more than a few words to a line.

Mr. Brown's writing is not altogether forward leaning. It has some letters which stand straight up and down and some that lean slightly to the left, so we must class him as a very emotional person, somewhat conditioned by some setbacks to his ego, and having personal dignity and great pride. The enormous capitals reflect his ambitious nature and his desire to stay on top. People who make such large capitals don't enjoy taking orders. Writers of such capitals have a desire to lead and to be able to carry out their own ideas without interference or advice. In this respect Mr. Brown is no shrinking violet. You know he is around!

The unusually large and long lower loops are the indication of desire for physical activity, and usually such writers like dancing and sports. You couldn't expect a writer of large lower loops like these to stay put for long. He has to be on the move and has a fund of energy and a very restless spirit.

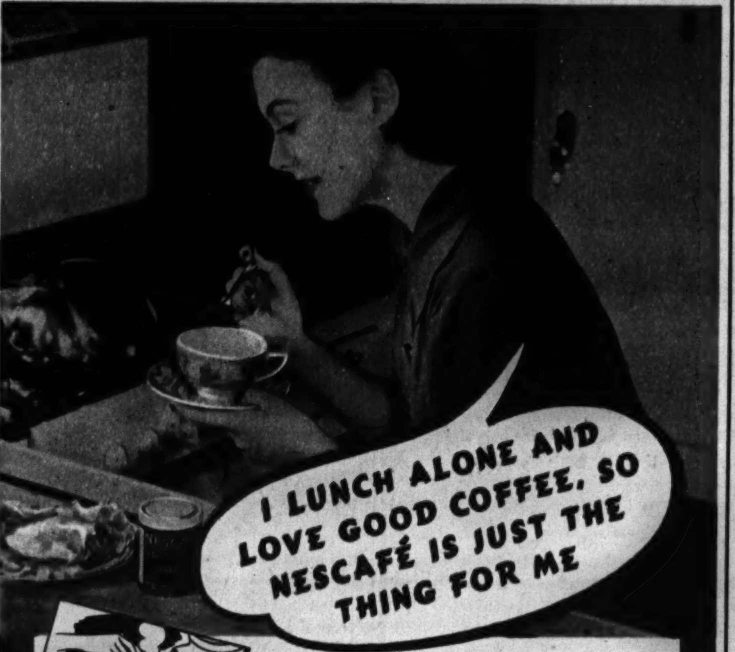
NOW! A FASTER WAY TO COFFEE PLEASURE



I LUNCH ALONE AND LOVE GOOD COFFEE, SO NESCAFÉ IS JUST THE THING FOR ME

Made right in the cup . . . not a bit wasted
If you like good coffee . . . you'll love Nescafé

"I wowed Bill's boss with my EASTER MONDAY DINNER prepared this Spry FULL FLAVOR way"

NOTHING BUT LEFT-OVERS in the house and Bill's boss coming for dinner! What could I make from the wreck of my Easter ham? Ham croquettes—yes! With lattice potatoes and French-fried asparagus . . . all fried the Spry FULL FLAVOR way.

THREE CHEERS! He loved them. Ate two big helpings. Asked how I made them. So I told him about Spry—how it doesn't "smother" flavor but lets you get the FULL natural taste of foods. He just drank in every word. And I'll bet his cook is using Spry now!

Taste the rich FULL FLAVOR in every crispy bite!

HERE'S a recipe that makes you hungry just to read it—eager to try it! But of course you want to enjoy its FULL savory goodness. So remember, ordinary shortenings may "dull" flavor. Play safe and use Spry. Foods fried with purer Spry are deliciously crisp, FULL-flavored, easy to digest. Get Spry from your grocer now. Use it for all frying. Bake with it, too, and hear the compliments fly.

EASTER MONDAY DINNER

Crispy FULL FLAVOR Ham Croquettes

4 tablespoons Spry
5 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 cup milk
2 cups cooked ham, diced
½ cup sifted bread crumbs or
1 cup crushed corn flakes
1 egg, slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon water

Melt purer Spry in saucepan. Add flour, salt, pepper, mustard and onion juice and blend. Add milk and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Add ham and blend. Spread mixture in shallow pan and chill until stiff. Cut into rounds with 2½-inch biscuit cutter. (So much quicker and easier than shaping by hand!) Roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg, then again in crumbs.

Fry in deep hot Spry (375° F.) about 2 minutes, or until brown. Test the fat (if you have no thermometer) with a 1-inch square of sliced bread and if it turns golden brown in 1 minute the temperature is right for frying. Drain on absorbent paper. Serves 6.

REMEMBER: Spry is purer—does not smoke at proper frying temperatures. So do not wait for Spry to smoke before starting to fry. Do all your frying with Spry—see what crispy, delicate-tasting, digestible foods.

Lattice Potatoes

Wash and pare 7 medium potatoes (about 2 pounds). Slice with lattice cutter (or cut lengthwise in strips 2½x¼ inches for Shoestring Potatoes). Dry thoroughly between towels. Fry in deep hot Spry (325° F.—350° F.) about 4 minutes, or until crisp and golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with salt. Serves 6.

French Fried Asparagus

1 can asparagus tips, drained
Salt and pepper
1 egg, slightly beaten with
1 tablespoon water
1 cup crushed corn flakes

Sprinkle asparagus with salt and pepper. Dip in egg and roll in corn flakes. Fry in deep hot Spry (375° F.) about 2 minutes, or until brown. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with salt. Serves 6.

Jugo-Slavia—Ca

1 On Oct. 22, 1923, there was a pause in the seething internal affairs of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and the Slovenes (known since 1929 as Jugo-Slavia) while the nation welcomed royal visitors to the wedding of Prince Paul, cousin of King Alexander, and Princess Olga of Greece. (Kadell & Herbert photo.)

In the wedding party are, left to right: (seated) Princess Nicholas of Greece, mother of the bride; the late Queen Mother Sophie, widow of King Constantine of Greece; Princess Olga and Prince Paul, the deposed pro-Nazi regent; the late Queen Marie of Rumania; and the duchess of York, now Queen Elizabeth of England; (on the floor) Princess Ileana of Rumania and Princess Elizabeth of Greece; (standing, front row) Princess Marina of Greece, now the duchess of Kent; the late Prince Nicholas, uncle of King George of Greece and father of the bride; the duke of York, now King George VI.; Princess Helen of Serbia; King Alexander; the late King Ferdinand of Rumania; Crown Princess (later Queen) Helen of Rumania, sister of present King George of Greece and now divorced from ex-King Carol; Queen Elizabeth of Greece, daughter of Ferdinand and Marie of Rumania and now divorced; (standing, rear) Princess Irene of Greece; Prince Paul of Greece, brother of King George and now crown prince; Crown Prince Carol of Rumania, now fugitive ex-king; Princess Demidoff, wife of Russian envoy to Athens; and Prince Arsene, uncle of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia.

2 In 1903 exiled Prince Peter was called to the throne of Serbia after the fall of the royal house of Obrenovich, reinstating the line of Karageorgevich. In 1918, at 76, he relinquished his power to his second son, Alexander, as prince regent. Alexander became king upon Peter's death in 1921.

3 Rightful heir to Peter's throne was George, his eldest son (driving the auto). But in 1909 he killed a servant and was forced to relinquish his claims in favor of Alexander. He acquitted himself bravely in the World war, but later was committed to an asylum, victim of paranoia.

7 Crown Prince Peter (seen here reviewing his royal bodyguard) was proclaimed King Peter II. on Oct. 11, 1934, a month after his 11th birthday. Actual control was vested in Prince Paul, Alexander's cousin, and two other regents. Paul accepted the responsibility with the words, "I think you have not made a mistake in me." (Acme photo.)

8 But Paul's confidence was to be sorely tested. This boundary line picture is symbolic of Jugo-Slavia's precarious position in the Balkans. She is further hemmed in by Germany and Italy on the northwest, Albania and Greece on the west and south, and Bulgaria on the southeast.

9 Like the rulers of so many small nations, Paul he is pictured here during a visit to Berlin. His disreg national sentiment led him to promote the alignment o Slavia with the axis this spring and brought on the up that overthrew him. (Acm

4 Serbia's troubled history, dating back to the 18th century uprisings against the Turks that culminated in her liberation in 1804, reached its deadliest climax on June 28, 1914, when Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria and his wife were assassinated in Sarajevo, precipitating the World war. Here their assassin is being taken to prison.

5 Serbia suffered heavily in the war, but Crown Prince Alexander led his forces persistently, and eventually, on Nov. 3, 1918, recaptured the Serbian capital, Belgrade. Here Alexander reviews French troops.

6 Alexander's stormy reign, during which he created many internal enemies by his dictatorial attempts at unifying intensely nationalistic races, ended tragically in Marseilles, France, on Oct. 9, 1934, when an assassin killed Alexander and his host, Foreign Minister Louis Barthou. From Edison to Fluorescence

GRAPHIC LABORATORY OF POPULAR SCIENCE

Incandescent lighting begins with the early experiments of the pioneers, Frederick De Moleyns, Sir Joseph W. Swan, our own Thomas A. Edison, and others, and brings us up to such modern-day developments as the fluorescent lamp, which is about the nearest substitute for actual daylight that man has yet devised.

The first patent on an incandescent lamp was granted by the British government to De Moleyns in 1841. From 1848 to 1860 Swan produced a number of experimental lamps. Others, both abroad and in this country, made valuable contributions to the development of this form of lighting. It was Edison, however, who created what long has been considered the first actually successful incandescent light. It was his invention, completed Oct. 21, 1879, that gave birth to the electrical industry. Two years later his invention was in commercial production, a lamp that gave one-tenth as much light as the ordinary household incandescent lamp of today, but at ten times the cost of the modern lamp.

As virtually every one knows, the first incandescent lamp employed a carbonized filament. Use of this carbon type filament continued thru the first quarter century of incandescent electric lighting. Little progress, however, was made toward improvement in the efficiency of the carbon filament lamp as a light-producing source, so naturally the electrical industry grew slowly in its earlier stages.

Thirty-five years ago came the first break away from the carbon type lamp, with the introduction of metal as the filament. First osmium was tried, then tantalum, and eventually tungsten. Altho these metal filament lamps were relatively expensive, they gave three times more light per watt than the carbon lamps. Ways gradually were found to cut costs and improve the efficiency of the lamps. The last quarter century has brought a phenomenal growth in the incandescent lamp industry, due in no small degree to the adoption of tungsten as a light-giving source.

The pressed filament tungsten lamp of 1907 was the invention of Alexander Just and Franz Hanaman of Vienna. This filament was too fragile to be satisfactory, but from it in 1910 was evolved the drawn wire tungsten lamp, developed by Dr. William D. Coolidge. This was placed on the market in 1911 and soon supplanted other filaments almost entirely. As early as 1913 the public was using large tungsten lamps at a rate of 100 million a year. These lamps had six times the efficiency of the best carbon type lamps.

In the construction of the early forms of incandescent lamps it was found necessary to employ vacuums to keep the filaments from burning. But no perfect vacuum could be devised. There always was a small amount of oxygen within the lamp bulb, causing the filament to burn to some extent. This burning darkened the bulb and shortened the life of the lamp. In 1913 Dr. Irving Langmuir, an associate of Dr. Coolidge in the research laboratories of the General Electric company, perfected a bulb filled with gas that would not support combustion. The gas-filled lamp now is employed almost universally for lighting purposes. The gas used usually is a mixture of nitrogen and argon.

Notable among the numerous valuable contributions to lighting progress that came after the invention of the gas-filled lamp with drawn tungsten filament were the tipless process of exhausting lamps and the inside frosting of bulbs. The tipless process, perfected in 1919, not only did away with the objectionable sharp points on the ends of the lamps but led to other efficiencies in lamp making, permitting the manufacture of better products at reduced costs. These new gas-filled lamps gave 20 per cent more light than the earlier tungsten types. By this time the consumption of large lamps was nearing the 200 million mark annually. It was in 1925 that a method was perfected for frosting the inside of the lamp bulb. Inventors had virtually abandoned hope of finding a way to do this in any but the most fragile type of bulbs. But when an efficient method of accomplishing this objective was attained, large lamp consumption jumped to more than 300 million a year. It was the soft, diffused light from this form of lamp that made it so popular.

In the last 15 years there have been many major contributions to the incandescent lighting field. They include: Two-filament automobile lamps, sealed beam automobile lamps, 30,000-watt and 50,000-watt giant incandescents for airport and movie production service, ultraviolet sunlight health lamps (invented in 1929), photoflash and photoflood lamps for photographic purposes, improved Christmas tree lamps, three-light lamps, and many others. The latest 60-watt lamp equipped with high-efficiency filament gives the consumer 27 times as much light for his lamp dollar as the first 60-watt tungstens offered. More than a billion incandescents of all sizes are consumed annually, and more than 500 million of the large sizes.

Not only have great strides been made in filament lamps, but remarkable achievements have been attained in those lamps that do not employ filaments. The fluorescent lamp, for example, is revolutionizing lighting thru its ability to provide illumination that closely approximates real daylight.

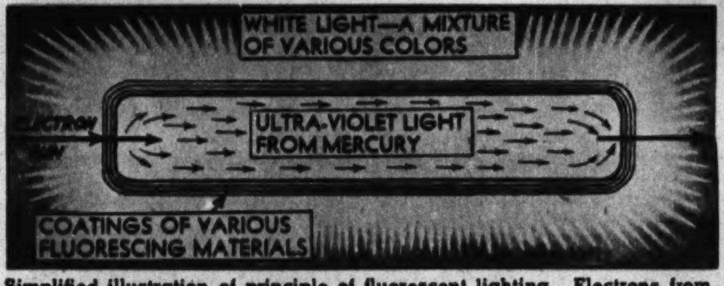
The fluorescent lamp is one form of the so-called electric discharge source. It consists of a tubular bulb with an electrode sealed in each end. Flow of current in this lamp takes place thru mercury vapor. In the filament lamp electricity flows from one lead wire to another thru the solid tungsten filament, thus heating it to incandescence, but in electric discharge lamps the two electrodes are separated from each other, with no apparent connection between them. When proper voltage is impressed on these electrodes a flow of negatively charged electrons is driven from one electrode or pulled to the other. The electrons on coming in contact with the mercury vapor excite the mercury atoms so that on reorganization to their normal state they emit intense ultraviolet light. This light irradiates the shell of the bulb or tube, which is coated on the inside with fluorescing chemicals (phosphors). The chemicals glow in various colors. A mixture of them produces daylight or white light, or if they are used in proper combinations various delicately tinted lights are available.

Among the fluorescing chemicals employed in lamps of this type are calcium tungstate, which produces a blue light; magnesium tungstate, which emits a blue-white light; zinc silicate, which provides a greenish light; zinc beryllium silicate, which throws off a yellow-white glow; cadmium silicate, responsible for a yellow-pink light; and cadmium borate, which produces a pinkish glow. Combinations of these and others, as aforementioned, give what apparently is the light of daylight, or a pure white light.



WHITE LIGHT—A MIXTURE OF VARIOUS COLORS
ELECTRON FLOW
ULTRA-VIOLET LIGHT FROM MERCURY
COATINGS OF VARIOUS FLUORESCING MATERIALS

Simplified illustration of principle of fluorescent lighting. Electrons from source at left ionize the mercury vapor, which then emits ultraviolet light. This light is absorbed, causing phosphors on inside of bulb to fluoresce.

Manufacturers of the fluorescent lamp describe its principle as follows:

"The ability of a gas or vapor to become luminescent—that is, to give off light under the influence of the flow of electrons thru it—involves a somewhat intricate theory of the structure of atoms. Popular explanation of this theory usually resorts to the idea of a 'collision' of the speedy electrons with the atoms of the gas, as real in concept as two automobiles colliding on a highway or as a bowling ball striking a setup of tenpins. When these encounters take place there is a state of excitation, which in the case of the excited gas produces light. This production of light comes about from the energy given up as the disturbed molecule, atom, or ion settles down to its stable or neutral state.

"Many types of electric discharge sources have long been available—the ones popularly known employ neon, mercury, and sodium vapor; other gases, such as argon, helium, carbon dioxide, xenon, and many metallic vapors such as zinc and cadmium have been used either commercially or experimentally. The fluorescent lamp without its coating of powder [chemicals] is essentially a glass tube containing a small drop of mercury and a small amount of argon gas to facilitate starting. This principle is the same as that used in the familiar Cooper-Hewitt mercury vapor lamp, which has been commercially available for nearly 40 years. In the latter case the electrical characteristics, vapor pressure, current density, and voltage are so regulated that the resultant discharge produces directly as much light as possible. In the case of the fluorescent lamps these elements are adjusted so that the discharge produces very little visible light directly, but does crowd as much energy as possible into the ultraviolet radiation at one specific point. Mercury is used as the conducting vapor because of its high efficiency in the production of ultraviolet radiation that activates the phosphors which are coated on the inside of the bulb."

In disclosing the progress made in the development of the incandescent lamp it should be pointed out that the light-giving qualities of various types have been increased amazingly since the first lamp invented by Edison. That was rated at 1.4 lumens per watt. The tantalum filament lamp was rated at 5 lumens per watt. The drawn tungsten filament lamp of 1911 had a rating of 10 lumens per watt. The present-day photoflood lamp used in photography rates 33 lumens per watt. And the fluorescent lamp provides light at the rate of as much as 75 lumens per watt. A lumen, as is obvious, is a unit employed in the measurement of light. The efficiency of a standard candle flame source, for example, has been calculated to be the equivalent of about one-tenth of a lumen per watt.

PERFECT POEMS

This is another poem selected from "Fifty Perfect Poems," collected and edited by Rossiter Johnson and Charles A. Dana.

Lines to an Indian Air

By Percy Bysshe Shelley

I arise from dreams of thee
In the first sweet sleep of night,
When the winds are breathing low
And the stars are shining bright:
I arise from dreams of thee,
And a spirit in my feet
Has led me—who knows how?—
To thy chamber window, sweet!

The wandering airs they faint
On the dark, the silent stream;
The champak odors fail
Like sweet thoughts in a dream;
The nightingale's complaint
It dies upon her heart,
As I must die on thine
O belovéd as thou art!

O lift me from the grass!
I die, I faint, I fail!
Let thy love in kisses rain
On my lips and eyelids pale.
My cheek is cold and white, alas!
My heart beats loud and fast;
O press it close to thine again,
Where it will break at last.

Mostly About Dogs

By BOB BECKER

Readers Ask for Varied Advice

WHEN the mail bag containing letters from dog owners reaches our desk it's a safe bet that the inquiries will range from why a 12-year-old dog won't play very much to about 15 different kinds of questions concerning obedience and control of the family pet. Here are some typical dog letters in a recent mail:

I own a wire-haired terrier. He used to love to play with me. Now I'm worried because all he seems to want to do is to eat and sleep. The dog is 12 years old. I have to coax him to play. Do you think he is sleeping so much because he is sick?—MISS K. M., Cincinnati, O.

Apparently you are forgetting that your wire-haired terrier is pretty old. When a dog gets to be 12 you can't expect him to run around and play as he did when he was 3 or 4 years old. In fact, your dog now is equal in age to a person who is around 80 or 84 years old, and such old dogs do not have the desire, nor are they able, to exercise very strenuously. So let your old dog take it easy.

I own a Kerry Blue terrier 3 year old, and I live on a street where there is heavy automobile traffic. This dog has been on a leash since I got her. I'm afraid to let her off the leash for fear she will get killed by a car. Will you tell me how to get this dog to obey commands to walk beside me? If I let her off the leash it's a job to get her back to me.—A. K., Chicago.

It's impossible for me to outline for you in this space how to teach your dog to obey commands, especially the ones to "come" when called and to "heel." There are three ways to get the job done—have a professional trainer give your dog the proper training, join a training class and learn how to do the job from a competent instructor, or get a book on training and attempt to train your dog alone. The third system is the most difficult, and rarely is an owner able to train his pet without outside help. We have a list of trainers and obedience training clubs in Chicago, and we'll be glad to send it to you.

I would like to know what the difference is between a police dog and a German shepherd dog.—W. R. T., St. Louis, Mo.

There is no recognized breed known as a police dog. The German shepherd is an established and well known breed which commonly but incorrectly is called police dog. When the public speaks of a police dog that is the breed it has in mind. Actually any dog trained for police work might be called a police dog. For example, the Doberman, German shepherd, schnauzer, Labrador retriever (new being used for police work in London), and others are being trained to aid police departments.

I have heard that Pekingese dogs sometimes lose their sight as they get old and they may do this even tho there has been no injury to their eyes. Is this true?—MISS L. M. R., Cincinnati, O.

This 1-year-old Dalmatian named Dal Dale Dorothy, owned by Mrs. Ruthe Kane, already has won the best of breed award.

Old dogs of most any breed may lose their sight, and some also become deaf. The Pekingese is not the only breed that is apt to be handicapped in these ways. Both loss of sight and hearing are signs of canine old age, and there isn't much we can do about it.

I own a registered female cocker spaniel. She recently whelped a litter of cross-bred puppies. Has this accident spoiled her for breeding pure-bred puppies? She has given us several litters of very nice puppies.—MRS. A. V. B., Cleveland, O.

This three-month-old particolored puppy illustrates the appeal of the cocker spaniel.

The fact that your dog had a litter of cross-breds does not affect future puppies if she is bred to a cocker spaniel the next time. You will probably hear from friends that your cocker never can have pure-bred puppies again, because this old and oft-repeated myth about dogs still prevails. But don't believe it.

We have just bought a three-month-old Boston terrier. Will you tell me what you think about distemper shots for a puppy like this? And is it all right to bathe this puppy every week?—MRS. H. F. L., St. Louis, Mo.

We advise giving your puppy distemper inoculations. There is no need to bathe a three-month puppy every week. Daily brushings and perhaps the occasional use of a little liquid or dry cleaner will keep your dog clean.

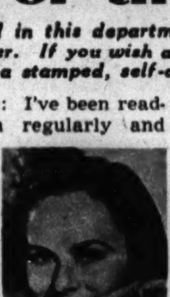
Voice of the Movie Fan

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you wish a personal reply please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Miss Tinée: I've been reading your column regularly and enjoy it very much. I often remark to my parents that it should be a whole page long (some day I hope it will be). I am an admirer of the pretty Paulette Goddard. Would you please tell me a little about her, where I could write to her, and maybe print a picture of her in your Sunday column? All best wishes to you and your column. Sincerely,
RUTH STOCKER.



Paulette Goddard

Editor's note: So glad you like my column—and who knows, it may be longer some day. Miss Goddard was born in Great Neck, Long Island, June 3, 1911. She's 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, and has brown hair and blue eyes. Married to Charlie Chaplin. Here's a nice picture for you. You can write to Miss Goddard care of Paramount studio, 5451 Marathon street, Hollywood, Cal.

Dear Mae Tinée: Any information that I could gather on Samuel S. Hinds would be very much appreciated. I am no movie addict, but I believe that that actor is one of the finest and ought to be featured in main rôles. In a recent column you listed some lesser but good supporting actors and actresses, and I was disappointed to see that you failed to mention Hinds. An answer by your column would be very welcome. Sincerely,
WILLIAM E. ROBERTSON.

Editor's note: Mr. Hinds IS a fine actor, but I'm glad he's a supporting player, for supporting players can make or mar a picture, and his work always adds a luster. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., April 4, 1875. Educated Phillips Andover preparatory academy and Harvard. Has two daughters. Practiced law for 35 years in New York and Pasadena, to which he moved in 1905. Helped found Pasadena Community playhouse. Appeared in amateur theatricals. Come again.

ANY ONE who thinks the airplane is not here to stay should look over the new Air Lines Terminal station in the heart of New York City. This five million dollar "union station of the air" was designed jointly by the air lines to provide the finest possible facilities for handling passengers, motor cars, and baggage for persons traveling by air.

It is a six-story building with four basements, a penthouse, and some 60 offices—all occupied by traffic experts of American Airlines, Inc., Eastern Air Lines, Pan American Airways, Transcontinental and Western Air, United Air Lines, and Canadian Colonial Airways. But the pride of the industry are the building's arrangements for comfort and speedy movement of passengers by motor buses between La Guardia field on Long Island and the terminal.

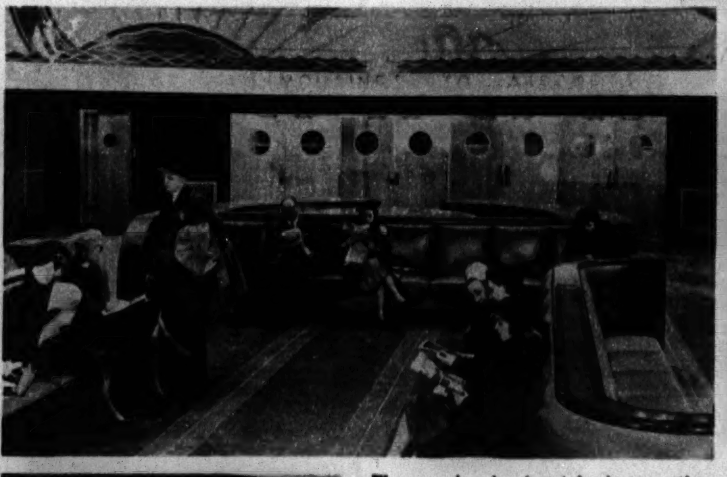
The first floor of the building is dedicated to baggage. Passengers arriving at the entrances on either 42d or Park avenue are met by snappily dressed porters. Escalators take them and their baggage to the rotunda on the second floor, where are ticket counters. Baggage is carried by high-speed conveyor belt to limousines on the first floor.

The automobiles then are driven onto "levelators" which bring them up to the rotunda level. Passengers board the cars, are swiftly lowered to the street level again, and ride on out to La Guardia field.

Incoming passengers are unloaded in the first basement and their baggage brought in from the flying field is distributed to them there. From this basement they have access either to rail, subway, or taxicab transportation.

Furnishings of the terminal building are ultramodern. There are a comfortable lounge, a cocktail bar, and other facilities.

An air line terminal for Chicago has been in the "idea" stage for a long time. High costs of operating the New York terminal, however, may dampen enthusiasm for the project.



The modernly furnished reception lounge. Loud-speakers announce departures.

Baggage, once weighed, is not seen again by passenger until at the field.

Movie Stars in Color

Color portraits of these movie stars are reproduced in today's Picture Section.

● BRENDA MARSHALL first became interested in dramatics while a student at Texas State college, where she completed her education after spending the first 14 years of her life on her father's sugar plantation in the Philippines. Then followed experience in stock before she was discovered on Broadway in a Federal Theater project production and given a screen test. She has been married once, under her real name of Ardis Ankerson, to Richard Houston Gaines, but divorced him in 1940. Brenda is 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighs 105 pounds, and is very athletic, with tennis at the top of her list of favorite sports.

● ERROL FLYNN, the swashbuckling hero of many a movie thriller, has led just about as exciting a life as those characters he portrays. From County Antrim, Ireland, where he was born on June 20, 1909, he had been to the far corners of the earth before Hollywood beckoned while he was appearing in English stage and screen productions. As a heavyweight boxer he represented England in the Olympic games at Amsterdam in 1928. He has hunted copra and gold in New Guinea, pearls in the South seas, worked as a laborer, and is the author of a book, called "Beam Ends," on the thrills of a deep sea cruise. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 180 pounds, and is married to Lili Damita.

● BETTY GRABLE made her professional debut at the age of 7 and has been dancing, singing, and acting professionally ever since. She's been in and out of Hollywood several times, starting as film chorine in 1930, but it took a smashing success in the Broadway version of "Du Barry Was a Lady" for filmland to realize her true talent. Since then she has scored in such hit pictures as "Down Argentine Way" and "Tin Pan Alley." Betty was born in St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 18, 1916, and is 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weighs 106 pounds. She's been married once, to Jackie "The Kid" Coogan, but divorced him last fall.

● CARY GRANT was once a stilt walker with an English acrobatic troupe, but he doesn't need his stilts today to be looked up to in Hollywood—he's that good an actor. Born Archie Leach in Bristol, England, he came to this country with an English musical and suffered the usual trials of Broadway before trekking to Hollywood in a second-hand car and wangling a contract with Paramount. Success followed success, the latest of which was "The Philadelphia Story." Married once, to Virginia Cherrill (one-time leading lady for Charlie Chaplin), and then divorced, Grant today is one of the most eligible bachelors in the film capital.

● ANNE SHIRLEY is one of the few Hollywood actresses who achieved fame in one picture. For several years she had been appearing as a child actress in bit parts under the name of Dawn O'Day. Then at the age of 16 she got her big chance in the title rôle of "Anne of Green Gables," and stardom was her reward. Anne is married to John Howard Payne, a movie actor and grandnephew of John Howard Payne, composer of "Home, Sweet Home." They have one daughter, Julie Anne.

Know Your Camera

Military subjects such as this unusual one of artillery practice often give striking pictures, but don't try to photograph them without express permission or you may land in jail. It's safest for the amateur to stay away from such subjects altogether.

The Etiquet of Candid Shots

By ANDREW B. HECHT, Ph. D.

Managing Editor,
Popular Photography Magazine

If you like to take candid shots like this one you had better get the co-operation of your subjects, or they might become indignant to the extent of smashing your camera.

MANY amateurs got themselves into trouble lately by photographing subjects which they should not have snapped, while others have made such a poor impression by sheer bad manners that picture taking is being prohibited in more and more places.

There are not only laws and regulations restricting amateur photography, but there also is such a thing as camera etiquet, with which every photographer should be familiar. Press photographers know that diplomacy is more apt to bring results than brute force and picture stealing.

But even if this were not true, the amateur would not be justified in following the example of the press photographer. His job or his success in life does not depend on getting pictures of people who don't want to be photographed. Therefore his first rule should be not to take pictures of strangers who object to the camera.

This does not mean the end of all candid pictures. You can feel at liberty to take pictures of unsuspecting victims if there is no reason to assume that they would object, but the fact remains that it is not only fairer but also more effective from the point of view of picture taking to get the coöperation of your subjects. Your pictures will remain candid even under these circumstances as long as they don't appear to be posed.

A second elementary rule is to avoid trespassing. The mere possession of a camera does not entitle you to walk into another man's garden or factory or barnyard to take pictures. Respect private property if you want to avoid trouble. Usually you can get what you want if you ask permission to take pictures. If permission is denied you had better forget about the subject. There are always plenty of other things to photograph.

The third rule is not to abuse courtesies. If you get permission to take pictures don't upset the whole place and don't try to photograph more than the permission covers. Don't try to halt traffic or the operations of an industrial plant for the sake of a few snapshots. If people go to the trouble of making special arrangements for you, help them to clean up after you are finished. Don't leave a path of empty film cartons, film pack tabs, and flash bulbs behind you. Photographers have become worse offenders in this respect than the most careless picnickers.

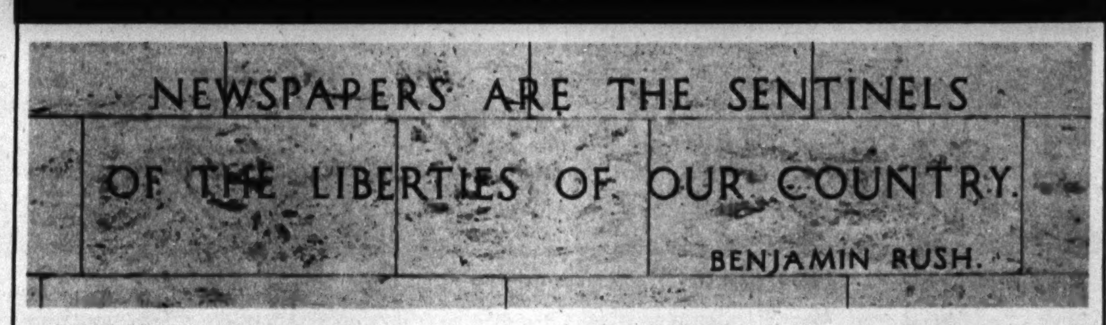
It should be hardly necessary to warn against photographing any activities connected with national defense unless you have obtained permission. Practically all industry is participating in defense work, and many new prohibitions have been issued against photographing industrial plants. It may seem exaggerated to prohibit pictures of a power plant, a dam, or an oil refinery, yet many amateurs have been arrested recently for just this. Most of them went free after hours of unpleasant questioning in jail, but regulations are becoming stricter every day. It's safest to either stay away from such subjects altogether or to ask for permission in advance.

In many government buildings, museums, picture galleries, and even public parks it's necessary to obtain a permit for taking pictures. While these permits are easy to get, the guards usually enforce the regulations strictly. The purpose of this system is to limit the number of amateurs on the premises so that they leave some breathing space for nonphotographers, and also to acquaint them with the conditions under which photographs may be taken.

Finally, you should remember that many a perfectly harmless picture has served, perhaps years after it was taken, as the basis for divorce action or a libel suit. Think twice before you take any pictures of your friends which may be open to misinterpretation.

None of these warnings places any serious limitations on your hobby. The world is full of subjects for your camera, and you won't be missing much if you skip a few that may get you into trouble.

THE HALL OF INSCRIPTIONS IN TRIBUNE TOWER



NEWSPAPERS ARE THE SENTINELS
OF THE LIBERTIES OF OUR COUNTRY.
BENJAMIN RUSH.

AMONG the score of famous quotations to be found in the Hall of Inscriptions of Tribune Tower is this one from the writings of Dr. Benjamin Rush, celebrated American revolutionary patriot. In Dr. Rush's time, more than a century ago, the importance of the freedom of the press was fully realized, as his words disclose. An exponent of liberty, Dr. Rush appreciated the value of the newspapers in defending liberty.

Benjamin Rush was born in Byberry township, near Philadelphia, in 1745. At the age of 15 he was graduated from Princeton, and in 1768 he obtained his M. D. degree at Edinburgh university. After spending a year in the hospitals of London and Paris he returned to America and began the practice of medicine in Philadelphia. With James Pemberton he founded the first anti-slavery society in America. This was in 1774. Two years later, as a delegate from Pennsylvania to the Continental congress, he was among those who signed the Declaration of Independence. In 1787 he was a member of the Pennsylvania convention which adopted the federal constitution.

After serving as a lecturer for many years at the Philadelphia Medical college Dr. Rush became professor of the institutes of medical and clinical practices, succeeding in 1796 to the chair of theory and practice of medicine of the University of Pennsylvania. In 1799 he was appointed treasurer of the United States mint in Philadelphia. He died in that city in 1813.

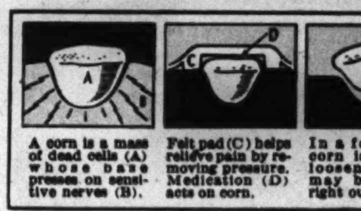
A Sensible Treatment for CORNS
—for sensible people



A corn is a mass of dead cells (A) whose base presses on sensitive nerves (B).

Felt pad (C) helps relieve pain by removing pressure. Medication (D) acts on corn.

In a few days corn is gently loosened so it may be lifted right out.

READ WHAT CAUSES CORNS
—HOW TO GET RID OF THEM

MILLIONS of people have found that this sensible, easy-to-use method helps relieve pain quickly—effectively removes corns.

Home paring only affects the surface. But Blue-Jay Corn Plasters do two important things. Here's how they work: First, the felt pad lifts off pressure to help relieve pain. Then the Blue-Jay medication gently loosens the corn so in a few days it may be lifted out. (Stubborn cases may require more than one application.)

Blue-Jay costs very little—only a few cents to treat each corn—at all leading drug counters.

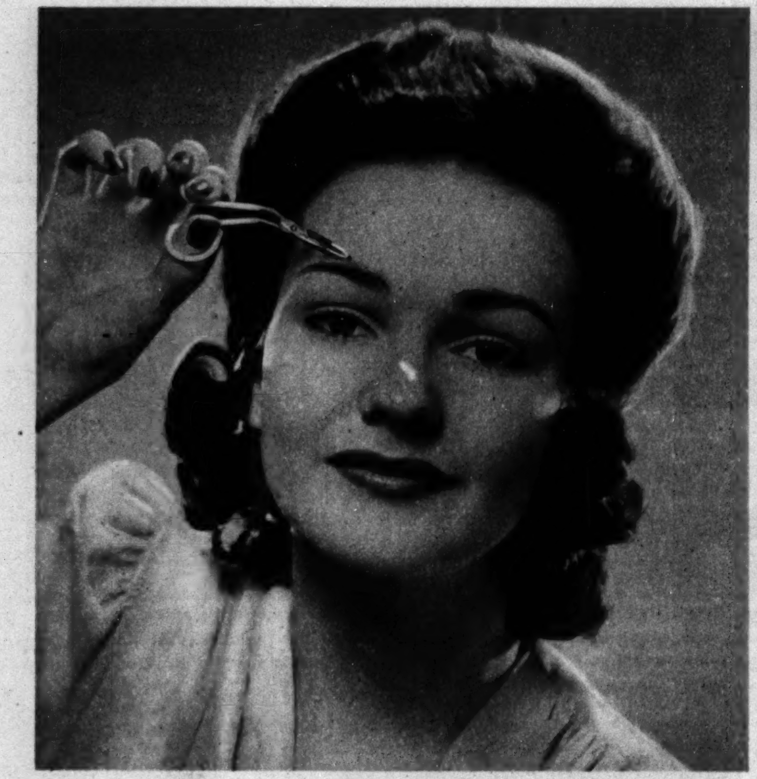
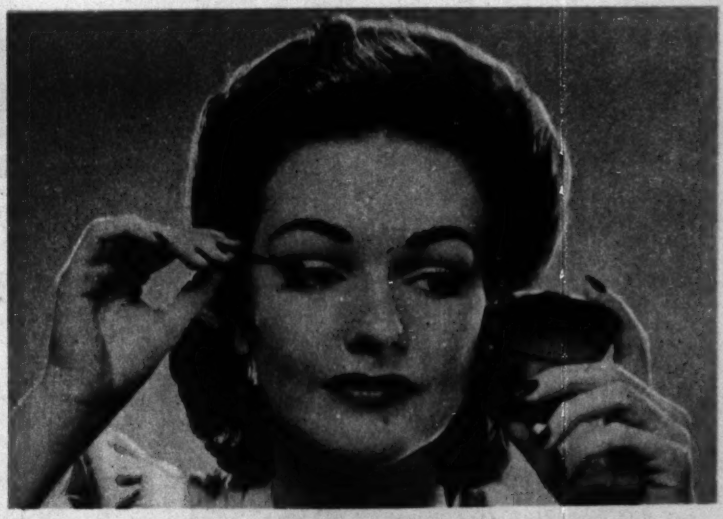
Lashes But Not Least

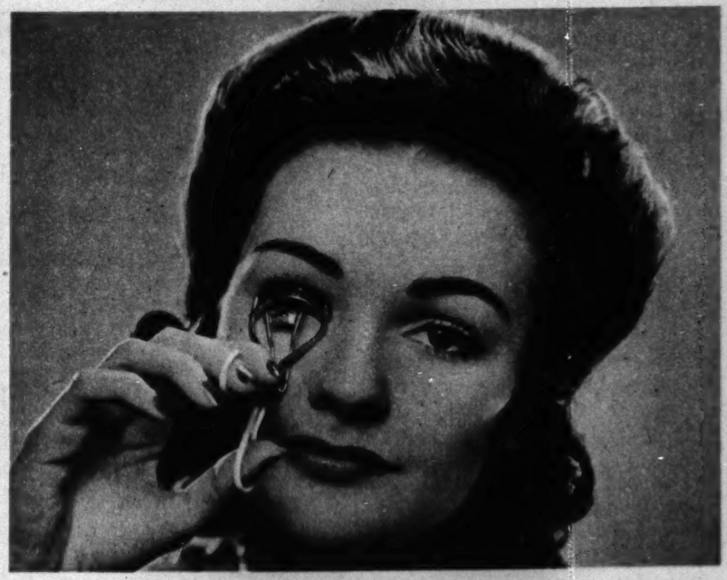


Hold that line—but tweeze the stragglers above and below the curve and across the bridge of your nose.

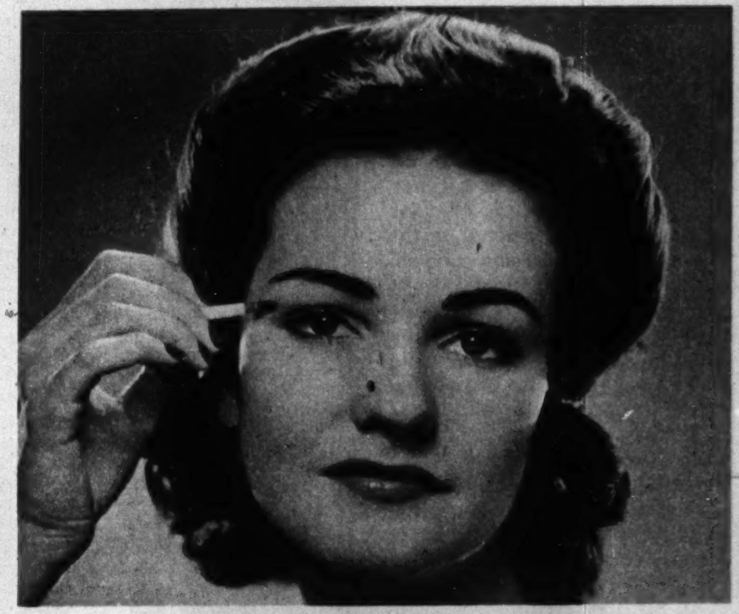
Your eyes can be the most arresting feature of your face. If nature made them dim, don't YOU hesitate to make them dramatic. (Tribune Studio photos.)



Don't be dim around the eyes! Mousy lashes should be brushed with mascara to make them look longer and darker.



The curler persuades straight lashes to sweep upward. It gives your eyes that wide, starry look!



Apply shadow with a fine, soft brush so that it barely shows but does intensify the color of your eyes.

Your Eyes Can Be Dramatic Key to a Beautiful Face

By ELEANOR NANGLE

IF YOU'RE haunted by the fear that yours is a face that men forget, see what a judicious bit of eye makeup will do. There's nothing quite like artful eye dramatization to make a colorless face arresting.

You don't have to be theatrical about it. But don't for a minute ignore the beautifying values of the eyebrow tweezer, the eyelash curler, the mascara-laden brush, and the skilful touch of shadow. You're overlooking a good beauty bet if you do.

The brows are important to the individuality of your face. Don't change their natural shape, but do remove all the straggly hairs that grow above or below their curve and across the bridge of your nose. It's simple if you use a scissors-handled tweezer that gives leverage as you work.

No reason in the world why you shouldn't curl your lashes; they look more luxuriant when they sweep upward, and the eyes themselves take on a wider, more youthful expression. When you use a curler consistently, make a special effort to keep your lashes creamed. Brush cream into brows and lashes each night, or use it with the curler, provided you don't use mascara. Cream and mascara don't mix!

The tips of even the longest lashes are often rather light; touch the lashes with mascara to make them a more flattering frame for your eyes. If they are so light that coal black mascara would look incongruous, use brown. Too obvious mascara is amateurish.

Shadow should enhance the natural color of your eyes, but subtly. It's better to use too little than too much, and for daytime keep the shade muted. Try a fine brush rather than a smear with the finger. You'll find it blends more artistically and that you can get the delicate shadowy effect without smudging.

America's Base in British Guiana

He gave one of the baskets a smart rap with his hand. The Negro brought it back into balance mechanically.

In this last avenue, which led downward to the foot of the hill, the going became tough. Boots sank six and eight inches into the mud and could be extracted only with great effort. Vines were thick and treacherous underfoot. One never knew how far into the muck his next step might take him.

There was constant danger that the next step might be into an unknown tributary of the Demerara, which might be the haunt of a school of the pirai or cannibal fish. This fish, which is less than a foot long, has savage teeth and will attack a man.

In 20 minutes, experimenters found, the fish reduced to a skeleton a pig, dropped to the bottom of a muddy jungle stream. Many men have lost a finger or two by washing hands stained with the blood of fish or game in streams infested by this voracious fish.

Jaguars which grow to a length of nine feet, ocelots, and peccary, the wild pigs which roam in packs of several hundred and are most belligerent, seemed to be more welcome for casual contact than these savages of the black jungle rivers.

The going became slow at the end of the avenue. Every one needed his breath to make his way thru the morass underfoot and the tangle of trees, bush, and vines above. Even the talkative McDonough emitted nothing but grunts of exertion. Machetes cut endlessly.

Foot by foot we worked forward. At one point Schultz announced we were exactly two miles deep in the jungle—farther than any white men had ever penetrated in that particular area, altho the village of Hyde Park was but that distance away.

Generations have been born, have lived and died at Hyde Park without a single person ever having set foot more than a few hundred feet into the jungle in his back yard. Any effort to do so out of curiosity would be regarded as the height of madness in the village.

At noon McDonough, Darling, and I left Siegert and Schultz to their map making in the jungle and beat our way back to Ng-a-Kein's. From the grocery we walked along four miles of road being constructed under McDonough's direction to link the site with the road by which we had come out of Georgetown.

As we started this inspection a sudden tropical rain hit us. Darling suggested the shelter of a tall tree. I answered that for my part it was unnecessary; I was soaked thru. McDonough and Darling were in the same condition.

We elected to ignore the downpour and plodded along the clay roadway, which was as slippery as soap. Had it not been for a stick of stout hakia wood cut for me by Siegert I would have fallen a dozen times. At that I almost fell into two streams bridged by a single log made slippery by the rain and clay. Only the thought of the wicked teeth of the pirai granted me balance.

McDonough said he hoped to have this road in a serviceable condition in a month, but was without proper materials to make it permanent. One never sees a stone on the alluvial plain and sand hill country. Gravel and surfacing for road construction must be imported or brought at great expense from the mountainous inland.

At the end of the roadway out from Georgetown we again made for the river, where we had arranged for a rendezvous with the boat before we started on the road inspection. Aboard we dug into a late lunch of sandwiches and fruit. We balked at a can of apricots which a native—the one who had killed the eight-foot snake—offered to open with the same machete which had decapitated that jungle denizen.

Small freight boats in Georgetown harbor.

I returned to Ng-a-Kein's two nights later with Dale Gilman, the astronomical expert of the American expedition, to shoot stars in order to determine true north for various air base purposes.

The entire village of some 300 inhabitants turned out to watch us peer at the stars. My boy, who insisted his name is "By Boy No. 2," introduced me to a Mr. and Mrs. Norton and explained with great wonderment, "They're married." As nearly as I could determine my boy had been so named by his mother because he was the offspring of the second man with whom she lived. His half-brother, By Boy No. 1, he announced with great pride, was appealing a sentence of death for murder, the result of some machete work on his mother-in-law in protest against her domination of his household.

Gilman peered at Rigel in the constellation Orion, Spica in Virgo, Alphard in Hydra, and various stars of the Southern Cross and muttered endless explanations of azimuths. In taking sights with a surveyor's transit Gilman exclaimed frequently of "be-oo-tiful" sights and of a sky as clear as "ca-rystal."

At each sight he would check the time on four watches he carried in his vest pockets. In the race for watches his hands darted about his person like the paws of a British Guiana marmoset searching for fleas.

I was given the opportunity to take bearings occasionally, but these were always checked by the cautious Gilman. Between sights he lectured on the stars to bewildered natives.

At 2 o'clock our star-gazing was interrupted by a commotion in one of the huts. A dozen children piled out of one of the native huts, screaming that it was haunted.

Gilman said he was too busy to leave his stars, so By Boy No. 1, with drawn machete, and I, with a stout branch of hakia wood, entered the hut, from which came ominous ghostlike thumpings. A large tin cracker box was thumping across the rude floor.

By Boy No. 1 cautiously lifted the tin lid. A cat streaked toward the door, where 10 pairs of eyes melted into the night amid wild cries. At the bottom of the box was a dead mouse. The cat had been trapped when it pursued the mouse into the box.

The only other untoward incident of the night occurred near dawn. A native, fragrant from rum, approached us from down the road. He asked Gilman somewhat thickly if he did not know that this was the hour the tiger (the native name for the jaguar) hunted his prey, any stray thing about the village.

Gilman hurriedly announced he was thru and that we had better await the dawn on Ng-a-Kein's porch. From this point of vantage he confessed he had no desire to encounter a near-sighted tiger.

Dawn came with a sudden blaze of colors. These matched the vivid plumage of the feathered birds of the jungle—the flame of the cock of the rock, the vivid plumes of the scarlet ibis, the blue of the heron, and the bright-feathered parrots.

We made our way slowly back to Georgetown, where we washed away the protective coating of an odorous soap we had worn as a film on our skins as protection against insects. It worked against everything but the bêtes rouges—a mechanized tropical chigger.

That night on the veranda of the Tower hotel I was able to join in the most frequent topic of this section of the tropics—how to combat this beast. Every one has his pet cure, and all have plenty of opportunity to test them, for the bête rouge thrives on all alike.

Don't Let Leaky Spark Plugs Spoil Your Car's Performance!

PSST
EEK

Like a sour note from a leaky tuba, which would spoil a whole performance, one leaky spark plug in your engine will very definitely spoil your car's performance.

That's why you should have your spark plugs tested today. If they show leakage or are worn out, install new Champions, for Champion's Sillment seal* eliminates troublesome leakage common to ordinary spark plugs.

You're always ahead with CHAMPIONS!

* The Sillment seal prevents compression leakage which causes rough, uneven and wasteful engine operation.

Next morning when you get up, take 2 more tablespoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with your orange juice.

And then see how perfectly wonderful you feel! With excess stomach acids neutralized, you can sleep soundly and wake up full of pep. Chances are there'll be no acid headache, no upset feeling, no nausea. It's wonderful.

NEXT TIME YOU HAVE

Headache, Neuralgia or "Rheumatic Pain"

remember what these pictures show you

SEE WITH YOUR OWN EYES WHY GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN ACTS SO QUICKLY!

1. Drop a Bayer Aspirin Tablet into a glass of water. Then watch results. See how quickly it dissolves.

2. In 2 seconds . . . by the time it hits the bottom of the glass, it is disintegrating . . . is ready to go to work.

Always get quick relief from muscular aches and pains by insisting on fast-acting Bayer Aspirin when you buy.

Once you see how fast a real Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate how fast it is ready to go to work, you never forget it. For this can bring you relief in a few minutes. Thus saving you many hours of pain.

Especially when you have a headache, or the pains of neuralgia, neuritis or so-called rheumatism, remember what these pictures show you. The fast relief that has convinced millions of aspirin users everywhere to follow this rule: Never ask for aspirin by the name "aspirin" alone. But always say "Bayer Aspirin."

Now only 1c a tablet

At this low cost, anyone can afford real Bayer Aspirin. For at the most, hours of relief from headache, or "rheumatism pain" may cost but a few pennies.

Look for this new box that snaps open automatically when you press this red dot.

Goodbye drain trouble . . . if you

Use Drāno...it keeps drains open!

PREVENT DRAIN TROUBLE before it starts. Avoid the nuisance of slow-running or stopped-up drains and the possibility of big bills.

GREASE, HAIR, grounds, dirt clog drainpipes . . . make water slow up . . . unless you get the Drāno habit. A little Drāno used regularly prevents drains from clogging. If you should forget—and a drain does stop up, then Drāno's churning, boiling action clears away the trouble in a hurry. Drāno won't harm pipes. It's never over 25¢ at grocery, drug, or hardware stores.

Beautiful Daredevil

EVER since she was a tiny, spirited girl, "Liz" Whitney has been in the saddle—pointed out for her daredevil riding and exciting beauty.

Brilliant dark eyes, exquisite cameo-like features and—a dazzlingly beautiful skin, radiant, fresh-looking, soft and smooth.

She gives her lovely face very simple care—with the 3 beauty-working steps of the Pond's Beauty Ritual:—

1 Blankets her face in soft, sleek layers of Pond's Cold Cream. Spanks it smartly, wipes it off with Pond's gentle tissues. REPEATS the Cream—spanks, wipes off again. This removes dirt, old make-up, leaving skin immaculately clean.

2 Splashes her shining clean face dripping wet with Pond's cool, astringent Freshener.

3 Last—and very important—she smooths on a thick MASK of Pond's Vanishing Cream. Leaves this MASK on for 1 full minute to help take away any little dried or chapped flecks of skin. Wiped off, this mask leaves a flattering mat finish ready to hold her powder for hours.

Follow "Liz" Whitney's 3 steps of skin care. See their results on your skin. Then you'll see why so many of the loveliest women of America's leading families are devoted to the Pond's Beauty Ritual.

THE Skeleton IN SALLY'S CLOSET
AFTER THE CLUB MEETING AT SALLY'S
ISN'T SALLY LUCKY! LOOK AT ALL THE LINENS SHE HAS IN HER CLOSET.
YES, BUT LOOK HOW GRAY AND DINGY THEY'VE WASHED. IT'S A WONDER SOMEONE WOULDN'T TELL HER ABOUT NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL.
NEXT DAY
TALK ABOUT EMBARRASSMENT-- I FELT AS IF THEY HAD DISCOVERED A SKELETON IN THE CLOSET! WHAT DID THEY MEAN BY HIGH-TEST OXYDOL?
WHY, IT'S THAT MARVELOUS NEW LAUNDRY SOAP THAT LEADING WASHING MACHINE MAKERS LIKE APEX ARE RECOMMENDING-- YOU HEAR IT OVER THE RADIO SO OFTEN NOWADAYS... COME ON IN-- I'LL SHOW YOU.
GRACIOUS! JUST LOOK WHAT FLOODS OF SUDS --I NEVER SAW ANYTHING LIKE IT!
BUT BEST OF ALL, HIGH-TEST OXYDOL'S GOT A WONDERFUL NEW INGREDIENT IN IT... GETS CLOTHES AS MUCH AS 9 TO 11 SHADES WHITER... IN RECORD TIME!
APEX
BUT ARE YOU SURE IT'S SAFE FOR WASHABLE COLORED THINGS, TOO?
POSITIVELY! I'VE WASHED THIS LITTLE COTTON PRINT OF MARILYN'S IN IT FOR MONTHS AND MONTHS-- SEE HOW BRIGHT IT IS!
APEX
HONESTLY, IT'S A MIRACLE! I DON'T KNOW WHEN I'VE EVER SEEN CLOTHES COME ANY WHITER--OR SMELL NEARLY AS SWEET!
WHAT'S MORE, OXYDOL GOES SO MUCH FARTHER THAN LESS ECONOMICAL SOAPS--CAN ACTUALLY CUT LAUNDRY SOAP BILLS AS MUCH AS 25%! THINK HOW YOU'LL SAVE!
LATER--SALLY GETS COMPLIMENTS GALORE
REALLY, THESE CURTAINS ARE WHITE AS SNOW!
AND LOOK HOW THESE LINENS FAIRLY SPARKLE! HOW ON EARTH DO YOU DO IT, SALLY?
IT'S BECAUSE I'VE SWITCHED TO A MARVELOUS NEW SOAP, HIGH-TEST OXYDOL! YOU REALLY MUST TRY IT!

"WANT CLOTHES AS MUCH AS 9 to 11 SHADES WHITER? THEN SWITCH TO NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL"

Say Makers of Famous Apex Speedliner Washers

FOR outstanding results in your washer, follow the advice of experts who are in a position to know. Switch to new High-Test OXYDOL—the amazing new soap that's the favorite of millions of housewives—and is now officially recommended by the makers of the famous Apex Speedliner Washers.

Here's the official recommendation, quoted word for word: "To see white clothes come as much as 9 to 11 shades whiter, change to High-Test Oxydol." (This recommendation is exclusive. They officially advise no other soap.)

Attention Washing Machine Owners!
See Oxydol demonstrated in the new Apex Time Control Washer at your Apex Dealer's all this week.

These famous washer makers went out of their way to endorse High-Test Oxydol after seeing proof of its amazing results—as demonstrated in our laboratory tests against a large group of popular bar and package soaps. The tests show that High-Test Oxydol does these amazing things:

(1) Gets white clothes as much as 9 to 11 shades whiter—actual Tintometer shades.

(2) Cup for cup, gives up to THREE TIMES THE SUDS—and suds stand up as much as 2 to 3 times longer.

Yet is so SAFE that even cotton prints given the equivalent of a full year's washing stayed looking bright and sparkling as new!

So, do as Apex and other outstanding washer makers recommend—switch to new High-Test OXYDOL. See why so many delighted women everywhere are saying that it is the soap of soaps for any washing machine. . . . At all dealers. Procter & Gamble.

HOW ARE YOU, SON? HIYA SOLDIER!
MY BOY! I'M SO PROUD SO HAPPY
HE'S SO HANDSOME IN HIS NEW UNIFORM
SEEING YOU IN THAT UNIFORM, SON, TAKES ME BACK TO THE OLD DAYS WHEN I DID A LITTLE SOLDIERING
I'LL SAY YOU DID – AND I BET YOU WERE A SWELL SOLDIER, DAD

NEITHER'S THE OLD UNIFORM, DAD. TAKE A LOOK AT THE PANTS!

BOY, I BET YOU WERE HOT STUFF WITH THAT BAYONET – BUT YOU SURE COULD HAVE USED THIS BISWING BACK-FREE ACTION HERE
YES, THERE'RE LOTS OF CHANGES IN THE ARMY, DAD – BUT NOT IN THE OLD FIGHTING SPIRIT. HERE, DAD, YOU COULD DO WITH A CAMEL
THANKS, SON – AND THAT HASN'T CHANGED EITHER. THE ARMY MAN STILL KNOWS HIS SMOKING. CAMELS WERE THE FAVORITE IN MY DAY, TOO
TODAY – AND FOR MORE THAN 20 YEARS — REPORTS FROM ARMY POST EXCHANGES SHOW THAT CAMELS ARE THE FAVORITE. AND IN NAVY CANTEENS, TOO, CAMEL IS THE LEADER
I SEE THE ARMY HASN'T CHANGED YOUR APPETITE, EITHER, SON
BETTER THAN THE OLD ARMY CHOW BY A HEAP – AND NOTHING TOPS OFF ANY MEAL LIKE A GOOD OLD CAMEL
NOTHING LIKE A CAMEL FOR FLAVOR, DAD. OR MILDNESS AND COOLNESS, EITHER. I GO FOR ALL THOSE SLOW-BURNING EXTRAS – AND THOSE EXTRA PUFFS PER PACK, TOO, ARE PLENTY OKAY ON A PRIVATE'S PAY!

TERRY AND THE PIRATES
by MILTON CANIFF
KIEL HAS BEEN CONGRATULATED FOR SUPPLYING SUCH A COMPETENT DECOY TO LURE MERCHANT SHIPS TO OUR TORPEDO-RAFT! THE FIRST RAID WAS A COMPLETE SUCCESS!
MY COUNTRY'S ENEMIES DO NOT EXPECT RAIDERS IN THESE WATERS! WHEN THEIR SHIPS HEAR A DISTRESS SIGNAL—AND FIND YOUR YOUNG FRIEND FLOATING ON A LIFE RAFT—THEY COME CLOSE... OUR MAGNETIC TORPEDOES DO THE REST!
...BUT WE MUST LEAVE YOU! OUR RAIDER, DISGUISED AS A TRAMP, WILL HAVE A NEW VICTIM...AND THE BLOND ONE WILL AGAIN BE BAIT FOR AN UNSUSPECTING MERCHANT VESSEL! SAY GOODBYE TO YOUR ADORING PATRONESS, DON JUAN!
BETTER SEARCH HIM... HE MAY HAVE CONCEALED A WEAPON—OR A BIT OF GLASS TO SIGNAL OUR VICTIM!.... THE GAY BLADE DOES NOT PROTEST THIS TIME! PERHAPS HE IS RECONCILED TO KIEL'S SUPERIOR STRENGTH!
AH, AGAIN OUR SCOUTING PLANE HAS LOCATED AN UNESCORTED MERCHANTMAN MOVING TOWARD HONGKONG! AN SOS WILL BE BROADCAST—GIVING THIS LATITUDE AND LONGITUDE! CAST OFF THE TORPEDO RAFT AND SPREAD OIL ON THE SURFACE! WE WILL MOVE AWAY AND WAIT FOR THE GAME TO TAKE THE BAIT!
LATER
MUCH TIME PASSES! ARE THE DETECTORS CORRECTLY SET? THERE SHOULD BE AN EXPLOSION BY NOW!
YES, SIR! ALL IS IN ORDER!
ON BOARD THE MERCHANT SHIP WHICH HAS ANSWERED THE FALSE DISTRESS SIGNAL....
I WAS HOPING WE HAD LOCATED THE SHIP THAT DISAPPEARED IN THIS AREA LAST WEEK...BUT THIS SOS WAS APPARENTLY FROM AN AMERICAN FREIGHTER!
THE FAINT WIRELESS MESSAGE SAID A BOILER HAD BLOWN! HELLO!.. THERE'S A LIFE RAFT...AND A SPOT OF OIL! SEEMS TO BE ONLY ONE MAN ALIVE!
NOW'S THE TIME!...WE LEARNED THIS TRICK FROM A CHINESE MAGICIAN—AND BURMA MADE THE STUFF BY CUTTING UP HER SILK DRESSES—AFTER SWIPING AN INTERNATIONAL CODE BOOK FROM KIEL!... BUT THAT DOESN'T GUARANTEE IT WILL WORK!
WHAT'S THIS?...."YOU SHOULD STOP YOUR VESSEL IMMEDIATELY"..."YOU ARE STANDING INTO DANGER"...."KEEP CLEAR OF ME"......"I AM DISCHARGING EXPLOSIVES" GENTLEMEN, I BELIEVE WE HAVE FOUND A FRIEND IN THE ENEMY'S CAMP!!

Woollcott's Role Unique Event in Chicago Stage Lore

His Portrayal Gives Comedy New Dimension

By Cecil Smith.

Alexander Woollcott's brief fortnight in "The Man Who Came to Dinner"—which closes Saturday evening at the Erlanger theater—will go down in local theater lore as one of the unique events of the decade. With the portly town crier in the rôle of Sheridan Whiteside, the rôle Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman originally wrote both about and for him, the comedy suddenly seems to attain a third dimension.

Clifton Webb.

Last year's performance, with Clifton Webb in the title rôle, remained rather completely on the surface. Mr. Webb was a seasoned actor, sitting starchily in his wheel chair and sending his verbal shafts where they hurt most. But when all was said and done his Sheridan Whiteside was a bitter opponent, and the surrounding characters must have been unduly masochistic to take what they took from him. I have always felt that a less harsh performance than Mr. Webb's would have tempted Chicago audiences to continue patronizing this brilliant comedy for considerably more than 24 weeks.

Now, for the first time, we see Sheridan Whiteside as a man who might conceivably make and retain the famous friends whose names decorate the lines of the text. He says horrid things to every one, but he says them with literary relish instead of downright personal vituperation. His temper tantrums are as transparent as those of a small child, and any one can guess that the clouds will soon lift from his disposition. In short, Mr. Woollcott behaved as tho he personally liked even the people he attacked most vigorously, whereas Mr. Webb behaved as tho he personally and permanently disliked them.

Abstract justice impels me to point out, however, that Mr. Woollcott—unlike Mr. Webb—is not a technically accomplished actor. I cannot bring myself to agree with Lloyd Lewis' praise of his resourceful employment of stylistic devices which Mr. Lewis attributes to a number of Mr. Woollcott's famous acting friends. In his attempt to use various tricks of the comic trade, it seems to me, he can overshoot, undershoot, and quite generally miss the mark quite as often as he can hit it. The essence of his success with the rôle, rather, is the mere fact of his honest, ample, and racy presence in a wheel chair that was invented for him and for him alone.

Of all his merry associates, I was snared most completely beyond escape by the fragile sweetness of Minnie Dupree, who appears as Harriet Stanley, the ax murderess. Her performance is of a piece with those given next door in "Arsenic and Old Lace" by her gifted contemporaries, Laura Hope Crews and Effie Shannon. So many of these older actresses, trained in a day before movies and the radio had tarnished the art of the theater, possess unique skill in characterization, and Miss Dupree is no exception. Maintaining every outward aspect of simplicity and charm, she presents each of her brief episodes with admirable directness and firmness of line, so that at each appearance her acting registers with the audience in inverse ratio to the amount of effort she seems to expend upon it.

Edith Atwater, a gifted Chicago girl, is also increasing her reputation in her present rôle of Maggie Cutler, the shrewd but human secretary to the extraordinary Whiteside. In the fall of 1938 Miss Atwater appeared at the Harris theater as Leonora Stubbs in Gertrude Lawrence's "Susan and God" company. In this part her vibrant voice and her poised acting did not fail to make an impression here, as they already had in New York. When the first company of "The Man Who Came to Dinner" [with Monty Woolley] was formed, Sam H. Harris chose Miss Atwater to create the rôle of Maggie Cutler, and she might be playing in the New York company still, after 17 months, if she had not preferred to join the touring Woollcott troupe in the same play.

DANCERS IN WYNN SHOW

Theater Gossip

The excitement of the "Arsenic and Old Lace" première over, Russel Crouse, co-producer with Howard Lindsay, and Frank Sullivan, journalistic funny man and one of the angels of the show, have now returned to New York. In addition to last Sunday's gala opening at the Grand Opera house, the two men also took pleasure, the following night, in Alexander Woollcott's première. Mr. Crouse appeared in the walk-on part of the third convict, finding it a difficult problem to keep his face straight when Mr. Woollcott introduced him as "Frank Sullivan, the hatchet murderer." And now they have departed, leaving their brilliant comedy behind them, with a long run in sight. It is expected, incidentally, that Helen Twelvetrees, who has been hospitalized with pneumonia in Indianapolis, will have rejoined the cast by this week.

Helen Twelvetrees.

There will be a special Easter matinée of "See My Lawyer" at the Studebaker theater this afternoon at 3. If popular response today seems to warrant, Sunday matinées will be continued thruout the engagement.

Lucienne and Ashour, the excellent "reversible Apache" dance team of Ed Wynn's "Boys and Girls Together" at the Selwyn theater, are brother and sister, members of the famous Loyal family, who have been circus performers for four generations. Their parents started out with an equestrian act, but later changed to acrobatic dancing. Their great-grandfather was Napoleon III.'s riding master. Lucienne and Ashour began their circus career at the ages of 3 and 6; even at that time their act was an Apache dance. They have performed fairly extensively in this country. It was at the Chez Paree here in Chicago that George Woods, Mr. Wynn's casting director, saw them and engaged them for the show. Lucienne's husband, Robert Laurent, a Folies Bergeres singer, was taken prisoner by the Germans in Paris, and nothing has been heard from him since.

Philip Loeb, of "My Sister Eileen" at the Harris theater, thinks comedy in the theater has changed greatly in the last few years. "Comedy," he says, "must have a social point of view to be funny nowadays. There was a time when all humor was basic. That is, a good joke could easily be translated from one language to another and still be funny in an alien land. Now, where free governments still exist, humorists point up their observations so that they encompass the social and political.

Anti-Nazi Play Contender for Award Honors

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK [Special].—Now there is a new and vigorous contender for the best-play-of-the-season prize in New York, and a contender which is certain to make serious thinkers of a lot of prize-awarding committeemen engaged in the selection. This newcomer is a play by Lillian Hellman called "Watch on the Rhine."

Miss Hellman's drama is the most persuasive and moving of the anti-Nazi plays. Her hero is one of the intellectual martyrs to the cause of eradicating Fascism from the face of the earth. The drama's excitement is wrought by his attempt to find a little peace in America before returning to continue his work in Europe.

Those of you who remember Miss Hellman's successful dramas, "The Children's Hour," of two or three seasons back, and "The Little Foxes," with which Tallulah Bankhead has been exciting the countryside this season, will remember something of the power of her writing. In both her former plays her approach was rather on the dispassionate and coldly calculating side. She was dealing, for the most part, with hateful people, and she was ruthless in their exposure.

In "Watch on the Rhine" she reverses the treatment. Her people are suffering humans for whom she has great sympathy and for whose cause she declares the burning enthusiasm of a crusader. The result is a drama that is glowing with these virtues.

The Kurt Muellers, who come from Europe to visit a little while with Sara Mueller's mother, the widowed Fanny Farrelly of Washington, D. C., are a kindly group of father, mother, and three children who have been hounded from one neutral country to another since Kurt voluntarily enlisted in the cause of fighting Nazilsm in his native Germany.

There has not been a great deal of sympathy between the Muellers and the Farrellys in the 20 years since Sara Farrelly married her German suitor. Grandma Farrelly has been content to stay in America and wonder about her daughter and her grandchildren. Sara, we assume, was a willful child, taking after her mother. She also belonged to the generation that demanded the right to live its own lives.

But now that Sara's husband is in trouble there is help for her in America and in the home of her girlhood. The Muellers are taken in, the children are great favorites in no time, and all would have been well except for the presence of a certain Rumanian count, Teck de Brancovis. He also is a refugee, and he also, with his wife, another American girl, has been taken in by Mrs. Farrelly.

Count de Brancovis is short of funds. Also, he is suspicious of Kurt Mueller and his mission. Little by little he pieces together information he is able to come by with the help of the Nazi embassy in Washington. And when he discovers that Kurt is not only in the bad books of the Gestapo, but that he also has collected a considerable sum of money which he plans to take back to Europe to help his comrades in concentration camps, he decides to try a bit of quiet blackmail. Either the Muellers will give him the collected funds or he will put the Gestapo on their trail.

When the situation becomes too tense for comfort and something has to be done, Kurt Mueller quietly kills the count and buries the body. He will make a break for Europe. Knowing the risk they are taking as parties to the crime, the Farrelly family still stands by. Kurt is to have their help in gaining at least a two week start on the law. He thinks he will be able to get back into one of the neutral countries and make good his promise to his comrades. But he knows, and Sara knows, that he is most likely going to his death. Even so, the cause is greater than the lives it costs, and the Muellers are content with the sacrifices they are asked to make.

The same sense of drama that Miss Hellman has displayed in all her plays, and in "The Children's Hour" and "The Little Foxes" in particular, is evident in this new drama. Its direction by Herman Shumlin, the producer, is, I think, a little less effective than it would be if it were less consciously deliberate. There are moments, in even the strongest scenes, when the grip of the drama wavers and the auditor is made conscious of the carefully studied work of the players.

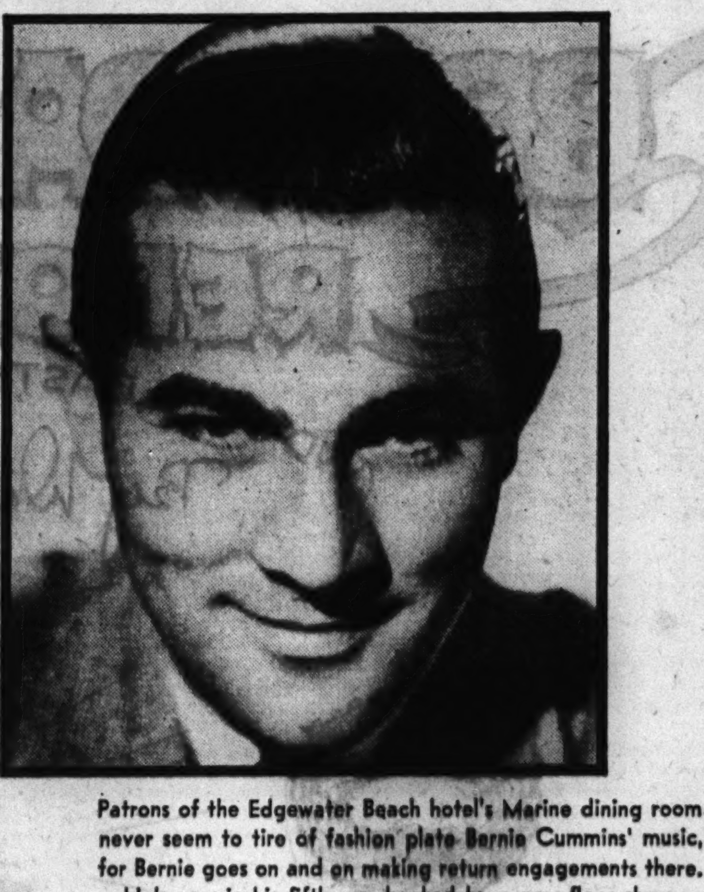
Paul Lukas.

The final scene, for example, is the father's farewell to his children. They have been playing upstairs. They are sent for and brought into the living room. The father is left with them and tries as best he can to make them understand that what he is doing is not alone his duty, but something that when they are older they will understand is the only thing that he can do.

It is, as you may easily believe, a heart-wrenching scene. It is magnificently played by Paul Lukas as Kurt, and by three talented youngsters representing the Mueller children, a pompous little fellow of 7, a girl of 10, a boy of 14. And yet, as fine a scene as it is, there is a deliberation in its playing that frequently threatens to take it away from the moving realism Miss Hellman intended and reduce it to a theatrical convention dangerously bordering that of a run-of-the-theater melodrama.

Mady Christians is a nobly sacrificing mother, but she also is a technically skilled actress, and she and her director are determined to make the most of her every emotional scene. Lucile Watson plays the sharp-tongued but good-hearted Fanny Farrelly with all her comedy skill, and the support is worthy of its leaders.

CUMMINS STILL GOING



Patrons of the Edgewater Beach hotel's Marine dining room never seem to tire of fashion plate Bernie Cummins' music, for Bernie goes on and on making return engagements there. He's now in his fifth run, backed by a new floor show.

Drama Notes

Percy Waram [Father], Peter Jamerson [John], and doubtless other members of the "Life with Father" company whom this department did not see, spent their 60th Sunday in Chicago attending the opening of "Arsenic and Old Lace." There is no Sunday performance of "Life with Father" at the Blackstone theater. Russel Crouse and Howard Lindsay, authors of the vintage play of the Day family, have taken their first flyer as producers with the fantastically successful "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Your bookseller will be glad to show you a new volume entitled "John Barrymore," by Alma Power-Waters. Mrs. Waters is the wife of Capt. Pierce Power-Waters, who was Mr. Barrymore's personal manager thruout the historic run of "My Dear Children" at the Selwyn theater here. The book contains many diverting reminiscences of the actor's earlier career, which Mrs. Waters jotted down as she heard them recounted backstage and on many social occasions.

When "Twelfth Night" opens at the Erlanger theater May 5 it will still have exactly the cast originally chosen by Gilbert Miller and the Theater guild, the co-producers. In addition to Helen Hayes as Viola and Maurice Evans as Malvolio, the cast includes the following major players: Sophie Stewart as Olivia, June Walker as Maria, Mark Smith as Sir Toby Belch, Wallace Acton as Sir Andrew Aguecheek, Donald Burr as Feste, Lauren Gilbert as Orsino, Raymond Johnson as Fabian, Alex Courtenay as Sebastian, and Ellis Irving as Antonio.

Chekhoff's "The Three Sisters" opens at the Goodman theater Thursday, to run thru May 1. Maurice Gnesin directed the performance, which is the seventh in the members' series. On Saturday afternoons thru April 26 "The Sleeping Beauty" will be given for children.

The James Hargis Connelly players, in association with Eva Fitz-Gerald, will present the "favorite melodrammer of the gaslit era," "East Lynne," on Wednesday evening, May 7, in the Little theater on the 17th floor of the Kimball building. Sets of dishes will be given as prizes.

Two Major Benefits Highlight Week's Music Calendar

Noted Artists Are Scheduled for Concerts

By Edward Barry.

Two major benefits punctuate this week's music calendar. On Tuesday evening in Orchestra hall the American Jewish congress will sponsor a British war relief concert which will feature three important artists—the violinist, Erica Morini; the cellist, Raya Garbousova, and the conductor, Izler Solomon. The orchestra will be made up of members of the Woman's Symphony orchestra.

On Saturday evening in the Civic Opera house the Margaret Etter crèche is to sponsor a concert by the soprano Lily Pons and her conductor-husband, Andre Kostelanetz. There will be an orchestra, naturally.

An additional point of interest in regard to the Tuesday benefit is the fact that its program will be drawn exclusively from the music of Jewish composers—Bloch, Saint-Saëns, Weiner, and Mendelssohn.

Neither Miss Morini nor Miss Garbousova has appeared in Chicago since the season of 1937-'38. The former is a sparkling Viennese whose musical education began at the age of four and who played for no less a person than the Archduke Karl of Austria when she was five. Three years later she had finished a course at the conservatory and was ready for her formal concert debut. So successful was this debut that six other appearances in Vienna followed. Before Morini entered her teens she knew the stages of Austria, Germany, Poland, Rumania, and Hungary.

Her American debut was made in 1921, when she was 13 years old. During the season of 1921-'22 she made her first appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Miss Morini, like a bewildering number of other European artists, now lives in America and has taken out citizenship papers.

Miss Garbousova, who was born in Tiflis, Russian Georgia, in 1909, was also a prodigy. Her musical education began at the age of four [on the piano]. Her attention was called to the beauties of stringed instruments when she heard Serge Koussevitzky, now conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, play the double bass. It was that unwieldy instrument on which she set her heart, but her father compromised by buying her a cello.

Garbousova was a backward child compared to Morini, for she was all of 14 before she embarked on her first concert tour. As if to make up for lost time, she invaded such distant places as London, Paris, Vienna, Berlin, Rome, Madrid, and Rotterdam during the following years. Her American debut did not come until 1934. Chicago first heard her in the fall of '35.

In contrast to his fellow musicians with their exotic backgrounds, Izler Solomon is a middle westerner. He was born in St. Paul, received much of his musical education in Chicago, and obtained some of his early conducting experience in Lansing, Mich. During these last two years or so guest appearances in various cities and on the radio have been bringing him into the national limelight, but the vast bulk of his work is still done here. He is conductor of the Woman's Symphony orchestra and the Illinois Symphony orchestra. With the former organization he recently concluded a 26 week network broadcast series.

Tuesday's program follows:

Concerto Grosso for String Orchestra	Bloch
Concerto for Violincello, A Minor, opus 33	Saint-Saëns
Serenade, F Minor	Weiner
Concerto for Violin, E. Minor, opus 64	Mendelssohn

Pons and Kostelanetz are one of the best known married couples in the world. The circumstances of their courtship and marriage [June 2, 1938] interested millions of newspapers readers, and since they have been man and wife they have appeared jointly in some spectacular concerts. On July 24, 1939, the largest crowd in the history of the Grant park concerts [and quite possibly in the history of music] came to hear them perform.

Both, of course, had enjoyed very great fame even before the days of their collaboration. Miss Pons, after considerable European experience [she had been born in Cannes, France, in 1905] made her Metropolitan opera debut in 1931. Her fragile beauty and her remarkable artistic ability captured the fancy of musicians and the general public alike. She has become one of America's best known and best liked singers. Her Chicago record includes several appearance with the resident opera companies in such rôles as Lucia and Lakmé.

Mr. Kostelanetz was born in Russia, and at the age of 20 was one of the conductors at the Imperial opera in St. Petersburg. After the revolution he came to America, served as accompanist for various singers, and emerged into national prominence as a radio conductor about 1930.

The program follows:

Overture, "Sakuntala"	Goldmark
[a] The Nightingale	Alabieff-La Forge
[b] Echo Song	Bishop-La Forge
Lily Pons.
Variations and Fugue on "Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree"	Weinberger
Caro Nome, from "Rigoletto"	Verdi
Lily Pons.
Fantasia, "Francesca da Rimini"	Tschaikowsky
Excerpts from "The Daughter of the Regiment"	Donizetti
Lily Pons.

Stars in Three of This Week's Music Programs

Two of the principal sopranos with the San Carlo Opera company, spending this week in the Auditorium theater, are Lucille Meusel (left) and Mobley Lushanya.

Andre Kostelanetz, conductor, and his famous wife, Lily Pons, will appear in the Civic Opera house on Saturday for the benefit of the Margaret Etter Creche.

The American Jewish Congress' British relief benefit in Orchestra hall on Tuesday will feature Raya Garbousova (left), cellist, and Erica Morini, violinist.

Current Music Notes

With the presentation of four concerts in Orchestra hall this week the Chicago Symphony orchestra will bring its 50th, Golden Jubilee, season to a close. A week from Thursday the orchestra will give a single post-season concert under the direction of Arturo Toscanini for the benefit of its pension fund. After that it will not be heard from until the Ravinia festival opens on June 28.

The final program of the Thursday-Friday subscription series will repeat two works written in honor of the orchestra's anniversary, William Walton's "Scapino, a Comedy Overture" and Frederick Stock's "Festival Fanfare." [Dr. Stock's work was the first number on the initial program of the season and appropriately enough will be the last item on the final program.]

The program also includes the first performance of 12 "Variations on an American Folk-Song" by as many local composers—another work dedicated to the orchestra and written for its Golden Jubilee season. The tune used for this purpose is "El-a-noy," sung by early residents of southern Illinois and found in Carl Sandburg's "Songbag." The even dozen Chicago composers who have contributed variations are Felix Borowski, John Alden Carpenter, Rossetter G. Cole, Edward Collins, Rudolph Ganz, Samuel Lieberson, Florian Mueller, Albert Noelte, Arne Oldberg, Thorvald Otterstrom, Leo Sowerby, and David Van Vactor.

The full program for Thursday night and Friday afternoon, Frederick Stock conducting, follows:

Scapino, a Comedy Overture	Walton
Symphony No. 1, C minor, opus 68	Brahms
Variations on an American Folk-Song	[First performance]
Festival Fanfare	Stock

On Saturday night the orchestra will play its final popular concert for the season. Again Dr. Stock will conduct. The program:

"Pinocchio," a Merry Overture	Toch
Symphony No. 4, D minor, opus 120	Schumann
Suite, A minor, opus 42	MacDowell
Scapino, a Comedy Overture	Walton
Tableau musical, "Baba-Yaga"	Liadoff
Legend, "Kikimora"	Liadoff
Valses de Concert, Nos. 1 and 2	Glazounoff
Polka and Fugue, from "Schwanda"	Weinberger

The last Young People's concert will be presented by the orchestra under Dr. Stock's direction on Wednesday afternoon. Maria Theresa Gallagher, youthful soprano, will be the soloist.

On Monday night in the Great Northern theater the Illinois Symphony orchestra will likewise conclude its season. Its final program was chosen by its audiences. First choice turned out to be Shostakovich's Fifth Symphony, which was introduced locally by the orchestra. Three of the four compositions on the program are by contemporary writers. The concert will be conducted by Izler Solomon and includes the following numbers:

Overture, "Academic Festival"	Brahms
Classical Symphony, D major	Prokofieff
Rumanian Rhapsody No. 1	Enesco
Symphony No. 5	Shostakovich

Julian Leviton, winner of the 1938 Society of American Musicians' contest, will give a piano recital in Kimball hall on Tuesday night. His program offers the Bach-Busoni Toccata in C minor, Mozart's Sonata in B-flat major [Köchel 570], Ravel's Sonatine, four Chopin pieces, Kodaly's Meditation on a Theme by Debussy, three Debussy works, Liszt's "Sposalizio," and Ravel's "Alborada del Gracioso."

Julian Leviton.

William Miller, tenor, will give a recital in the Goodman theater on Thursday, May 8, for the benefit of the Chicago Osteopathic clinic.

On the mezzanine of the Auditorium hotel next Friday evening the Woman's Concert ensemble, a chamber orchestra conducted by Fanny Arnsten-Hassler will give its annual spring concert. Geneva Liggett will be harp soloist on a program of unusual interest:

Overture to "The Magic Flute"	Mozart
Symphony No. 8	Stamitz
Introduction and Allegro	Ravel
Geneva Liggett.
Prelude and Scherzo	Emil Soderstrom
[First performance.]
Nocturne	T. Rombild
Symphony for chamber orchestra	Wolf-Ferrari

Louisa Hoe and Irma Cooper won first and second places respectively in the vocal division of the National Federation of Music Clubs' contest for the state of Illinois. They will compete in the district finals against winners from Wisconsin and Iowa on April 26 in Peoria.

Franz Lehar's "Gipsy Love" will be sung by the American Opera company in the Auditorium recital hall next Sunday evening.

On Saturday night, April 26, the ninth annual band concert of the St. Philip High school, "The Boys' School for Boys," Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue, will be presented by the Servite Fathers in Orchestra hall.

In Spring a Chorister's Fancy Turns to Thoughts of Song

By Cecil Smith.

The springtime is the great choral season of the musical year. After months of weekly rehearsals, chorus after chorus emerges into the limelight of public performances. Choral masterpieces and choral trivia, long and short, loud and soft, sweet and bitter, come to public hearing, and local vocalists, often having starved thru a winter of public neglect, come into their own in solo passages which are like as not none too grateful.

This, therefore, is a sequence of paragraphs about forthcoming choral concerts. Within the next two weeks, beyond doubt, a good many choral concerts which I am not mentioning will be given. I am not mentioning them because nobody has told me about them, and the ones I am listing are the ones I know about. In order not to hurt any one's feelings in the matter of priority I am dealing with these choral events in strictly chronological order.

Today the Fourth Presbyterian church, on Michigan avenue at Chestnut street, will be one of hundreds of churches where Easter music may be heard. At the Fourth church Barrett Spach will conduct the choir and play the organ at three services—at 11, 4 and 8. The 11 o'clock service includes anthems by Stanford and Charles Wood, and the solo, "The Trumpet Shall Sound," by Handel, sung by Winfred Stracke, bass. At the 4 o'clock service anthems by Bach, Bairstow and Davies will be sung. The 8 o'clock program lists items by Everett Titcomb and Edward Shippen Barnes; and Maurine Parzybok, contralto, will sing Rachmaninoff's "The Lord Is Risen!"

Next Sunday afternoon, at the final concert by the Civic orchestra, conducted by Hans Lange, Beethoven's Ninth Symphony will be presented in Orchestra hall. The choral finale, Schiller's "Ode to Joy," will engage the combined choruses of the Lake Shore Choral society, Mr. Lange, conductor, and the Chicago Singverein, Theodore Lams, conductor. The soloists will be Lois Fehr, soprano; Anne McIsaac, contralto; Leonard Balsamo, tenor, and Holger Sorenson, bass.

This Civic orchestra program next Sunday will also include the rarely performed coronation anthem by Handel, "Zadok the Priest." The program will also include two purely orchestral works of Handel—the Overture in D Major, arranged by Franz Wüllner, and the Concerto in F Major, for two wind choirs and string orchestra, arranged by Gustav F. Kogel.

A choral masterpiece of great value, both historically and artistically, will be rescued from an undeserved limbo when the "Passion According to St. Matthew," by Heinrich Schütz, is presented in Thorne hall next Sunday afternoon by the Lutheran Oratorio Society of Chicago, Robert Reuter, conductor. The Passion was composed in 1666. Its composer, Heinrich Schütz, is generally considered to be Bach's most profoundly gifted seventeenth century predecessor in the field of devotional music.

The Lutheran Oratorio society performance will be given in English, in a translation so new that this is said to be the first English performance of the work in America. The music will be sung in its original seventeenth century form, without the editings and alterations of the better known, but less desirable, performing edition of Arnold Mendelssohn. The chorus parts will be lightly accompanied, but the soloists will sing without instrumental accompaniment.

Giuseppe Verdi's towering and magnificent "Manzoni Requiem" will constitute the Apollo Musical club's final public concert of the season. This dramatic and melodious work will be presented in Orchestra hall on Monday, evening, April 21. The conductor of the club is Edgar Nelson. As soloists in the difficult but grateful music the audience will hear Esther Hart, soprano; Ruth Heizer, contralto; William Miller, tenor, and Mark Love, bass. Robert Birch is the organist, and members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will play the instrumental parts.

Father O'Malley will bring his celebrated Paulist choristers to Orchestra hall for their annual downtown concert on Sunday, April 27. Following an established pattern, the program will be an assortment of ancient polyphonic works, madrigals, folk songs, modern Russion motets, and secular works. Hans Hermann Wetzler, a German composer now living in this country, has written a new Latin motet for the choir, and the world première will be given at this concert. Members of the choir will sing solos. John Lynch, soprano soloist for four years, will make his final appearance as a boy soprano.

Harry T. Carlson, conductor of the Swedish Choral club, has asked Frederick Stock to share in the club's spring concert in Orchestra hall on Wednesday, April 30. An impressive program will include Mozart's "Coronation" Mass in C Major and Vaughan Williams' "Toward the Unknown Region," both conducted by Mr. Carlson; and Kodaly's "Budapest Te Deum" and Bruckner's 150th Psalm, both conducted by Dr. Stock. Stanley Martin is organist. Soloists will be Thelma von Eisenhauer, soprano; Elizabeth Brown, contralto; Harold Haugh, tenor, and Mark Love, bass. The Chicago Symphony orchestra, of course, will participate.

Elgar's quintet will be an important item on the program.

Open Clinic on Heredity at Michigan

(The third and enlarged edition of "Higher Education, A Guide to Students in the Selection of a College or University," may be purchased at Chicago Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower. Price 25 cents, 28 cents by mail. Dr. Evans will answer inquiries concerning the various colleges.)

By the Rev. John Evans.

The country's first department and clinic of human heredity has just been established at the University of Michigan by its board of regents. The new department will be a division of the university's laboratory of vertebrate genetics but will also be closely associated with the medical school.

The new clinic, housed in the University hospital, will secure data necessary for the determination of the rôle played by heredity in the production of or predisposition to malformations and diseases.

While individual members of American hospital staffs have made studies of heredity as a factor in disease, and one or two clinics of this type have operated in Europe, the Michigan clinic is the first to be established as such in America. The new department and clinic are the natural outgrowth of studies in heredity in animals which have been conducted in the laboratory of vertebrate genetics for many years and were expanded to include problems of human heredity by a grant from the Rackham Research fund.

The American association of Collegiate Registrars will hold its 29th convention for four days at the Drake hotel starting tomorrow. Some of the meetings will be held on the University of Chicago campus. Such questions as "National Youth Administration Policies"; "Credit for Service in the Army or Navy"; "Credentials from South American Institutions"; and "New Methods for Preparation of Transcripts" will be discussed.

• • •

College is no longer restricted to "brain work." It now extends its facilities to foremen of industries. More than 2,000 foremen from Michigan and northern Ohio gathered last week at the University of Michigan to attend a conference sponsored by the universities extension service in cooperation with the National Association of Foremen and the Foremen's clubs of Michigan and Ohio. Subjects discussed included: "The Foreman's Part in National Defense," "What Makes an American Secure?" and various aspects of job training, practical psychology, executive leadership, and methods of handling group grievances.

Good Morning!

Let me introduce you to a mad and merry murder mystery in which strange adventures do befall that debonair amateur detective, Francis Warren, who is also, surreptitiously, author of a much discussed novel titled "Footsteps in the Dark."

• • •

Mr. Warren, be it further known, leads a double life. None wot that he's the F. X. Pettijohn whose name appears on the cover of the aforementioned book. . . . He maintains a scribble nest [not a love nest] in a broken down part of town whither he repairs with his also double-lifing chauffeur-secretary, and where he turns out literature heartily condemned by the priggish of the community.

This handsome young fugitive from the social whirl becomes involved in a murder mystery, and, by conveying to the police certain information re a case they had supposed closed, he causes same to be reopened. Such fun as the audience DOES have, watching Mr. Warren leap from frying pans to fires and endeavor to outwit the devil the while he finnangles to keep his tootsies from getting wet in the deep blue sea. . . .

The remarkably versatile Mr. Flynn acquits himself with human and èclat as the fast moving and thinking Mr. Warren, who, like truth, cannot be permanently downed. Brenda Marshall, the beautiful, the poised, is adorable as his wife. She plays the harassed Mrs. Warren gravely, but with a twinkle. Lee Patrick is a scream as a burlesque queen. Allen Jenkins is excellent as the Man Friday and you'll enjoy Alan Hale as the police chief.

The piece is intelligently presented, has snappy dialog and an alluring sparkle.

See you tomorrow.

Vaudeville

"Easter Glamor Parade" is the name of the revue at the Oriental theater. Its headliners are Rosita Royce and her celebrated live doves; the Calgary Brothers, international comedy pair; Bud Harris & Co.; the Balabanove Five, musical quintet; the Barry "Vochestra," a group of 16 girl singers; a dancing chorus of 16, and a dozen girls modeling the latest Easter costumes. "Wild Man of Borneo" is the film.

At the State Lake theater Buddy Rogers, Judy Starr, Nick Lucas, and Yvette Dare are the well known names to be found on the vaudeville bill. Additional acts include Barr and Estes, dancers, and Fenwick and Cook, comedians; on the screen is "Buck Privates."

The Chicago theater stage show offers Eddy Howard, popular radio and record vocalist; Rosemary Deering, the Sterner Sisters, Gene Sheldon, the Briants, and the theater's ballet in two spectacles, "Danse Illumine" and "Organesque." The motion picture is "Road to Zanzibar."

On the stage of the Rialto theater this week's performers are Frances White, Jean Carroll, Leona Thurston, the Petty Sisters, Garrett Price, Eoland O'Keefe, Don Payne, and Stan Gilbert. "Main Street Girl" is the screen attraction.

To Present "Our Town."

Two performances of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" will be presented by the Bryn Mawr players on April 18 and 25 at Gardner hall, 7000 Jeffery avenue. Mrs. George E. Q. Johnson is the director.

THE ROAD BUILDER

know, tho, what becomes of 'em, or of me. Poor, sweet Maw, so good a woman, and now—now——"

She was sobbing again, and he was wretchedly happy that he could be with her. Her tears on his shoulder were like a sprinkling of consecrated water. Theby grew strong enough to face her grief alone and she said to Fleming:

"I'll be all right now. I'll get along. I'm not the only orphan in the world. Poor Paw's the youngest of us all now. He needs more motherin' than any of us. But you got your work and I got mine. You better be gettin' on back to yours. Good-by. And thank you! Thank you!"

She slipped free of his arms and did not wait for the words he could not find. As he turned away he found Bop holding the gate open for him. He said:

"If it hadn' 'a' been for you, Mistoo Flem'n', this valley wouldn't be the hellhole it air naow. Maw would 'a' been well and alive. Paw would 'a' been hale and hearty instead of a mewlin', weepin' baby. The girls would 'a' been our'n till kingdom come.

"The fust day we ever laid eyes on you Theby begged me to run git the rifle and shoot you. Ever' time I see you now I'm sorry I didn't."

"I understand how you feel, Bop," Fleming said. "I'm sorry for everything."

Bop laughed. "Sorry is a grand word for wipin' out debts. But maybe some day I'll make up for my mistake in lettin' you live."

"Maybe you'd make a worse mistake if you—if, what's the use? I'm sorry, Bop."

He was so much with grief for Theby that he could not be afraid of Bop and his feudist codes of ambush and assassination. But it must have been on Bop's and Paw's account that Theby sent him a little note that night by one of the children. It was the first letter he had ever had from her—except the inscription in the book he returned. And a strange one it was for a love letter. On the envelope was scrawled:

Mr. C. Fleming, esq.

Inside it said:

"Dear Mr. F. The funeral is to be tomorr afternune. The preecher at Bonita Beach is saying a prare over the grave in the woods where Ma always wanted to be buried. Ide be much oblige if you was to please stay away. Ile be very buisy from now and better I didn't see you for a while anyways you understand why.

"Yours truely, T. K."

He understood why, and put the letter away among his treasures.

But he felt that he could not stay away from Theby forever. He must do something to give her some brief release from her grief and her toil. The next Sunday morning he drove up the back road, which had now been improved for the use of the construction trucks. He stopped his car at the end of the path along the ledge and kept a keen eye out for Bop, but found him on the porch half asleep. At sight of Fleming, he rose to dart inside—for his rifle, no doubt. But Theby met him and ran to Fleming with such a gusty joy that even Bop had not the heart to quench it—not to mention the difficulty of shooting Fleming without risking Theby.

When Fleming said he had come to take her for a ride, she protested that she could not leave the house, but Lurana and Bettymay implored her to go and promised to be good.

"Make her go, Mistoo Flem'n'," said Laurana. "She's jes dyin' on her feet," said Bettymay. "We'll take good keer of Paw," said Lurana.

So Theby consented. Out of sight of the house she began to run along the path. But her muscles were rusty and her girlhood gone. She had to stop for breath and lean on Fleming. In the car she drank deep of the open air and her eyes rejoiced in the view of the wide sea.

"What I like best about the ocean," she said, "is there's no trees on it. Sometimes I get just smothered with trees. They stand round listenin' and whisperin' together. It's like I read somewhere about there's never no such loneliness as you feel in a crowd. Those old trees seem to keep talkin' about poor Maw bein' gone. And Paw's worse'n gone. The children can't stand the place any more. They'll be runnin' away and nothin' left but Paw and me and the trees."

He wanted to say what one tells mourners to tide them over:

"I'll never leave you."

In her presence he meant it, but even if he had said it she would not have let herself be fooled by what was not even hope. She had got along most of her life without hope, and she could never quite give it heart room.

They were both thinking of Sue. Her ghost was always hovering about them, spying on them as it seemed sometimes. But they never spoke of her and for the moment it was enough for Theby to be out of the woods about her house. She was happier than he had seen her for a long while. They rode all morning until she began to fret over her brood and insist that she ought to be at home.

Since he would be able to see little or nothing of her till another Sunday came in over another long week, he insisted that she stop at Pop Tevey's and take lunch with him. She sighed:

"Lord it would be nice to eat something I didn't cook, but what would the girls say if I came in and sat at the table with you instead of waiting on you. They'd probably refuse to wait on me."

"They'd love it," he said. And the idea amused her starved soul so that she consented. When they left his car, he gave her his arm and she tried to march into the dining room as if she were a bride on her way to a wedding breakfast.

She felt foolish enough in her childish laughter and so did Fleming, but they felt a different sort of foolishness when, as they swung thru the doorway, an exceedingly smartly dressed young woman rose from a chair to meet them.

Sue Takes Complete Command of Situation

It was Sue Tipton.

She was in such complete command of the situation that she could afford to take it lightly in view of the consternation of Fleming and the utter defenselessness of Theby.

Theby had no fight left in her, nothing to fight for. She dropped Fleming's arm, and walked blindly on into the knot of waitresses who had been watching her grand entrance with delight. They had not known who Sue was, except that she had said she was waiting for some one. Theby heard her say to Fleming:

"In your last letter, darling, you said you were so sorry you couldn't get down to see me——"

Waiting to hear no more, Theby broke thru the girls to the kitchen and by a back alley into a path that led to the long road home.

All that Fleming knew was that when he looked for her she was gone, and Sue was saying:

"Can I have a word with you outside?"

He stepped outside with her, and she said: "The beach there. We can talk there."

As soon as they were out of earshot of the restaurant and the rumble and crash of the light surf blurred their language from the other couples on the sand, she sank down and said, with more calm, cool intelligence than he expected from her:

"Im sorry I happened in on you at so embarrassing a moment, darling. I don't blame you for amusing yourself with a pretty girl now and then. I didn't expect you to be a hermit."

He was ashamed to hear himself saying in a very poor self-defense:

"You haven't been exactly a nun yourself, have you?"

"Of course not, darling. I never pretended I was. I always said I preferred you to all the other men, and whenever you could give me all your spare time, that would be enough.

"If you should finally decide to settle down and marry me, I'd be the most faithful little wife that ever was. I'd never look at another man. There's nothing I despise like a married woman that flirts behind her husband's back or before his face.

"It's not the fidelity to him so much as the self-respect. I've got more of it than you may think. It's self-respect that keeps me busy with the men and having fun till I find what you're going to do about me."

"What can I do about you?" he said, feeling miserably guilty toward Theby as well as Sue. "I can't marry you on what I make and with my job what it is—you've told me that often enough."

"But if you'd only take a job that would keep you near me. We could be together all the time you weren't working and by and by——"

"But I can't take a job near you."

"Of course you can, darling. There's hundreds of engineers that live in town and have homes."

"They're either not beginners or they're satisfied with desk work."

"You'd rather be out here in a place like this than be with me."

"You can't put it like that. A man's wife can't say to a man, 'So you prefer your work to me.' He's got to have both. I've got my way to make in the world. I can't have my ambition and you, too, if you stick to the town and the comforts you think you have to have."

"Darling, could you ask me to live in a shack, in a place like this?"

"I couldn't ask you to. I don't ask you to. You've either got to give me up or wait till goodness knows when."

"I'll never give you up," she said with a grimness all the more convincing because she looked like a candybox cover girl when she said it. She did not know just what to say in answer to such confusing flattery, so she said:

"That was Theby, wasn't it?"

"That was Theby."

"You haven't mentioned her in your letters so I assumed that she was pretty active in your life—with the accent on the pretty."

Manlike, he assumed that she was about to break the engagement or whatever it was that bound them together so loosely. But, womanlike, she was the more resolved to keep him if only to keep him from the other woman. She said:

"Well, I suppose I'll just have to go on being an old maid till you finish this road anyway. Maybe you'll know your own mind by then. And now will you come meet Papa and Mama? I'm afraid to go back to them without you."

"Your father and mother here?"

"Yes. Papa had business in San Francisco and so I persuaded him to take Mama and me along. I bullied them into coming this way. And I've waited at least an hour for you. They'll probably snap both our heads off."

They did. They were barely civil to Fleming and snapped off his invitation to drive into the Valley and see the great sights there.

"My boy," said Tipton, "an unfinished road is the last thing on earth I'd cross a road to see. There's all the road I want to look at still lying between us and San Francisco."

"Well, I should say so," was the best his wife could add, tho she was as much startled as he was to find her agreeing with him. They had been driven together by their common resentment of the trouble they were enduring for their mutual child.

She was giving Fleming enough to endure, too. She was so diabolically adorable, so impossible either to give up or to keep. She took him aside now, while her parents fumed, to say:

"Once more, Craig darling, let me make it clear. I have always loved you. You are the one, the only one for me. I'll never give you up while there's any hope. Meanwhile I'm not responsible for my conduct and I don't hold you responsible for yours. Good-by, darling."

She kissed him fervently, hoping that Theby was watching. Her father raged, but her mother said:

"She kisses everybody. She calls everybody darling. They all do. It doesn't mean a thing."

When Fleming surrendered Sue to her icy parents, and the chauffeur gave the limousine its head, its dust whirled round him. But then everything was whirling round him.

He returned to Pop Tevey's to find Theby. She was not to be found. Suspecting the truth, he hurried to his car and went along the back road till he overtook her. She turned at the sound of his horn, and seeing him, dived into the woods as into a sea.

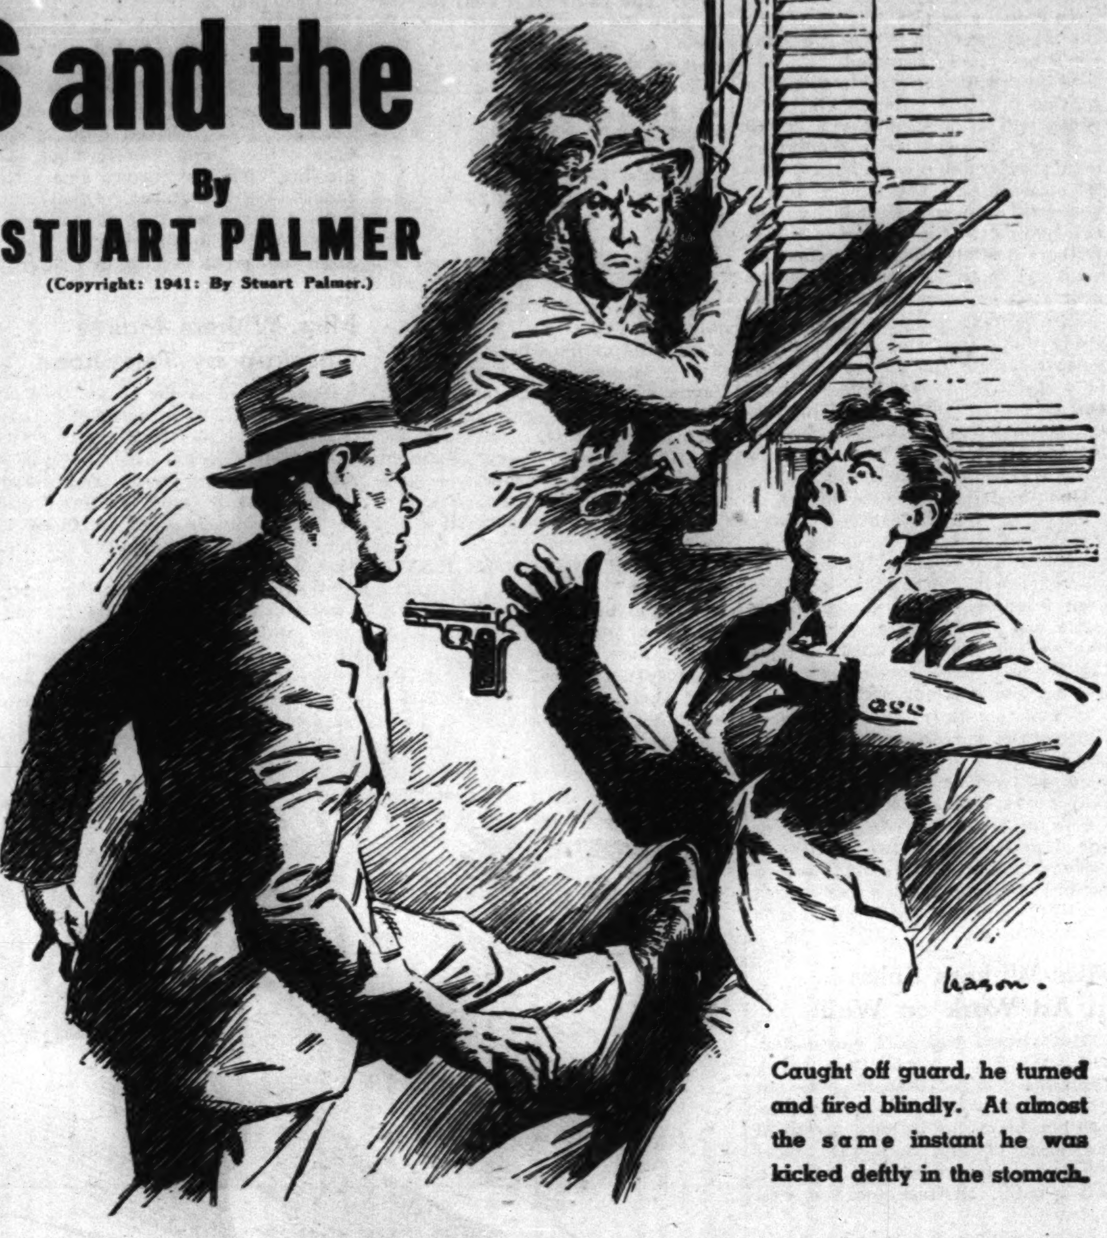
MISS WITHERS and the GREEN ICE

By

STUART PALMER

(Copyright: 1941: By Stuart Palmer.)



Caught off guard, he turned and fired blindly. At almost the same instant he was kicked deftly in the stomach.

FEW and far between—were the passersby on Manhattan's 57th street that rainy Saturday afternoon, but still not few enough for the purpose of the man in the tan raincoat.

He loitered until the glint of brass buttons had disappeared inside the cigar store on the corner, and then pulled his hat over his eyes and strolled casually toward the glittering windows of Vanderbock et Cie, Jewelers, Founded Paris 1890.

He paused there briefly, and then passed hurriedly on, leaving behind him one neatly wrapped brick, one smashed plate glass window, and no diamonds.

As the burglar alarms let go with a nerve-paralyzing clatter, the man in the raincoat ran out into the street and leaped lightly to the side of a small shiny roadster which happened to be rolling conveniently along there, driven by what was later described as "a blonde dame with sunglasses."

The roadster picked up speed, but then from the cigar store on the corner rushed a uniformed officer, shouting "Halt!" and fumbling with the catch of his holster. There was a sharp, dry slap of a pistol shot. Brass buttons collapsed on the wet pavement, and with a screech of tortured rubber the car rounded the corner and disappeared north toward the park.

The burglar alarms continued, and then the wail of sirens swelled the ear-splitting din. A radio car slammed on its brakes beside the crumpled figure in the gutter, but the doctor who jumped down out of the following ambulance shook his head and said "Dead on arrival." Fifty-seventh street's drama was now only another paragraph on the police teletype.

Humanity appeared in considerable numbers, blocking the street and trampling in the broken glass outside the jeweler's window. Precinct detectives were very busy, and then stood back as a sharp-nosed lieutenant from uptown robbery detail took charge. And finally nothing less than a big black limousine from headquarters appeared, from which appeared a wiry, gray little Irishman with a gold badge cupped in his right hand.

The lieutenant, who had been staring gloomily into the looted window, now turned and saluted. "Grosskopf, lieutenant robbery detail," he introduced himself.

"Inspector Piper, homicide. And Sergt. Mains," said the man from downtown, waving at the curly-headed but extremely serious youngster who had driven the car. "We're only kibitzing, lieutenant. Go right ahead."

"It's simple smash-and-grab," the lieutenant said. "Like the other cases we've been having. Only this time old Sam Bodley had to get blasted as they were making their getaway."

"Some day these jewelers will learn to use safety glass," Piper observed. "Any witnesses?"

Lieut. Grosskopf shrugged and pointed inside the store. "There's the doorman at Carnegie, and a dame," he said.

Inspector Winces at a Familiar Voice

The inspector moved toward the door, and then winced as a clear and familiar feminine voice sounded above the noise of the crowd.

"Yoohoo! Oscar!"

The inspector turned, as if to seek shelter, but it was too late. Pushing thru the ranks of the curious, ducking beneath the rope barrier to the detriment of her somewhat amazing hat, came a lean, angular lady brandishing a black cotton umbrella. "Oscar, I simply must tell you——"

"O, it's you!" muttered the inspector, without enthusiasm, as he turned to face Miss Hildegarde Withers. "You know, some day I'm going to smash that radio of yours, so help me."

"I wasn't listening in on your old police calls," snapped the maiden school teacher indignantly. "I was right here in the neighborhood, shopping for an apartment, and I heard the sirens . . ."

"All right, all right," he told her. "Now run along." Lieut. Grosskopf interrupted, bearing a brick partially wrapped in white tissue paper, with festive red string and gilt stickers. "That's what the guy used, eh?" Piper took the brick, hefted it, and then handed it into the custody of the handsome young sergeant, in spite of Miss Withers' obvious interest. "Stop trying to act like a detective, Hildegarde," Piper went on. "There's no tracing a used brick."

He passed on inside the jewelry store, intent upon finding the witnesses to the crime. The sergeant followed, with notebook in readiness, and Miss Withers, trying to look as much like the Invisible Man as possible, tagged along.

There wasn't too much to be got from the witnesses. John Asch, doorman at Carnegie Hall, had heard the alarms and the shot, and had looked down the street in time to glimpse the departing roadster which he thought was a 1938 sport coupe. "It all happened so quick!" he complained. "A blonde dame with sun glasses was driving."

Miss Marcia Lee Smith, who admitted that she was late of Savannah, Ga., and now in New York to take up the study of the violin, was making the most of her adventure. She was dark, pretty, and talkative. "I was just walking along the street, to save taxi fare, you know, and I heard a great tremendous crash and the alarms and everything. I looked up and there was a man—a great, tall, dark man, sort of foreign looking—and he ran into the street and jumped in the car and away they went. Oooh, was I scared!" And she looked up at Sergt. Mains, letting her lashes fall across her dimpled cheek.

"Okay, folks. Leave your names and addresses with the Sarge, and then you can go." Inspector Piper turned away, then suddenly confronted Miss Hildegarde Withers. "Now what are you sleuthing at?" he demanded. "I thought I told you——"

"Nothing, Oscar. Nothing at all," she insisted. Which was mostly true. It had occurred to her that the sergeant ought to be taking Marcia Lee Smith's address and telephone number down in his official notebook instead of in the little red address book which he had produced from an inner pocket, but that was nobody's business but his own.

The last witness to be interviewed was the Vanderbock in charge of the store.

"I was in the rear of the store with the staff, making plans for the anniversary sale tomorrow," he admitted. "I heard the tinkle of glass, and looked up to see a man—a man with a hat—grabbing things out of the display window. Then he was gone." Vanderbock shrugged. "Anyway, the most valuable piece in the window, a flawless 25 carat emerald set in a ring, was overlooked by the thief. And the diamonds he took were fully insured."

"Oscar, I've something——"

"Later, Hildegarde! Run along now." And the inspector turned his back on her. Miss Withers sniffed, shrugged, and marched toward the door.

The inspector caught Miss Withers on the sidewalk, a very ruffled Miss Withers indeed. "Okay, Hildegarde," he apologized. "I'll buy you a cup of coffee to make up for throwing you out. Only it makes us all short-tempered to have anything like this happen. A cop shot down in his tracks—and we don't know a thing about the guy who did it!"

"No, Oscar?" Only slightly mollified, Miss Withers sank down on a stool in the drug store.

"Knowing nothing about the bandit," Miss Withers said thoughtfully as she looked into her coffee cup, "nothing except that he is a man between 30 and 40 years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches tall, wears a light tan raincoat and a dark hat, is an experienced crook known to the police, and is new to the jewel racket. And that he is an egomaniac with a twisted sense of humor. That's all."

The inspector's cup clattered in its saucer. "What?"

"Elementary, my dear Oscar. Who else but an egomaniac would wrap the brick as a gift, with 'Happy Birthday' stickers on it, just because it was the jewelry store's 50th anniversary? He was an experienced crook because of the neatness and swiftness of the job. Wanted by the police—or else he wouldn't have been desperate enough to shoot his way clear. A first offender asks for mercy and a light sentence. And the bandit is new to the jewel trade, or he wouldn't have missed the emerald, see?"

Miss Withers Reveals She Saw the Killer

Piper nodded slowly. "Shrewd guessing. But the rest of it—his height and age and so on . . ."

"I know that," Miss Withers confessed, "because I looked. I came around this corner just as the killer jumped for his car. O, don't glower at me that way. I tried to tell you. Anyway, no man over 40 is spry enough to jump as he jumped. I didn't see his face, or the driver's, because they were headed the other way. But I saw his height, and he was no giant."

"Not bad, Hildegarde, not bad at all," Oscar Piper was forced to confess. "Now if you could work out a trap to catch him . . ."

Suddenly the inspector snapped his fingers. "I've got it! The really important jewelry stores are all within a 10 block area. Tiffany's, Black, Starr, Frost, and so forth—all of them. Each store has alarm wires to the protective association. We'll reroute those wires, straight to the radio dispatcher at headquarters. Plant men in radio cars, motorcycle units, and stakeouts so that 30 seconds after the next smash and grab alarm we have a police cordon drawn tight around the whole section. Nobody gets out, nobody gets in. We tighten the cordon, search everybody, watch for a known crook or somebody acting suspicious." He grinned. "It's a sort of dragnet."

He was less pleased next morning when he picked up the paper and read the story beneath the banner head "COP KILLER STILL AT LARGE." It was not that the newspaper story was in error. They had everything, from the photograph of old Sam Bodley face down in the street to an artist's re-creation of the killer drawn from Marcia Lee Smith's description. They poked fun at the bandit for taking the diamonds and missing the more valuable emerald. But the story ended with a complete detailed explanation of the "dragnet" which the police were planning to try.

His cigar suddenly went stale in his mouth. A lot of good the dragnet would do, with the quarry forewarned. Oscar Piper shook his head. It was the first time his old friend and sparring partner had let him down. So Hildegarde had to go and talk in front of the reporters!

On Monday, four days after the shattering of the jeweler's window, Miss Withers marched down 57th street again. She noted in passing that Vanderbock's window was repaired, and that again its glittering treasures tempted the public, even to the big green emerald ring in the center of the display.

But she had other things on her mind besides trying to help a stubborn, pig-headed Irishman out of his muddle. She was determined on the business in hand, which was to find an unfurnished apartment within her means and near to the new Sixth avenue subway.

There was a remodeled brownstone just around the corner from 57th which had caught her eye just before the shriek of the sirens had led her astray the other day. Now she retraced her steps, came up past the neatly lettered sign "Unfurnished apartments—newly decorated—agent on premises." The door was open, and the lower hall disclosed a jumble of painters' ladders, wall paper rolls, kegs and tubs, and buckets of paint, and all the canvas, plaster, plumbing equipment and the like which could be imagined.

In the midst of all this stood a young girl. She and Miss Withers spoke together, in one voice: "I'm looking for an apartment—are you the agent?" They stopped, blinked, and smiled. Then the girl cocked her head. "Why—I remember you!"

It was Marcia Lee Smith, the star witness who had actually seen the jewel bandit in the act of departing.

She had been waiting here some time, she said, hoping for the rental agent to show up. There was a sign on the door, "Gone to lunch, back in half an hour," but it didn't say half an hour from any set time. "Anyway," said Miss Withers, "I don't need a rental agent to tell me whether or not I like an apartment. I'm going upstairs."

Marcia Lee tagged along. She was living now at the Martha Washington, but she hoped to find an apartment where she could entertain. "Entertain good-looking young detective sergeants?" Miss Withers pressed, and struck home, because the girl came as near to blushing as girls ever come nowadays. They poked thru the second floor apartment, praised the new Venetian blinds, the wide fireplace, the big shining refrigerator which, Marcia Lee pointed out, would make 64 ice cubes at once.

At that moment the sirens began howling outside. A radio car went up the street screaming bloody murder. From farther off other sirens took up the sound, like hounds on a scent . . .

Miss Withers, who had started to leap toward the stairs like a firehorse at the first alarm, now held herself in check. "Let them shriek," she said. "I'm not going to mess into it."

"But——" Marcia Lee said.

Girl Trips on Stairs and Spills Handbag

Evidently the girl was more impressed and thrilled with the activities of the force than was Miss Withers. "I used to feel that way, too," she confessed. "But I've decided that the police are a lot of nincompoops."

"Not all of them!" Marcia Lee said definitely. She edged toward the stair, started running down so fast that she tripped and slid the last few steps, spilling her handbag and vanity on the floor. The school teacher helped her up.

"And the sergeant may not even be on this case!" pointed out Miss Withers. But Marcia Lee was gone. Miss Withers waited, using all her self-control to keep from rushing after the sirens. Finally the agent, a baldish, gum-chewing young man, put in an appearance.

"My name is Leach. Al Leach," he said. "Sorry I'm late, but on my way back from lunch I stopped to see the excitement up on 57th." Miss Withers waited. "O, it wasn't much," he continued. "Some fellow just smashed a window at Vanderbock's and grabbed an emerald ring."

"Imagine!" said Miss Hildegarde Withers. "Did they catch him?"

Leach shook his head. "He ducked around the corner, so a man told me. But everybody says that the police have drawn a sort of dragnet around the whole section. When you leave you'll have to be searched.

"Now about the apartments," he continued. "The painters and decorators will be finished in a day or so. I phoned the agencies to send every man they could dig up. The rent's $85 a month on a year's lease—and if you want any special shade on the paint now's the time to say so." Miss Withers hesitated, and he cocked his head. "I could let you have the top floor a bit cheaper—say $75."

Miss Withers hadn't thought about going that high. But it was worth looking into. "You go right ahead," he said. "I got to stay here a minute and give those painters hell for taking so long for lunch." He headed for the front door where outside a truck was backing up.

Up the stairs, all three flights of them, went Miss Hildegarde Withers. She opened the door of the top floor apartment and entered. Instantly the pleasant smile with which she had been intending to greet her future home was erased by a quick gasp. She walked slowly forward into the big living room, stepping gingerly like a cat on a sticky floor.

It was the walls. On the creamy white of the smooth surface some one had painted a great blue eye, which wept red tears on the baseboard. Beside it was a pink tree with a mermaid's tail instead of roots, and across one branch, limply twisted like a piece of warm butterscotch, was a curious object which was—which must be!—a pocket watch with hands pointing to five.

Miss Withers Sniffs at Art Work on Wall

Miss Withers drew back and sniffed. This was not even good surrealist art. Then she realized that she was not alone. There was a man standing beside her, breathing rather warmly on the back of her neck. He wore streaked white overalls and carried a pail of paint. His face, too, was well smeared.

"Now, tell me honestly what you think!" he begged, waving at the wall. "Have I got something there, or not?"

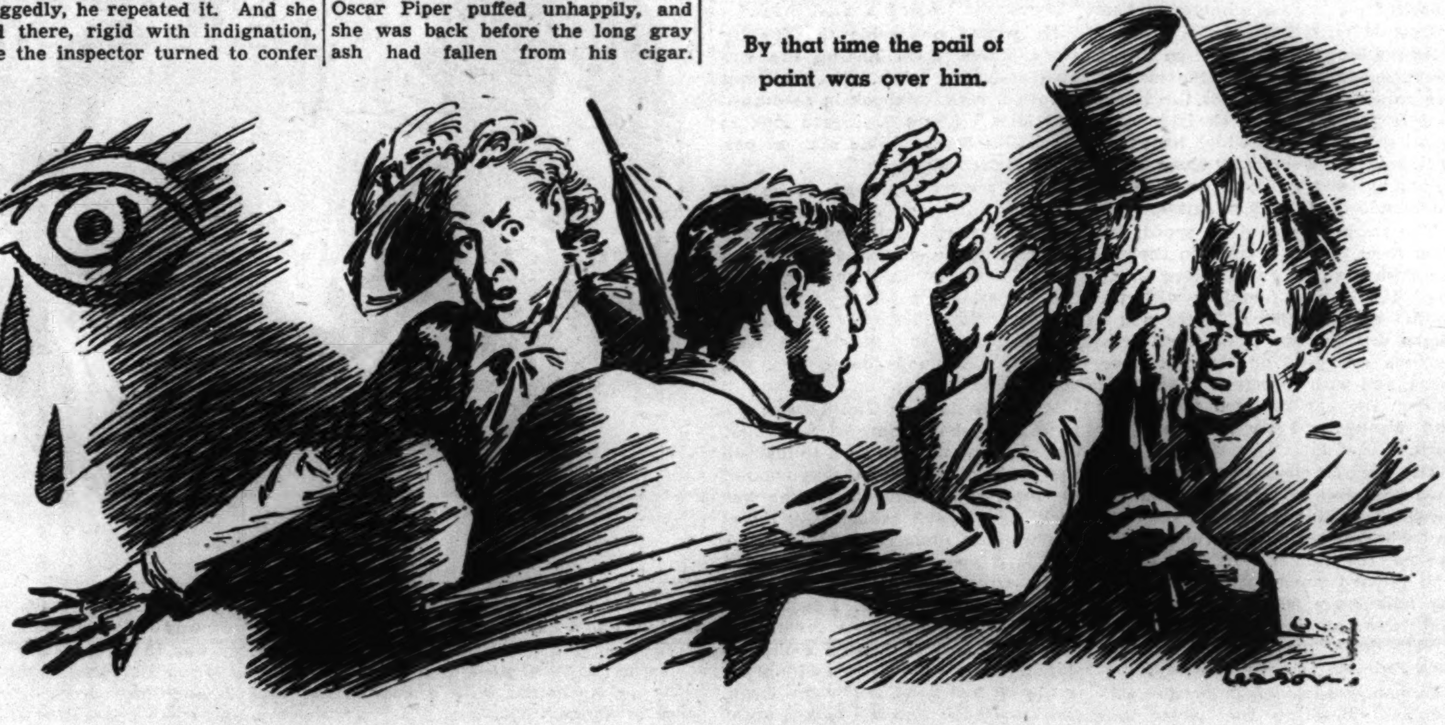
"Why——" Miss Withers backed away a little, not sure whether a laugh or a scream was indicated. The man wasn't drunk, because the rank smell about him was linseed oil, not alcohol.

"You mustn't go," he said thickly. There was pleading in his voice. "I have to explain about the white, white walls. Nobody can go on forever painting white, white, white . . ." He stopped suddenly. "I'd like to paint you. I'd like to do you all pale blue, with your hair a rich yellowish-green." His smile faded, and the dreamy, puffy eyes widened. "It won't hurt!"

"Mister Leach!" shrieked Miss Withers. There was the pounding of footsteps on the stair. The painter, ignoring the paralyzed schoolma'am, turned toward the door, waiting. An expression of innocent enjoyment marked his face. He lifted the pail.

"Look out!" Miss Withers cried. "Don't!" But poor Leach came rushing into the room. His eyes took in the scene, his brain reacted, but his legs of their own volition took him three steps closer before they stopped. And by that time the pail of paint was over him. He lurched back, reeling and pawing at his eyes. Then he turned, stumbled, and half fell down the stair.

By that time the pail of paint was over him.



The painter turned back toward Miss Withers, but that lady had seized her opportunity and was now disappearing into the bathroom. The lock clicked behind her.

"Come on out, lady!" howled the painter. "The paint won't hurt you. If you don't like it you can wash it off!" He pounded on the door, kept on pounding until Leach came back up the stairs with two other painters and the nearest patrolman. Miss Withers even then did not unlock the door, not until the painter had been overpowered and pinned to the paint covered floor. An ambulance arrived, and the doctor took one look and whipped out a hypodermic needle.

"Two minims of hyoscine m. c.," he observed cheerily. "And sleepy-by is what he needs."

"Do they ever get over it?" Miss Withers wanted to know.

"Lead poisoning? Why sure. Give him a nice stomach wash of magnesium sulphate and he'll be good as new in a week, maybe sooner. Lots of painters get it—the lead in paint, you know. Delusions and so forth. It often takes the form of mild mania."

"Mild!" said Miss Withers bitterly. She gathered herself together as best she could, waded thru the pools of spilled paint, and then stopped short in the doorway as Inspector Oscar Piper thundered up the stairs, followed by the young sergeant and a policeman. Piper was curious.

"What's the ambulance doing outside, and what's going on here, and——"

"How nice of you to drop over," said the school teacher sweetly. "You're only about 10 minutes late."

The inspector listened to what had happened, and shook his head. "You know, Hildegarde, wherever you are, there's trouble. You breed it, like stagnant water breeds mosquitoes."

"At least," she said tartly, "you can't blame me for what happened up on 57th street today. So lightning struck twice in the same place, eh? And is your dragnet working?"

He shrugged. "We can't tell yet. I think we'll get the guy—in spite of your tipping off the whole thing to the papers."

"I hope you do," she said sweetly. Then her head jerked back, like a startled hare. "What?"

Doggedly, he repeated it. And she stood there, rigid with indignation, while the inspector turned to confer with his aids and with the doctor. There was some question, it seemed, about the identity of the ambulance patient. "Book him at the hospital as John Doe for the time being," he ordered. "Mains, you can check with the employment office and the painters' union and find out who he is." He turned back to Miss Withers. "Hey, where you going?"

"Home!" said the lady, very definitely.

"Well, you better let me send Sergt. Mains to pass you thru the cordon, or——"

"I want no favors from you!" she snapped. "The idea of your thinking I blabbed to the papers!"

"Well?" shrugged Piper. "Nobody knew about the dragnet, outside of the department, except you and the commissioner."

"I knew—and the commissioner!" she exploded. "Of course. I must be the one; I have so many reporters in my outer office, and I'm in politics and need the goodwill of the papers, and . . ." The inspector was trying to talk, but she was not in the mood to listen.

Inspector Pays Visit to Miss Withers

That night, Miss Withers was not surprised at all when her doorbell rang, and she found the inspector outside. He was a very tired and gray and deflated inspector.

He hesitated. "I thought of sending you flowers, only all the florists are closed. And I was going to have a Western Union messenger come up and sing you something, only they don't know any songs with the right words." He smiled wanly. "You see, it was the commissioner that gave out that story to the press."

"Come on in!" she insisted. "For heaven's sake, come on in." She stared at him. "Oscar Piper, have you eaten anything today?"

He shrugged. "I don't remember." But he came inside, sank into a chair. "I'm not hungry," he insisted, "would you be hungry if they were going to take away your badge tomorrow morning? I'll be back at a precinct desk, see if I'm not."

"No luck at all with the dragnet?"

"None. We picked up three or four crooks we'd been looking for, but none of them is up to this sort of crime. And no trace anywhere of that emerald.

"It's the same crook," he observed. "With the same twisted sense of humor. He made a laughing stock out of me and the entire force."

"An egomaniac," agreed the school teacher. Now the red bulb in the back of her mind was flashing and glowing like a neon sign. "A maniac——" She gulped. "Oscar! Suppose—just suppose that your dragnet didn't fail! Suppose that it didn't catch your crook because he rode thru in an ambulance!"

Miss Withers Makes Checkup by Telephone

Piper tensed as she spoke, then relaxed again. "I checked all that, Hildegarde," he told her. "The painter, you mean. No, he was a real painter, registered and everything. And I called Bellevue and he was really brought in there to the emergency ward, booked for lead poisoning."

"When?" The inspector thought it was about an hour ago. She rose suddenly and headed for the bedroom, where her telephone was installed. Oscar Piper puffed unhappily, and she was back before the long gray ash had fallen from his cigar. "Oscar!" she announced, "Bellevue released that man 20 minutes ago, to a nurse from the Painters' Union clinic!"

"Well? What's wrong with that?"

"Nothing at all. Except that I called information, and there is no Painters' Union clinic."

The inspector rocked back on his heels as if he had run into a haymaker. "That does it! Now I know I ought to quit the force and get a job as understudy to an idiot."

"What about the emerald?" Miss Withers suggested.

"He swallowed it, probably. Anyway, it's gone and so is he. . . ."

She shook her head. "A man as smart as that wouldn't risk swallowing the jewel, not when he faced the prospect of stomach pumps at the hospital. No, Oscar."

"Well, then?"

The red light flared again in the back of her mind, flared into an electric sign as clear as the messages which went twinkling around the Times building.

"Oscar! The deadline or dragnet or whatever it is—it's all over?"

He nodded. "We had to order the men back to their regular duty, after they'd all met in the middle of the area and reported a blank." Miss Withers was grabbing her hat. "Hey——"

"Come on!" she cried. "Get a taxi."

The taxicab was not necessary, as it developed that young Sergt. Mains and a headquarters car waited below. They piled in and Miss Withers gave an address.

They cut south along Central Park West, red lights blazing, then left at the Circle. And then they were outside the remodeled brownstone, with its "Unfurnished Apartments" sign. "Wait here," ordered Piper, looking at the sergeant.

Miss Withers was already rushing up the steps, and he hurried after her. The front door was half open, and in the lower hall with its muddle of equipment one pale light bulb gleamed. Most particularly did it gleam down upon Miss Marcia Lee Smith, who seemed a bit startled.

"Still looking for the rental agent?" quizzed the schoolma'am.

Marcia Lee gasped, blinked, and answered. "Oh, it's you! I—why—I——" She was peering toward the door. "You 'member when we were here this afternoon? And I spilled my bag? Well, I lost $85 somehow. I must have, because it's gone. You didn't see it, did you?"

Miss Withers said it had been years since she had seen that much money all at one time. The inspector pushed into the scene.

"You remember Miss Smith who gave such a full description of your bandit?" said the school teacher. "She and I were looking for apartments the other day, and we met again today. Our paths are always crossing."

"You haven't seen anybody hanging around upstairs?" Piper demanded of the girl.

"I haven't been upstairs," the girl admitted. "It was so dark and lonesome—I had just about decided I'd run along home and come back and look for my money in the morning."

"A very good idea," agreed Miss Withers. "It's a bit late for you to be out. But, by the way"—she lowered her voice—"there's a friend of yours outside in the car."

The inspector was already on his way up the stairs, and Miss Withers hurried along after him. They approached the top floor apartment on tiptoe, entered softly in the wake of the round beam cast by Piper's flashlight. The big living room was empty, except for the smeared walls and the half-dried puddles of paint not yet cleared away. The kitchen and service porch, the bath, the bedroom and its closets—all were empty.

"Maybe we're too late," Piper said. "Maybe he's been and gone, with the emerald." But Miss Withers thought not. They began to search. An empty apartment offered few hiding places. Piper looked under the drain in each bit of plumbing, knowing how easily a jewel could be suspended there. He looked up the flue of the fireplace, and behind the Venetian blinds. He even raised each window, making sure that the emerald had not been hung outside on a thread.

Finally they both admitted failure. "I wonder," Miss Withers began, "if we might not get some information from that girl. Of course she's outside talking to your handsome sergeant."

Of course she was—they could look down from the window. But even as Piper started to lead the way out of the place, Miss Withers froze. "My ankles!" she whispered. "They feel a draft."

Oscar Piper halted, looking dubious. "Oscar, the back door! Somebody just opened it. . . ."

He nodded. Then, motioning her to stay behind him, Oscar Piper went softly back into the apartment. He crossed the living room, came into the kitchen. The rear door was closed and locked, but that didn't prove anything. He started to turn.

"Up!" came a voice behind him. "Up high—higher than that!" The bathroom door opened, and a man came out, a smallish man, no more than 5 feet 6. He was about 35, and his mouth was twisted in a curious smile. He held an automatic pistol in his right hand.

"Back up!" was the order. "Now go on—both of you!" It was the mad painter, only he wasn't really mad. It was the jewel thief, the murderer of Sam Bodley, the man in the tan raincoat who had jumped so lightly to the waiting car. . . .

"Don't make any moves, copper!" he said, thru tight lips.

"What do you think this will get you?" asked Inspector Piper slowly, as he backed into the living room. "Why don't you drop that gun and give yourself up? I know you. You're Joe Swinton . . . Swinnterton? . . . Swinston, that's it!"

There was a difficult pause. "That's too bad," said the man with the gun. "Sorry you recognized me, copper. Because now I've got to knock you over, and I wasn't going to do that."

"It's now or never," said Hildegarde Withers to herself, and grasped the cord of the Venetian blind. It fell with a most terrific clatter. Swinston, caught off guard, turned and fired blindly. At almost the same instant he was kicked most deftly in the stomach by Oscar Piper.

"Not exactly sporting, Oscar, but well timed," observed the school teacher, as the inspector slipped bracelets on the writhing bandit.

But what interested her most was the sequence of events down on the sidewalk. The inspector came up beside her, and they both stared down, wide-eyed.

Far below them, beside the headquarters car, Sergeant Mains was embracing Marcia Lee Smith. And a curious embrace it was, for he had her arm pinned behind her back and was, at the moment, twisting it.

"When the shot went off she tried to swing a sap on me!" complained the bewildered young sergeant later, as they waited at the curb for the Black Maria, prisoners handcuffed together.

Marcia Lee Discards Her Southern Accent

Piper grinned. "You've been monkeying with a buzz saw, Romeo. This dame is the one who drove the getaway car, in blonde wig and glasses. Then she hopped out and came back to give us a wrong steer on the description of her boy friend. Didn't you, honey chile?"

Marcia Lee swore at him in a south Brooklyn accent. "Don't talk," Joe Swinston told her.

"You'll talk," the inspector said, "when we find that emerald." He suddenly jumped as something cold and wet was dropped into his hand by Miss Hildegarde Withers, who had lingered in the apartment for a moment while he was shoving his captive down the stairs. "What the blazes——!"

"Of course," Miss Withers said, "Mr. Swinston here has just the type of mind that would see humor in hiding the emerald—the green ice—where he did. I should have figured it out sooner." She pointed to what Piper held gingerly in his hand.

They all looked down and saw, by the pale light of the street lamp, a melting ice cube in which glittered a big square drop of green fire, caught like a fly in amber.

THE ROAD BUILDER

They fell on their knees and begged her to forgive 'em and to come back.

What Has Gone Before

Craig Fleming, young engineer, engaged to socially prominent Sue Tipton, goes exploring in the uncharted regions of southern California and stumbles upon a valley in which he sees great possibilities as a highway. He encounters the squatter Kimbos and their daughter, Theby, beautiful but wild. They run him off their land, but he returns later to make sketches of the region and is bitten by a rattler. Theby sucks out the poison and her family nurse him back to health, but warn him never to return. He does, tho, in an airplane, and takes pictures of the valley, with which he persuades his superior that there are unusual possibilities for a highway thru the valley. Craig is sent into the valley with a surveying crew, and they run into more trouble with the Kimbos, who move their stakes at night. Theby expresses a desire for learning, and Craig writes to Sue for a copy of Marie Antoinette, whereupon Sue becomes jealous, visits the camp, and when she sees Theby she openly makes fun of her. Theby burns the book and the camp, but is sorry later and asks Craig to teach her " book learning." She is an apt pupil, and Craig is worried about her unmistakable worship of him. But when he leaves camp he kisses her. He apologizes, and she realizes he feels she is beneath him. She swears to become a lady. Later he returns with the engineering crew to build the highway and finds she has gone to school and has improved a great deal. He confesses to her he has been afraid he was falling in love with her. He finds himself torn between two impossibilities—Theby is beneath him and he cannot think of marrying her, and Sue in her sophistication is beyond his reach, and he has quit loving her. Theby gets a job at the auto camp, but Craig tries to keep their relationship on a friendly basis.

INSTALMENT XIII.

THE first winter was versatile in its resistance to the artifices of man. There were cloudbursts, sudden freezes and suddener thaws. Quicksands disclosed themselves in unexpected places. Soft rock was found where hard had been indicated and hard where soft.

But humanity could be troublesome, too. There were stupid workmen who did the wrong thing, and too bright men who did worse. There were drunken men and thieves. There were troubles with organized labor, especially with their organizers, some of whom were more costly to their own members than to the state.

There was no idleness now for Fleming and his chief in the way of inspection. Clashes with Logan, the contractor's man, were frequent and often ugly. The contractors had a contractor's conscience and their own good name to uphold. They had no desire to learn that their work had collapsed after they had gone.

They were proud of their reputations and their reputations were part of their assets; but it was their business to get the road done and to get some profit from their investment. Every day that they gained on the schedule meant so much more assurance of a reasonable profit on their huge outlay; it meant in the long run an immense sum in the savings of overhead, the forestalling of delays, and the release of their costly equipment for use elsewhere. Every day of unforeseen delay meant a heavy inroad on their hopes.

But the state's inspectors wanted to earn their money, too, and they also had reputations and futures to consider. Dirt might look to be merely dirt to the layman, but there were as many kinds of it as there were of flowers or stones. It was all too easy to accept the subsoil as reliable and secure after much tamping, rolling and rerolling. But different soils behaved differently wet and dry, and some of them were the very devil for whimsicality or treachery.

So Rodney and Fleming watched the soil and the stone and the ramming down of every layer, the quality of the concrete, of everything. Now and then they ordered a supposedly finished stretch torn up and rebuilt from the bottom up, and experts wrangled and accused each other of idiotic ignorance as experts always do in every field of human endeavor.

But it was all in the spirit of good, clean roadbuilding. Logan would curse and protest, and he had a satirical tongue. Often enough he proved himself right. He got the laugh on Fleming or Rodney often enough to cancel out some of the laughs they got on him. There were humiliations as well as victories for all.

The work was hard and dirty and physically exhausting of nerve and muscle. Discouragement was in itself a chronic disease, and there was always suspense, dramatic anxiety.

When Fleming saw Theby now he was usually so tired than even lifting his features into a smile was almost more than he could manage. He was too weary almost to munch his food, and sleep was his one overweening ambition. He vaguely remembered that a woman's arms were sweet and her flesh soft and sweet; but he knew that sleep was the sweetest of all sweets and the flesh of the hardest bed was a dove's breast for softness.

Waking in the morning and tearing himself from the sheets was like ripping a bandage from a wound. A cold bath and a hot breakfast would renew his youth, but the old, rheumatic man he was when first awakened could never remember that.

One day he noted that Theby was not serving his breakfast to him as usual. Another waitress brought him his orange juice, his oatmeal, eggs, coffee, and cakes.

"Where's Theby, Katie?" he asked.

"Theby's went home to her folks. Her Ma was took sick sudden, she said; and she hadda go nurse her and take care the children. She left in a terrible rush."

"That's too bad."

"Yes, it sure is. But it's life, ain't it? It sure is."

Fleming thought it was. He was shaken out of his lethargic acceptance of Theby as a darling always there, and to be cultivated tomorrow.

He resolved to go see her at once. But the foundations of a little bridge had been washed out, a piece of road had sagged. The next morning something else was wrong, and the day after that another something. And the next day there were visitors in high authority who had to be shown around, and their criticisms meekly accepted as edicts of divine wisdom.

At last he made his way to Theby's home. He had not been there for months. He was surprised to find that even up there, the noise from the valley was a ceaseless din. The new road would pass along the cliff almost beneath the house and blasts shook the ground in incessant earthquakes. They plainly threatened to spill the Kimbo chimney over and probably thru the frail roof.

The children were in the yard trying to amuse themselves and Theby was at the door trying to hush them. She was jaded with fear and toil and even the joy that flooded her eyes at the sight of Fleming struggled with her weariness and her habit of terror. She rather shambled than ran to him, and gave him cold hands to clasp. Her voice was a husky rattling as she explained:

"Maw's awful sick. The doctor's been here. He don't know of anything special that ails her. It's just everything, he says. He says she's just wore out. He says she ought to be taken to a place where there's peace and quiet. The noise and the house fallin' to pieces disencourages her so she don't want to live hardly. Doctor says he knows of a good place to take her. All they want is five dollars a day, he says, besides the nurse and the doctor. He says it's cheap! I reckon Maw's life is cheaper."

Fleming Notes How Dimmed Theby Looks

He saw how dimmed she was, not beautiful as she had been. Yet her devotion and her squandering of herself gave her a spirituality that was almost more commanding. But it was old. She was old. He said:

"You'd better take care of yourself."

"I'm taking care of Maw like she took care of me. Hush, children, can't you have any pity on your pore Maw? Ain't the dynamite enough without you-all's shriekin'?"

They retreated a little but they could not tame themselves.

"The children!" Theby groaned. "How Maw ever managed to raise us all I'll never understand. I gave her trouble enough. I was the worst of all. And now the boys are into every trouble they can find. They're always bein' chased away by the workmen. The girls are worse—the two oldest ones, Lurana and Bettymay. The men don't chase them away but——

"There's so many rough men around here, and so few women folks that nobody's safe. Some the men are actually makin' eyes at little Lurana and Bettymay. And the girls make eyes right back.

"I think of 'em as babies, but Lurana's goin' on 17, Bettymay's 15. Maw had me when she was 14.

"I don't know what to do about the girls. I can't lock 'em up. I can't run after 'em. I got to stay with Maw. And there's no tellin' what will happen.

"Paw's poorly, too. His heart's broke in him. They've as good as told him to get off the place. But where can he go? He's got no money to buy any place else. He's got nothin' to sell here. What little I'd saved up has to go for poor Maw.

"Bop's been a help. He had a job on the road construction, shovelin' and pickin' up around the big shovels. And he was gettin' good money, but he gave it up to help around the place.

"I don't know why I'm pourin' all this out on you. I reckon you got troubles enough of your own. Are the girls at Pop Tevey's lookin' after you like I asked 'em to? Do they bring you your coffee hot?"

And now she had come at his heart by a new road. She had won his pity. She was oppressed with the dread of death, the loss of her mother, the disintegration of her family.

This had been her whole world, her people, her little nation islanded in a wilderness. Now her country was going the way of the little republics overrun by the dictators. Now she was lost in a roaring mob, and now poverty meant no longer simple peace, but something strange and fatal. She was without resource or courage. She had lost even her animal ferocity and recklessness. She had no fight left in her, nothing to fight for.

Down in the valley Fleming was important and powerful. He could give orders, and men would hasten to obey. But up here he was nobody, a mere witness of disasters he could not forestall or retrieve. An avalanche of misfortunes had fallen on Theby. He tried to dig her out of it.

"I'll gladly give you money to get your mother out of this into that place the doctor recommends, or I'll get you a nurse to help you here. I'll pay for her. I've got some money saved up. You're welcome to it all. I can borrow more if you need it."

"That's mighty sweet of you, but I couldn't take it. I couldn't unload my fambly on you. You got your life to live. You're savin' up for--for——" She was thinking of Sue Tipton, but she said "—your future. Folks with futures mustn't let themselves be dragged down by folks that haven't got hardly even a past."

There was a crash, an explosion in the cliff not far from the house. Faint shouts were heard as if there had been an accident. Fleming had to leave. He promised to come back the next day. As he was trying to lend Theby some of the courage he did not have, there was a cry of pain inside the house. Paw came to the door and called:

"Theby! Your Maw!"

She ran indoors. Paw lingered just long enough to glare like a maniac at Fleming and shout:

"Git outen my sight. We kin hear your work. Air we got to see you, too?"

He went into the house and Fleming hurried away. Even the children howled at him and threw rocks. They would have hurt less if they had struck him.

One man had been killed outright, two mortally wounded, and several badly mangled. Overshooting had brought down more of the mountainside than had been planned for and a premature explosion had caught the crew before it could reach safety.

Fleming was kept harrowed and busy till late that night, but the next morning he was called long before his usual hour to allow him time for a visit to Theby. He found the children in the yard curiously silent. They did not look his way, but wandered about with heads down in a complete bewilderment. One of the boys called Theby. At sight of Fleming she ran to the steps, stumbled and fell forward. He caught her in his arms. She did not push them away, or speak, till he asked what he feared was an idle question:

"Your mother, how is she?"

"She's daid. She hung on till past midnight askin' for Lurana and Bettymay; but they were out somewhere. Just after her hands let go of mine, I heard the girls laughin' outside and calling goodbye, soft-like to some man. Then they came tiptoein' in and grinnin'. Lurana whispered, 'How's Maw naow?' I said, 'She's better. She was worritin' over you two girls, but she won't any more.'

"They drew up closer and saw what I meant and then they began to shriek and holler to Maw like they used to when they'd have bad dreams at night. They fell on their knees and begged her to forgive 'em and to come back, and their prayers had the same answer mine always have.

"Lurana and Bettymay don't mean any harm. They're just growin' up and they're crazy for a little fun. Just now they want to die. But they won't. They swear they'll be good from now on. But they won't. Maw won't

Sheers Are Important Late Spring Fashion News

Costumes Are Dress Parade and Elegant

By Rea Seeger.

Definitely late spring and early summer clothes are introduced the year of a late Easter parade. Even tho the winds still are rather penetrating, the sun shines brightly and the warmer days are just around the fashion corner. This means the first sheers get into the spotlight, the gayer prints and the dress parade outfits with whiffs of sheer and fragile white, such as blouses, bows, and deep wide collars lavishly ornamented with handwork and lace.

Costumes assume a certain elegance. Even the navy blue and black costumes go dress parade and softer in outline, as well as detail. The most successful merger ever presented to the appreciative practical shopper, the dress and coat or jacket combine, gets a new lease on popularity with more decorative prints and softer detail to the jacket or coat. While there are stunning tweeds and smart woolens featured in street, travel, or casual country wear, the emphasis is on the dressup theme.

New sheer suits consist of simple dress with deftly cut and plaited skirt under a fitted and dressmaker detailed jacket. Ruchings, tucks, and other details mark these finds, and make them afternoon costumes. Boleros also become more popular, because they are more wearable, due to the returned warmth in the atmosphere. Skirts have freedom, with interesting formations of plaits and similar ideas.

The two piece suits consisting of skirt and jacket are cut and fashioned to resemble especially individual costumes or dresses. Short sleeves and long sleeves, with varying widths, and playing up the soft, off-the-shoulder, curving outline are smoothly cut and seamed. Details such as covered or decorative buttons of filigree or enamel, dressmaker loops, appliqued patterns, rolled edges, and stitched bands all combine to make these suits and costumes successful examples of what an inspired designer can do with a spring and summer theme.

New dinner dresses, ready for the spring round of parties, make an early appearance. They, too, are distinguished by long graceful lines, intricate detail, and unusual color contrast and combine. Slim, straight silhouettes that cling to the lines of the figure are achieved with fine fabrics and expertly cut designs, executed to emphasize this slender distinction. Long sleeves are persistent reminders of the coverup fashions. Fullness is smoothly introduced by means of casually folded plaits or intricate, shirred devices in front and in back. The hiplines are defined and draped smoothly without a hint of extra inches.

Prints, small and large, are used for the spring collections of new dinner dresses. Alternates are possible with the smart navy blue and black costume frosted with dazzling white decoration. Contrast of color is another fresh new fashion trick.

Sketched, five new spring models for afternoon, daytime, and street wear and one of the outstanding new dinner costumes. For information call Superior 0200.

Pushman's 1941 Art Exhibit to Open Tuesday

By Edith Weigle.

The 1941 exhibition of paintings by Hovsep Pushman will be held at the Anderson galleries from April 15 to 29. Twenty-one works of art are in this collection and a preview of them has convinced this writer once more that weak are the tools of words to convey the essence of beauty.

Mr. Pushman is a genius living in our day, creating perhaps four or five paintings in a single year, each one a masterpiece. He paints with the brush of the oriental philosopher, the poet, the musician. He is to painting what Tagore was to literature. There is a timelessness about his work that lifts it far into the realms of art.

Always there is age-old wisdom and the symbolism of oriental culture in his pictures. Each object in the composition has its own inevitable place, its own special meaning which, blended with the whole, creates one single impression of great spiritual quality and of eternal beauty. Nothing could possibly be subtracted from any of the paintings; nothing added.

From the technical viewpoint Pushman is pastmaster in chiaroscuro [the treatment of light and shade], in the handling of form, in tactile quality, and in the mixing of pigment. With the exception of one painting, a portrait called "The Leader," all the oils in the present show are still life studies.

Present in the various works are the rare and exquisite pieces of ancient iridescent glass, glowing like opals, the antique Chinese grave horses, porcelain figures, pottery plates, and the oriental figures of antiquity, as well as the Tibetan paintings and screens, all from the collection of the artist.

The Association of Chicago Painters and Sculptors is holding its annual show at the Chicago galleries. The work of 57 members is on view. With one or two exceptions all the oils are of the conservative school. Anna Lynch has a stunning big still life, "The Gay Bouquet," a study of scarlet tulips, jonquils, and other spring blooms which stand out vividly against a dark background. Other still life subjects are Leo A. Marzolo's delicately hued vases, "Old Rose and Blue"; Florence White Williams' "Delphiniums and Roses"; Anna Lee Stacey's "Wisteria and Clevia," and Averil Conwell's "Lilacs."

Painted in the manner of the old masters is a portrait of exceptionally fine, smooth quality, and excellent modeling called simply "Girl Reading," by Claud Buck. Keyed in the dashing, vibrant colors of the modern school are Winnifred Pleimling's "Dolores" and William H. Mosby's "The Brass Jug." Elmer A. Forsberg's portrait of "Hebilly" is an exciting study in glowing crimson. Walter Krawiec has done one of his lively, freely brushed circus scenes, "White Circus Horses," and nearby James Murray Haddow has caught the spirit of a cold winter day in a Chicago street scene, "The Lady in Red."

"Waiting for a Punt" is another of Adam Emory Albright's joyous canvases in which he records moments of childhood. Two small boys are seen waiting on a dock in the Maine summer sunshine with the blue of the harbor lying before them. Feathery, Corot-like trees and the airy, light feeling of the first balmy days fill the small landscape. "Spring Plowing," by Paul A. Plaschke. We could go on to mention other canvases in this interesting show, but space forbids. Closing date, April 26.

Water colors by Mahrea Cramer Lehman, Edward K. Williams, and other artist members of the Hoosier Salon Patrons' association are on view until April 30 at the Hoosier Art gallery.

At the Club Women's bureau galleries at Mandel Brothers is a show of the work of the members of the Ridge Art association, which opened yesterday.

"GODDESS OF DAWN."

Three Ginling Alumnae to Be AAUW Guests

Three alumnae of Ginling college at Nanking, China, will discuss "Chinese Women Today" at a meeting of the Chicago branch, American Association of University Women, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Nankin restaurant, 68 West Randolph street. The alumnae are Miss Dju Gioh-fang and Miss Ong Hwei-lan, who are studying in the social service administration department of the University of Chicago, and Miss Marguerite Baue, who came over from China with Fred Snite Jr. as a physiotherapist, and who now is studying at Lewis institute preparatory to attending a medical school.

This year the 25th anniversary of Ginling college is bieng celebrated by college groups and branches of the American Association of University Women, which helped erect certain of its buildings. Mrs. Dickson H. Leavens, who spent 13 years at the College of Yale in central China, has arranged the program.

Teachers, Home Experts to Attend Annual Seminar

American designs in fabrics, apparel, and home furnishings will be shown exclusively at the annual spring seminar to be attended by some 1,000 teachers and home economists Saturday at the Palmer House. Miss Marian Clark, assistant professor in the home economics department of the University of Chicago, will display dolls made by university students to portray the history of costume, and will speak on a program featuring designers. Mrs. Amena Elliott Webster of Chicago is directing the seminar.

Easter!

In an ominous April. But Easter and springtime! and for us a renascent earth. Planting and sowing with full faith in the harvest.

True, most of our wars began in April. So also was a great unguarded frontier established—no forts, no guns, no bayonets, no bombs—and the pact still stands.

Great men were born in April and great deeds done. Henry Clay, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, U. S. Grant, Thad Stevens, Charles Hughes, Booker T. Washington, Joseph Lister, Marconi, De Koven, and Josh Billings for the laughs. By some strange coincidence April [1889] also gave to the world Charlie Chaplin and Adolf Hitler, Chaplin being four days the elder.

And did you have your colored Easter egg this morning? Hen's, duck's, or candy? Don't laugh at that duck's egg. A white duck lays a lovely blue egg much the color of a robin's egg. Good to eat, too, with a finer grain than most hens' eggs. The duck just doesn't cackle about it. Maybe that's why you didn't know.

The first Easter egg I now recall was not only an egg, but a bird as well; thus doing away with that harrowing question of which came first. It was contrived by an ingenious mother, while I watched, fascinated. A tiny pin hole was made in one end of the egg and a slightly larger one in the other. By blowing hard into the small hole the inside of the egg was blown out into a cup and the whole shell remained. Fan-plaited tail and wings of paper were fastened on with flour paste; a realistic head was shaped of a sort of bread dough, beak and all. Then color was applied. There was my egg and bird. A crude thing compared to the elaborately decorated modern Easter egg, or the million dollar bejeweled ones presented to empresses of that day, but to my childish eyes a most satisfying creation.

Advices from abroad are to the effect that a large special display of tulips from Holland is scheduled as a feature of the Hamburg flower show this month.

The smelt horde has been on its way shoreward in the Great Lakes for some weeks. When you get some of the silvery little things try them French fry. Whistling swans are looking for open water; Canada geese and wild ducks have been winging northward. With traffic stepping up along the highways as well as the airways and waterways, we should give some thought to a study made in Ohio, showing that at 35 miles per hour automobiles kill little wildlife. The kill starts at 45 miles and increases with the speed. At 60 miles per hour a kill of some form of wildlife may occur every 100 miles and above 60 an automobile will score "appalling results."

Mrs. B., Joliet, writing of spring in the Illinois Valley says: "I feel really sorry for those who have never seen a patch of woods carpeted with these blooms [hepaticas] in all their lovely pastel shades. I claim to own just such a spot; not the land, but by right of discovery, the sight and smell and even the sound of these friends." Newly settled north shore suburbanite: "The redbird wakes us every Sunday morning at 7, but weekdays when we'd like him to we have to use the alarm clock."

We learn now of the development of a new technique for murals which will make them usable on exterior walls. It is based on the terrazzo method. The colors penetrate the surface of the wall to a depth of ⅜ inch, thereby greatly increasing the durability of these murals, a desirable feature if used for outer walls.

"Joe took father's shoe bench out. She was waiting for me at my lawn."

These two sentences contain all the fundamental sounds of the English language that contribute to the intensity of sound in speech, we are told by the laboratory technicians: For that reason they are among the tests applied to every new Bell telephone transmitter before it receives an O. K.

M. M.

Bettina Bedwell Says:

What women will wear in the Easter parade this morning reflects the present alliance between fashions and sobering events. Women, this spring, do not feel light hearted enough to use black, unless they "gentle" it with delicate colors. Far from feeling right in violent colors, they are sponsoring a great deal of white and pastels.

If the Easter finery this year is as much a forecaster of fashions as it always has been, we may expect that styles to come will emphasize practicality and will be more restrained than any the women of this land have worn for a good many years. Simple, tailored suits, dress and cape combinations, and shades such as navy, soft beige, gray-blue or gray, light browns and subdued pastels will be in the fashion limelight.

Those Baking Pans.

The brownish color on the surface of used tin pans is tin oxide, a better conductor of heat than tin itself. This explains, in part, why cakes brown so much better on the bottom in old tin pans than in new ones.

Smart Women Sponsoring Bright Costume Colors

Unconventional Combinations Contrive Chic

By Judith Cass.

Spring, 1941, shows a fine disregard for conventional color schemes. Gone are the days of the standard "pink and blue" or "brown and tan" ensemble. Instead, one bold color is being splashed noisily against another, with all the disturbing effects of a Van Gogh or Gauguin canvas.

Mrs. James A. Drain Jr., who commutes frequently between Michigan City and Chicago, has a dinner dress which combines two supposedly alien colors. The bodice is of magenta crêpe and a panel of the same shade bisects the skirt, which is the color of ripe blue plums.

Mrs. J. A. Drain Jr. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

But no color alliance is more startling than Edith Atwater's for her first act appearance in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," now ending the first week of its second run in Chicago. With an apricot pink suit she wears a pomegranate blouse and accessories. It's a novel and refreshing combination after one has become used to it.

The young actress' costume changes for the remaining acts are equally up to the minute. Her faun-colored sports classic in the second act has a tightly bound waistline and jewel clusters for buttons. When Miss Atwater goes out Christmas shopping with her "young man," she adds a brimmed, orange felt bonnet with tobacco colored grosgrain ribbons looped up the back, and allows her long orange gloves to crush loosely at the wrists.

In the same play, Doris Nolan achieves spectacular effects with a spring green suit with scalloped hem and peplum. A bowknot of brilliants at the neckline, a green postillion hat with scalloped brown veil, and brown gloves and pumps are her accessories. Even Alexander Woollcott, in his invalid's chair, is a fashion note in a cherry velvet smoking jacket with pale blue faille collar and red leather slippers.

The opening night of "The Man Who Came to Dinner" brought Mrs. Harold C. Pynchon out to see her actress daughter, Miss Atwater. Mrs. Drain is the former Barbara Atwater. Mrs. Pynchon's slim black dinner gown was severely plain, except for a frilled ruffle of fagoted white linen edging its square neckline.

Oddly enough, only a handful of women dressed formally for the Monday night opening. Among them were Miss Betty Bradley, with a red velveteen coachman's coat over a smart black gown. Her dark hair was pulled back and tied at the nape of her neck with a flat black bow, revealing tiny cornucopia earrings spilling brilliants. Her sister, Mary, flung a black serge opera cape with velvet collar and frogs over a voluminous evening blouse, ruffled all over like an 18th century dandy's attire and fastened with pearl studs.

Mrs. Frank Bering, to whom flowered hats are especially becoming, has a toque abloom with dubonnet and French blue silk flowers. Deep into the soft neckline of her fur coat she pins a starlike cluster of rhinestone snow flowers. Recently her companion at the theater, Mrs. William J. Sinek, wore a skull cap of feathers centered at the front with tiny field flowers in the same shades of rust, yellow, and brown. A plaited frill hemmed her olive green, sheer wool gown.

A lei of chalk white china flowers is Mrs. J. Hayden Macdonald's salute to spring when she sallies forth in a smart navy faille suit with squared sailor collar, worn over a plaited white silk blouse. For an astringent note she adds a huge Kelly green felt sailor, its brim turned back like a little boy's and tied with green dotted veiling.

The tremendous enameled strawberry flecked in gold, which Mrs. D. Wendell Fentress pins to the neckline of her black wool jersey dress, is a faithful enlargement of the "real thing." She clips a smaller strawberry to each ear, carrying out the strawberry tone of the red jersey, horizontal band circling her skirt.

The fascination of diamonds is subtly expressed in a stunning brooch Mrs. Clay Judson sometimes wears. It consists of two gold snakes curling upward to form a circle. At the top center, held in their mouths, is a single large rose-cut diamond.

Mrs. Judson was wearing the pin with a perfectly plain bright red dress and hat at a luncheon meeting of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters the other day. Near her sat a young woman in what sounds like a daring color combination, but what in reality was a most pleasing and harmonious result of yellow and blue. She was Mrs. Sidney Stein Jr., whose upturned, wide-brimmed, tricorne hat was of soft, smoke blue. Her dress was of sand yellow. About her neck were four or five sable skins.

At the same meeting was Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, who had about her neck several strands of plain white "beads." They looked particularly effective with her black tailored suit and fussy little hat of white flowers trimmed with a flash of scarlet and a puff of a black veil.

Also at the Arts club to hear Mrs. Clifton Utley address the league were Mrs. Frank Woods Jr. and Mrs. Press Hodgkins in outfits that indicate anything goes in the way of town attire. The former was in a dark dress and dainty, rose trimmed hat. The latter wore a tailored tweed sports coat and a tiny hat of violet and cherry yarn to match the tweed.

Mrs. Wesley Loomis received a pretty gift upon the birth of a baby daughter recently. It is a gold charm bracelet with three little balls dangling from it.

Contract According to Culbertson

By Ely Culbertson

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is one thing to play bridge under ideal conditions, a nice, quiet room, good light, and a table that does not groan or collapse when a card is laid down slightly too emphatically. It must be quite another matter to play these days, or nights, in Great Britain. Hence, the following article, penned by R. C. Gray in Scotland and currently appearing in the Bridge World magazine, deserves all the greater praise. To follow an intricate squeeze play thru all its ramifications, while shrapnel is flying like confetti, shows a kind of contemptuous concentration that I, for one, both envy and admire. Mr. Gray's article covers two hands that are far out of the ordinary. To wit:

"I've a couple of fine hands for you," said Smith catching me at the club one night.

"I'm in an awful hurry," I said quickly. "I—"

"Here is the first one," went on Smith firmly, arranging the cards thus:

♠ 10
♥ Q 5 3 2
♦ Q J
♣ Q 9 8 5 4 3

WEST
♥ A K J 9
♦ 9 7 5 4 3 2
♣ K J

EAST
♠ 9 8 6 5 4 3
♥ 10
♦ K 10
♣ 10 7 6 2

SOUTH
♥ 8 7 6 4
♦ A 8 6
♣ A

"The contract was three spades, played by South," went on Smith. "I was sitting West and led three rounds of hearts, East ruffing North's queen and returning a trump. North won and led the queen of diamonds, which held the trick, East playing the ten. South came into his own hand with the ace of clubs and pulled trumps. On the last trump lead I was squeezed. This was the position:

NORTH
♠ None
♥ 5
♦ J
♣ Q 9

WEST
♠ None
♥ 9
♣ K

EAST
♥ None
♦ K
♣ 10 7

SOUTH
♠ J
♦ A 8
♣ None

"South led his last trump, and—" Smith leaned forward and tried to speak in italics, "I discarded the king of clubs."

I groaned. Smith's hands always are very ordinary. He has been showing me this sort of thing for months. "For the hundredth time," I said, "that is not a squeeze. It is only a guess. How did you know South had two diamonds, anyway?"

"My partner played the ten on the first round and he never false-cards," answered Smith.

"Nevertheless," I said, "any fool can see that this is not a squeeze."

Just then I noticed that it was a squeeze. So, with great presence of mind, I rambled on for a minute or two saying nothing in particular to let Smith forget that bit about any fool seeing it was not a squeeze. Then:

"As a matter of fact," I said, "South should make his contract. When he leads his last trump you cannot discard the heart or he makes a heart trick; you cannot discard a diamond or he makes two diamond tricks, and if you discard the king of clubs, he underleads the ace of diamonds, throwing your partner in with the king and North makes two club tricks."

"I told you it was a squeeze," said Smith.

"Why, you imposter," I shouted. "You didn't know it was a real squeeze. You don't see the proper play even yet."

"Never mind," he said. "Take a look at the second hand. A real beauty."

"Well, if it doesn't give me a pain in the neck," I said, "I'll buy you a drink. And if it is any good at all, I'll buy you the Niagara falls."

"Fine," said Smith. "I've always wanted them. Here is the hand."

NORTH
♠ K Q 10
♥ 10 8
♦ J 10 2
♣ J 7 6 5 4

WEST
♠ 9 5 3 2
♦ A K Q 4 3
♣ A K

EAST
♠ J
♥ Q J 9 7 6 5
♦ 9 8 7
♣ Q 10 3

SOUTH
♠ A 8 7 6 4
♥ A K 4
♣ 9 8 2

"I was West and I had doubled South's two spade contract. I started off with the ace and king of clubs and the ace, king, and queen of diamonds. South ruffed and led a small spade to North's queen. When East dropped the jack, South placed me with four spades originally. Now South still has a losing club, and he has a losing heart because, if he ruffs it in dummy, I make a trump trick."

"Obviously," I said.

And Smith went on triumphantly: "South took his ace and king of hearts and ruffed the small one in dummy. This was the position:

NORTH
♠ K
♥ None
♦ None
♣ J 7 6

WEST
♠ 9 5 3
♥ None
♣ None

EAST
♠ None
♥ Q J 9
♦ None
♣ Q

SOUTH
♠ A 8 7
♥ None
♦ None
♣ 8

"Declarer could afford to lose one more trick. He led a club from dummy, putting East in the lead. East had to return a heart and I did not make a trump trick. My trumps were subjected to a coup."

"Not a bad hand," I said. "It's the first time I've heard of a forced coup coming up at the table. I'll buy you a small glass of lemonade." And I rang for the steward.

Then, being a problemist, I looked at the end position again, mentally ruffing East's club queen with West's three of spades. It worked! I jumped to my feet.

"You have missed the play of the century," I shouted. "This is the queerest end-game in the history of cards, and you missed it! Ruff East's queen of clubs [is this a grand coup?], return a trump putting dummy in the lead, and now South is couped and you get a trick with your nine of spades. Instead of South working a coup on you, you can do the couping. You grumble at not scoring with the nine of spades when it is inadequately guarded, and here one look at dummy's cards tells you that you can steal a trick with it when it is not."

I stopped when the steward came in. I was short of breath anyway.

"What'll you have?" I asked.

Smith looked me straight in the eye. "The Niagara falls," he said.

At no trump, South leads. North and South are to win five tricks against any defense.

Solution: South leads diamond queen. West wins and North discards a heart.

If West returns a diamond, North discards the other heart, and South makes one diamond and four heart tricks.

If West returns the spade king, North ducks. A spade continuation will then give North five tricks, while a diamond return will give South the aforesaid one diamond and four hearts.

If West returns the spade nine [after winning with diamond king] North plays ace and a low spade, putting West back on lead.

If West ducks first diamond play, South leads diamond ace, getting rid of North's second heart, and taking six tricks in all.

An article by Mr. Culbertson appears in the feature section of The Tribune each weekday.

April 13, 1941.

Universal day—A day for wit and fun. Seek entertainment and even a little spring romance.

If you were born in December—the chances are that you had a pretty good time in your early years and if you are still in your teens or early twenties the change to another number influence hasn't come in yet. You probably were one of the children that recited pieces or played the piano for company and enjoyed it. You liked parties and were asked to most of them in your vicinity, for you should have been a popular young person. You didn't have any difficulty expressing yourself, and seemed to have a sense of knowing how to dress attractively. You should have been a cheerful and optimistic child, making friends wherever you went. You could have been a noisy and overactive child, not concentrating very well on your studies, but having natural talent.

Clever Woman Uses Guide for Color Schemes

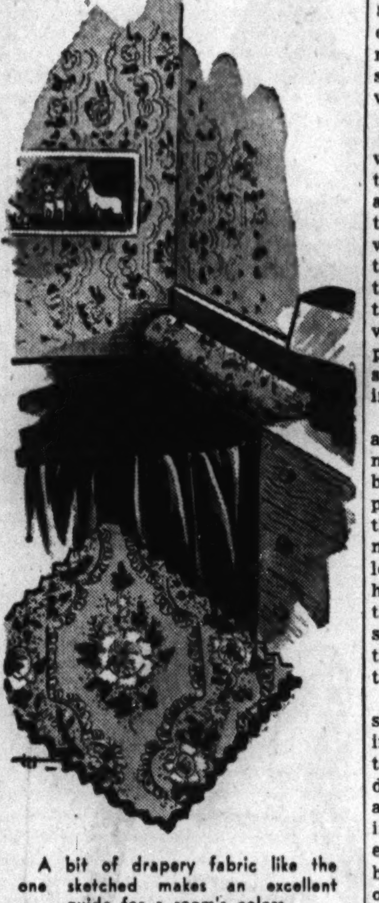
By Claire Winslow.

Choosing new wallpaper for that new apartment this spring?

Selecting paint colors? Trying to decide on a new rug?

These little problems of redecorating bother a lot of women. Color schemes are the big stumbling block. Yet tones that harmonize shouldn't be such a puzzle for there are a number of short cuts that make the way easy.

For example, if you are about to move into a new apartment where all the walls and woodwork are to be done over consider your present living room chairs, couches, and rugs before you decide on the color for the walls. If you have plenty of color in the upholsteries and the floor covering keep the walls a neutral tone that will make a pleasing background. Neutral colors are: Beige, oyster white, bisque, and any to a green gray.



A bit of drapery fabric like the one sketched makes an excellent guide for a room's colors.

You'll never make a mistake in choosing one of these neutral colors. Any one of them makes a beautiful background for pictures and various decorative accessories.

You'll be able to get them in wallpaper, too. This spring there are some unusually pleasing stripe effects in all the neutral colors, nicely styled and suitable for any room in the house.

Suppose you are starting from scratch. Suppose you want to work out an entire color scheme: Floor covering, walls, draperies, and upholsteries. Always decide on one item first and let it be the color guide. Suppose you want one of the texture weave rugs. That means the floor will be just a plain color, so naturally it can't be your guide.

Let the drapery fabric, then, give you your colors. Armed with a good sized swatch of a patterned linen or chintz or cretonne, go shopping for your plain rug, for your couches and chairs and simply match two or three of the colors in the design. Then, show this same sample to your painter and tell him you want the walls to match exactly the light color of the background, or the light green of one of the leaves, or whatever appeals most to you.

Your room will be certain to be pleasing in color if you follow this simple method of letting your drapery fabric decide the various hues you're going to use.

We know a bedroom that was built around a lovely little watercolor of a blue vase filled with posies. The walls matched the blue of the vase, the woodwork, doors, and window frames were off-white, like the background of the picture, and the draperies repeated the pink, white, and light green hues of the flowers and leaves. On the floor was an inexpensive reversible rug in a tweedy effect of blues and light grays.

The important thing is to choose your color guide first: your draperies or your rug, or your painting, or whatever. Then, follow this guide. You can't go wrong with its help.

Home Owners' Queries

Detroit, Mich: [To the Home Building Editor]—What shall we use on a roof deck we are planning to build over our garage in our remodeled house? We want something fairly inexpensive and yet something we can keep looking attractive as a year-round flooring.

MRS. H. JONES.

Answer: Check on canvas roofing which is not high in price and will give fairly long service if you keep it well painted.

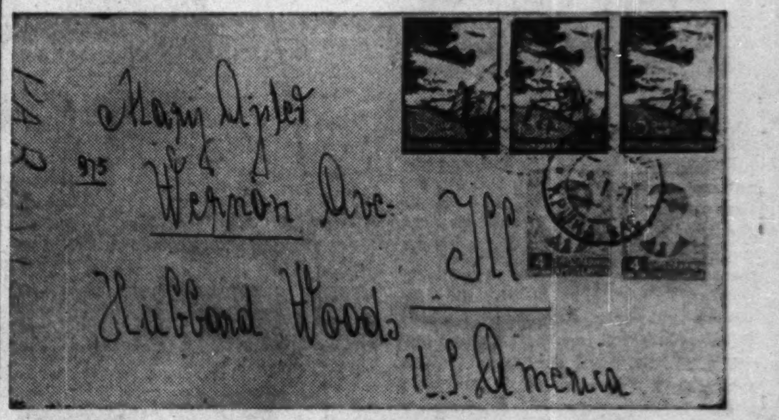
Racine, Wis: [To the Home Building Editor]—Should wax be applied to a varnished floor? M. F.

Answer: Not essential to do this, but wax is an excellent buffer against wear, increases the durability of the varnish underneath it, and adds beauty to the finished floor.

The Stamp Collector

By Richard McP. Cabeen

Mr. Cabeen will answer questions about stamps but not value. The Stamps and Coins advertising column in this page contains offers to buy and sell. Inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.



This cover, from Mary Ayster of Hubbards Woods, shows a recent air mail issue of Jugo-Slavia. There also is a portrait of Peter II., who recently acceded to full power in a coup d'etat following an attempt by the regent, Prince Paul, to line up the kingdom with the axis powers.

Recent issues of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE have given advice to collectors on albums and the arrangement and mounting of stamps on album pages. There remains only the actual writing up of the collection. Some advice has been given about what should be included in the write-up and what should be left out.

The writing up of a collection may be handled in two ways, either by hand lettering or by the use of a typewriter. The first mentioned is the most desirable, but if the collector finds he cannot do a presentable job he always can have recourse to the latter, and today he may select simple block letters for his machine which are a great improvement over the Roman capitals and small letters ordinarily found on typewriters.

Hand lettering is something like writing but more like drawing in that all of the strokes of the pen are made in certain directions and there is no up hill or backstroke work which might cause the nibs of the pen to catch in the paper. Since the ability to letter is the result of training and practice any collector who applies himself to the task can produce legible lettering which is sufficiently perfect for the purpose intended.

In recent years several mechanical aids have been invented to assist the novice. All these have good points, but when this kind of lettering is perfectly done it is just a little stiffer than hand lettering and a little too mechanical in appearance. The collector who really wishes to improve his lettering should obtain a book on the subject which shows several simple type faces and gives instructions on forming and spacing the letters.

In all lettering work guide lines should be lightly drawn in pencil to indicate the tops and bottoms of letters. Often an intermediate line is drawn between the two lines to serve as a guide in locating cross bars and in forming letters such as "B, P, R," etc. The letters themselves should be lightly drawn in with pencil to obtain the correct spacing and to serve as a guide when inking in. Since most of the titles and notes are centered on the album pages it will be necessary to locate the center of the page with a vertical line and, after finding the center of the title or note, to pencil in the information working both ways from the vertical line. When using a typewriter it is only necessary to count the letters and spaces to determine the center for the letters and spaces on the typewriter are of equal width regardless of whether they are "M's," "I's," or spaces.

Let us assume that the beginner has equipped himself with a bottle of Higgin's waterproof drawing ink and two or three sizes of Gillot's steel pens. These latter might include numbers 290, 170, 303, and 202, of which the first mentioned is quite fine and the last rather coarse. The size to be used will depend on the size of the letters and to a great extent upon the pressure put on the pen. Learn to fill the pen by means of the quill attached to the cork of the bottle and there will be less danger of dropping a blot on the paper and always keep the cork in the bottle and if it is not possible to keep the bottle on an adjoining stand at least place it in a pan or dish so that it cannot spill if accidentally upset. Good lettering is next to impossible unless the ink flows freely, therefore keep the pen point clean by dipping it in water as often as necessary.

If working in a dry atmosphere with a very fine pen it may be necessary to add water to the ink to prevent too rapid drying on the pen. The so-called waterproof ink does not mix well with water and it may be necessary to obtain a bottle of Higgin's Eternal ink.

The actual mechanics of lettering with rules for making the various strokes will be the subject of a future article.

Kent B. Stiles, writing in Scott's Monthly Journal for March, gives a few corrections in first day figures for stamps of the Famous Americans series which will be of interest to collectors who filed clippings of the various articles on this series which appeared in The Stamp Collector. First day sales of the Walter Reed stamp in Washington, D. C., totaled 297,850 copies and 154,464 covers received the special postmark. In the case of the Luther Burbank stamp, 147,022 covers were canceled on the first day and not 147,033 as previously reported. A third error is corrected in the case of the Ethelbert Nevin stamp of which 189,140 copies were sold instead of 189,040.

Scheduling of a Child's Life Must Be Sane

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

It's possible to be too busy yourself. It's possible to keep your children too busy. They shouldn't lead aimless, pointless lives, but neither should their days be so budgeted that they go from one thing to another, under pressure, with never a sense of leisure.

Children, as well as grown people, should have time in which to do as they please, or do nothing at all.

Some things can't happen to a person without "loose time." It's good for soul and body to have leisure. Physically, relaxation comes with leisure. Things then may happen to you in other ways, too, spiritually, emotionally, in the development of your talents, perhaps, and in the enrichment of yourself as a person. Poise, peace, perception, these are harder to lay hold of if one is constantly busy. And this applies to boys and girls as they leave very young childhood behind.

Even among people with modest incomes there is a tendency in the direction of filling up the children's time. If it is not with lessons of one sort or another or work around the house, it may be with classes and lectures for children on art or music, or it may be by arranging for all their time to be spent in a group playing under direction. All of which would be quite right in small doses.

But too often every hour is taken up. And where, then is the time for leisure, not for fun, for play, but for leisure, for time for the children to use as they please? For that is what leisure is, their very own time to use as they wish, to do something with or nothing with as the spirit moves them; time to exercise a talent they have; time to find out their talent, if they have one; time in which to "find themselves;" time to do nothing in; time to read in; time to rest in; time to invite their soul in; time to dream in. Or time to just "be."

Too much directed work and too much directed play can eat up time so there is none left for leisure. With no leisure one's spiritual "bump of locality" is in danger of being lost.

And here is a suggestion:

A grown person often needs material things to help him enjoy his leisure, books, writing materials, etchings, paints, clay, a tool box, a work bench, a stamp collection, a camera, music.

So do children. Try to see that they have what they need for their leisure, which is their do as they please time: Toys of the sort they like the best, or wood or tools or clay, or sewing materials; or books or pets. Or many of just the very same things their fathers and mothers would want: music or drawing paper or paints or a nice big comfy sofa to lie on, to dream on, and to chat from.

"Suggestions for the Interesting Use of Leisure" is a leaflet which may be obtained by sending a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Angel Food Is Queen of the Cake Kingdom

By Mary Meade.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Queen of cakes is angel food. A high, white, tender, even-grained angel food with a soft, golden, outer coating is our objective when we get out the eggs and the mixing bowl. An even-heating, well-insulated oven is as important to success as is careful mixing.

Cherry angel food, with its bits of bright red thruout the cake, is an attractive dessert. Sometimes the slices are served with whipped cream, and a whole cherry is used to garnish each serving.

CHERRY ANGEL FOOD CAKE.
[8-10 eggs].

- 1 cup egg whites
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1¼ cups sugar
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- ⅓ cup finely chopped maraschino cherries

Sift a fourth cup of the sugar four times with the flour. Beat egg whites, cream of tartar and salt to a stiff foam, and add the remaining sugar a little at a time, beating it in with a rotary beater. Add flavoring. Fold in flour, sifting it gradually over the egg white and sugar mixture. Pour a third of the batter into an ungreased angel food pan measuring 8¾ inches across the top, and sprinkle lightly over it half the chopped cherries, thoroly drained. Add another third of the batter and sprinkle over it the remaining cherries. Pour in the rest of the batter and run a knife up and down thru the cake in several places to distribute the cherries. Bake at 325 degrees for an hour. Invert pan on a cake rack for an hour, or until the cake is cold.

• • •

ANGEL FOOD CAKE.
[10 inch pan].

- 1½ cups sifted sugar
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1¼ cups egg whites [about 12 eggs]
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift sugar once. Add one half cup of sugar to the sifted flour and sift the mixture four times. Beat egg whites [have them at room temperature for best volume] until frothy, using a wire whisk. Add cream of tartar and salt and continue beating until the whites are stiff enough to hang in an inverted bowl, but not until dry and lusterless. Add the remaining sugar gradually, beating constantly with the whisk [a rotary beater will do]. Add vanilla and continue beating for 2 minutes. This is important, as it thoroly dissolves the sugar and eliminates dark sugar spots in the baked cake.

Fold in flour and sugar mixture [using whisk], four tablespoons at a time, sifting it over the egg whites. When all flour and sugar has been carefully folded in, fold a few additional strokes to insure perfect blending. Pour batter into a large, ungreased angel food pan 10 inches across the top and four inches in depth. Turn the pan several times to distribute batter evenly. Place on a rack in the center of an oven heated to 325 degrees. Bake an hour and 10 minutes. Remove from oven and invert on a cake rack. Let the cake hang in the pan until cold. Then, with a sharp, thin knife, loosen the cake from the sides and tube of the pan and turn it out onto the cake rack.

This "dark angel" cake is a big one, too. It may be split when cool, filled with whipped cream, and iced on top with a simple icing.

DARK ANGEL CAKE.
[10 inch pan].

- 14 egg whites
- 2 teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- ⅓ cup cocoa
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift sugars with cocoa four times. Sift flour three or four times. Beat egg whites with a whisk until foamy, add cream of tartar and beat until they hold shape. Gently fold in sugar, cocoa mixture, a small amount at a time. Then flour, sifting it in small portions over the mixture and folding it in carefully. Add vanilla. Fold several times more to be sure batter is well blended. Pour into ungreased large tube pan and bake an hour and 10 minutes at 325 degrees. Invert pan and let cake hang until cool.

Mrs. Fred F. Loomis of Washington boulevard announces the engagement of her daughter, Marion, to William Nevins Weaver Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver of Paxton avenue. Mosaic Design Buffet Cloth

By Ellen Bruce.

Buffet cloths add a special elegance to any sideboard or buffet and this handsome crocheted cloth, done in a mosaic design, is no exception. Created in ivory, mercerized, crochet cotton, this good looking runner requires only two hanks of material. This same attractive pattern may be used with equal success for luncheon doilies or dresser scarfs. In fact, a matching dinner set would be a suitable accompaniment to the buffet cloth.

For instructions in crocheting the mosaic buffet cloth, No. 916, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Thru the Looking Glass

By Eleanor Nangle

For spring, 1941, fashion decrees that by day and by night you must have that "clear-browed" look, achieved by a suave makeup and a coiffure that has sweep to reveal the hairline. For evening, a Hollywood stylist suggests that the hair be brushed upward all around the head and swept over to the left side, where the ends are tucked under in a French roll. Lacquer keeps the outline clean. For day, the back hair is brushed downward, the ends turned under, while hair at the front is brushed high, the ends finished in a double row of tailored ringlets. Popular Types of Sandals

923

By Jean Macdonald.

Knitted and crocheted sandals are going to be more popular than ever this summer, since these handmade slippers do not stretch or lose shape when created in nonstretchable string cotton or carpet warp. Open toes are universal in their appeal, while the backless or backed sandals are a matter of individual preference.

For instructions in knitting and crocheting the two sandal styles, No. 923, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Household Forum by Louise Bargelt

[Have you some favorite household help; something that lightens labor and gets results; is there some special comfort or convenience you could enjoy? We will be glad to pass on your ideas to our readers. Address Louise Bargelt, The Chicago Tribune.]

Elsie Smith, Chicago: Here's a tip men may enjoy for their fishing trips this summer. Last spring my husband took an old umbrella frame and covered it with mosquito netting. And did it make a swell minnow net when we started to fish! It was easy to carry in the car, as an umbrella folds into small space.

Mrs. T. G. Healy, Chicago: Wouldn't it be a good idea if some one invented a device which would reveal when a tire went flat in the garage? A device, installed so that a bell in the house would ring when calamity happened! Then no one would be subjected to annoyance of reaching the garage in a hurry and finding a tire flat as a pancake!

Christine S., Chicago: For sleeping comfort try this and you will never go back to the old way of bed making. Make a large pleat or tuck down the entire length of the top sheet to give extra room for body space. And for an extra long person also make a box pleat or large tuck across the foot space at the bottom of the sheet.

Carl Petersen, Chicago: Why won't public libraries carry in their reference rooms some pen and ink sets for readers' use? Such items might be "rented" to the public for a small sum and be a real help when needed for taking notes, etc.

Mrs. John C. Skinner, Chicago: Rub bread and meat boards with lemon rinds turned inside out and then wash in clear, warm water. This will keep them white and free from discoloration.

Mrs. Tessie D., Elgin, Ill.: Why won't some one invent a way to keep the points of collars from curling?

Now, please, your idea!

Did Samson Feast on a Lion With Stomach Acid Pains?

The Bible tells us how Samson feasted on a lion. It isn't likely that he could have done so if he suffered after-eating pains. Those who are distressed with acid stomach pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, bloat and other conditions caused by excess acid should try a 25c box of Udga Tablets. They must help or money refunded. At drug stores everywhere.

Your Daughter Has a Right to Know

It is every mother's duty to tell her daughter physical facts. How much better that she learn them from you, rather than from girls her own age. In feminine hygiene, facts may be distorted, or wholly untrue. Result, many brides use overstrong solutions of acids which can actually burn or scar delicate tissues. Today, there is no need to use such deadly solutions. Science has given us Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Actually destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Book Tells Intimate Facts. Give your daughter this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today," which you can get FREE, sent to you postpaid in plain wrapper. Appointments Contribute to One's Comfort

By Rea Seeger.

Every minute counts with a hungry shopper, and at last they've done something about it in Chicago. In one of the smartest shops for women a new restaurant has been opened just for the benefit of those shop hounds with a minimum allowance of time for eating. The general idea is perfect. You rush in, pay a modest sum, select your sandwich, beverage and dessert, and sink into the most luxurious seats ever devised for the weary backbone of any shopper.

At the side is a compartment for your bag. Attached to the left arm of the chair is a tray which pivots, and on this tray you are served an appetizing lunch. Surroundings are flattering and easy on the eyes, featuring pastel shades of coral, gray and yellow. The room is divided with neutral toned gauze curtains. The petite waitresses are all blonde, in uniforms of dove gray. One serves your beverage, another wheels in the assortment of desserts, from which you choose, and the third serves the sandwiches. In no time at all you can select and eat your luncheon within these lovely walls amusingly decorated with murals in dark gray and pastel colors. So far the place has been serving crowds. It's the one spot where you can dash in, be sure of instant serving, and out almost while you count the seconds on your watch. It's called "The Circle."

A most successful cutting and fitting service is now available in a Chicago department store. Especially timed for the rush of spring and summer sewers, it also features expert counsel for a modest fee. If you buy your own material, silk, wool, lace, cotton, velvet, or linen, and your own pattern, your dress, suit, or coat then is cut and fitted by an expert. Hems are marked, seams are fitted, and all you have to do is to take the package home and proceed to finish the model.

If you strike snags or run into trouble, you are allowed to return for advice and first aid. The fee charged is very reasonable, under $5, and finished results are perfect. It is unquestionably the best fitting and cutting service to be found, and you may watch while it is in operation. Appointments have to be made!

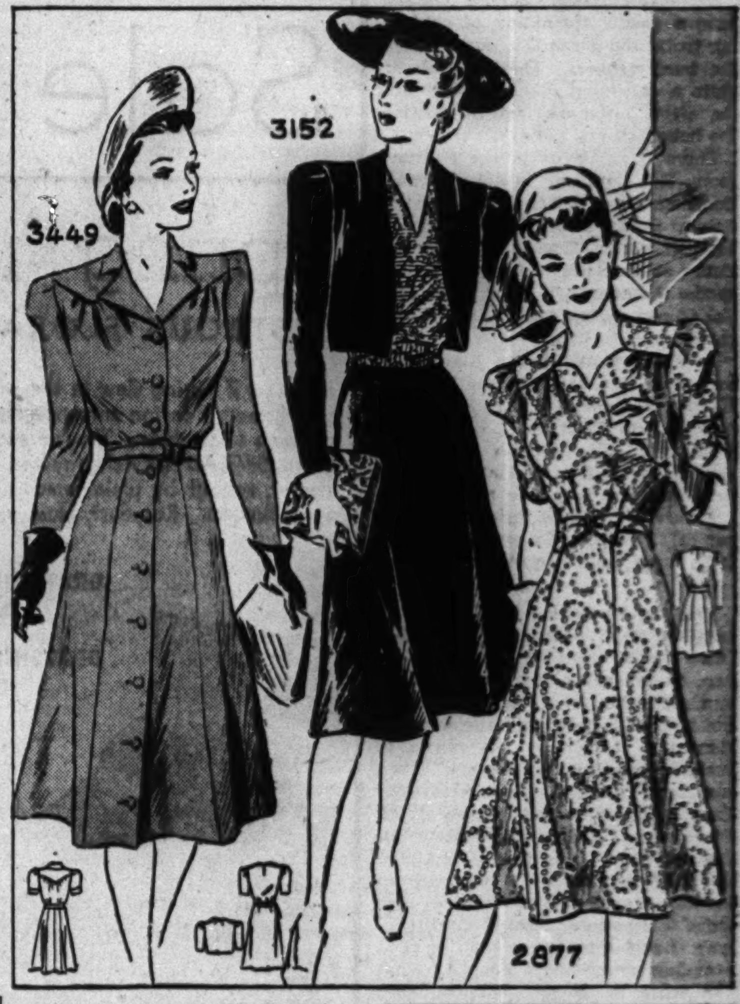
Patterns by Clotilde

By Clotilde.



The silhouette problems of women who wear larger sizes are catered to in today's three patterns. In these models we have incorporated various features which tend to minimize overweight and lend the illusion of slimness. Long lines are one of the tricks. Another is the low neckline, unadorned. A third is that of loose fitting, since too tight sleeves, waistline, and hipline invariably accentuate excess poundage.

No. 3449 is a button-down-the-front model with smart rever collarline, unusual shoulder yoke, graceful sleeves, and softly paneled skirt. Both sheer woolen and crêpe make up well, in plain colors, of course, and cottons are a possibility to keep in mind if it's a summer wardrobe you're planning.

No. 3152 employs the contrast principle. The skirt, softly flared, and the plain bolero jacket are of one color, while the V-neckline blouse, with gently gathered waistline, is of a contrasting plain shade or a print. Woolen or crêpe may be used.

No. 2877 is a really pretty one-piece frock with heart shaped neckline, softly shirred sleeves and bodice, and a defined waistline. The skirt is moderately flared.

No. 3449 is designed for sizes 16 and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements.

No. 3152 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inch bust measurements.

No. 2877 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inch bust measurements.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Easter Parade Marches to Tune of Noted Bands

By Will Davidson.

If today's Easter parade doesn't have a goodly sprinkling of congas, fox trots, and Susie Q's, don't blame the band brokers. They've brought quite a collection of orchestras into the city's insomnia institutions for the haberdashers' holiday.

There's Jan Savitt in the Panther room, Del Courtney in the Stevens' Continental room, Jan Garber in the Palmer House, Lawrence Welk at the Trianon, Orrin Tucker and Bonnie Baker at the Aragon, Leonard Keller in the Bismarck's Walnut room, and Val Olman in the Ambassador Pump room.

In about a month the Blackhawk brings in Art Jarrett, fronting Hal Kemp's old band, and Chez Paree will import Paul Whiteman. Supporting Whiteman will be John Boles, the singing movie star, and at an as yet undetermined date, the most recent Latin dancer to blow fuses in American cafés, Carmen Amaya. Joey Jacobsen's happy grin is quite justified.

This Savitt fellow has plenty of musical savvy. Fortified with five saxes and a brass section of six, he can, on occasion, blow out the fires on the Panther room's flaming swords, but he does it only when the occasion demands. At dinner his music is mellow, impelling, and savory. Turn him loose on, say, the overture to Carmen, however, and the self styled Stokowski of Swing does some exciting exercises. It is nice swing, tho, for it doesn't wrap the composer up in hot growls on the theory that since Bizet never heard of Petrillo why should a tenor sax man in good standing worry about knowing what the score is. If you like to dance and have an open evening, save it for Savitt.

The Sherman's show is good, dominated as it is by Jan's boys and girls. Jay Cook's bass fiddle version of "Dark Town Strutters' Ball" is elegant dog house stuff; Al Leopold blows a bass trumpet entertainingly; the Toppers do some good rhythmic harmony, and Alan DeWitt takes care of the tear jerkers. Best of the outside acts are the Two Eileens, toe dancers who can do a very gay conga, too. Al Robinson, ventriloquist, is colorful, but a little slow on pickup and not too funny.

John Hoysradt.
[Delar Photo.]

Camellia House of the Drake has traded John the Buckmaster for John the Schoolmaster. John secundus carries the Dutch name Hoysradt, and like the traditional little Dutch boy he pokes his finger into the levities of life. Mr. Hoysradt served his professorship amid the fireside chattels of Groton, the boys' school, and now he has turned the tables on the students by mimicking their foibles and the idiosyncrasies of us all. He knows the racking anguish of a suppressed cough and the ill-concealed yawn. He has caught more than the obvious mannerisms of such oft imitated stars as Herbert Marshall, John Barrymore, Charles Boyer and Basil Rathbone. He is almost diabolically funny in satirizing the diplomatic dips of Japan, Germany, and Italy. And what he does to that old forte-niner, Dwight Fiske, is very good fun. This is capital entertainment, with a high rate of interest.

New entertainment will be on tap at Harry's New Yorker Wednesday. Billy Gray stays on. With him will be Patricia Brent, singing comedienne accompanied by Al Tracey; the Three Musical Moods, discoveries of Harry's; the dancing Hartnells; Alex Perel, shadowgraph expert; the Muriel Kretlow New Yorchids, Arne Barnett's and Al Milton's bands.

Leftover from a space curtailed review of the Edgewater Beach show: That Orpheus dance routine done by the Dorothy Dorben dancers is one of the finest numbers they've ever done. Better even than the Blue Danube of the previous show. Ted and Mary Taft are refreshingly removed from the mine run of dance teams, and their Dietrich-Astaire satire is good fun. Then there's Jeri Sullivan, whose pert voice admirably fits her looks and her lyrics, and too there's Myrus, who tells you things he's got on your mind.

Boswelling the Bistros: Muggsy Spanier has his new 14 piece band ready for an eager public. It looks exciting on paper, and since he has retained the old river boat rag unit as an integral part, it shouldn't disappoint his old fans. . . . Mike Todd has a girl in his line out at the café who made her debut there 20 years ago, when it was the Rainbo gardens. But she doesn't creak or wheeze, for after all, she's just past 22. A posie to Frances Willer, a vivacious veteran. . . . You know you can find good fun at Flo and Walt's but did you know you also can find good food? They have a chef who knows as well what to do with a steak or a salad as Joy does with a score and Flo with a ballad. . . . Art Kassel's latest run at the Bismarck was six months, six days, and six minutes overtime. Marion Holmes has been singing cutely with him for five years and two weeks. . . . Handsome Johnny Duffy is playing nice music in the Blackstone hotel's Balinese room. And Janet Fulton sings as pleasingly as she did when she was Jean Frisk in Camellia House. . . . Ramon, one of those handsome waiters in the Pump room, has a special dance routine which should be called the Bacardi rhumba. . . . And in view of the fate of Denmark, Norway, Rumania, et al, isn't it truer than ever that "He who Hessian takes is lost?"

Left: Betty Wirtz knows there is an Easter bunny—for she has one. Her mother, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, is on the committee planning the annual benefit card party for the School of Nursing of the Presbyterian hospital. It will be given on Monday, May 5.

Below: Mrs. George F. Douaire Jr. and her children, Daniel, Helen, and George, will look like this when they go to mass this Easter morn.. Mrs. Douaire is a member of the board of directors of Madonna Center and on the committee in charge of the 18th annual dinner-dance the board will give to benefit the settlement on next Saturday in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel.

Right: Jean is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leander W. Riba. Mrs. Riba is a member of the Wesley Service club, which is giving its annual bridge and tea party on April 23 in the Gold Coast room of the Drake.

Chicago to Show Easter Hats After This Week

By Judith Cass.

The Easter bonnets that will bloom so gaily today will not spend much time on closet shelves during this week. No woman would think of appearing at the Northwestern university settlement card party fashion show and tea or at the Big Sisters' card party tomorrow without her smartest hat. The Sunbeam league card party on Tuesday will bring forth other hundreds of new spring hats and frocks; an informal performance of the South Shore Country club annual Follies on Friday night will bring out other chic daytime costumes, but a formal dance and Follies performance on Saturday night and the annual Madonna center dinner-dance also on Saturday will be distinctly "dress up" occasions.

The Evanston senior center of the settlement is giving the first card party mentioned. It will be held at the Country Club of Evanston. The Big Sisters' party will be given at the Palmer House. The Madonna center dance is planned for the Gold Coast room of the Drake. The committee in charge is entertaining at cocktails tomorrow afternoon at the Racquet club.

The thousands of crippled children the Sunbeam league helps to care for will receive the proceeds from the league's 32d annual card party and tea, which will be held at the Stevens hotel. The organization again expects to fill the enormous grand ballroom for its party, which is one of the largest of such benefits held every year. Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. John Wheeler, Mrs. John P. Wilson, Mrs. Frank Mackey, Mrs. Joseph J. Cavanagh, and Mrs. John R. Wolfenden are among those who have taken tickets.

One of the most interesting of the league's projects is its nursery at the Spalding school which is devoted entirely to spastic cases from the ages of 18 months to 6 years. The league is the only organization attempting to work with this age. Two other interesting units are maintained in wards 36 and 46 of the Cook County hospital, where between 15,000 and 18,000 preschool age children receive attention each year. The Cook County project was the league's first kindergarten.

Right: Mrs. George L. Plamondon and her Diane and George Lawrence make as handsome a family trio as could be found. Mrs. Plamondon is a member of the Chicago Arden Shore committee which now is making its annual subscription drive.

Writer Visits Many Florida Beach Clubs

By Cousin Eve.

PALM BEACH, FLA.

The Everglades club closed with a bang on March 31. There were 800 diners who danced in the patio under the stars, with an occasional spatter of rain. Easter lilies and pink gladioli in profusion decked the ball even to a fence of these exotics around the musicians' shell. Women wore their best. Two ruffled white tulle frocks with streamers of white ostrich would have graced a court ball. It was rather irksome to see such heavenly creations dragged over wet grass and stones, to tell the truth.

But extravagance is probably one of the charms of Palm Beach. It was a lovely ball, what with the magnificent lighting, music, and entrain of the dancers. We had a small dinner and Gen. and Mrs. Stanley Ford were among our guests, two utterly delightful beings who retain fondest memories of their Chicago life. Gen. Ford, who was one of the great beaux of our army, retired lately and is now on his first vacation in many years. Among others of our interesting convives was Ignace Kollupailo, a Polish naval officer, secretary to Paderewski and only lately from England, where Poland has an army, and government officials from Angers, France.

The great excitement of this farewell ball was a super tombola. Tickets were sold and at midnight numbers were drawn from a revolving cage, and $1,500 was distributed to the lucky. Among the young crowd the most noted couple after Archduke Franz Josef and Princess Marta, his handsome wife, were Jacky and Tucky Astor. The latter was Ellen French of Newport, an auburn haired girl with fine, delicate features and a beautiful skin. Young John Jacob Astor is a half brother of Vincent Astor and son of John Jacob Astor, who was lost with the Titanic.

You have to hand it to royalty for charming manners and amazing memories. Archduke Franz Josef recalled having met me three years ago at a party, and named other guests who were present. Princess Marta, who is a tall brunette with violet eyes, has much natural grace and is gay and unaffected. She and her Hapsburg husband are very popular in Palm Beach.

The Everglades club gave another vast party April 1 for its 700 servants in the beautiful patio. The celebration began at 4 in the afternoon and lasted until 4 a. m. and there was music, a floor show, dancing, and refreshments, as for the regular patrons.

We continued on at the club with others, but the place was a little sad. No longer banked with palms and flowers, the great rooms stripped of rugs and hangings were doubly empty without humans. Small, silent courts, with pools and fountains and rows of pink begonias and violets, were strewn with blighted yellow palm fronds and dead leaves blown by a wild tropical wind.

There was no end to the variety of life at Palm Beach this season. One day last week we went lunching to the Beach club at Boca Raton. Like other luxurious beach clubs along the Atlantic, it has a multitude of neat cabanas, a dance floor, musicians, and half a hundred tables under gay striped umbrellas. The food was excellent, and even waiters were there to carry trays.

The Boca Raton club, huge and rather somber in the late afternoon, loomed on the horizon, and we rode over to inspect its magnificence. One hundred guests were still rattling round in this vast concourse of cathedral like lounges and libraries—a mere handful in such an expanse.

On Sunday the most fun of all is to lunch at the Seminole club, 10 miles to the north of Palm Beach. The clubhouse is red stucco and sits squarely beside the ocean, while to the west rolls one of the very best golf courses in the country. Col. Latham Reid is president of the Seminole, and the membership seems to average rather younger than most of the other chichi clubs—and more exciting as well.

The patio is charming, somewhat wild in color—yellow and red as to cushions—I seem to remember; and after the usual aperitif, the crowd moves to its allotted luncheon tables along the sea. The Seminole has the usual breadline with many a captain of American industry lined up waiting for a go at the celebrated stone crabs, or the deep dish blueberry pie, or the macaroni au gratin, which are all Sunday specialties.

The Le Ray Berdeaus were there already, a partie carree with the Hayden Harrises, just in from Cuba. They had been having a delectable time in Havana with a revolution thrown in for good measure, and Hayden was on his way up state to visit his menagerie of apes and kangaroos. Fort Evans farms at Leesburg isn't warm enough for the African beasties in winter, so they traveled to Florida with the fashionable crowd. Mrs. Harris was looking a wee bit handsomer than usual and reveling in the Chicago friends who sprang up in all directions at the Seminole.

After lunch we watched the beginnings of a golf tournament, sitting in brilliant sunshine in a big semicircle around the tee. Mrs. Dodge Sloane of racing fame was in evidence and Fifi Widener and Tucky Astor, and we had a glimpse of Marie Bartlett, who had come down from Hobe sound to enter the tournament. Val Bartlett was in the hospital with a flu or something, and Marie was brown as a gypsy and charming as ever.

Hobe sound is an enchanting spot 25 miles north of Palm Beach—a community long drawn out, on Jupiter Island. We drove up there one Sunday and found a Garden Club day was on to benefit "bundles for Britain," and forthwith bought books of tickets for 20 houses and gardens, which were on view that day. Most of the exhibits were on the ocean side, but several faced Lake Worth and one of these was owned by Robert Glassford and certainly rang the bell for originality. The house was on stilts and quite Japanesy. It had four little guest rooms in a wing, like cabins on a yacht, each with a brick fireplace and a neat little bath. You pushed a button and a desk flew out of the wall—the same for the dressing table.

It was a wild, windy day and the owner said that he hadn't thought of cold weather when he ordered his sketchy house.

On the ocean side the houses were smaller and nearly all had white roofs. Mrs. Robert Belknap, at the extreme north, had brought nearly all her decor and furnishings in China. Her floors and rugs were white and it was an exquisite abode. Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford's beach house was large and imposing, and the lounging chairs and divans were of plastic glass and steel, and the dressing rooms were many and complete. The Fords live upon their house boat in Lake Worth and intend building one day at Hobe sound, on land where they have both the ocean and lake vistas.

The Beach club on Jupiter Island is delightful. Of palest sand gray, it is dashed with indigo blue and primrose cushions and has the usual cabins and showers. The details, however, are simple and there is no attempt at chichi. In fact one would say the Hobe Sounders have learned backward in their desire for extreme simplicity.

We dashed into the Valentine Bartlett house, hidden from the eye by trees and exotics. They are on the Lake Worth side and have a substantial white villa where they live the better half of the year, not far from the golf club. Mrs. Phelps Hoyt was there with her daughters, Mrs. Dexter Cummings and Mrs. Philip Swift, at the time. But we continued our merry chase thru domiciles and gardens, and it was about one of the toughest days of hard work ever accomplished by me—all for Britain! And after it was all over we couldn't remember one house from its neighbor, there were so many white roofs, white rugs, and Venetian blinds, not to mention all sorts and shapes of patios.

Hobe Sound is charming, however. It is calm and sane and American. On the drive down we passed two notable places. One is a humble prototype of Bradley's, an inn where they have excellent food, an extensive bar, and an upstairs where roulette is being done in a small way with 10 cent chips. And also in a big way if you desire. The place has many wealthy patrons who revel in the possibilities, and we saw several acquaintances entering the mild looking Dixie inn.

The other house that stood out was at the north end of Palm Beach and was painted sky blue. Under its roof and in its simple garden Paderewski has found peace and passed the winter in near solitude. The great venerable Pole has been terribly sad because of the sorrows of his country and unable to receive visitors. He has driven out daily, however, and played a few rubbers of bridge in the afternoon, and at times has sat at the piano running his fingers over the keys. A sister lives with him, as does his secretary, M. Kollupailo..

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Norton of Chicago are winter residents of West Palm Beach, a lively town across Lake Worth from the gay resort reached by bridges. The Nortons belong to the group in Chicago who are patrons of the arts, and have been real friends of the Chicago Symphony these many years. They have also been collectors of beautiful painting and sculpture and these works of art are now housed in a museum recently built in a quiet street of West Palm Beach. The Norton gallery rises in Greek simplicity from a green lawn, with two superb bronze sculptures against the gray stone walls of its flanking wings. Nothing breaks the plain surface of these walls but clumps of evergreens at the corners. Inside the museum the same fine taste prevails in the hanging of the paintings and the posing of the sculpture. It is a remarkable collection. One would say offhand that Ralph Norton had found and purchased the best examples of each artist. And each painting lives in brotherly harmony with its neighbor. There are canvases dating back two centuries, but due attention has been paid the moderns, and the greatest are represented.

The Norton gallery is a superb gift to Florida and I was thrilled at the beauty of it.

C. Percival Diets is one of the stag line at Palm Beach and reminds you of some handsome southerner in the movies, for some reason, altho he comes from New York and is a sculptor. Maybe it is something like "sideburns" that adorn his cheeks, that give him an old world look, but in any case, no party is complete without him. Young and old, they must have Percival Diets. He has a studio in Peruvian avenue, a real studio, and to it we were invited for tea last week, and it proved to be the very nicest of the moribund season. Inside were the sculptures of our host—one time Prix de Rome—and on the walls a few of his outdoor garden sketches, very lovely things. Several of the season's beauties were present, Lady Garthwaite, Lady Patricia Latham, and Mrs. Diana Mesker, who was about to fly away to Nassau for a visit with Maj. Drury, aide to the duke of Windsor, and his handsome wife.

By the way, one of Wally's relations was present at this chic afternoon party. She had just come from visiting the Windsors at Nassau and was enthusiastic about the success of her niece. "Her manner is perfection," said the doting relative. "She has a truly royal condescension, and knows so well how to behave in every circumstance!"

Children Are Real Boosters for Arizona

By Lolita Linn.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

This is written in grateful acknowledgment to some very young people: Hugo Dalmar of Evanston, Justin Jr. and Peter Dart of Chicago, Anne Harrington of Chicago, and Gary Carney of Chandler, Ariz.

To be quite correct, acknowledgment should be made to all the young visitors to Arizona whose enthusiasm has been so contagious. Grownups may have their reservations about this western country, but the youngsters have none. Of course, they do not bother their heads about the nonessentials. They may live at world famous resorts, but the only things that count for them are the cowboys and the cow ponies.

An interview with Hugo Dalmar, who spent his Christmas and Easter vacations at the Arizona Biltmore, with his mother, Mrs. Hugo Dalmar, was exceedingly difficult to arrange. According to the telephone operator, "Hugo was at the stables." This might mean that Hugo was roaming the desert and mountains on his cow pony, or doing a bit of calf roping with the cowboys [he could rope a calf when he was eight years old], or just passing the time of day with "Doc" Pardee, manager of the Biltmore stables. Hugo won several ribbons last fall when he rode his gaited horse at the International Livestock exposition, but we doubt if any of them meant as much to him as Doc's considered judgment on his riding." He has wonderful balance and takes no unfair advantage of his horse." That is heady praise from a cowboy.

"To my friend, Doc Pardee. He loves horses and children and they love him. No need to say more," is the inscription on the picture of William Wrigley Jr. which hangs above Doc's desk. Doc is proud of his photograph gallery, practically a picture "Who's Who," but he likes best to show you a somewhat faded picture of Pardee's Horse restaurant, the little stable in Prescott in which he started his Arizona career. Out of his long experience with people and horses [he is sure that he has saddled 15,000 horses since the Biltmore opened] Doc has developed three pet axioms: "Never teach a man in the presence of a woman"; "riding is the acid test of humanity," and "Unfair to horses, unfair to themselves."

Justin Jr. and Peter Dart, better known to Doc as "Six Shooter" and "Whiskey Pete," preferably spend most of their time in Arizona "prospecting." The beautiful desert and mountain country around Cave creek, where their mother, Mrs. John Stephan of Chicago, has her ranch, lends itself well to almost any form of exploration. There are abandoned gold mines; hopeful, if lonely, sourdoughs living back in the hills, and reminders of a day when Cave Creek was as topover for sheepmen on their way from the desert to the high pastures. Judging by the yellowed ledgers of the old adobe store, business was not permitted to interfere with pleasure. The day's charges to one miner read: 3 lbs. chewing tobacco, 1 lb. horseshoe nails, 1 wagon, 1 quart whiskey.

When children leave Arizona, their cow ponies very often go with them. Sometimes the cowboys go, too. Justin and Peter Dart's grandmother, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, is accustomed to entertaining western horses and cowboys at Hazelwood, her summer home near Dixon, Ill. Perhaps Hazelwood's most cherished pet is Trooper, the Shetland pony on which Leslie Ann Walgreen, Mrs. Walgreen's tiny granddaughter, learned to ride in Arizona.

The cowboys do not think it is any trick to teach a 2 year old to ride. Their curriculum is carefully graded and has some pretty high standards. At two, a child can handle the reins, see that his blanket is smooth, start and stop his horse, and, above all, learn to be gentle to his pony and to reward obedience. At five, he can be promoted to a better gaited horse and can learn to rope a goat. At eight, he takes full charge of his horse and ropes a calf.

According to this schedule, 5 year old Gary Carney of Chandler is a genius. At 18 months he could ride, mostly because his mother wanted to keep him out from under horses' feet. At five, he rides his father's top cow pony and does a good job of roping calves.

When Chicago Was Young

By Herma Clark

Chicago, April 22, 1893.

Dear Julia: The approach of the opening date of the Columbian Exposition has brought much activity here. Last evening, in common with many other Chicagoans, we attended the first performance of Imre Kiralfy's "America," a gorgeous spectacle, which you must see when you come out for the Fair. The final curtain didn't fall until an hour after midnight, but we stayed thru it all. The stupendous amount of scenery and the large number of actors involved made the opening quite an appalling task. I shouldn't have liked to be in Mr. Kiralfy's shoes. The loss would have been great if it had not been a success. Happily, it seems to be a real success and will doubtless run all summer for visitors to the city to see.

Mrs. Howard Shaw.

In pictorial quality, it outshines anything of the kind heretofore seen in Chicago. The "Grand Ballet of Arts and Sciences," near the close of the first act, has never been approached here in comprehensiveness and elaborate design, so all about us were saying. Its allegorical representations are marvelous. Mr. Kiralfy's problem now will be to condense the long piece into three hours. Will and I are dreadfully sleepy today.

Shouldn't you have liked to be in Norfolk yesterday when the Spanish caravels arrived to join the naval rendezvous? And wouldn't it have been thrilling to hear the salute of 17 guns, the greeting due an admiral, in honor of Columbus, the admiral? What a contrast the war vessels which towed these quaint craft across the ocean presented to the caravels! The four centuries that have passed have changed shipbuilding. And yet these little boats unlocked the secrets of the western hemisphere.

I am looking forward to seeing them on the blue waters of Lake Michigan. What a wonderful summer lies before us! You will come to us either in late June or early July, won't you? Any time will be convenient.

This week has brought the wedding of a lovely young friend, Frances Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses D. Wells, who was married to Howard Van Doren Shaw, in the First Presbyterian church at 21st street and Indiana avenue. We attended both the wedding and the reception which was held later in the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. Wells at 2550 Michigan avenue. Dr. J. H. Barrows, pastor of the First church, performed the ceremony, assisted by Dr. S. J. McPherson of the Second church, since that is the church of the groom.

Frances Wells is a beautiful girl and has had many beaux, but I think she has done wisely in taking Howard Shaw, for he has studied to be an architect and I believe has a bright future. He is a graduate of Yale, and of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has also been abroad for further study. He inherits artistic ability from his mother, Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw.

After their wedding tour in the south, the young couple will be at home at 2906 Groveland avenue, a fashionable neighborhood for honeymooners. The wedding was an especially pretty one, I thought, and the bride's attendants unusually attractive. Perhaps this was just because I knew all the girls in the party. Grace Otis was maid of honor and wore white satin. Margaret Meeker, Lucy Kent, Hortense Mitchell, and Bessie Small were bridesmaids and were dressed alike in pink satin. Lucy Kent came on from New York for the occasion. She is a granddaughter of dear old "Father Kent," who founded Railroad Mission here. She is tall and lovely looking.

Theodore A. Shaw Jr. was his brother's best man and the ushers were all well known fellows—Charles Hamill, Max Baird, William Van Doren Wright, and John Alling Jr. The company was composed of south side people, such as the Byron L. Smiths, the Charles L. Hutchinsons, Ferd W. Pecks and so on. It was one of those quite perfect marriages which you wish could happen more often.

And now I'll bid you good night. It won't be long before I see you.

Lovingly,

MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

Foot Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, whose wedding is described in the above letter, became the parents of Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, Mrs. Clay Judson, and Mrs. John Lord King of Chicago. Mrs. M. D. Wells lives at the Webster hotel. Of the bridesmaids, Grace Otis became Mrs. William R. Sage; Hortense Mitchell became Mrs. Arthur Acton of Florence, Italy; Margaret Meeker is now Mrs. David Cook; Bessie Small is Mrs. William Colvin; Miss Lucy Kent lives at 40 East Huron street.

Wanted: A Song and a Magazine.

Miss Emily Biddle Meigs, Lafayette, Ind., would like to find [a] an old song beginning:

"The ground was all covered with snow one day,
When two little sisters were busy at play"

and [b] a copy of the magazine, "Black Cat," for October, 1904, or July, 1908, containing a story by C. C. Osborne called "Two Bars in the Key of G."

Trinity Methodist Church.

A reader of this column would like a photograph of Trinity Methodist church, which stood for many years at Indiana avenue, near 24th street. This building was burned about 40 years ago, and the congregation moved to Beverly Hills, where they now have a large church.

Fred S. Keeler of Chicago writes of Bishop Whitehouse, well-known clergyman of the Episcopal church, whose home was on West Washington street. The Keeler family attended the Cathedral, in that once aristocratic neighborhood, and Mr. Keeler's father decorated the interior of the bishop's residence.

Girl Reserves Draft and Take Unusual Quiz

By Betty Browning.

The most popular girl with boys, far and away, is the "good sport," with the "sweet and unsophisticated" type her nearest rival.

Mrs. Roy Sorenson.
[Root Photo.]

The "good mixer" outdistances other boys in feminine esteem two to one, with the athletic type next, and the "sophisticated" man near the bottom of the list.

"Before midnight" is late enough for high school girls to be out on a date. Mothers are favorite confidantes.

These and other samples of what the younger generation—feminine—really thinks about itself and the world at large are afforded in a quiz which Chicago high school girls have drawn up and answered in connection with the 60th anniversary celebration of the Girl Reserves next week.

These junior members of the Young Women's Christian association are planning individual celebrations in their own school units, and will participate also in two coast-to-coast observances: Vesper services next Sunday, and birthday parties the following Saturday, April 26, with a nation-wide broadcast from Washington, D. C., to link them.

The girls also will extend a helping hand to less fortunate girls in other lands by raising a birthday gift fund for that purpose thruout the week.

The quiz, which was submitted to the Inter-club Council of Girl Reserves, and considerably revised by these student leaders, was answered by 350 girls in various parts of the city. Names were withheld.

About a quarter of the girls who answered the quiz revealed that they have dates with boys seldom or never. About 240 have frequent dates. A large majority indicated that movies are the favorite place to go on a date, with dancing, auto riding, parties, "just talk," sports, and games trailing in the order listed.

The boy, they believe, should plan the evening, altho most of the girls think a girl may suggest a place to go. School gives the best opportunity to meet boys, with parties a close second.

Altho mother is the favorite confidante, nearly as many as do confide in their mothers, don't. Dad was the confidante of only one girl; 45 of the others chose their girl friends, only a few more than indicated they confided in no one. "Understanding" was the type of older person preferred, with the "intelligent," "modern," "kind," "cheerful," "interesting" and "friendly" getting also a good word.

A large majority of the girls expressed themselves as "very keen" to go to college; about one-fifth said they didn't want to go. Chief reasons given for thinking college worth while were "education" [by a large majority, "make new friends," "preparation for life work," "social," and "get away from home," in the order listed.

To the question, "Would you like a job after you've left school?" 274 said "Yes," and only 15, "No." Already 196 know what kind of a job they want. More than twice as many said they were expected to contribute to the family income if they work as were not expected to do so.

Only 72 said concerning marriage that they have any one in mind now; 226 said "No." The favorite ages for marriage were 23, 25, and 22, with one practical lass adding, "When I get asked." Two was the favorite number of children. A married woman should not work if her husband can support her, 244 said; 167 thought a married woman should be permitted to teach; 122 thought not.

Concerning the war, 159 said they thought "Britain must crush Nazi-ism to preserve our democracy," and 51 said a flat "no," with a number of others uncertain; 162 thought this country will get into the war; 53 said "no," and a number of others was uncertain. Training camps for women for defense were opposed by 173, supported by 114, with a dozen falling between.

There was a wide divergence of choice as to favorite living persons, ranging from President Roosevelt, at the top of the list with 32 votes, with "mother" next, and Marian Anderson a close third, to Joe Louis, Helen Keller, the Pope, Lindbergh, Churchill, Willkie, "father," Mrs. Roosevelt, George Washington Carver, and Errol Flynn, all within a few votes of each other, with Hitler, Dorothy Thompson, the duke of Windsor, Mickey Rooney among those coming in for a vote each.

Abraham Lincoln, with 133 votes, was far and away the person in history most admired. Booker T. Washington and George Washington were next in the order named, with 19 and 15 apiece.

YWCA work with younger girls, according to Mrs. Roy Sorenson, chairman of the Chicago association's Girl Reserve committee, probably started in an effort to keep out of mischief the children who came with their mothers to early YWCA meetings. Oakland, Cal., has records of a Little Girls' Christian association, established in 1881, from which has stemmed the world-wide Girl Reserve program.

Miss Lillian Condit, Miss Shirley Barnes, Miss Ruth Fey, Mrs. Ray Johns, Mrs. Arthur Hillman, Miss Louise Clemmons, and Miss Jeannette Wilson are co-chairmen of the committees on the 60th anniversary celebration.

Ruins of Adobe City Recall an Ancient Story

[This is the eighth of a series on South America. The next will appear in an early issue.]

By Mason Warner.

LIMA, PERU. Visiting tourists in this country can be divided roughly into two classes: Those who are interested in ruins and those who are not. Persons impressed by the antiquities of Peru have little interest in the adobe ruins along the coast, but hasten to Cuzco and to Machu Picchu, where the massive stone remnants of a bygone civilization can be seen in all their glory. Those not interested in ruins pass up what remains of the old cities of Pachacamac and Cajamarquilla, so near Lima that less than an hour's motor trip will take you to either.

It is true that one must have some knowledge of the history of Peru and a working imagination to appreciate what is left of Pachacamac. There still stands on a high hill the remnants of the walls that once enclosed the Temple of the Sun and the Convent of the Sun Virgins. Adobe walls that have withstood the elements for centuries reach in every direction. Long before Pizarro came, long before the conquering Incas swept down from the high Indian plateaus, Pachacamac was a city. In fact, some anthropologists date it back to 2,000 B. C.

As a sacred city Pachacamac had accumulated much gold at the time of Pizarro's arrival on the scene. The empire of the Incas was a socialistic theocracy, with a population variously estimated at from 3,000,000 to 10,000,000. There was no money or cash in circulation. The native Indians traded with one another, exchanging food, clothing, and the materials therefor on a barter basis, after paying taxes to the government and tithes to the church in kind.

All gold and silver belonged by divine right to the Inca, the head of the church and of the state. The precious metals went to the adornment and elaboration of the temples and the person of the Inca. Temple walls were adorned with hammered gold discs representing the sun. Goblets and vessels used in the ceremonies were solid gold. No wonder the Spanish conquistadôres went crazy with greed and lust!

When Pizarro landed the empire of the Incas was torn by civil strife. A brother of Atahualpa, the reigning monarch, was contending for the throne, which made Pizarro's conquest easy. The Spaniards captured Atahualpa and kept him prisoner for three years, and then he made a proposition to Pizarro.

He offered as ransom for his freedom enough gold to fill the room in which he was confined. The room was 20 feet long by 18 feet wide and he agreed to fill it with gold to a mark on the wall as high as he could reach—some say 7 feet, others 9 feet. His proposition was accepted, and, obeying the Inca's instructions, the natives started to bring in the gold from the temples in inland cities.

However, one of Pizarro's followers, amazed at the huge quantities of incoming gold, was suddenly struck with the idea that a man who had sufficient power to command the assembling of so much wealth was a dangerous man to be set at liberty. As a solution Atahualpa was strangled.

Word of his death quickly spread among the Indians. The inflow of gold ceased almost instantly. Caravans of llamas with their burdens of precious metals were halted on their journey.

A majority of students of the old Spanish chroniclers say that Pizarro profited to the extent of $5,000,000 in gold gathered at Pachacamac, but that, because of the murder of Atahualpa, he lost some $150,000,000 worth which was on its way to him from all parts of the empire.

This colossal fortune is said to have been buried and hidden from the white man at various points, search for which has kept fortune hunters busy, without success, thruout the centuries.

So much to inspire pictures in the minds of tourists viewing what is left of the walls of the Temple of the Sun at Pachacamac!

As to what remains of the Convent of the Virgins of the Sun, there is another tragic story. Like the vestal virgins of ancient Rome, the virgins of the sun were chosen from among the most beautiful girls. They came from various tribes in what is now Peru, Bolivia, northern Chile, and Ecuador, gathered in the sacred city, and dedicated to a life of chastity. Many of them were sacrificial victims in ceremonies to the sun god.

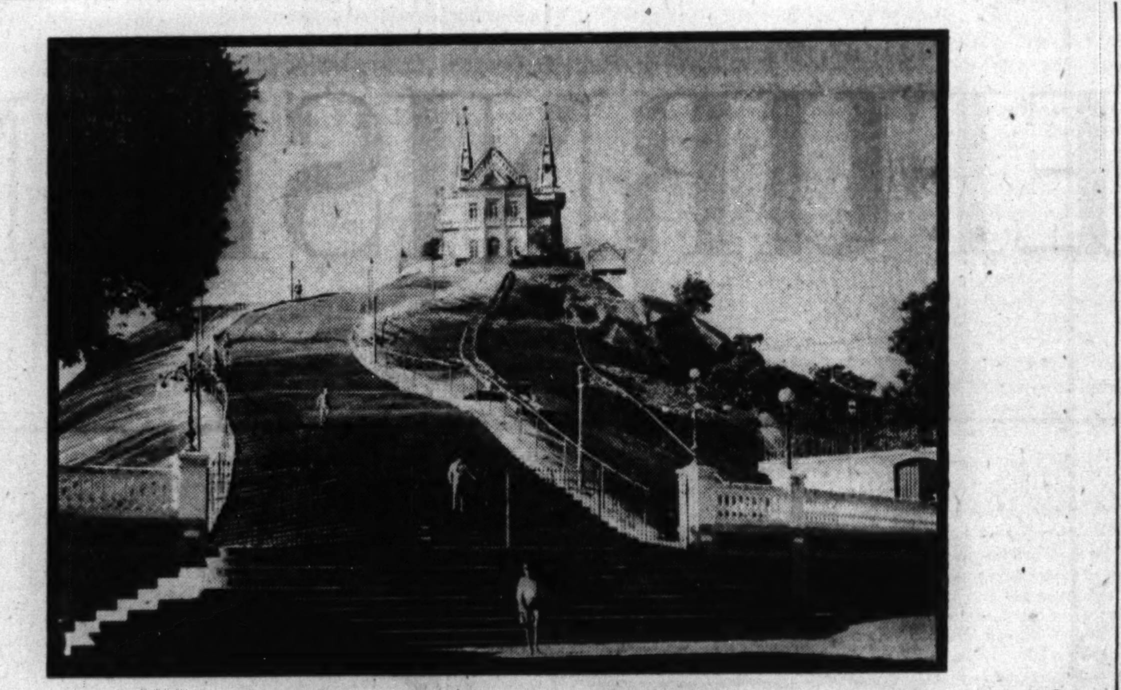
Apparently some of these ceremonies forbade the shedding of blood. So the selected virgins met death by strangulation. Many of the mummies recently exhumed at Pachacamac had necks compressed, by hard knotted neckerchiefs drawn so tightly as to dislocate the lower jaw, to a diameter no larger than a man's wrist. Along with these pathetic remains were dug up treasure boxes containing pure gold ornaments of Incan design, but that is another story.

When Pachacamac was plundered by the Spaniards a number of the virgins and temple priests fled to the mountain stronghold of Machu Picchu, where they lived lonely lives in hiding and finally passed away from the infirmities of age.

If one is unacquainted with the story of Pachacamac, the ruins in themselves are not interesting. They are neither impressive in size nor awe-inspiring because of architectural design. Time has taken its toll, and only ruins of adobe walls remain.

We were told the ruins of Cajamarquilla, lying in a different direction from Lima, were in a much better state of preservation, and we planned to visit them the following day.



A MECCA FOR EASTERTIDE PILGRIMAGES

Three hundred and sixty-five steps, or one for each day of the year, lead to the Church of Nossa Senhora de Penha, near Rio de Janero. Each Easter it is the goal of throngs of Brazilians and their visitors from North America.

Hot Springs Recalls De Soto's Discovery

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—For 17 days, beginning July 4, this federal spa will recall Hernando De Soto's discovery of its healing hot waters in 1541.

The program will include parades, dances, fiestas, and pageantry.

A 300 foot open air stage at Rix stadium will be required to tell the spa's history in 15 episodes. More than a thousand persons will participate.

Tarpon Tourney Titillates Tampa

TAMPA, Fla.—Tampa's ninth annual tarpon fishing tournament will be held from May 1 to Sept. 1.

The event is open to amateurs from anywhere in the United States. Equipment is limited to rods and reels. Tarpon must be caught only in Florida west coast waters. Florida conservation laws forbid the catching of more than two tarpon daily.

Last year's event was won by Kenneth Coogle of Atlanta, Ga., who landed a 173 pound fish in the upper waters of Tampa bay. Miss Dorothy Hickson of Fort Myers, Fla., holds the women's record with a 175 pounder caught in 1938, the second largest tarpon in the history of the contest.

An Acre of Blooms from One Wistaria

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Rose shows, the blooming of the world's largest wistaria vine, and floral parades are a part of southern California's April program.

A horticultural phenomenon, the wistaria at Sierra Madre spreads a canopy of purple blossoms over an acre of the garden where it grows. During its blooming it annually attracts 50,000 visitors.

Both Santa Barbara and Pasadena open rose shows April 25.

Glendale offers a Festival of Cultural Arts, which embraces a community flower show in a program of dancing, music, poetry, creative writing, and fine arts.

Professional Cast for Cascades Show

JACKSON, Mich.—A professional cast has been signed up for the 1941 Cascades festival, Aug. 9 to 16, to replace the amateur type of show given in previous years.

Produced at the illuminated cascades of the William and Matilda Sparks Foundation, the festival has become one of the important summer events of the middle west.

Announcement of the change in the entertainment phase was made by George E. Voorhees, general chairman of the 1941 event, and Garrett C. Gething, assistant secretary of Greater Jackson association.

TIPS TO TOURISTS

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Is it true that the former home of Dolly Madison is still to be seen somewhere in North Carolina?—A. N. J.

Yes. It is at Guilford, and it rents for $30 a month.

Kindly tell me something about the Cody entrance to Yellowstone park. —K. D. K.

The 80 mile road, leading from the town of Cody, Wyo., is the eastern entrance to the park. It winds up the Shoshone River canyon, thru the wild Absaroka range, and over Sylvan pass. Travelers regard it as one of the most scenic highways in America. Because of the heavy snows, it is not usually ready for travel until June.

What is the season at Grand Teton National park?—G. M.

June 10 to Oct. 1.

What is the temperature at Nassau, the Bahamas, in April?—F. C.

It varies from 72 to 84 degrees.

I understand there is an annual All-Indian powwow each summer at Flagstaff, Ariz. Please give me the dates of this year's celebration. —R. J. B.

July 4, 5, and 6.

My wife and I are interested in getting complete information on southern California's flower shows, blooming orchards, and wild flower displays. Where can we find it? —W. P.

Write the All-Year Club Free Visitors' bureau, 505 West Sixth street, Los Angeles, Cal.

When will the new fast train, called the Michigan, start operating between Chicago and Detroit?—B. L.

Sunday, April 27.

How did New Orleans' French quarter gets its name? —B. K.

The Old Town, or Vieux Carre, was laid out by French engineers soon after Jean Baptiste le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville, founded La Nouvelle Orleans in 1718. This district corresponds with the French quarter of today. New Orleans became the capital of Louisiana territory in 1721, and in the first 83 years of its history it was peopled and ruled first by the French and later by the Spaniards. In 1801 the city and province were ceded back to France, under Napoleon, but the treaty was kept secret until 1803, when the Spanish standard gave way to the French tricolor. A few months later, thru the Louisiana purchase, the entire territory came under the American flag.

Dude Ranches, De Luxe Hotels: Take Your Pick

By Frederic Babcock.

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

A fellow tourist remarked to us the other day, as he put a large T-bone steak to the best of all possible uses, that out here you're smothered with onions and hospitality. It wasn't much of an exaggeration.

We are told that more than 200 Chicagoans now have their winter homes in or around Phoenix. For every such home owner there must be at least a hundred Chicagoans who come here each season for the western hospitality, sunshine, sports, and recreation.

These visitors are entertained at places ranging all the way from de luxe hotels, with every convenience to be had at the smartest inns in the big cities back east, to dude ranches where everybody eats family style and where life is lived pretty much as it was in the days when a ford was still a river crossing.

This is an attempt to describe a few of these places. It is not a complete list, inasmuch as there are hundreds of them in southern Arizona, and we have had time to visit only a few. These few are:

Camelback inn—Eleven miles out in the desert from Phoenix, and facing a rocky mass known as Camelback mountain. Built four years ago by John C. Lincoln of Cleveland, with Loomis Bowes, Arizona architect, as the designer. Now run by a friendly westerner named Jack Stewart and with the gracious Mrs. Stewart acting as hostess. Perhaps the most unusual layout of them all. Its cacti gardens are said to be the most elaborate in North America; the flowers and palms of the playa-plaza are likewise distinctive. The inn is frequented by such notables as Frederick D. Corley of Bob Zuppke; yet the atmosphere is decidedly informal.

Jokake inn—On the other side of Camelback mountain, and 10 miles from Phoenix. Designed, built, owned, and managed by a former Chicagoan, Robert T. Evans, with his daughter, Mrs. Babcock [no relation of this correspondent], helping to make it a charming rendezvous. Like most of the others, Jokake is comparatively new, but it is built in the style of pioneer days. Like many of the others, it has a main building surrounded by casas and bungalows, each a separate unit, but each forming a part of a picture of real beauty.

Arizona Biltmore hotel—Closer to Phoenix, and with a more formal air than a majority of its rivals. Designed by the famed Frank Lloyd Wright, and therefore a distinct departure from the ordinary. A huge place, with huge rooms and an atmosphere of sumptuousness. Owned [in part, at least] by the Wrigley family of Chicago, and situated in the shadow of one of the homes of Mrs. William Wrigley Jr. A favorite of those who like luxury even in the desert. Managed by a former Californian, Harry Boyle.

San Marcos hotel—A country place in the city. Situated at Chandler, and built by Dr. Alexander J. Chandler. The doctor, now past 80, still has his daily round of golf and greets all the old-timers who come back year after year. Another huge place, with its own golf course and a whole colony of cottages. Much frequented by residents of Chicago's north shore. Boasts of having three world's champion cowboys in charge of its stables. Now managed by an engaging young man named Robert Froehl.

Westward Ho hotel—On the edge of Phoenix, and close enough in to give its guests the advantages of city life and the enjoyment of country life. Has a tropical patio for suntanning, ping-pong, croquet, and two nine hole putting courses. Also several roof garden sun decks. Managed by Frank J. Haberl, a native Viennese who knows all there is to know about how to run hotels. Mr. and Mrs. Haberl have a wide friendship, gained thru years at Denver's Brown Palace and other western hostelries.

Wigwam guest ranch—Situated at Litchfield Park, which is a 17,000 acre development of one of America's great rubber companies. The ranch includes vast citrus groves, cattle ranges, and fields of cotton, grain, and alfalfa. The gardens and groves supply much of the food for the hotel. Seventeen miles from Phoenix. A formal layout with an informal air. Murray Stevenson, a young man with a pleasing manner, is the manager.

Santa Rita hotel—In the heart of Tucson, and run by as remarkable a character as you'll find in real life or fiction. His name is Nick Hall, he comes from Texas, and nobody calls him "Mister." You haven't been there five minutes before you know him and all the other guests within hailing distance. Five minutes after you've landed in the taproom you're meeting the men who have built the southwestern empire. As friendly a place as you'll find anywhere.

Pioneer hotel—Also in the heart of Tucson, and run by one of the big shots of Arizona. He is J. M. Proctor, chairman of the state highway commission and a real power in the movement to put his state where it deserves to be as a tourist center. Like the Santa Rita, the Pioneer is the hangout of celebrities.

Castle Hot Springs hotel—In the community of the same name, and one of the finest spas in this part of the country. Thermal waters of real curative properties. An old hostelry, but pleasantly modern nevertheless. A splendid oasis of palm trees and gardens. Favorite of the Barney Goodspeeds, the Sterling Mortons, and dozens of other Chicagoans. Off the beaten path, and therefore quiet and informal. Managed and owned by Walter Rounsevel, a former New Englander who refuses to live up to the New England tradition for reserve. He's liked by everybody who happens along his way.

Remuda, at Wickenburg; Sahuaro Lake, out of Mesa; Flying V, out of Tucson, and many other dude ranches, all with a ready welcome for strangers.

WHEN A CHICAGOAN GOES "WESTERN"

Frederick D. Corley forgets big business as he takes it easy in southern Arizona. The picture was snapped late this winter when Mr. Corley was a guest at Camelback inn, near Phoenix.

Kaieteur Falls Five Times as High as Niagara

The Great Kaieteur falls, in the heart of the tropical jungles of British Guiana, ranks with Niagara, Victoria falls, and with the cataracts of the Iguazu in majesty and beauty.

It is nearly five times as high as Niagara, with a sheer drop of 741 feet. It is 300 feet wide, and in the rainy season the waters have a depth of more than 30 feet.

Until recently the falls could be reached only by explorers who were willing to undergo considerable hardship and danger while chopping their way thru the surrounding jungles. Recently a way has been cleared, and rest houses are provided by the government at convenient intervals.

Fish Story: They Catch Them with Balloons in Hawaii

Fish in Hawaiian waters are exceptionally game, and the deep sea sport is always good.

For the still fishing at Kona, the live opelu, an active trout-like fish, is kept in brine tanks aboard the boats and sampans and used as bait. The hook runs thru the opelu's neck, back of the gills. The line is weighted and the opelu shot down about 30 fathoms. An inflated toy balloon, fastened to the line about 180 feet from the bait, serves as a bobber. The boat drifts. A swordfish or a tuna swallows the bait and dashes off, forcing the balloon under and breaking it. The angler permits the fish to unreel 20 to 30 feet of line at loose tension and then sets the hook.

THE VOICE OF THE TRAVELER

Letters regarding travel conditions and experiences are welcomed. Please keep them brief. Address: Travel Editor, Chicago Tribune.

THE RAINS CAME.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 2.—To the Travel Editor: Thanks for the dandy piece about Max Kegley, the "desert rat," by Frederic Babcock in your Feb. 23 issue. Keg is a good friend of mine; in fact, he is a good friend of nearly every one in Arizona.

In "The Voice of the Traveler" on the same page I noticed a rather sharp letter, signed by C. M., who apparently has no love for Phoenix. To be polite, however, instead of saying that Phoenix is very much overrated from every angle, he should have added the words: "In my opinion." There are some people who would call any place overrated.

If a person is looking for some place to rest in the sun, or play in the sun, winter or summer, and for sheer beauty and comfort, I would say there was no other spot on the face of the earth more favorable than Phoenix.

True, we had quite a rainy winter, but how we needed it! If we hadn't had this rain to fill our several dams, this lovely garden spot wouldn't be here long for the people from the east to enjoy. And the winter visitors realized it and took the unusual wet spell with good grace. They didn't run out on us. The Biltmore, Camelback inn, the Wigwam, San Marcos, El Portal, and the dozen of other fine resort hotels in Phoenix and Tucson, and the dude ranches around Wickenburg were all full.

Phoenix very much overrated? Ask any one who has been here, as C. M. challenges. And remember, after the rains the desert here is alive with beauty. Come and see!

JOSEPH MILLER.

MEXICAN ROUND TABLE.

Chicago, April 7.—To the Travel Editor: The Mexican round table, sponsored by the Friends of Mexico, will meet in the Benedict art gallery of Hull House, 800 South Halsted street, April 18, April 25, and May 2.

The subject to be discussed is: "What Is the Good Neighbor Policy?" Francisco Xavier Paz, who recently has been added to the Hull House staff, will lead the discussion. The time is from 7 to 8 p. m.

Following the round table will be the weekly class on dances characteristic of Mexico. The public is invited to participate in both the discussion and dancing.

Miamians See Easter Dawn at the Seaside

By Clarissa Greene.

MIAMI BEACH, FLA.

Tens of thousands stood this morning on the shore of the Atlantic ocean, waiting in reverent silence for the first shaft of light to strike upward from the horizon as the silvery notes of a bugle sounded a clear call to worship. Tens of thousands of voices mingled as the mighty Easter hymn declared again, "He is risen."

In a climate closely approximating that of the country in which the first Easter morn gave the world a new message of hope, the old, old story again was told.

A similar ocean side service at Fort Lauderdale, on Las Olas beach, was staged jointly by ministerial association and career women of business and professional note. In Miami's huge stadium, an Easter sunrise service was held for the first time, for convenience of those who could not attend the beach service.

Today, as perhaps never before in the life of this resort city, religious services drew residents and visitors alike to sanctuaries for prayers and songs of praise for a land still free from the devastation being suffered by the peoples of many other countries.

Family gatherings, luncheons, and dinners are following in homes and clubs, many of them including latecomers from colleges and schools of the north, where spring vacations did not coincide with earlier semester closings.

One of the largest gatherings is the annual Easter tea of the Biscayne Bay Yacht club, which numbers among those attending the function a very large number of younger members. The event is outstanding in the club's calendar, being largely a family gathering for members of Miami's oldest yachting group.

The Bath club is holding the last of its spring luncheons at noonday and the Indian Creek club is celebrating the day with its annual tea dance.

The Miami Symphony orchestra, John Bitter, director, closed a brilliant season Monday night with Emanuel Fueurmann as guest artist.

On Wednesday Mrs. George A. Hughes, of Coral Gables and Chicago, entertained with a luncheon at the Miami Biltmore Country club, with Fuerurmann as honor guest. Sharing honors with the cellist, recognized as one of the greatest on the concert stage, were Sandore, Hungarian pianist; the Hughes' talented daughter, Mary Hughes Call, soprano, and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Ferrell of Schenectady, N. Y. Others in the party included Mrs. Arnold Volpe and the Albert T. Fosters. Mrs. Call flew from New York for the event, arriving at five Wednesday morning. The Hughes' luxurious aero car made the rounds, picking up the guests and depositing them at the country club for the 1 o'clock luncheon. Later the Pullmanlike "land yacht" took them all for a drive about the resort, cities that make up metropolitan Miami, then deposited them at home.

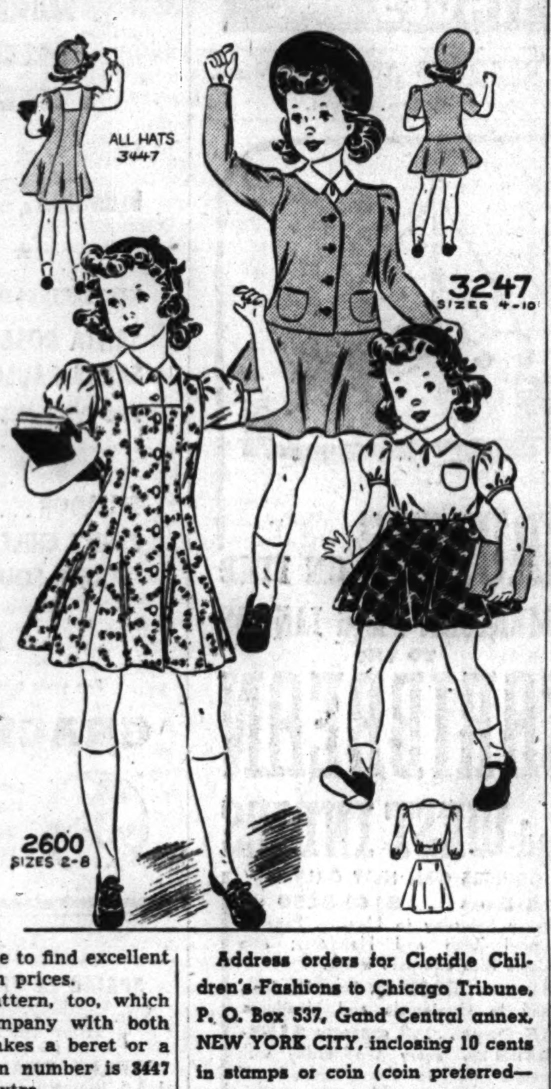
Chicago clubwomen who have enjoyed the gracious hospitality of the Miami Beach Woman's club will rejoice to know that Mrs. Thomas J. Pancoast, known and loved by visitors from many cities, has been retained at the helm of that organization. Annually visiting clubwomen have been welcomed to forum meetings, lectures, flower shows, luncheons, musicals and the entire gamut of activities of the club. Its hospitality has been limited only by the proportions of its club home on Pine Tree drive.

Clotilde Children's Patterns



Both these practical patterns will appeal to hurried and harassed mothers who have a constant problem in keeping the children's wardrobes complete. These are easy to make juvenile fashions which will "take" a great deal of wear and tear.

One is a jumper model with princess lines. It buttons all the way down the front. The second style is a clever little suit consisting of skirt, blouse, and jacket, to be mixed and matched as best suits the complexion of the diminutive wearer and the offerings of remnant counters. About this last suggestion, we really mean it. The yardage requirements of this pattern are so modest that wise mothers will be able to find excellent swatches at bargain prices.

There's a hat pattern, too, which keeps excellent company with both these styles. It makes a beret or a beanie. The pattern number is 3447 and costs 10 cents extra.

Style No. 2600 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6, and 8.

Style No .3247 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, and 10.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotidle Children's Fashions to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Gand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

COLLEGE CLUB PLANS PARTY

Mrs. Samuel James Campbell. [Perkins Photo.]

Illinois has sent 150 members to the 50th continental congress of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, this week at Washington, D. C. Beginning with memorial services this afternoon, the program will continue thru Saturday at the society's handsome headquarters, said to be the finest in the possession of a woman's organization.

The golden anniversary of this patriotic organization, celebrated officially last October, will add lustre to the convention. Anniversary projects instituted by the 2,500 chapters across the country will be reported, and a pageant reviewing the organization's achievements will be presented Tuesday evening. The anniversary projects include gifts to the two fully maintained D. A. R. schools in the southern mountains, and to the 15 other schools supported in part by the society.

A national defense symposium tomorrow; a pilgrimage to Arlington and to Mount Vernon, and an informal reception of national officers following the pageant Tuesday; a reception by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the White House on Friday, and the annual banquet that evening will be other highlights.

Mrs. William H. Pouch of New York, who has been nominated to succeed Mrs. Henry M. Robert Jr. as president general, will hold a reception tomorrow at the Mayflower hotel, together with Mrs. Samuel James Campbell, Illinois' honorary state regent, who is candidate for treasurer general. Mrs. Pouch and Mrs. Campbell both have been active in the organization for years. The former is honorary national president of the Children of the American Revolution. The latter is national chairman of approved schools.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. William Butterworth of Moline will present a case for valuable textiles to the Daughters' museum as a tribute to Miss Helen McMackin, Illinois state regent.

Some 150 business and professional women are expected to attend the annual spring conference of the seventh district of Quota International next Saturday at the Hotel Sherman. A panel discussion on "Women in Defense" by women active in civics and politics will be included in the program. Olivia Peterson, director of public health, Minneapolis, Minn.; Elma Klinedorf of the United States employment service for Indiana; and Mrs. Clifton Utley will be among the speakers at the all-day meeting. Miss Clara Frenzel of Waterloo, Ia., is district governor of this service organization for women executives.

The biennial convention of district eight of Alpha Phi international fraternity will bring delegates from midwestern chapters to Evanston next week-end. A collegiate buffet supper and an evening of skits by Beta chapter, the hostess unit, are planned for Friday, and a banquet for Saturday evening at the Indian Hill club, with Miss Patricia Lewis, monologuist, as toastmistress. Mrs. Jesse G. Carr of Chicago is district governor. Miss Jean Wiltberger is among the members of the hostess committee.

Campus Modes by a Co-ed

By Carolyn Ramey

If spring means anything in the world of fashion, it certainly denotes crispness, that of new green leaves, shining flower petals—and snowy blouses. The whole style world is blossoming forth, literally, with flower-bedecked hats, sleek new lines, and the whiteness of lovely lingerie effects for suits. Today's pattern creates two entirely different blouses to wear with your spring ensembles or your separate skirts.

One version is created in eyelet batiste or any cotton or washable silk. The eyelet fabric is ideal, trimmed in lace or ruffling. This is a shirtwaist version with paneled front and Peter Pan collar.

The other blouse has the new "plunging" neckline that is deep-throated and very, very feminine. It's a one-button model with rever neckline and soft, full sleeves that button at the cuffs in man-tailored manner. Make it of soft crêpe and put the emblem on the pocket as the only decoration.

Style No. T-8714 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and makes both blouses.

Life Is Interesting Even Tho Hearts Are Out of Tune

Mother Goose

Life can be interesting at a sanitarium for many children with rheumatic heart ailments, as these pictures illustrate. In La Rabida Jackson Park institution colorful diversion has been supplied by the senior board, the junior auxiliary, and the men's foundation, all of which support the sanitarium. At the left Mrs. W. J. Frazier, 7861 South Shore drive, junior auxiliary member, shows Susan Graham how to water flowers. In the center picture is 4 year old Herbert George clutching the latest Mother Goose book. Children between 4 and 12 years old are eligible to enter the institution and their average length of stay is from five to nine months. At the right Richard Potenzo (extreme left) and Jack Hogberg discuss electric train schedules with Mrs. Joseph H. Grayson, 6922 Jeffery avenue, another junior auxiliary member. The auxiliary and the senior board will hold their annual luncheon, fashion show, and card party on Tuesday, April 22, in the Palmer House for the benefit of the home. KITE MATERIALS IN BIG DEMAND AT CITY PARKS

Flyers Eager to Vie in Tribune Contest.

BY CHARLES ROBERTS.

Pine wood, wrapping paper, and mucilage—the three standard ingredients of most old fashioned kites, and a good many new fangled ones—were at a premium in 88 park fieldhouses and thousands of Chicagoland homes last week as an estimated 6,000 kite enthusiasts began construction of craft they will enter in the third annual Chicago Tribune Kite contest.

Ten thousand kite builders and flyers of all ages are expected to be entered in the contest when registration closes at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in the fieldhouses. To enter the contest, kite flyers need only to fill out the entry blank appearing elsewhere in this section and take it to the nearest park fieldhouse.

Elimination contests will begin in some of the 88 parks tomorrow and continue thru April 26. By that date, each park will have chosen one contestant to complete in each of the seven events in the finals.

Contest Set for May 3.

The finals, a tournament of champions which annually attracts thousands of spectators, will be staged in the parking lot south of Soldiers' field, at 16th street and Columbus drive, on May 3. THE TRIBUNE will award silver trophies to each of the seven winners and the park district will award ribbons to the runners-up.

Kites of all sizes and descriptions—and fashioned out of silk, tissue paper, cambric, and bamboo as well as wrapping paper and pine wood—were under construction last week.

Kites entered in the artistic and novelty events will be judged on flying performance as well as their appearance on the ground. In the hand-winding and, mechanical winding events, the flyers' dexterity at "reeling in" their kites on 75 yard strings will determine the winners. These events are sometimes know as "75 yard dashes."

Best for Spectators.

Two of the most interesting events from the spectator's point of view are the messenger and pulling power contests. In the messenger event, the first entrant to get a "message"—usually a conical or triangular shaped piece of paper—from the ground to his kite will be declared the winner. In the pulling contest, a spring scale will be hooked into each kite string at intervals to determine which one has the greatest pulling power.

Kites as large as 18 feet in diameter and with a pulling power of 80 to 100 pounds have been entered in this event in the past.

The Preliminary Contests.

Dates for preliminary contests—in which all entrants must compete—were set at nine parks during the week. They are: Tuley park, 90th street and St. Lawrence avenue, April 19; Franklin, 14th place and South Kolin avenue, April 15; Samuel Gompers, 4224 Foster avenue, April 19; Portage, 4100 North Long avenue, April 23; Kilbourn, 3501 North Kilbourn avenue, April 23.

Wilson, 4630 Milwaukee avenue, April 22; Norwood, 5801 North Natoma avenue, April 18; Chase, Leland and Ashland avenues, April 21; Indian Boundary, Lunt avenue and Rockwell street, April 22, and Waveland fieldhouse in Lincoln park, Addison street and the lake, April 24.

Wed, Fly 2,400 Miles for $125 on Honeymoon

BY PAUL HEALY.

Charles and Mary Sainsbury.

Newlyweds may be interested to learn that Charles and Mary Sainsbury, 6017 Kimbark avenue, recently took a 10-day, 2,400-mile airplane honeymoon at a total cost of $125. Charles, who is president of the University of Chicago Flying club, piloted the plane and Mary, a member of the club, kept him on his course.

The low cost of the cross-country hop was possible because last year Charles and some of his friends in the university's CAA flying course organized Flight, Inc., a coöperative venture which enabled them to rent airplanes at reduced rates. Thus Charles and his bride, who met first on a blind date on a sailboat party, chose a two-place Taylorcraft plane, property of Flight, Inc., for their honeymoon jaunt.

Start from Mississippi.

They picked up the plane in McComb, Miss., where it had been flown by a friend. From there Charles, a graduate student in the business school, and Mary, a graduate in social science administration, headed west over the Mississippi river and unending cypress swamps, flying by compass. Mary was navigator, which means she plotted the course on their 5 foot square map and "kibitzed" from the back seat.

"There was a strong cross wind," says the pilot, "and we got off our course. There were only trees and swamps below. If we ever came down in one of those we'd be picking out cypress toothpicks for weeks. We sighted a railroad finally and followed it to Lake Charles, La., then to Houston, Tex., to stay with Mary's mother and 5 inches of rain for two days."

Fly Over "the Stumps."

From Lake Charles they flew to Shreveport, La., over "the Stumps"—great stretches of land stubbled with sawed-off trees. Forest fires brought them down in Paris, Tex., when the smoke made a dangerous haze which cleared by morning, allowing the couple to skim the Arbuckle mountains in "bump air" and drop into Ardmore, Okla.

There they visited Ray Colvert, '40, who had been a fellow CAA student of Charles. Next day Ray suddenly overtook them in a red plane and stunted around them. Only Mary's pleas kept her husband from making it a "circus. They returned to Chicago by way of Oklahoma City, Wichita, and Clay Center, Kas.; Omaha, Neb., and Des Moines, Ia.

The only mishap occurred when they got stuck in the mud 100 feet from the hangar at Chicago's Harlem airport.

Illinois Housewives Assn. to Open New Headquarters

FLOWER GUILD OPENS DRIVE TO SHARE BLOOMS

Fragrant Bouquets to Go to Thousands.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Mrs. Stanley D. Grace.

Thousands of fresh lilac blooms will be placed at the bedsides of shut-ins in the city's hospitals and institutions this spring in the 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign. The campaign is sponsored jointly by the Chicago Plant Flower, and Fruit guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

With warmer weather and sunshine hurrying the arrival of the blooms, officials of the guild already have begun work on the campaign. The delicate blossoms are gathered from all over Chicagoland and are brought to the city for distribution to hospitals and institutions. Detailed plans are necessary to see that the lilacs arrive fresh and dewy and are promptly delivered. Last year 82,400 bouquets of lilacs were distributed among 147 hospitals, settlements and other institutions in the city.

81 Clubs Assist.

More than 2,000 members of the 81 garden clubs affiliated with the guild coöperate to make the gathering of the lilacs possible. Last year the lilacs brought cheer to more than 23,000 shut-ins.

Each year the guild and the Tribune act as the link between the floral beauty of spring and the thousands of bedridden people in the city. Blooms are gathered from thousands of home yards, gardens, parks and estates in the Chicagoland area. They are sent to the charity wards and sick rooms of hospitals and institutions where the patients rarely see fresh flowers.

The work of gathering the blossoms and shipping them is done entirely by voluntary workers who each year give freely of their time to see that the less fortunate people of the city are brought a breath of spring.

Days to Be Named.

As in the past, there probably will be two dates set for the distribution of the bouquets. The dates have not been chosen, but will be determined when the guild officials feel that the majority of the lilacs in the suburban areas have reached their peak. This depends largely on the weather. Lilac days generally have fallen between May 10 and 20.

The lilacs are shipped free to Chicago on suburban trains. Last year 62 trains on nine suburban railroads brought the blooms into terminal stations where they were picked up for distribution by Tribune trucks.

Started in 1929, the "Share Your Lilacs" campaign has grown to be one of the largest and most unique community enterprises of its kind in the United States.

The work of gathering the lilacs is delegated to 10 division chairmen of the guild who will be under the general supervision of Mrs. Stanley D. Grace of Highland Park, general chairman.

Chairmen of Divisions.

Each railroad line or division has a separate chairman who is in charge of the garden clubs served by that railroad. They supervise the committees of the various garden clubs that assemble the lilacs and load them on the trains.

The chairmen are:

Mrs. Joseph E. Callender, Calamus lodge, St. Charles—Aurora and Elgin railway.

Mrs. K. Edgar Tholin, 4541 Forest avenue, Downers Grove—Burlington

Mrs. Robert J. Pabodie, 104 Oak street, Maywood—Galena division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Lloyd G. Rees, 1636 Forest avenue, Wilmette—Southern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Herschel Missey, 7514 South Ridgeland avenue, Chicago—Illinois Central.

Mrs. Warner R. Nelson, 1062 Bluff road, Glencoe—Northern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Other Leaders Named.

Mrs. Albert W. Torbet, Bannockburn, Deerfield—North Shore line.

Mrs. William O. Korten, 11301 South Lothair avenue, Chicago—Rock Island railway.

Mrs. Clyde B. Kennard, 1008 Greenview avenue. Des Plaines—Eastern Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Fred A. Record, Barrington—Western Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Working under the direction of the division chairmen will be the president and guild chairman of the 81 garden clubs. A complete list of these workers will be published later.

Mothers Club.

The St. Thomas the Apostle Mothers' club will have a meeting Tuesday evening in Tighe hall, 5467 Woodlawn avenue.

Voice of the South Side

Readers of the Metropolitan Section are invited to contribute to this column on matters of neighborhood interest. Readers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Full names and addresses must be given. No manuscripts will be returned. Address Voice of the South Side, The Tribune.

BASEBALL-AUTO TIE-UP.

With the baseball season starting next Tuesday, I suppose I can look forward to another horrible traffic snarl every day in the vicinity of 35th street and Wentworth avenue. I think the police should devise a better system of routing the autos away from Comiskey park every afternoon after the game. They are tied up for miles in every direction, it seems, and any one who has to go home at 5 o'clock on the 35th street car is delayed about 30 minutes. Why not make these cars take side streets to get away from the park?

S. P. D.

WANTS BUS EXTENSION.

While the city fathers are pondering our traction problems, may I not voice a weak little plea for an extension of the 81st street and South Park way bus at least to 87th street? The way we now travel to the loop is by the suburban bus line which, while good service, is too expensive [20 cents a ride] and only runs twice an hour. Surely the few gallons of gasoline involved would be more than paid for by the additional passengers the buses would carry.

MRS. D. I. McGREGOR,
427 East 88th street.

CONGRATULATES WHITING.

Congratulations to the city of Whiting, which recently completed its 150th day without a traffic death. I believe the record has been accomplished because Whiting police have begun nabbing all speeders and handing out tickets right and left for illegal parking. However, 150 days without a fatality seems good in that district only because Hammond, East Chicago, and Gary have rather bad safety records. This should set them a good example.

FIVE ROTC UNITS PREPARING FOR U. S. INSPECTION

Sixth Corps Officers to Make Ratings.

Five south side high school ROTC units began preparations last week for the biggest annual event on the ROTC calendar—federal inspection. Personnel and facilities of the units will be inspected and rated by the 6th corps area army officers between May 16 and May 22.

The Hyde Park High school ROTC units will be the first to be inspected on the south side, staging its annual review east of the tennis courts at 63rd street and Stony Island avenue in Jackson Park at 9 o'clock on May 16. That afternoon, at 1:15 o'clock, the Tilden Technical High school unit will be inspected in the International amphitheater, 43rd and Halsted sts.

On May 19 the Bowen unit will be inspected at 9 o'clock in Yates stadium, 82nd street and Yates avenue, and Hirsch unit will be scanned at 1:15 o'clock in Grand Crossing park, 76th street and Ingleside avenue. The Du Sable corps, scheduled for inspection at 50th and State streets at 1:15 o'clock on May 22, will be the last unit reviewed in Chicago.

Most of the city's 27 public high school ROTC units will hold dress rehearsals before the federal inspection. Arrangements have been made at all schools to stage the inspection indoors—in the high school gymnasium in most cases—in the event of rain.

The three ratings given by inspecting officers are "honor," "excellent," and "satisfactory." Hirsch, Tilden, and Bowen won honor ratings last year.

SOCIAL LEAGUE TO GIVE BENEFIT DANCE SATURDAY

Lawrence J. Miller, league president, is chairman, Charles J. Fox is vice president and co-chairman, and Miss Bessie Miller is secretary.

WAR OBJECTING DRAFTEES FIND GOING IS ROUGH

One Class Gets No Wage and Pays Board.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Conscientious objectors under selective service are finding that while any honest scruples they hold against war are being respected, their detour around combatant pursuits is a rather rocky one.

In fact, the objector at the outset is likely to find himself confronted with so many special provisions that only a deep conviction in his principles will give him the hardihood to see the thing thru.

Many a conscript in the Chicago area who first asked to be listed as a conscientious objector has changed his mind and requested some other classification upon learning what rigors his original stand subjected him to.

To begin with, the "C. O.," as he is known to the initiate, must convince a pretty skeptical lot of officials of his sincerity in declining to take up arms. That done, he must still make his contribution to the nation's defense or wartime effort.

Number Not Estimated.

No accurate estimate has yet been made of the number of conscientious objectors in the Chicago area. Up to April 1 only 12 men had based draft appeals on such grounds. Many others, however, had been granted special classification by their local boards because of religious scruples against war.

At the conscientious objectors' bureau, an advisory organization with headquarters at 740 Rush street, it was reported that the names of 600 men who sought classification as conscientious objectors had been received from the Great Lakes region. This same source said that for the nation as a whole, it is expected that 7,500 to 10,000 such men will have been listed by July 1, and that provisions must be made to handle upwards of 10,000 a year.

Conscientious objectors fall into two classes; those opposed merely to combatant service, and those who object to any sort of military service. The men in the first group may be assigned to service in such noncombative branches of the military forces as the medical, engineering or quartermaster corps. They cannot be compelled to bear arms or take instructions in their use.

Must Pay Own Way.

Those in the second group are placed in Class 4E and are subject to conscription for "civilian work of national importance," such as soil conservation or forestry. They must live in specially set up camps, away from their families. They not only serve without pay or other benefits accorded ordinary conscripts, but they must pay the government $35 a month for room, board and other services.

Under selective service laws, a man claiming to be a conscientious objector registers under the draft just as any other. In addition to his questionnaire, however, he must fill out a special form giving complete information in substantiation of his claims. In this form [No. 47], the government seeks to determine the genuineness of the registrant's objections.

Thereafter the registrant follows the regular draft channel. The local board can consider his claim as a conscientious objector only if it finds, after his physical examination, that he is eligible for Class 1 [those in service or fit for general or limited military service]. If he is found to be eligible for a lower classification, his claim is ignored.

Appeal Is Permitted.

If placed in Class 1, the conscientious objector can appeal, within five days after his classification. The appeal board then determines, before it can give weight to his objection, whether he should be placed in a deferred class. If not, it takes up his "C. O." claim.

The board's first step in this event is to turn the case over to the department of justice for full investigation and recommendation. The federal investigators must hold a hearing on the character and good faith of the claimant, and then advise the appeal board.

The justice department, if it approves the claim, recommends whether the registrant should be assigned to noncombatant military service or to civilian work of a national character. If noncombatant service is indicated, the letter O is placed by the appeal board after the registrant's classification. If civilian work is recommended, the man is placed in Class 4E.

Merely to claim that one is opposed to bearing arms against one's fellow men is not enough. The selective service act specifies that an objector must oppose participation in war "by reason of religious training and belief."

Inquiry Is Exhaustive.

Form 47 inquires deeply into the registrant's past actions and beliefs in order to help draft officials make up their minds whether he is shamming or not. Unless he has a pretty convincing record to substantiate his claim of anti-war scruples, he is in for disappointment.

Several religious organizations have begun work on the establishment of civilian camps for men of their faiths who claim to be conscientious objectors. Most of these groups plan to pay the per capita expenses of their followers serving in the camps.

These establishments still await acceptance by the government. The draft service of the men involved will not begin officially until they have been formally accepted into the government program.

Civilian camps for the middle west have already been set up. One is in Michigan and three are in Indiana, which has an unusually large number of citizens belonging to religious sects opposed to war participation. So far, Illinois has no such camp, but plans are under way to remedy this deficiency. It is estimated that seven camps will be necessary for the Great Lakes region, which has the greatest number of objectors thus far recorded.

11 DRAFT AREAS PASS 1,000 MARK IN SERVICE CALL

Board 72 in 47th Ward Reaches No. 1342.

Eleven of the 151 local draft boards in Chicago by midnight last Tuesday had reached order numbers of 1,000 or over in supplying draftees to the army, examination of the figures revealed. This study does not take into account volunteers, who are inducted as they appear, regardless of their order numbers.

One board, No. 72 in the 47th ward, reached No. 1,342 in filling its April quota. The number is held by Earl Dall, 4913 North Ashland avenue, whose original national draft lottery number was in the 4,000's. Area No. 72 is bounded roughly by Clark street on the east, Foster avenue on the north, Damen and Lincoln avenues on the west, and Montrose avenue on the south.

The other boards that have passed the 1,000 mark are Nos. 6, 12, 15, 28, 29, 41, 45, 53, 57, and 69.

A total of 69 Chicago boards have filled their monthly quotas since induction started. They called up 48,507 registrants to find the 6,724 men who were acceptable to army physicians.

14 From Each 100.

This meant that only 14 of each 100 men examined qualified for immediate service, the other 86 falling into deferred classifications. Excluding volunteers from the calculations, 10 order numbers were passed for each man inducted.

The table below shows the highest order number reached by each Chicago local board up to and including last Tuesday, exclusive of volunteers:

40 Per Cent Volunteer.

Up to April 1, the draft records show, 3,981 or 40 per cent of the 9,736 men inducted from Cook county were volunteers.

In an effort to encourage more voluntary enlistments, the Illinois department of the American Legion is sponsoring a contest among local boards, according to Paul G. Armstrong, state director of the draft.

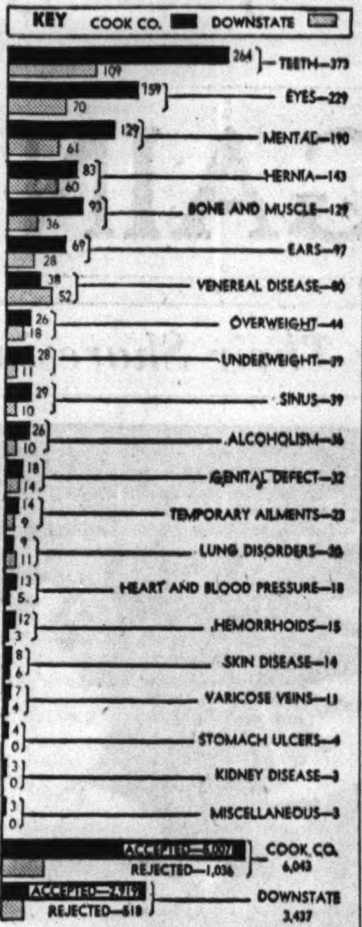
Leaders among the Chicago boards as of April 1, and the totals of volunteers and inductions were:

Board No. 3, 35 volunteers, or 87 per cent of its total of 40 inductions; No. 85, 59 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 84 inductions; No. 121, 39 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 56 inductions, and No. 149, 43 volunteers, or 68 per cent of its 63 inductions.

S. Chicago Library Branch Will Offer Two Lectures

Two lectures will be given the next two Wednesdays at the South Chicago library branch under the joint sponsorship of the library and Common Ground, a social center. The lectures, which are titled "Living with Our Children," will be given by Mrs. Sora Barth Loeb, member of the staff of the Association of Family Living.

Draft Rejections



This chart shows the reasons for 1,554 rejections among the 9,479 men examined by army physicians at the Chicago induction depot during March and draws a comparison between the Cook county figures and those for the rest of the state. Two Cook county men were rejected for every one downstate. Of the 80 venereal cases discovered, 65 per cent were from downstate. For the state as a whole, 16 per cent of the men sent by local boards were rejected at the induction station, as against 17.2 per cent in February and 18.5 per cent in January.

Travelog at YMCA.

45TH BIRTHDAY TO BE NOTED BY S. SHORE CHURCH

Celebration of the 45th anniversary of the South Shore Presbyterian church, 76th street and South Shore drive, will begin Wednesday and continue until Sunday. The congregation has grown from 69 to 500 members since it was organized in 1896.

The program for Wednesday includes an historical exhibit, which will be aided by the South Shore Historical society; the playing of music popular 45 years ago, showing of stereopticon slides of the Windsor Park community long ago, recognition of the oldest members in attendance, recognition of the man and woman dressed most appropriately for 1890, presentation of the aims and goals of the church and a fellowship period over a cup of tea.

The Rev. Lowell R. Ditzen, pastor, will preach the anniversary sermon next Sunday morning on the theme, "The Doors of the Kingdom" and new members will be received into the church. An invitation has been extended to community residents to attend the celebration events.

The present church building was dedicated in 1909. Thruout its history the church has emphasized a strong community program and at present there are 25 separate service, study and fellowship groups for all ages in the congregation. Eight ministers have served the church.

Five charter members are still active in the church. They are Mrs. Margaret Abel, 7352 South Shore drive; Mrs. Laura Brady, 7642 Marquette avenue; Mrs. Matilda Brown, 7239 Coles avenue; Mrs. John H. Stake, 7239 Coles avenue, and Mrs. Elizabeth Weightman, 2604 East 76th street.

The committee of arrangements for the program is made up of Arthur Clemenson, chairman; Mrs. Nettie Cook, Mrs. Harry Tiffany, Mrs. Paul L. Dillon, Mrs. Frank Ormsby, Mrs. C. G. May, and Dr. Walter Wiborg.

RALLY OF 1,000 WILL AID LITTLE HEART PATIENTS

La Rabida Benefit Is Set for April 22.

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the annual luncheon, bridge party and fashion show for the benefit of 46 year old La Rabida sanitarium in Jackson park on April 22 at the Palmer House. The affair is being sponsored by the senior board and junior auxiliary of the convalescent home, which is one of seven institutions in the United States devoted to caring for needy rheumatic heart patients.

The sanitarium is open to patients between 4 and 12 years old. Since "prolonged rest, bodily and mentally, is the most important curative measure" in the treatment of such children, the building is designed for maximum peace and comfort. Sixty patients is the present capacity, according to Miss Esther Anderson, superintendent, altho there is room enough for 100 with additional financial aid.

Stay Lasts Months.

Children are admitted on recommendation of accredited hospitals, social service departments or physicians. Most of them remain in bed continuously and the average stay necessary is from five to nine months.

The original sanitarium, which was a replica of the famous La Rabida of Palos, Spain, was built for the World's Fair of 1893. At the close of the fair the South Park commissioners granted the request of the Spanish consul to save the building for the use of needy sick babies in Chicago during the summer.

Woman's Board Formed.

After a woman's board was formed in 1896 the work was continued for 21 years. When the building became dilapidated in 1918 patients were cared for in St. Luke's hospital and in Hahnemann hospital, where infantile paralysis cases were accepted. Between 1922 and 1929 the board used the Stockyards Day nursery, 4758 South Marshfield avenue, and part of the Woodlawn hospital.

In 1930, when the South Park commissioners offered a site for a new convalescent home on the lake not far from the old one, the woman's board asked for financial assistant for the first time. On Oct. 18, 1932, the newly built structure was formally opened. Since then the junior auxiliary, consisting of young women, and the men's foundation were organized to help in maintaining the home.

On Senior Board.

Officers of the senior board are Mrs. Clifford G. Roe, president; Mrs. Harry Culver, 1st vice president; Mrs. L. E. Harmon, 2d vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Lindsay, recording secretary; Mrs. Irma Molt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Work, treasurer, and Mrs. Adele Martin, auditor. Mrs. Frank K. Hoover is perpetual honorary trustee.

Officers of the junior auxiliary are Mrs. William J. Welsh, president; Mrs. John I. Duffy, and Mrs. David Jennings, 1st vice presidents; Mrs. Herbert Roney, 2d vice president; Mrs. Clyde S. Benham, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. I. Foley, recording secretary; Miss June MacArthur, treasurer, and Mrs. William J. Frazier, publicity chairman.

The executive committee of the men's foundation consists of S. E. Thomason, president; Carl Greenwold, secretary, and Joseph Grayson, treasurer.

FIND MANY USES FOR INSULATING BOARD IN HOME

One Owner Turns Garage Into Playroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Double and triple evidence is all around us these days that no spot is "hopeless" when it comes to renovation, and that few spots around a house exist which cannot have their original purpose in life drastically changed—if the owner so desires.

As a case in proof of just this one home owner looked at his down at the heels garage and decided he would convert it into an up to the minute recreation room.

An insulating wall board was used for the walls and ceilings; the type of wall board which is well worth looking into when one is considering ways and means of home improvements.

If you would have a "little more quiet, please!" in your house, such insulation boards will help to give it to you.

They have not the soundproofing effect of materials designed expressly to eliminate noise, but they do have a sound subduing value.

Acts Like a Carpet.

Give a room an insulating board ceiling, for example, and you will deaden the noise to a degree comparable to that resulting from carpeting a bare floor.

These insulation boards, which are known in building and remodeling parlance as "structural or rigid insulation," have other assets to warrant study of them. Besides their ability to retard the passage of heat, and to subdue sounds arising within a room as well as transmission of noise from one room to another, they come in new colors and surface textures, as an accepted interior finish for the walls and ceiling of any room in the house.

How They're Applied.

In remodeling old rooms, insulating boards can be applied directly over existing wall surfaces, usually on furring strips. In new construction they are applied to the studs in the dry wall manner.

If you are checking on boards for an interior finish you will see building boards, plank, and tile boards.

In some cases the planks are run around the walls horizontally to harmonize with the lines of modern furnishings. There also are insulating planks in random widths to provide a nice background for Colonial spirited rooms. Or if you have some traditional 18th century room the plank can be beveled to resemble pilasters or columns, with prepared mouldings in classic Greek key designs.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, April 14.

Wrap trunks of trees with burlap or specially prepared paper to prevent borers and other pests from injuring the trunk and to prevent injury from the sun. Collect all egg masses and destroy them. Spray perennials early; use Bordeaux mixture on the ground around the plants and later spray the plants at intervals of 10 days.

Do not roll the lawn when it is spongy and wet, for footprints will show and soil stick to the roller. Pot or transplant house plants now.

Tuesday, April 15.

Straighten up labels and replace with new all that need labeling. There is nothing quite as satisfactory as an accurately labeled garden. Do not uncover beds too soon, for a late frost may injure the young growths. If the mulch is heavy, loosen it and draw some of it away from the plants, but leave it for sudden use.

Wednesday, April 16.

Remove water sprouts from fruit trees. Trim hedges before they make too much growth. Thin out crowded shrubs or the whole group will not do well. If the group needs to be rearranged, do it at once or as soon as the ground can be worked. Cut out old wood and prune back the young growth about one-third.

Thursday, April 17.

Cacti are now active and may be transplanted. Use a soil consisting of garden loam and sand in about equal amounts. Do not plant in too large pots and use plenty of drainage. After danger from frost plunge the pots in a well drained spot in the garden. A bit of shade will help, but not dense shade. It is a good place for the Christmas cactus during the summer.

Friday, April 18.

Cut back killed plants on hedge row. This applies to privet hedges especially, for some plants kill during certain winters. Make an application of food along both sides of the row. Many hardy annuals can be sown outdoors now. These include the petunia, calendula, four o'clock, zinnia, and others. Half hardy annuals, such as the ageratum, verbena, phlox drummondi, should be sown in the hotbed for protection.

Saturday, April 19.

In the vegetable garden asparagus, rhubarb, and horseradish may be divided and transplanted. A few plants of rhubarb is sufficient for a family and the leaves are ornamental for some time. They are gross feeders. Asters can be sown early in the house, but the young plants need to be hardened off before planting in the open ground. Handle vegetable plants similarly.

SUPERHIGHWAY PLAN WAITS ON TRAFFIC SURVEY

An origin-destination survey of traffic on U. S. 12 and 20 was suggested at the meeting of the superhighway committee of the Chicago Motor club's Lake County Area council recently. The committee resolved to ask the council to petition the Indiana state highway commission to make such a survey before urging adoption of any route for the Calumet region superhighway, according to Laurence A. Kane, chairman.

The committee decided the course of action after a discussion led by George Barton, chief safety and traffic engineer of the motor club, who pointed out that two points must be considered in final benefit to the region. They are relief of congestion in the Gary-Hammond-East Chicago-Whiting district, and a bypass for this region and the more densely populated Chicago area.

W-G-N PROGRAM SHOWS VALUES OF DEMOCRACY

Each Saturday at 10 a. m. W-G-N broadcasts an historical quiz program which Chicago educators and historical society officials believe is of value in illustrating to the youth of the middle west the social advantages to be derived from life under a democratic form of government. Entitled "Acree's High School Aces," the quiz has featured honor students of Chicago's high schools answering questions about United States history, prepared by L. Hubbard Shattuck, director of the Chicago Historical society.

This is the general plan of the quiz broadcasts: Each week four boys—one from each of four different high schools—appear on the program to answer questions concerning American history. The questions are prepared under the direction of Mr. Shattuck, who also acts as judge on the program. Cash awards are given to the contestants. The one who correctly answers the most questions receives $10, next place winner gets $5, third, $3, and fourth, $2. In addition to Mr. Shattuck's questions, puzzlers from the listeners are propounded to members of the visible audience. The listeners whose questions are used receive $10. Chuck Acree acts as master of ceremonies. The show is broadcast from the Palace theater.

BRACE BEEMER RESUMES ROLE OF LONE RANGER

TakesUp Mutual Hero Part After Graser's Death.

Brace Beemer.

Brace Beemer, who is resuming the rôle of the Lone Ranger he originated nine years ago, fits the part of the radio hero perfectly. He is an expert horseman and his war record proves him a hero in fact as well as in fiction.

The Lone Ranger is heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System at 4:30 p. m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays Opening of the baseball season will cause a switch in time next week.

Beemer has taken the Lone Ranger part once more because of the death of Earle Graser, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday.

Beemer was born in Mount Carmel, Ill., 38 years ago. He joined the army at the age of 14, when he was able to convince officers he was much older because of his size. He is tall [6 feet 3 inches] and weighs 200 pounds.

Beemer served in France with the 150th Field Artillery, Rainbow division. He was wounded in the fighting in the Argonne sector and again in the Luneville sector. He was awarded the Military Order of the Purple Heart, created by George Washington.

The Dancing Party will be aired over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. Both orchestras will be heard between 9:45 and 10:15 p. m. Fridays. In addition to the weekday periods, listeners will be able to enjoy a full 90 minutes on Sundays when broadcasts will run from 6:30 to 7:30 and again from 10:30 until 11 p. m.

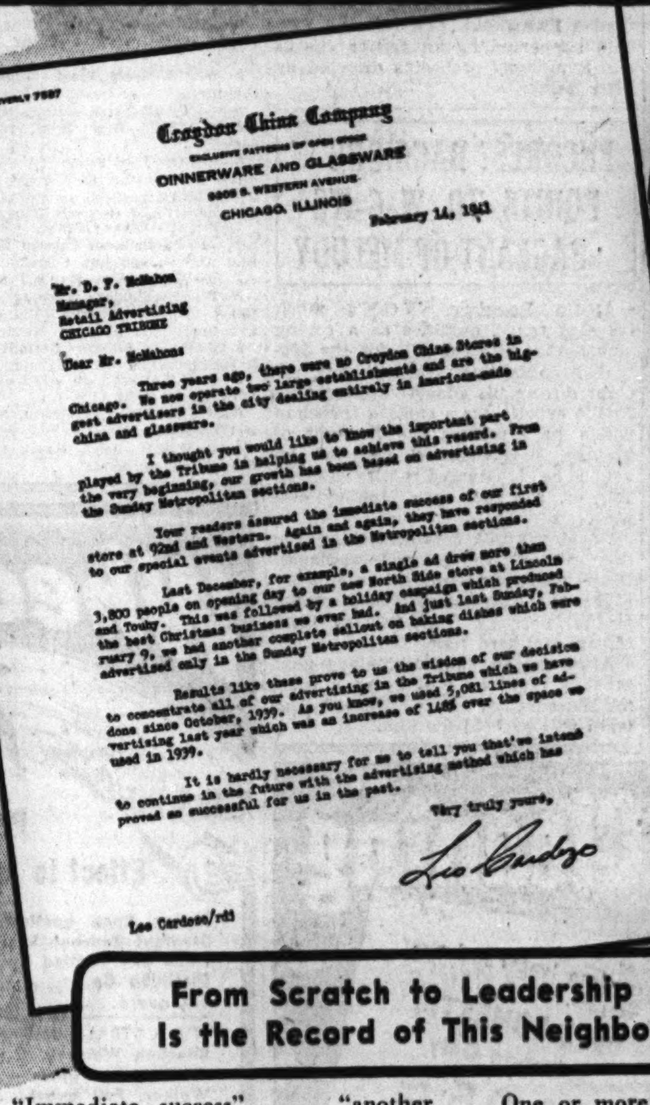
"OUR GROWTH HAS BEEN BASED ON ADVERTISING IN THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE"



Croydon China Company
EXCLUSIVE PATTERNS OF OPEN STOCK
DINNERWARE AND GLASSWARE
S. WESTERN AVENUE
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

February 14, 1941

Mr. D. F. McMahon
Manager,
Retail Advertising
CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Dear Mr. McMahon:

Three years ago, there were no Croydon China Stores in Chicago. We now operate two large establishments and are the biggest advertisers in the city dealing entirely in American-made china and glassware.

I thought you would like to know the important part played by the Tribune in helping us to achieve this record. From the very beginning, our growth has been based on advertising in the Sunday Metropolitan sections.

Your readers assured the immediate success of our first store at 92nd and Western. Again and again, they have responded to our special events advertised in the Metropolitan sections.

Last December, for example, a single ad drew more than 3,800 people on opening day to our new North Side store at Lincoln and Touhy. This was followed by a holiday campaign which produced the best Christmas business we ever had. And just last Sunday, February 9, we had another complete sellout on baking dishes which were advertised only in the Sunday Metropolitan sections.

Results like these prove to us the wisdom of our decision to concentrate all of our advertising in the Tribune which we have done since October, 1939. As you know, we used 5,081 lines of advertising last year which was an increase of 148% over the space we used in 1939.

It is hardly necessary for me to tell you that we intend to continue in the future with the advertising method which has proved so successful for us in the past.

Very truly yours,

Lee Cardozo

From Scratch to Leadership in Three Years Is the Record of This Neighborhood Merchant

"Immediate success" . . . "another complete sellout" . . . "best Christmas business we ever had"—results such as those described in the accompanying letter offer fresh evidence of what neighborhood merchants can achieve with consistent advertising in the Sunday Tribune Metropolitan sections.

Would you like to increase your profits? Last year, 796 large and small enterprises located in many neighborhoods and suburbs of Chicago used Sunday Tribune Metropolitan section advertising to reach and sell more of the people best able to trade with them.

One or more of these five sections—North, Northwest, West, Southwest and South—is edited for and read exclusively by the people in your trading area. One or more can give you economical and effective coverage of your best prospects and customers.

For more information to help you step up your sales volume, speed turnover and increase your profits during the months ahead, call SUPerior 0100—Metropolitan section advertising. Without obligation, you can get the complete details of the Tribune plan which for 14 years has produced results at low cost for large and small neighborhood businesses of practically every type.

DAWN SERVICES WILL USHER IN EASTER ON RADIO

W-G-N to Air Hat Parade at 12:30 o'Clock.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Sunrise services this morning will usher in the numerous special Easter broadcasts scattered thruout the radio schedules today. Pope Pius XII. will be on the air from the Vatican at 5 a. m. today voicing an appeal for peace. The Mutual network will carry the pontiff's message and blessing at the time given, but W-G-N will record the program and rebroadcast it at 11:30 this morning.

Tipped off by fashion experts that Easter hats will be wilder and woolier than ever this year, W-G-N will bring a 15 minute Easter hat parade to the air between 12:30 and 12:45 p. m. today.

They'll Describe Bonnets.

India Moffett, society editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Rea Seeger, TRIBUNE fashion editor, will be the W-G-N hat critics. They will post themselves near St. Chrysostom's church on the near north side and will describe the styles, particularly in hats, they see as the people emerge from the church.

Announcer Charles Victor, heard regularly on the Chicago at Night and Citizens of Tomorrow programs, will join Mrs. Moffett and Miss Seeger in a three way discussion of the Easter bonnets. Victor will express the masculine point of view. The W-G-N mobile unit will be used for this broadcast.

ENCORES? BAGGIORE POINTS TO W-G-N'S PAGEANT OF MELODY

Attilio Baggiore, W-G-N's much traveled tenor, qualifies as a roving ambassador of good will for the Mutual Broadcasting system. For encores during his concert appearances Attilio substitutes a curtain speech in which he promotes the Pageant of Melody, W-G-N-Mutual program on which he is starred with Kathryn Witwer, soprano, each Monday evening.

Baggiore's talk goes something like this: "Thank you for your applause. If you want more tune in on Monday nights to the Pageant of Melody on the Mutual network from 9:30 to 10:15 central standard time."

After the Pageant of Melody next Monday night he will board a train for Kansas City, where a Texas bound train will be held for him.

LOVE WILL SING ON CHICAGOLAND HOUR SATURDAY

Col. McCormick to Speak on W-G-N Hour.

Mark Love, W-G-N basso, will be featured in three solos and in a medley with the W-G-N chorus on the Chicagoland hour over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m. next Saturday.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Love expects to appear Saturday despite the fact that he is suffering from a broken ankle. He will make his way to the W-G-N studios with the aid of crutches.

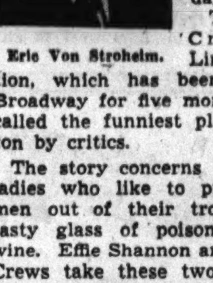
His featured solo will be Mendelssohn's "I'm a Roamer." He also will sing Wagner's "Evening Star" from "Tannhäuser," "Grandfather's Clock" by Work, and parts of a Stephen Foster medley with the W-G-N Ensemble including "My Dark Virginny Bride," "Gentle Annie," "Old Black Joe," and "Glendy Burke."

Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N Concert orchestra in "The Angelus" from Massenet's "Scenes Pittoresque"; Bizet's "Farandole" from "L'Arlesienne Suite"; a waltz by Strauss, "Merry Old Vienna"; Schubert's "Moment Musicale," and Delibes' "Czardas" from "Coppelia Suite."

The W-G-N chorus will be featured in one number, the old Irish folk melody, "Oft in the Stilly Night," often attributed to Sir Thomas Moore.

'ARSENIC AND OLD LACE' STARS ON CHICAGO SHOW

Eric Von Stroheim, Helen Twelvetrees, Effie Shannon, and Laura Hope Crews, stars of "Arsenic and Old Lace," now at the Grand Opera house, will appear in a radio adaptation of the comedy on In Chicago Tonight from 7:30 to 8 p. m. next Thursday.



Eric Von Stroheim.

The Russel Crouse-Howard Lindsay production, which has been running on Broadway for five months, has been called the funniest play of the season by critics.

The story concerns two sweet old ladies who like to put old, lonely men out of their troubles with a tasty glass of poisoned elderberry wine. Effie Shannon and Laura Hope Crews take these two rôles as the Brewster sisters, Abby and Martha. Von Stroheim takes the part of the brother, Jonathan Brewster, who, by plastic surgery, has his face changed to look like Eric Von Stroheim.

All four have been featured in many stage plays and motion picture productions. The adaptation will be by Walter Gould, assisted by Fran Coughlin. William A. Bacher will take charge of production. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra, and the chorus under the direction of Robert Trendler, will provide the music.

Youth to Weigh Convoy Question on Forum Tonight

Youth will take over the microphone when the American Forum of the Air considers the topic, "Youth Views the Convoy Question," tonight. The discussion will be broadcast over W-G-N from 9:15 to 10 p. m. Participating will be Fay Bennett, executive secretary, Youth Committee Against War; Richard Moore, executive secretary, College Men for Defense First; Robert Taft Jr., chairman, Harvard Committee Against Military Intervention; Agnes Reynolds, secretary, Student Defenders Against Democracy; William Bundy of the Student Defense league, and Joseph P. Lash, general secretary, International Student service.

LILACS AGAIN TO GLADDEN SHUT-INS

SERMONS, SONGS TODAY TELL OF RESURRECTION

Church Rites Start at Sunrise.

Holy week observances will come to a climax in northwest churches this morning with joyful celebrations of the resurrection of Christ. Services will start at sunrise and continue thru the day. Decorations of flowers and candles and programs of Easter music have been arranged. Holy communion will be observed in many churches and children will take part in almost all of the services.

A candlelight ceremony will be held at the First Lutheran church, 3500 Fullerton avenue, at 6:30 o'clock this morning. Two young sopranos, Anna Mae Fiedler and Betty Jane Jacques will enact in song the first Easter morn. Edgar Borup, violinist, will accompany them. A candlelight procession of the young women of the congregation under the direction of Marguerite Moe will follow the conclusion of the resurrection story.

An organ and violin obbligato played by Edgar A. Lundberg, minister of music, and Mr. Borup will accompany Mrs. Mabel J. Vogt's singing of "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth" at the 8 o'clock and 10:30 o'clock services. The three robed choirs of 150 voices will sing.

The Rev. Lewis Moe, the pastor, has chosen "The Easter Victory" as the subject for his sermon.

At Mayfair Lutheran.

Another sunrise service will be held at the Mayfair Lutheran church, Lawrence and Lowell avenues, at 6 o'clock. Special music will be provided by the junior choir and the pastor, the Rev. C. N. Busse, will deliver a sermon on "The Victorious Christ."

The 19 young people who were confirmed on Palm Sunday will join in communion services for the first time this morning at 10:45 o'clock. "I Shall Not Die, but Live" is the sermon subject. A reunion of those confirmed will be held at 7 o'clock tonight.

Miss Dolores Toleson of 5144 North Kolmar avenue, president of the confirmation class, will speak. Miss Eleanor Busse of 4724 North Lowell avenue will speak as a Luther league member and P. H. Lahann of 5004 North Tripp avenue will speak as a parent to the youth of the church. A social hour will follow the devotional service.

Another Sunrise Service.

Sunrise services will be held at the Bethany Presbyterian church, 1847 Humboldt boulevard, at 6:30 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Etcetera Players guild and the young people of the church. Dr. Robert T. Taylor will speak on "The Master's Good Morning to the World." Breakfast will be served in the community building after the service.

"Easter, the Open Door to Eternity" is the subject of the sermon the Rev. William Joseph Ohan of the church will deliver at the 9:30 o'clock and 11 o'clock services. Special music will be sung by the choirs. The Etcetera Players guild and the young people will present a dramatization, "The First Easter," written by the Rev. Mr. Ohan, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Following the call of trumpeters opening the sunrise service at the Edison Park Lutheran church, 6626 North Oliphant avenue, at 5:30 o'clock, the cross will be unveiled. The pastor, the Rev. A. Gordon Nasby, will discuss "Whom Seekest Thou?" and the senior choir will join in the service.

Easter festival services will be held at 10:45 o'clock with the three choirs participating and the pastor discussing "A Living Hope."

Communion in Dundee.

Holy communion will be observed at 7 and 8 o'clock at Saint James' church in Dundee. At 11 o'clock a choral Eucharist will be sung by the choir under the direction of William T. Matthias, with Donald W. Titteron at the organ. "The Cross and the Resurrection" will be the theme of the Rev. Albert E. Taylor's sermon. The annual children's Easter service will be held at 4 o'clock.

"The Gospel of Eternal Life" is the theme for the sermons which the Rev. Gustav A. Papperman will give at the 9 and 11 o'clock services at the Irving Park Presbyterian church, 4047 North Keeler avenue.

As in three previous years, the Park Ridge Community church will hold services this morning in the Pickwick theater. The organ prelude will start at 10:45 o'clock. Two choirs, with 80 voices, will provide the music. Armand Baker will play a violin background. "Modern Thought on Life and Death" is the sermon choice of the Rev. Orvis F. Jordan.

New Choir to Sing.

A new group, the "Angel choir," made up of students in the primary church school department of St. Paul Congregational church, Keeler and Belden avenues, will sing at the 11 o'clock service there. Another recently organized choir, "The Choristers," a high school age group, will sing with the senior choir.

Fred Marvin will play a violin obligatto and a trio made up of Miss Mary Doornbosch, Miss Gwyneth Lawrie, and Miss Blossom Brooks will sing. New members will be received. The Rev. Grant A. Butler has chosen "The Resurrection of Faith" as the subject for his sermon.

A class of 16 young people will be confirmed at the 7:30 o'clock services tonight when the Rev. John Booth,

Keeping Alive the Traditions of Far-Away Poland

Easter is as much a day of tradition for Polish-Americans as Christmas, for they have brought many of the customs from Poland to this country and adapted them to conditions here. Instead of preparing food from their farms to give their neighbors, children make candy and paint Easter eggs. Here is just such an egg painting establishment, composed of Stella Pelczarski, 1427 Augusta boulevard, and Joseph and Dorothy Kovack, 1428 Augusta boulevard, and operating at the Northwestern University Settlement house, 1400 Augusta boulevard.

The next step is to prepare the baskets which they will give away. In the picture, showing how the "shipping department" operates, are Ruth Lorraine Zolik, 1312 Cortez street, and Gene Reynolds, 942 Elston avenue. When the baskets are finished, families get together and carry them generally to the church, where they are distributed to needy families.

In the home Polish-Americans also have preserved their national Easter customs. The house is given a thoro cleaning, and the Easter breakfast is a magnificent outlay of colorful foods. There is baked ham, Polish sausage, garlic, eggs, Easter bread, lamb shaped butter, wine, and water. At the right is Mrs. Barbara Tyska, 1364 Sloan street, and at the left Dolores Stermer, 1349 Augusta boulevard, and Mary Piszczor, 1355 Augusta boulevard.

BY CHARLES ROBERTS.

Pine wood, wrapping paper, and mucilage—the three standard ingredients of most old fashioned kites, and a good many new fangled ones—were at a premium in 88 park fieldhouses and thousands of Chicagoland homes last week as an estimated 6,000 kite enthusiasts began construction of craft they will enter in the third annual Chicago Tribune Kite contest.

Ten thousand kite builders and flyers of all ages are expected to be entered in the contest when registration closes at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in the fieldhouses. To enter the contest, kite flyers need only to fill out the entry blank appearing elsewhere in this section and take it to the nearest park fieldhouse.

Elimination contests will begin in some of the 88 parks tomorrow and continue thru April 26. By that date, each park will have chosen one contestant to complete in each of the seven events in the finals.

Contest Set for May 3.

The finals, a tournament of champions which annually attracts thousands of spectators, will be staged in the parking lot south of Soldiers' field, at 16th street and Columbus drive, on May 3. THE TRIBUNE will award silver trophies to each of the seven winners and the park district will award ribbons to the runners-up.

Kites of all sizes and descriptions—and fashioned out of silk, tissue paper, cambric, and bamboo as well as wrapping paper and pine wood—were under construction last week.

Kites entered in the artistic and novelty events will be judged on flying performance as well as their appearance on the ground. In the hand-winding and, mechanical winding events, the flyers' dexterity at "reeling in" their kites on 75 yard strings will determine the winners.

Best for Spectators.

Two of the most interesting events from the spectator's point of view are the messenger and pulling power contests. In the messenger event, the first entrant to get a "message"—usually a conical or triangular shaped piece of paper—from the ground to his kite will be declared the winner. In the pulling contest, a spring scale will be hooked into each kite string at intervals to determine which one has the greatest pulling power.

Kites as large as 18 feet in diameter and with a pulling power of 80 to 100 pounds have been entered in this event in the past.

The Preliminary Contests.

Dates for preliminary contests—in which all entrants must compete—were set at nine parks during the week. They are: Tuley park, 90th street and St. Lawrence avenue, April 19; Franklin, 14th place and South Kolin avenue, April 15; Samuel Gompers, 4224 Foster avenue, April 19; Portage, 4100 North Long avenue, April 23; Kilbourn, 3501 North Kilbourn avenue, April 23.

Wilson, 4630 Milwaukee avenue, April 22; Norwood, 5801 North Natoma avenue, April 18; Chase, Leland and Ashland avenues, April 21; Indian Boundary, Lunt avenue and Rockwell street, April 22, and Waveland fieldhouse in Lincoln park, Addison street and the lake, April 24.

BOBBY'S EASTER WISH—A TRAIN LIKE ONE I LOST

Santa's Gift Grows Into a System.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

The old story about the fond father quietly usurping Junior's rights and annexing the shiny new Christmas train for his own amusement, is all too true in the Robert Hoffman home at 6309 Patterson avenue.

What started out to be a simple electric train to place under a Christmas treet has turned into a more than reasonable facsimile of the real thing and has become a full time hobby for Mr. Hoffman. The railroad situation has reached such a state that four year old Bobby Hoffman has had to ask the Easter bunny for another train—a simple one that he can play with himself.

Playing true to the tale of the busman's holiday, Mr. Hoffman, an electrician, has turned his talents to rigging up in his basement a railroad. There are two trains, electric signal towers, an electrically controled waterfall, and a remote control box for the trains.

Built on Platform.

The railroad system is built on a platform 6 feet long and 3½ feet wide, 18 inches from the floor. The laying of its 75 feet of track and the building of its station, tunnels, and "sponge tree" park, represents six months' work. About $60 worth of purchased equipment is included in the system and Mr. Hoffman estimates that the parts which he made would cost $50 if purchased.

Mrs. Hoffman gave her husband a jig saw as a Christmas present and with the same gesture kissed her kitchen utensils good-by. Tin cans are now water towers, the spout of a watering can swings from a railroad coal chute, and kitchen sponges are now gay green trees.

A strip of chicken wire climbs the side of a signal tower in the guise of a ladder. Tiny picture frames have become billboard borders and slabs of rock gleamed in a monument yard form mountains.

Has Real Waterfall.

Perhaps most unusual of the features of Mr. Hoffman's railroad is its waterfall. A healthy stream of water gushes from the top of a mountain and cascades down the side into a pool, whence a tiny electric pump returns it to the top to start the trip down again.

Bobby Hoffman hasn't had much chance to play with his present so far, and when he does get to "see the cars go 'round," it's with his father's hand on the control switch. Ask young Bobby what he wants to be when he grows up and he'll cast a look of disgust at the train and turn to father with, "What do you want to be when you grow up, Daddy?"

FELLOWSHIP DINNER WILL BE GIVEN BY NO. WEST KIWANIANS

[Lincoln Photo.]
Marion G. Kudlick.

Northwest side Kiwanians will gather at 6:30 Wednesday evening for their division fellowship dinner, with Northwest Town Kiwanis club as host. The dinner will be held at 1250 Milwaukee avenue.

Thirteen Kiwanis clubs are to take part, and each has been asked to prepare a talent number which it will present. The clubs are from Austin, Belmont-Cragin, Des Plaines, Edison-Norwood Park, Franklin Park, Grand-Harlem, Logan Square, Mid-West Side, Northwest Chicago, Northwest Town, Oak Park, Park Ridge, and Portage Park.

Marion G. Kudlick is chairman of the arrangements committee and is assisted by Clarence D. Oakley, treasurer, and Norman P. Shaffer, secretary.

Guest Speaker.

George W. Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee, will be the guest speaker at the Portage Park PTA meeting tomorrow afternoon.

CHURCH JUNIOR CHOIR PLANS TO SING OPERETTA

Irving Park Group to Appear Twice.

An operetta, "At the Wedding of the Beauty and the Beast," by Edgar Stillman-Kelley will be a feature of the concert which the Junior choir of the First Methodist church of Irving Park will present at 8 o'clock Friday evening and 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The operetta was first presented by the choir in January.

Miss Wenonah M. Lowell, violinist and composer, will play a group of selections. She will be accompanied on Friday by Mrs. Thorwald Haaning and on Saturday by Miss Shirley Olson. The choir is under the direction of Miss Beulah Walker and is accompanied by Miss Doris Plapp. Walter Christensen will play the trumpet passages.

Among the children taking part in the operetta are Roger Anderson, Betty Ayers, George Baker, Eldred Benz, Beulah, Thomas, and William Blaine, Joan and John Chapman, Harold Cook, Joan Delfosse, William Duguid, Dorothy and Marilyn Groote, Barbara and Lois Hain, Donald Harris, Dolores Hendry, Barbara Lee Hill, Virginia Homer, Marjorie Johnson, and Joyce Larson.

Fidelity Club Will Hold First Card Party April 25

The newly reorganized Fidelity club of which Frank J. Janowiak is chairman, will have its first card party April 25 at 1443 West Division street. Art Hochstadter is chairman of the arrangement committee and Estelle Rammel is co-chairman. Other members are Marie Rudnik, Joseph Mack, Tillie Skorupa, Anna Janowiak, and Mae Jungels.

War Objecting Draftees Find Going Is Rough

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Conscientious objectors under selective service are finding that while any honest scruples they hold against war are being respected, their detour around combatant pursuits is a rather rocky one.

In fact, the objector at the outset is likely to find himself confronted with so many special provisions that only a deep conviction in his principles will give him the hardihood to see the thing thru.

Many a conscript in the Chicago area who first asked to be listed as a conscientious objector has changed his mind and requested some other classification upon learning what rigors his original stand subjected him to.

To begin with, the "C. O.," as he is known to the initiate, must convince a pretty skeptical lot of officials of his sincerity in declining to take up arms. That done, he must still make his contribution to the nation's defense or wartime effort.

Number Not Estimated.

No accurate estimate has yet been made of the number of conscientious objectors in the Chicago area. Up to April 1 only 12 men had based draft appeals on such grounds. Many others, however, had been granted special classification by their local boards because of religious scruples against war.

At the conscientious objectors' bureau, an advisory organization with headquarters at 740 Rush street, it was reported that the names of 600 men who sought classification as conscientious objectors had been received from the Great Lakes region. This same source said that for the nation as a whole, it is expected that 7,500 to 10,000 such men will have been listed by July 1, and that provisions must be made to handle upwards of 10,000 a year.

Conscientious objectors fall into two classes; those opposed merely to combatant service, and those who object to any sort of military service. The men in the first group may be assigned to service in such noncombative branches of the military forces as the medical, engineering or quartermaster corps. They cannot be compelled to bear arms or take instructions in their use.

Must Pay Own Way.

Those in the second group are placed in Class 4E and are subject to conscription for "civilian work of national importance," such as soil conservation or forestry. They must live in specially set up camps, away from their families. They not only serve without pay or other benefits accorded ordinary conscripts, but they must pay the government $35 a month for room, board and other services.

Under selective service laws, a man claiming to be a conscientious objector registers under the draft just as any other. In addition to his questionnaire, however, he must fill out a special form giving complete information in substantiation of his claims. In this form [No. 47], the government seeks to determine the genuineness of the registrant's objections.

Thereafter the registrant follows the regular draft channel. The local board can consider his claim as a conscientious objector only if it finds, after his physical examination, that he is eligible for Class 1 [those in service or fit for general or limited military service]. If he is found to

Fragrant Bouquets to Go to Thousands.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Mrs. Stanley D. Grace.

Thousands of fresh lilac blooms will be placed at the bedsides of shut-ins in the city's hospitals and institutions this spring in the 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign. The campaign is sponsored jointly by the Chicago Plant Flower, and Fruit guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

With warmer weather and sunshine hurrying the arrival of the blooms, officials of the guild already have begun work on the campaign. The delicate blossoms are gathered from all over Chicagoland and are brought to the city for distribution to hospitals and institutions. Detailed plans are necessary to see that the lilacs arrive fresh and dewy and are promptly delivered. Last year 82,400 bouquets of lilacs were distributed among 147 hospitals, settlements and other institutions in the city.

81 Clubs Assist.

More than 2,000 members of the 81 garden clubs affiliated with the guild coöperate to make the gathering of the lilacs possible. Last year the lilacs brought cheer to more than 23,000 shut-ins.

Each year the guild and the Tribune act as the link between the floral beauty of spring and the thousands of bedridden people in the city. Blooms are gathered from thousands of home yards, gardens, parks and estates in the Chicagoland area. They are sent to the charity wards and sick rooms of hospitals and institutions where the patients rarely see fresh flowers.

The work of gathering the blossoms and shipping them is done entirely by voluntary workers who each year give freely of their time to see that the less fortunate people of the city are brought a breath of spring.

Days to Be Named.

As in the past, there probably will be two dates set for the distribution of the bouquets. The dates have not been chosen, but will be determined when the guild officials feel that the majority of the lilacs in the suburban areas have reached their peak. This depends largely on the weather. Lilac days generally have fallen between May 10 and 20.

The lilacs are shipped free to Chicago on suburban trains. Last year 62 trains on nine suburban railroads brought the blooms into terminal stations where they were picked up for distribution by Tribune trucks.

Started in 1929, the "Share Your Lilacs" campaign has grown to be one of the largest and most unique community enterprises of its kind in the United States.

The work of gathering the lilacs is delegated to 10 division chairmen of the guild who will be under the general supervision of Mrs. Stanley D. Grace of Highland Park, general chairman.

Chairmen of Divisions.

Each railroad line or division has a separate chairman who is in charge of the garden clubs served by that railroad. They supervise the committees of the various garden clubs that assemble the lilacs and load them on the trains.

The chairmen are:

Mrs. Joseph E. Callender, Calamus lodge, St. Charles—Aurora and Elgin railway.

Mrs. K. Edgar Tholin, 4541 Forest avenue, Downers Grove—Burlington

Mrs. Robert J. Pabodie, 104 Oak street, Maywood—Galena division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Lloyd G. Rees, 1636 Forest avenue, Wilmette—Southern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Herschel Missey, 7514 South Ridgeland avenue, Chicago—Illinois Central.

Mrs. Warner R. Nelson, 1062 Bluff road, Glencoe—Northern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Other Leaders Named.

Mrs. Albert W. Torbet, Bannockburn, Deerfield—North Shore line.

Mrs. William O. Korten, 11301 South Lothair avenue, Chicago—Rock Island railway.

Mrs. Clyde B. Kennard, 1008 Greenview avenue, Des Plaines—Eastern Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Fred A. Record, Barrington—Western Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Working under the direction of the division chairmen will be the president and guild chairman of the 81 garden clubs. A complete list of these workers will be published later.

Children's Benefit.

A card party will be given by the Friends of Handicapped children at 8 o'clock Friday at the River Park field house, 5100 North Francisco avenue.

Voice of the Northwest Side

Readers of the Metropolitan Section are invited to contribute to this column on matters of neighborhood interest. Readers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Full names and addresses must be given. No manuscripts will be returned. Address Voice of the Northwest Side, The Tribune.

FOOTBRIDGE OVER LAWRENCE.

The construction of a foot bridge over Lawrence avenue at the elevated station on Kimball avenue would be a great saving in convenience to motorists and pedestrians.

The station here is the end of the line, and so all persons who are going farther north or west must come to it and continue by westbound street car on Lawrence avenue. This means that they all have to cross Lawrence avenue at this point in order to be on the right side for the street car.

Automobile traffic is often clogged during the rush hours waiting for people to cross the street, and eastbound cars stopped here often block north and southbound traffic on Kimball avenue.

ASKS CLEAN-UP AID.

I'm tired of plunging wholeheartedly into the clean-up week activities during the public school vacation and then seeing all our labor gone to waste thru the carelessness of thoughtless people. Our spring vacation starts on April 25 this year and I'm going to help clean up, paint up, and plant up the northwest side. It would help if some of the older folk would get out their brushes and soap and scrub along with us. If they won't do that, can't they at least keep clean and shining all the yards and buildings we spend our energy on?

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT.

WHERE ARE THE ROSES?

For many years I have been baffled by the lack of rose bushes on the northwest side. In fact, I have been baffled by the lack of them thruout the whole Chicago area. Roses are the tenderest, the sweetest of all flowers. My favorite line of all literature is: "A rose by any other name will smell as sweet." Why not Chicago? Is it the wind, the soil, or the soot that keeps the ramblers off our porches?

FLOWER LOVER.

SUNSHINE THEME WILL MARK PLAY AT ERIE CENTER

Career of One Family to Be Traced.

"Sunshine" is the theme of the annual luncheon which the woman's auxiliary of Erie Neighborhood house, 1347 West Erie street, will give there at noon tomorrow. Invitations have been sent out in "sunshine bags" of yellow tarlatan, the little neighborhood girls who wait on table will wear frocks of "sunshine yellow" and white, and even the playlet which will be presented will center around the rays of sunshine in the lives of a family visiting the house. Miss Florence Towne is head resident.

Except for the first and last scenes, no set lines are included in the playlet to be presented. In discussing the many activities of Erie Neighborhood house to be included in the presentation, so many suggestions were made by neighborhood families that the dialog and action have been left on a more or less ad lib basis.

Life of a Family.

The play will trace the turning of the seasons around the fictional family of Tony and Mary Nardella and their three children, Theresa, Pauli, and Harry, and their experiences at Neighborhood house, based on those of a real family. It will see them coming in despair and bitterness to the house and then follow their entrance into such groups as the men's club, the mothers' club, the wood shop, harmonica class, gymnasium, and the sewing classes.

The Nardella family will enter window box contests, attend the vacation Bible school, and go to camp. They will help sew for needy families in China and will join in the Christmas celebrations. The final scene will see Christmas eve in the Nardella home.

Mrs. Josephine Mianulli will play the part of Mary Nardella and Paul Genova will play the part of her husband. The three children's rôles will be enacted by Lena and Tony Di Vincenzzo and Michael Savino.

All in Drama Class.

All are members of the drama class conducted by Graydon Goss, who altho he has recently been ordained as a minister in the Christian church, has chosen to remain in the field of religious drama.

There will be an exhibit of the children's work and a showing of pictures in the upstairs rooms.

The Woman's auxiliary of between 50 and 60 members is headed by Mrs. M. F. Harper of Evanston. Mrs. Henry M. Armstrong of Oak Park is vice president, Mrs. E. J. Featherstone of Oak Park, secretary, and Mrs. Walter C. Gielow of 4047 North Paulina street, treasurer.

3 PARTY FIGHT ENLIVENS RIVER GROVE ELECTION

Expect Vote to Reflect Township Struggle.

With suburban elections two days away the scene of most tension in the northwest area probably is River Grove, where a third party has joined the fight to lend uncertainty to the struggle between the United Citizens party, the incumbents, and the Coalition party, affiliated with its powerful namesake in Elmwood Park, which carried the Leyden township election on April 1. Leyden township includes Elmwood Park, River Grove, Franklin Park, Schiller Park, and considerable unincorporated land.

The United Citizens party, headed by Martin L. Enger, a building contractor who is seeking reëlection as village president, won the village four years ago in spite of losing the township, altho not quite as heavily as this year.

In Trustees' Race.

Louis J. Georgen is running for clerk to succeed Arthur N. Haugan, an influential member of the party who ran on the township ticket. Of the three United Citizens party trustees whose terms are ending only John L. Steinmetz is a candidate again. Richard O'Connor is seeking the place which will be left by Georgen, and George Schoberg is running to succeed Fred Von Rath, who is retiring.

The other three trustees, however, are members of the Coalition party who were elected in 1939. One of them, Arthur D. Walsh, a railroad mechanic, has been picked as the Coalition party's candidate for president. George E. De Coste is running for clerk and Thomas H. Jones, Amos Vavra, and Edward C. Witt are seeking office as trustees.

Youthful "Jimmy" Kyriazopulos, recently elected township clerk, might be called the liaison officer between the Elmwood Park administration and the Coalition party in River Grove. In the restaurant which he runs on Thatcher road he pens scathing attacks on the River Grove incumbents, which, he says, is "lots of fun."

Charges and the Answer.

He points out a $79,000 indebtedness and clamors about mistakes in the conduct of village affairs since Enger's taking office in 1933.

Enger answers that when the assets of the village are also taken into consideration there is a $137,000 surplus, and that if things were so badly handled all this time, why didn't Walsh say something about it before. Walsh has been a trustee since 1931 except for two years from 1937 to 1939.

Each of the parties claims that the third party, headed by Frank Conboy and known as the Progressives, will detract from the opposing vote. Conboy, formerly a tavern operator, was president of the village from 1931 to 1933. On his ticket Vernon Travers is running for clerk, and Arthur Casino, Frank J. Kaehler, and Francis Regnier for trustees.

In Elmwood Park the Coalition party, headed by John A. Cullerton, has no opposition.

Opposition Withheld.

There had been some talk of a Public Economy ticket allied with the one of the same name which was just defeated in the township election, but nothing developed. Besides Cullerton, a brother of Ald. J. P. Cullerton [38th], who has been president since 1935, the candidates are Harold A. Hommersand for clerk and Louis W. Frank, Adam J. Roulo, and Olaf Schau for trustees.

Franklin Park's Coalition party is headed by Edward J. Kanabay, a young bookbinding company employé who has never run for political office before. Other candidates are Arthur H. Taylor for clerk, Harold J. Gliddon, Jerry P. Neuzil, and Glenn Phillips for trustees, Walter Talaga for a fourth trustee vacancy, and Edward Shannon for police magistrate.

Kanabay's opponent, Barney Reeves of the Harmony party, has been president for eight years. His associates, in the same order, are C. A. Coppage, Wallace B. Cundiff, John Didier Sr., Bernard O. Most, and John J. Rumzis.

Ziese to Retire.

In Schiller Park Charles H. Ziese, who has been president for the last 20 years, is retiring, and Richard L. Mentzel, hitherto a trustee, has been named as candidate by the Non-Partisan party to succeed him. Thomas H. Kirchhoff is running for reëlection as clerk, and those running for trustee are Bernard P. Kolb, Emmett M. Sheridan, Carl F. Ziese, and Dominick Barzano, the latter to fill a vacancy. Harry C. Theodosakis is running for police magistrate.

People's party candidates in the same order are Alfred C. Topel, Herbert H. Link, Emory W. Bremer, William M. Kramer, George A. C. Mueller, Albert W. Koby, and Ellis C. Johnson.

A new party, called the Improvement party, has sprung up with only four trustee candidates: Arthur R. Patzer, Peter G. Klemos, Harold J. Thoele, and Clarence E. Orrick.

Two Tickets in Niles.

In Niles the Taxpayers' Economy party has organized to defeat the incumbent People's party. Heading the new ticket is Judge Henry W. Fritz, former village attorney. Lawrence J. Zimmerman, William Rossman, John S. Banas, and G. Russell Pritchard are running for trustees, the latter to fill a vacancy.

On the People's party Frank J. Stankowicz, hitherto clerk, is running to succeed Michael Didier as president. J. G. Kozak is candidate for clerk, and those for trustee are P. A. Weinman, Herman A. Jesse, John Bolek, and Alvin Kluesing.

The participants, representing 10 parks, have been chosen from the individual gym shows of the parks in area 5 of the Chicago park district.

Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schroeck of 3002 George street who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, have both lived on the northwest side for 59 years. Both were born in Germany. They have six sons and daughters, Mrs. Alice Prust, Mrs. Florence Eggert, Charles P. Schroeck, Mrs. Adele Curtis, and Walter Schroeck, all of Chicago, and Raymond Schroeck, Edgerton, Wis. They have 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The 10 parks which will take part in the demonstration are Avondale, Eugene Field, Gompers, Independence, Chopin, Jefferson, Norwood, Portage, Rosedale, and Shabbona.

11 DRAFT AREAS PASS 1,000 MARK IN SERVICE CALL

Board 72 in 47th Ward Reaches No. 1342.

Eleven of the 151 local draft boards in Chicago by midnight last Tuesday had reached order numbers of 1,000 or over in supplying draftees to the army, examination of the figures revealed. This study does not take into account volunteers, who are inducted as they appear.

One board, No. 72 in the 47th ward, reached No. 1,342 in filling its April quota. The number is held by Earl Dall, 4913 North Ashland avenue, whose original national draft lottery number was in the 4,000's. Area No. 72 is bounded roughly by Clark street on the east, Foster avenue on the north, Damen and Lincoln avenues on the west, and Montrose avenue on the south.

The other boards that have passed the 1,000 mark are Nos. 6, 12, 15, 28, 29, 41, 45, 53, 57, and 69.

A total of 69 Chicago boards have filled their monthly quotas since induction started. They called up 48,507 registrants to find the 6,724 men who were acceptable to army physicians.

14 From Each 100:

This meant that only 14 of each 100 men examined qualified for immediate service, the other 86 falling into deferred classifications.

The table below shows the highest order number reached by each Chicago local board up to and including last Tuesday, exclusive of volunteers:

40 Per Cent Volunteer.

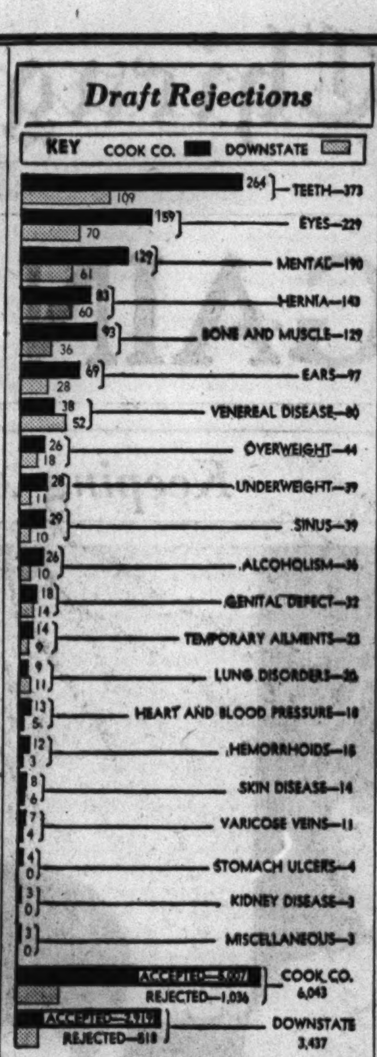
Up to April 1, the draft records show, 3,981 or 40 per cent of the 9,736 men inducted from Cook county were volunteers.

In an effort to encourage more voluntary enlistments, the Illinois department of the American Legion is sponsoring a contest among local boards, according to Paul G. Armstrong, state director of the draft.

Leaders among the Chicago boards as of April 1, and the totals of volunteers and inductions were:

Board No. 3, 35 volunteers, or 87 per cent of its total of 40 inductions; No. 85, 59 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 84 inductions; No. 121, 39 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 56 inductions, and No. 149, 43 volunteers, or 68 per cent of its 63 inductions.

Draft Rejections



This chart shows the reasons for 1,554 rejections among the 9,479 men examined by army physicians at the Chicago induction depot during March and draws a comparison between the Cook county figures and those for the rest of the state. Two Cook county men were rejected for every one downstate. Of the 80 venereal cases discovered, 65 per cent were from downstate. For the state as a whole, 16 per cent of the men sent by local boards were rejected at the induction station, as against 17.2 per cent in February and 18.5 per cent in January.

WAR OBJECTING DRAFTEES FIND GOING IS ROUGH

If placed in Class 1, the conscientious objector can appeal, within five days after his classification. The appeal board then determines, before it can give weight to his objection, whether he should be placed in a deferred class. If not, it takes up his "C. O." claim.

The board's first step in this event is to turn the case over to the department of justice for full investigation and recommendation. The federal investigators must hold a hearing on the character and good faith of the claimant, and then advise the appeal board.

The justice department, if it approves the claim, recommends whether the registrant should be assigned to noncombatant military service or to civilian work of a national character. If noncombatant service is indicated, the letter O is placed by the appeal board after the registrant's classification. If civilian work is recommended, the man is placed in Class 4E.

Form 47 inquires deeply into the registrant's past actions and beliefs in order to help draft officials make up their minds whether he is shamming or not. Unless he has a pretty convincing record to substantiate his claim of anti-war scruples, he is in for disappointment.

Several religious organizations have begun work on the establishment of civilian camps for men of their faiths who claim to be conscientious objectors.

ROTC to Dance.

Von Steuben ROTC Military ball will be held Friday evening, April 25, at the Evanston Country club. Cadet Lieut. Col. Walter Andersen is chairman of the dance committee.

SWAP BUSINESS ON DOWN GRADE; AIMS TO SWAP IT

George Off to Trade His Milwaukee Ave. Shop.

BY JOHN T. McCUTCHEON JR.

"Tools Traded."

"Reconditioned bicycles, tricycles, and paint brushes."

Dingy signs like these, which adorn the corroded exterior of George's Swap Shop at 1649 Milwaukee avenue, are disappearing. They have always been in the process of disappearing behind a coating of dirt, but this time they are really going. The swapping business is no good in Chicago, and George is going to swap this business for a similar one in Cleveland, O.

George is George Zipay, who trades candlesticks, monkey wrenches, typewriters, xylophones, and false legs. He began swapping years ago on Maxwell street and several years ago set up his Milwaukee avenue establishment near some coal yards and auto repair shops.

Axel Keeps Shop.

Bewhiskered Axel Green sits in the back room of George's Swap Shop while George is in Cleveland looking over prospects. He swaps stories with other men in the back room for lack of anything more profitable to swap.

Two kitchen knives and a pair of pliers were traded for a set of cow bells which jingle when the front door opens. Then Green comes in behind his spectacles and does not register surprise unless the visitor is a worthwhile customer. Usually nowadays it is a woman who has a broken rocking chair she wants to swap for kitchen utensils.

"No, I'm sorry, we can't take furniture," he says. The room is already overstuffed with old stoves and mid-Victorian statuary.

In good times, Green explained, people are willing to swap good things, like typewriters and tools, for things they wanted, such as books, or art, or antiques. And people will come in just to buy these things, too.

Typewriters Are Best.

Typewriters remain the most profitable investments. They are bought for $3 or so. When there was any chance of people buying typewriters, they could be fixed up and sold for three times that amount. Now, however, they are sold as parts for repair work.

Typewriters, clocks, and other things which are registered must be reported to the police, and are sometimes found to be "hot," or stolen. So George is out.

A good day's trade should involve $15 or $18, Green said, but added that many days recently hadn't even seen a dollar bill. He said that April and May, during moving and spring cleaning, were the busiest months.

Von Steuben High Alumni to Plan Scholarship Fund

Von Steuben High school alumni association will hold its annual meeting at 8 o'clock Friday night in the school auditorium. Plans are expected to be made for the establishment of a scholarship fund. Class meetings, a basketball game, and a dance will also mark the evening. Bernard Epstein is president of the association.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

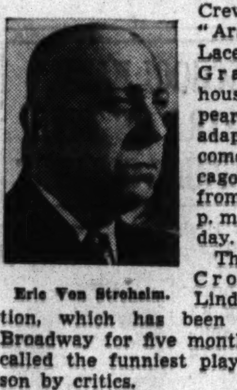
On Chicago Hour

Helen Twelvetrees, featured in the stage success, "Arsenic and Old Lace," will be one of the headliners of In Chicago Tonight at 7:30 p. m. next Thursday over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

Eric Von Stroheim, Helen Twelvetrees, Effie Shannon, and Laura Hope Crews, stars of "Arsenic and Old Lace," now at the Grand Opera house, will appear in a radio adaptation of the comedy on In Chicago Tonight from 7:30 to 8 p. m. next Thursday.



Eric Von Stroheim.

The Russell Crouse-Howard Lindsay production, which has been running on Broadway for five months, has been called the funniest play of the season by critics.

The story concerns two sweet old ladies who like to put old, lonely men out of their troubles with a tasty glass of poisoned elderberry wine. Effie Shannon and Laura Hope Crews take these two rôles as the Brewster sisters, Abby and Martha. Von Stroheim takes the part of the brother, Jonathan Brewster, who, by plastic surgery, has his face changed to look like Eric Von Stroheim.

All four have been featured in many stage plays and motion picture productions. The adaptation will be by Walter Gould, assisted by Fran Coughlin. William A. Bacher will take charge of production. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra, and the chorus under the direction of Robert Trendler, will provide the music.

STEELMAKERS TO PRESENT TWO TALENTED BOYS

Three talented performers are scheduled for the Musical Steelmakers broadcast at 4 p. m. today over W-G-N and the coast-to-coast Mutual network for a special Easter program.

Mario and Aldo Mancinelli, 14 and 10, respectively will play Schubert's beloved "Ave Maria" on the violin and piano.

When the Steelmakers broadcast began in 1936, Mildred Whitley, sister of Tommy Whitley, director of the Musical Steelmakers orchestra, was one of the first headliners. Today she returns as Mrs. Mildred Whitley Jeffers to sing "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" for the listening friends of the Musical Steelmakers.

BRACE BEEMER RESUMES ROLE OF LONE RANGER

Brace Beemer, who is resuming the rôle of the Lone Ranger he originated nine years ago, fits the part of the radio hero perfectly. He is an expert horseman and his war record proves him a hero in fact as well as in fiction.

Brace Beemer.

The Lone Range will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System in a new series starting Monday, May 5.

Beemer has taken the Lone Ranger part once more because of the death of Earle Graser, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday. During the years that Graser played the Lone Ranger, his identity and the facts of his personal life were kept closely guarded secrets. Officials of WXYZ, Detroit, where the program originates, felt that an air of mystery should be preserved around the famous masked hero.

Beemer was born in Mount Carmel, Ill., 38 years ago. He joined the army at the age of 14, when he was able to convince officers he was much older because of his size. He is tall [6 feet 3 inches] and weighs 200 pounds.

Beemer served in France with the 150th Field Artillery, Rainbow division. He was wounded in the fighting in the Argonne sector and again in the Luneville sector. He was awarded the Military Order of the Purple Heart, created by George Washington.

Miniature Grand Opera on Russell Bennett Notebook

Russell Bennett's unusual "Music Box Opera No. 1," a miniature grand opera based on the old American folksong, "Clementine," will be given a repeat performance on "Russell Bennett's Notebook" over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 6 p. m. today. Written especially for this series, it had its première on one of Bennett's broadcasts last fall.

Reductions of 40% to 60%

This message is for our many friends and customers who missed our full-page advertisement in the Chicago Tribune, or who did not receive notice of this remarkable event:

Robinson-Langtry is conducting a Going-Out-of-Business Sale that we honestly believe is almost without parallel in the furniture business. We have already sold hundreds of pieces. BUT—there still remains in our store a splendid collection of superb merchandise, all of the same unquestioned high value, workmanship and style that have made this concern so justly famous.

Most of this furniture was bought just before our sudden and unexpected decision to quit business. Hence it is all new, all high quality, all high fashion—the kind of furniture you'll be proud to own.

Although our selection is still large, we must urge you to act NOW. Such incomparably fine values simply cannot remain much longer on our floors. Included are bedroom and living room pieces, suites, matched, related and occasional pieces—all offered at never-to-be-forgotten prices.

And remember this: If cash payments are inconvenient, we will gladly arrange terms or divided payments, for we MUST get this merchandise off our hands. To do this we're prepared to make extraordinary sacrifices.

Friends! Customers! We repeat! This is a Once-in-a-Lifetime opportunity to obtain high quality furniture at low prices. Don't miss it! Come in NOW. You'll probably NEVER have a chance at such values again.

ST. COLUMBKILLE DAY NURSERY TO HAVE A BENEFIT

Women's Auxiliary Will Give Card Party.

The annual card party of St. Columbkille Day nursery, 527 North Paulina street, one of two affairs given by the women's auxiliary for its support, will be held at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday in the Edgewater Beach hotel. The other benefit is a tag day held each fall in which from 250 to 300 taggers take part.

Mrs. Mae Courney, 2726 North Francisco avenue, is in charge of arrangements for the card party and Miss Virginia Drury, 1843 Addison street, is co-chairman. Others on the committee are Mrs. Arthur Stauder, 6449 North Seeley avenue, membership chairman of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Alexander Keohane, 4308 North Ashland avenue, philanthropic chairman.

More than 125 children are cared for by St. Columbkille nursery. About 45 of these are under six years of age and almost all are children of mothers who are employed during the day and who have no other place to leave the youngsters.

Sisters Are in Charge.

Sister Mary Eileen and Sister Carlotta of the order of Sisters of Providence, are in charge of the nursery. Two years ago Sister Mary Eileen celebrated her silver jubilee in the order. They are assisted by Miss Mary Kollar, who attended the nursery when she was a child. A jolly cook, Mrs. Marie Stafford, prepares the dinners and light lunches for the children.

Most of the youngsters are brought to the nursery between 6:45 and 8:30 o'clock in the morning when their mothers leave for work. They are called for at the end of the working day, in some cases not until 8 o'clock in the evening.

Most of the children under school age seem to prefer airplanes and "Hi-Ho, Silver, away!" games. A friendly gray terrier named Skippy bounds thru the play room and greets each visitor at the door.

The youngsters are given a light lunch of fruit, cookies, and milk at 10 o'clock in the morning and they eat dinner at noon when the older children return from school. Two five-year olds help set the tables for the meals.

Naps Are in Order.

Naps are in order after dinner and each child has its own tiny bed. Another lunch of cookies and milk is served at 3 o'clock in the afternoon when the older group returns from school.

Children of grade school age attend St. Columbkille school almost directly behind the nursery building. Most of the few children of high school age study at the commercial school which occupies the top floor of the nursery building.

As is the case in so many nurseries of this kind, the children are taught to help others as well as themselves and occasional parties are held for less fortunate children.

The nursery was opened by the Sisters of Providence 24 years ago in what was at that time an old school building. The nursery is nonsectarian and also cares for children of all nationalities. The majority of those who attend, however, are of Italian or Polish ancestry.

Civic Club to Hear Talk on 'Women in Dentistry'

"Women in Dentistry" will be the subject of Miss Edith K. Wilson, 4054 North Kilbourne avenue, when she speaks before a meeting of the Northwest Civic and Social club at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at Gompers park, 4224 Foster avenue. The program will include a humorous monologue by Miss Geraldine Brown.

After his graduation from the College of Wooster, Wooster, O., and Princeton Theological seminary, Princeton, N. J., Dr. Cotton became assistant professor of philosophy at the College of Wooster. He also served as pastor of Broad Street Presbyterian church, Columbus, O., for 12 years.

The choir, under the direction of Edgar Nelson, will sing Easter compositions by Mascagne, Marryott, Bairstow, and Handel. Mark Love, radio and opera singer, will be soloist.

Sorority to Dance.

Rho Delta Pi sorority of De Paul university will hold its dance this evening at the Lake Shore club, 850 Lake Shore drive.

JEWS TO UNITE FOR PASSOVER RITES TONIGHT

Youths to Conduct Two Seder Ceremonies.

Ceremonies in observance of the Jewish Passover will be held this evening. Seders, or rituals, will commemorate Israel's redemption from Egyptian slavery.

Its third annual Seder will be conducted by the Northwest Side Youth division at 8:15 o'clock in the community center of Humboldt Boulevard temple, 1908 Humboldt boulevard. Rabbi David Graubart will conduct the ceremony, which will include songs and dancing. Members of the social committee are Ida Rosen, Ann Goldstein, Miriam Flanzer, and Bessie Resser.

Jewish high school students will hold their Seder at 8:30 in Bialik hall, 220 South State street, conducted by Ben Aronin, educational adviser of the Jewish Youth leagues. Youth groups from Tuley, Von Steuben, and Roosevelt High schools will participate. The leaders of these three groups are, respectively, Beatrice Leifman, Harriet Prosterman, and Joseph Gusfield.

The Albany Park unit of the Mothers of Young Judaea will sponsor a celebration at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon marking the end of Passover. It will be at the Masonic temple, 4660 North Kedzie avenue.

Rabbi Judah Golden, associate director of Hillel Foundation at the University of Illinois, will speak at the meeting of Haym Salomon auxiliary of B'nai B'rith, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Hamilton hotel, 20 South Dearborn street.

At 2 o'clock Saturday the group will hear Charles Liebman, of the Chicago Civil Liberties committee, speak on "Why Jews Should be Liberal," at Mrs. Bessie Van Emden's home, 4901 North Hamlin avenue.

Orchestra Alumni.

Tuley High school orchestra alumni will meet this afternoon at 1335 North California avenue to elect officers and to further plans for the $100 scholarship which it will award May 23.

W-G-N PROGRAM SHOWS VALUES OF DEMOCRACY

Each Saturday at 10 a. m. W-G-N broadcasts an historical quiz program which Chicago educators and historical society officials believe is of value in illustrating to the youth of the middle west the social advantages to be derived from life under a democratic form of government. Entitled "Acree's High School Aces," the quiz has featured honor students of Chicago's high schools answering questions about United States history, prepared by L. Hubbard Shattuck, director of the Chicago Historical society.

This is the general plan of the quiz broadcasts: Each week four boys—one from each of four different high schools—appear on the program to answer questions concerning American history. The questions are prepared under the direction of Mr. Shattuck, who also acts as judge on the program. Cash awards are given to the contestants. The one who correctly answers the most questions receives $10, next place winner gets $5, third, $3, and fourth, $2. In addition to Mr. Shattuck's questions, puzzlers from the listeners are propounded to members of the visible audience. The listeners whose questions are used receive $10. Chuck Acree acts as master of ceremonies. The show is broadcast from the Palace theater.

Youth to Weigh Convoy Question on Forum Tonight

Youth will take over the microphone when the American Forum of the Air considers the topic, "Youth Views the Convoy Question," tonight. The discussion will be broadcast over W-G-N from 9:15 to 10 p. m. Participating will be Fay Bennett, executive secretary, Youth Committee Against War; Richard Moore, executive secretary, College Men for Defense First; Robert Taft Jr., chairman, Harvard Committee Against Military Intervention; Agnes Reynolds, field secretary, Student Defenders Against Democracy; William Bundy of the Student Defense league, and Joseph P. Lash, general secretary, International Student service.

FIND MANY USES FOR INSULATING BOARD IN HOME

One Owner Turns Garage Into Playroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Double and triple evidence is all around us these days that no spot is "hopeless" when it comes to renovation, and that few spots around a house exist which cannot have their original purpose in life drastically changed—if the owner so desires.

As a case in proof of just this one home owner looked at his down at the heels garage and decided he would convert it into an up to the minute recreation room.

An insulating wall board was used for the walls and ceilings; the type of wall board which is well worth looking into when one is considering ways and means of home improvements.

If you would have a "little more quiet, please!" in your house, such insulation boards will help to give it to you.

They have not the soundproofing effect of materials designed expressly to eliminate noise, but they do have a sound subduing value.

Acts Like a Carpet.

Give a room an insulating board ceiling, for example, and you will deaden the noise to a degree comparable to that resulting from carpeting a bare floor.

These insulation boards, which are known in building and remodeling parlance as "structural or rigid insulation," have other assets to warrant study of them. Besides their ability to retard the passage of heat, and to subdue sounds arising within a room as well as transmission of noise from one room to another, they come in new colors and surface textures.

How They're Applied.

In remodeling old rooms, insulating boards can be applied directly over existing wall surfaces, usually on furring strips. In new construction they are applied to the studs in the dry wall manner.

If you are checking on boards for an interior finish you will see building boards, plank, and tile boards.

In some cases the planks are run around the walls horizontally to harmonize with the lines of modern furnishings. There also are insulating planks in random widths to provide a nice background for Colonial spirited rooms. Or if you have some traditional 18th century room the plank can be beveled to resemble pilasters or columns, with prepared mouldings in classic Greek key designs.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, April 14.

Wrap trunks of trees with burlap or specially prepared paper to prevent borers and other pests from injuring the trunk and to prevent injury from the sun. Collect all egg masses and destroy them. Spray perennials early; use Bordeaux mixture on the ground around the plants and later spray the plants at intervals of 10 days.

Tuesday, April 15.

Straighten up labels and replace with new all that need labeling. There is nothing quite as satisfactory as an accurately labeled garden. Do not uncover beds too soon, for a late frost may injure the young growths. If the mulch is heavy, loosen it and draw some of it away from the plants, but leave it for sudden use.

Wednesday, April 16.

Remove water sprouts from fruit trees. Trim hedges before they make too much growth. Thin out crowded shrubs or the whole group will not do well. If the group needs to be rearranged, do it at once or as soon as the ground can be worked. Cut out old wood and prune back the young growth about one-third.

Thursday, April 17.

Cacti are now active and may be transplanted. Use a soil consisting of garden loam and sand in about equal amounts. Do not plant in too large pots and use plenty of drainage. After danger from frost plunge the pots in a well drained spot in the garden. A bit of shade will help, but not dense shade. It is a good place for the Christmas cactus during the summer.

Friday, April 18.

Cut back killed plants on hedge row. This applies to privet hedges especially, for some plants kill during certain winters. Make an application of food along both sides of the row. Many hardy annuals can be sown outdoors now. These include the petunia, calendula, four o'clock, zinnia, and others. Half hardy annuals, such as the ageratum, verbena, phlox drummondi, should be sown in the hotbed for protection.

Saturday, April 19.

In the vegetable garden asparagus, rhubarb, and horseradish may be divided and transplanted. A few plants of rhubarb is sufficient for a family and the leaves are ornamental for some time. They are gross feeders. Asters can be sown early in the house, but the young plants need to be hardened off before planting in the open ground. Handle vegetable plants similarly.

BARRINGTON VILLAGE ATTORNEY LOOKS BACK ON TEN YEARS' WORK

David B. Maloney's job probably seems like loafing to him now compared to when he took it ten years ago. Next month he will have been village attorney of Barrington for ten years, and during this time the village's legal and financial difficulties have developed from an almost hopeless mess into none at all.

In 1931 and soon thereafter Maloney found himself faced with a court order to abandon the village's $300,000 sewage disposal system, unauthorized bond issues of more than $150,000, the failure of a bank in which $47,000 of village funds was deposited, and suits by previous village officers for more than $20,000 for services.

The sewage problem was considerably relieved when Maloney and Earl Hatje, then finance chairman and now village president, secured a PWA grant of $137,000 to alter the drainage system. New plans prompted suits for damages and condemnation costs amounting to more than $100,000—which were later settled for about $6,000.

The over-issued bonds brought a bondholders' suit which was not finally settled until 1939 when the bonds were declared invalid and the village was freed from liability.

For lack of any other work Maloney has announced that a drive is contemplated on delinquent taxpayers, altho there are not even many of these.

B'nai B'rith Auxiliary.

Ann Birk Kuper will dramatize Elmer Rice's "Flight to the West" for the Austin B'Nai B'rith auxiliary at 1:45 o'clock tomorrow in Columbus park recreation hall.

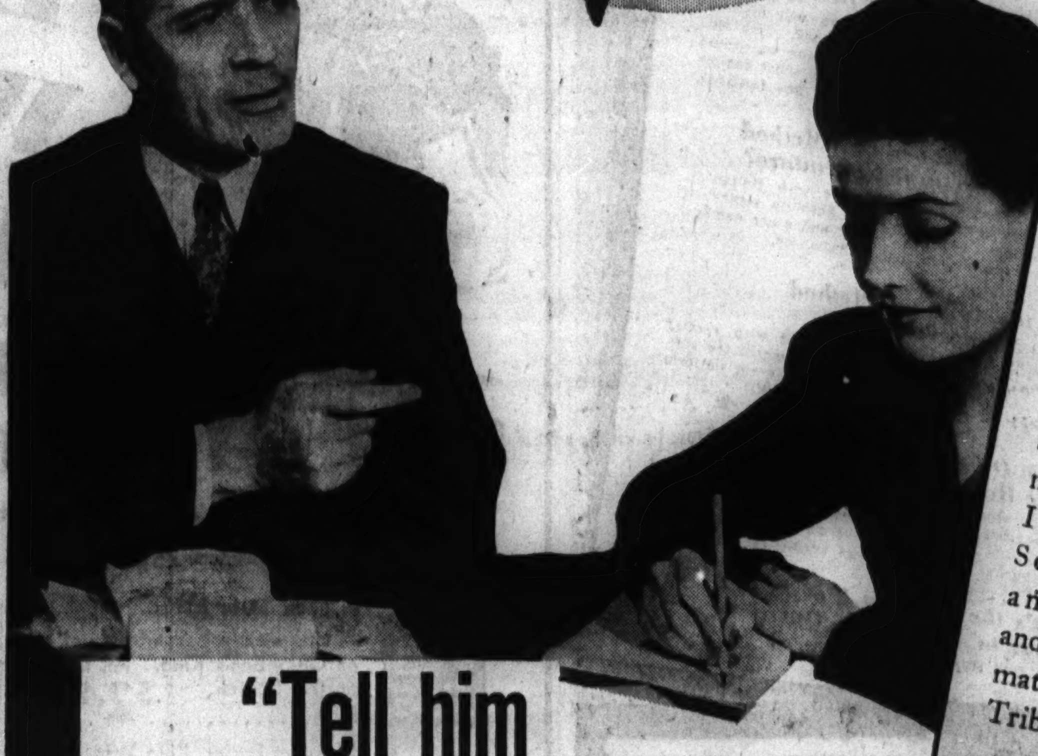
"Look! Another gift from Bob"

"He must be making lots of money since he started selling."

Would you like to cash in on your ability in a field where earnings are limited only by your own efforts? Consider selling—the highest paid field there is. With many firms, experience is not required because they prefer to train men in their own methods. Older men frequently find their age and experience give them exceptional advantages in the selling field. For a large selection of selling opportunities, consult the Salesmen and the Agents columns in the Tribune want ad section.



Are you in a position to take advantage of the new opportunities opening up in many lines? If you lack the training which can help you get one of these well paying jobs, now is the time to do something about it. Consult the announcements of interest to both men and women in the Instruction, Trade Schools, Dressmaking and Millinery Schools, and Musical and Dramatic columns in the Tribune want ad section.

"Tell him to report Monday"

"He has the training which makes him the logical choice."

Want to trade?

Has it ever occurred to you that many articles which now lie unused in your home might be traded for other things far more useful to you? It is being done every day by those who watch the Barter and Exchange column in the Tribune want ad section. Make a list of the things you have stored away and follow the Barter and Exchange want ads in the Tribune.

"Business is fine"

"I'm glad I bought this place when I did!"

Have you been waiting for better times to go into business for yourself? Have you considered how the present higher industrial activity greatly increases your chances to succeed in an enterprise of your own? Now is the time to start reviewing the Business Opportunities column in the Tribune want ad section with its scores of values in stores, restaurants, filling stations, boarding houses, grocery stores, and other types of businesses. Watch this column for your chance of a lifetime!

Because want ad users get better results, they place more want advertising in the Tribune than they place in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

LILACS AGAIN TO GLADDEN SHUT-INS

CHRIST ARISEN TO BE SUNG BY THRONGS TODAY

Joy of Resurrection Will Be Told.

Songs and sermons in churches today carry the same message—the expression of joy in the Resurrection and the hope it symbolizes. Special music will be offered in all churches on Chicago's southwest side and clergymen will repeat the story of the arisen Lord. Many Protestant churches, as well as the Catholic, will have early observances.

The Rev. Frederic C. Mills, pastor of the Emerald avenue Presbyterian church, has announced a sunrise service for 6:30 o'clock. J. F. McFarland, executive secretary of the Englewood YMCA, will be the speaker. The second Easter service will be at 11:45 o'clock this morning.

The first service at Thomas Memorial Congregational church in Chicago Lawn will take place at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and the second will be at 11 o'clock. The Sunday school has prepared a dramatization of the meaning of Easter. The Rev. L. Donald Bond is pastor.

School This Morning.

Church school at 9:30 o'clock this morning will open the Easter rites at Normal Park Methodist church. The Rev. L. E. Springer, pastor, will present his Easter sermon at 10:45 o'clock, and there will be Easter music.

Church school will convene at 8 o'clock this morning at the Chicago Lawn Presbyterian church, according to the pastor, the Rev. Kenneth Hildebrand. The sermon at 9:30 o'clock will be the last of a series devoted to the subject, "What Is This Christianity?" The especial topic will be, "Light Everlasting." The subject for the 11 o'clock meeting is "The Man Who Missed Easter."

The annual memorial service will take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon. This is especially for those who have lost loved ones in the last year. The sermon will be "A Garland of Easter Poetry."

In Normal Park.

"Intimations of the Resurrection" is the sermon topic for the 10:45 o'clock meeting at the Normal Park Baptist church. The Rev. Winthrop Hudson, pastor, will welcome new members into the church.

Baptism of adults and children and the reception of new members is planned for the 11 o'clock service at the Garfield Boulevard Presbyterian church where the Rev. W. Greer McCrory is the minister. "He Is Risen" is the sermon topic.

The Rev. Donald Harrington of the People's Liberal church will use the subject "God Within the Shadow" at the 10:45 o'clock meeting. "Masonry and the Christian's Message" is the topic for the Masonic service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The church school will present a pageant at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Will Preach in German.

The Rev. R. C. Kienle of St. Luke's Evangelical will preach the Easter message in German at 9 o'clock this morning and in English at 11 o'clock. Communion will follow both. Service planned for 7 o'clock this morning at Grace Evangelical church will be dedicated especially to those who have lost some one in the last year. The pastor is the Rev. Karl Meyer. Other services will be at 8 o'clock, 9:30 o'clock, 10:45 o'clock, and noon.

Easter services at the Auburn Park Methodist church will be at 9:45 o'clock and 11 o'clock. The Rev. Ivan J. Obenshain will baptize and receive new members. The choir will sing an Easter cantata at 8 o'clock this evening.

Easter ceremonies will begin at 7 o'clock this morning at Calvary Methodist church where the Rev. James H. Durand is pastor. This is for the young people who will remain for an Easter breakfast. Church school will take place at 9:45, and the regular Easter service at 10:45 o'clock.

Will Present Play.

The Rev. John C. Spencer of the Englewood First Methodist church will preach at 11 o'clock this morning, and there will be a play, "For He Had Great Possessions," at 7:45 o'clock this evening. The Rev. C. Emil Bergquist of Bethel Lutheran church will hold services at 10:45 o'clock this morning, and there will be a religious drama in the church at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

A children's program will open the Easter program at the First Church of God at 10:20 o'clock this morning. This will run into the regular morning service at which the Rev. M. R. Gaulke will preach on "Eternity in the Heart." Meditation and a short Passion play are planned for 7:45 o'clock this evening.

Special music has been prepared for the service at 10:30 o'clock this morning at Englewood Baptist church. New members will be received by the pastor, the Rev. Howard A. Vernon. Services will begin at 8:30 o'clock at the Foster Park Baptist church where the Rev. J. Walker Martin is minister. Church school will follow at 9:30 o'clock, and a second service at 11 o'clock. There will be a musical program, presented by the church choir and orchestra, at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Choir to Be Heard.

The choir of the Embury Methodist church will sing H. B. Willtrie's "Hail Redeemer" at 10:45 o'clock this morning. William F. Amidon is choir conductor. The Rev. J. J. Rankin is pastor. The Epworth league of Community Methodist church will meet

Easter Baskets Blessed by Priest

Today many of Chicago's Slovaks follow their tradition of partaking of Easter foods which were blessed in their churches yesterday. Usually children carry baskets to the priests for the blessing. Mary Ann Vojta, 5209 South Winchester avenue, and Richard Joseph Tabola, 2007 West 51st street, are leaving St. Michael's church at 48th street and South Damen avenue after having their baskets blessed by the Rev. Ambrose Ondrak.

IRISH TO RECALL TRAGIC EASTER AT MASS TODAY

To the Irish of long memory this day recalls the Easter uprising of 1916 which left half of Dublin in ruins from fire and cost the lives of some 500 Irish Volunteers, protesting British conscription on their island. In tribute to the dead, officers of twelve Irish societies in the city will attend mass this morning in a body at old St. Patrick's church, 718 Adams street.

This evening a "Night in Ireland" program and dance, arranged by the Easter Week Commemorative society of Chicago, will be given in Temple hall, 332 South Marshfield avenue.

A contest to determine the most popular Irishman will be determined at the dance, when three Irish queens will open the ballot boxes and count the votes. Leading contenders are John K. Nolan; John J. Hurley, a jury commissioner; Aldermen John S. Boyle and James J. McDermott, and Judge Erwin J. Hasten.

War Objecting Draftees Find Going Is Rough

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Conscientious objectors under selective service are finding that while any honest scruples they hold against war are being respected, their detour around combatant pursuits is a rather rocky one.

In fact, the objector at the outset is likely to find himself confronted with so many special provisions that only a deep conviction in his principles will give him the hardihood to see the thing thru.

Many a conscript in the Chicago area who first asked to be listed as a conscientious objector has changed his mind and requested some other classification upon learning what rigors his original stand subjected him to.

To begin with, the "C. O.," as he is known to the initiate, must convince a pretty skeptical lot of officials of his sincerity in declining to take up arms. That done, he must still make his contribution to the nation's defense or wartime effort.

Number Not Estimated.

No accurate estimate has yet been made of the number of conscientious objectors in the Chicago area. Up to April 1 only 12 men had based draft appeals on such grounds. Many others, however, had been granted special classification by their local boards because of religious scruples against war.

At the conscientious objectors' bureau, an advisory organization with headquarters at 740 Rush street, it was reported that the names of 600 men who sought classification as conscientious objectors had been received from the Great Lakes region. This same source said that for the nation as a whole, it is expected that 7,500 to 10,000 such men will have been listed by July 1, and that provisions must be made to handle upwards of 10,000 a year.

Conscientious objectors fall into two classes; those opposed merely to combatant service, and those who object to any sort of military service. The Annual Father, Son Banquet to Be Given by 'Y' Clubs

The annual father and son banquet of the 18 Gra-Y clubs of Beverly YMCA will take place Friday evening at Gresham Methodist church, 87th street and Emerald avenue. The clubs will offer stunts by way of entertainment.

Of Course They Like Gamble

When school's out at St. Basil's, Garfield boulevard and Honore street, the pupils rush out to meet their good friend Officer Harold Gamble, the "cop on the beat." Along with the other neighborhood youngsters, they have Gamble to thank for their improved playground facilities and for many good times such as their recent roller skating parties at a south side rink. He can't stop to play with them while on duty, so they walk the beat with him. (Story on Page 6.)

EASTER COLORED BY TRADITIONS OF OLD WORLD

Nationality Customs Shown in Rites.

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

As all Chicago celebrates the triumph of Easter, many of the city's nationality groups add the color of their own traditional practices to the spring scene. Representative of them are the Lithuanians, Slovaks and Poles in the neighborhood famous as "back o' the yards." The day itself is the climax of the solemn pageantry of Holy week.

The great bells at Holy Cross, Lithuanian church at 46th and Hermitage streets, ring out the first news of the Resurrection at 5 o'clock this morning. Over at St. Michael's church at 1950 West 48th street, the observance takes on the symbolism developed by the Slovaks. They leave the Easter mass to go home and eat the Easter foods, blessed in ceremonies yesterday afternoon. And the Polish communicants of Sacred Heart at 4600 South Wolcott avenue also partake of especially blessed Easter dishes.

Altar Is Stripped.

Today's exultation within high ceilinged Holy Cross church contrasts with the mourning which began Maundy Thursday when the altar was stripped after the mass in order to show that the Holy Sacrifice is interrupted and will not be offered again until Holy Saturday. Both organ and bells were silenced until Saturday.

Many Lithuanian groups keep the custom of the washing of feet on Holy Thursday. The officiating priest removes his cope, girds himself with a cloth and washes the feet of 13 clerics or 13 poor people, according to tradition. However, this ceremony is simply symbolized at Holy Cross, and the priest washes the foot of one cleric.

A satin curtain is dropped in front of the figure of Mary on Thursday, and a representation of Christ, dressed in purple robes, wrists bound, and with a crown of thorns upon the head, is placed in front of the curtain.

Virgin Again Appears.

The Virgin appears again on Friday, and a figure of Christ is placed within a tomb on the altar. After the Friday morning prayers the priest climbs to a spot high above the sepulchre and places the monstrance containing the blessed sacrament there.

At 5 o'clock this morning the curtains of the tomb are drawn together to signify the leaving of the tomb. This is the sign for the bells to ring. And the priest climbs up above the sepulchre and returns with the monstrance.

Two of Saturday's rites are the blessing of fire and water. The fire is struck from flint, and the Paschal candle is lighted from the flame. Traditionally, many Lithuanians gather coals from the fire with which to kindle their Easter fires for cooking. But gas stoves have eliminated nearly all of that practice in Chicago. The priest also blesses the water, and members of the parish bring containers and take away a supply for the next year.

BY CHARLES ROBERTS.

Pine wood, wrapping paper, and mucilage—the three standard ingredients of most old fashioned kites, and a good many new fangled ones—were at a premium in 88 park fieldhouses and thousands of Chicagoland homes last week as an estimated 6,000 kite enthusiasts began construction of craft they will enter in the third annual Chicago Tribune Kite contest.

Ten thousand kite builders and flyers of all ages are expected to be entered in the contest when registration closes at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in the fieldhouses. To enter the contest, kite flyers need only to fill out the entry blank appearing elsewhere in this section and take it to the nearest park fieldhouse.

Elimination contests will begin in some of the 88 parks tomorrow and continue thru April 26. By that date, each park will have chosen one contestant to complete in each of the seven events in the finals.

Contest Set for May 3.

The finals, a tournament of champions which annually attracts thousands of spectators, will be staged in the parking lot south of Soldiers' field, at 16th street and Columbus drive, on May 3. THE TRIBUNE will award silver trophies to each of the seven winners and the park district will award ribbons to the runners-up.

Kites of all sizes and descriptions—and fashioned out of silk, tissue paper, cambric, and bamboo as well as wrapping paper and pine wood—were under construction last week. As in the past, plane surface kites, box kites, and combinations of the two will be entered in all seven events of the contest.

Kites entered in the artistic and novelty events will be judged on flying performance as well as their appearance on the ground. In the hand-winding and, mechanical winding events, the flyers' dexterity at "reeling in" their kites on 75 yard strings will determine the winners. These events are sometimes know as "75 yard dashes."

Best for Spectators.

Two of the most interesting events from the spectator's point of view are the messenger and pulling power contests. In the messenger event, the first entrant to get a "message"—usually a conical or triangular shaped piece of paper—from the ground to his kite will be declared the winner. In the pulling contest, a spring scale will be hooked into each kite string at intervals to determine which one has the greatest pulling power.

Kites as large as 18 feet in diameter and with a pulling power of 80 to 100 pounds have been entered in this event in the past.

With 200 contestants registered and building kites, Pulaski park, at Blackhawk and Noble streets, led the city in registration last week.

The Preliminary Contests.

Dates for preliminary contests—in which all entrants must compete—were set at nine parks during the week. They are: Tuley park, 90th street and St. Lawrence avenue, April 19; Franklin, 14th place and South Kolin avenue, April 15; Samuel Gompers, 4224 Foster avenue, April 19; Portage, 4100 North Long avenue, April 23; Kilbourn, 3501 North Kilbourn avenue, April 23.

Wilson, 4630 Milwaukee avenue, April 22; Norwood, 5801 North Natoma avenue, April 18; Chase, Leland and Ashland avenues, April 21; Indian Boundary, Lunt avenue and Rockwell street, April 22, and Waveland fieldhouse in Lincoln park, Addison street and the lake, April 24.

FLOWER GUILD OPENS DRIVE TO SHARE BLOOMS

Fragrant Bouquets to Go to Thousands.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Mrs. Stanley D. Grace.

Thousands of fresh lilac blooms will be placed at the bedsides of shut-ins in the city's hospitals and institutions this spring in the 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign. The campaign is sponsored jointly by the Chicago Plant Flower, and Fruit guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

With warmer weather and sunshine hurrying the arrival of the blooms, officials of the guild already have begun work on the campaign. The delicate blossoms are gathered from all over Chicagoland and are brought to the city for distribution to hospitals and institutions. Detailed plans are necessary to see that the lilacs arrive fresh and dewy and are promptly delivered. Last year 82,400 bouquets of lilacs were distributed among 147 hospitals, settlements and other institutions in the city.

81 Clubs Assist.

More than 2,000 members of the 81 garden clubs affiliated with the guild coöperate to make the gathering of the lilacs possible. Last year the lilacs brought cheer to more than 23,000 shut-ins.

Each year the guild and the Tribune act as the link between the floral beauty of spring and the thousands of bedridden people in the city. Blooms are gathered from thousands of home yards, gardens, parks and estates in the Chicagoland area. They are sent to the charity wards and sick rooms of hospitals and institutions where the patients rarely see fresh flowers.

The work of gathering the blossoms and shipping them is done entirely by voluntary workers who each year give freely of their time to see that the less fortunate people of the city are brought a breath of spring.

Days to Be Named.

As in the past, there probably will be two dates set for the distribution of the bouquets. The dates have not been chosen, but will be determined when the guild officials feel that the majority of the lilacs in the suburban areas have reached their peak. This depends largely on the weather. Lilac days generally have fallen between May 10 and 20.

The lilacs are shipped free to Chicago on suburban trains. Last year 62 trains on nine suburban railroads brought the blooms into terminal stations where they were picked up for distribution by Tribune trucks.

Started in 1929, the "Share Your Lilacs" campaign has grown to be one of the largest and most unique community enterprises of its kind in the United States.

The work of gathering the lilacs is delegated to 10 division chairmen of the guild who will be under the general supervision of Mrs. Stanley D. Grace of Highland Park, general chairman.

Chairmen of Divisions.

Each railroad line or division has a separate chairman who is in charge of the garden clubs served by that railroad. They supervise the committees of the various garden clubs that assemble the lilacs and load them on the trains.

The chairmen are:

Mrs. Joseph E. Callender, Calamus lodge, St. Charles—Aurora and Elgin railway.

Mrs. K. Edgar Tholin, 4541 Forest avenue, Downers Grove—Burlington.

Mrs. Robert J. Pabodie, 104 Oak street, Maywood—Galena division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Lloyd G. Rees, 1636 Forest avenue, Wilmette—Southern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Herschel Missey, 7514 South Ridgeland avenue, Chicago—Illinois Central.

Mrs. Warner R. Nelson, 1062 Bluff road, Glencoe—Northern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Other Leaders Named.

Mrs. Albert W. Torbet, Bannockburn, Deerfield—North Shore line.

Mrs. William O. Korten, 11301 South Lothair avenue, Chicago—Rock Island railway.

Mrs. Clyde B. Kennard, 1008 Greenview avenue, Des Plaines—Eastern Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Fred A. Record, Barrington—Western Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Working under the direction of the division chairmen will be the president and guild chairman of the 81 garden clubs. A complete list of these workers will be published later.

Civic Group to Meet.

Members of the Hamilton Park Improvement association will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Hamilton park fieldhouse.

OVERLOADED STREET CARS.

When is something going to be done about the service on the 63d street cars? A number of us stand there every morning, about 7:30, and watch the cars go by, jammed to the trolley. We can see them coming west, from Halsted and Racine, and at each of these points more people are crammed into them than it's humanly possible to cram people—however, they do it—and by the time the cars reach our corner we just get the breeze of their passing. I have reference to the west bound cars.

Occasionally one of us is lucky enough to find room for one foot on the rear step and the ride from there on, until a slight crevice is obtained to squeeze thru, is ghastly. I'm tired of sewing the buttons on my clothes where they've been ripped off in the crush. I hobble, too—no wonder.

Please print this, in the hope that some one will do something about it. N. P.

A SMUDGY NEIGHBORHOOD.

What can spring clean up time mean to folks whose houses are flush with the street? I work in an office on West 46th street, and I don't wonder that the people who live in the neighborhood are often smudged and dirty. I wonder that they manage to look as clean as they do.

The alley adjoining our building—and it is a city alley—is nothing but mud. The street is rutted and the ruts are filled with muddy water. Every motorist who passes this way indulges in the great American habit of using his car window to dispose of waste papers, cigaret butts, candy wrappers, and what have you.

How can people who must live in low rent neighborhoods keep up courage to fight dirt when every passerby adds to the burden? J. K.

FAVORS NEW BUS LINE.

I'm wishing the 63d and Kedzie Chamber of Commerce luck on their bus line project. I'm one of the workers who must drive to my job daily from Columbus Manor. I'm for any added transportation facilities that may come to the southwest area. P. F.

CADETS SPRUCE UP FOR ANNUAL INSPECTION DAY

So. West Side Reviews to Start May 15.

Eight southwest side high school ROTC units began preparations last week for the biggest annual event on the ROTC calendar—federal inspection. The personnel and facilities of the units will be inspected and rated by 6th corps area army officers between May 15 and May 22.

The Morgan Park High school unit will be the first on the southwest side to be inspected. The unit will be reviewed at 9 o'clock on the morning of May 15 on the school campus. The Fenger unit will be reviewed at 1:15 o'clock that afternoon on the Fenger campus. The Tilden Tech unit will be reviewed at 1:15 o'clock the following day in the International amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets.

Harper on May 20.

On May 20 the Harper unit will be reviewed at 9 o'clock on the school campus, 6520 South Wood street, and the Lindblom unit will be reviewed at 1:15 o'clock in Ogden park, 64th street and Loomis boulevard. The Englewood and Calumet units will be reviewed on the morning and afternoon, respectively, of May 21.

The Englewood inspection will take place at Hamilton park, 72d street and Normal boulevard, and the Calumet unit will be reviewed on its own campus. Kelly, the last southwest side school to be inspected, will stage its review at 9 o'clock on May 22 on the school campus.

Plan Dress Rehearsals.

Most of the city's 27 public high school ROTC units will hold dress rehearsals before the federal inspection. Arrangements have been made at all schools to stage the inspection indoors—in the high school gymnasium, in most cases—in the event of rain.

The three ratings given by inspecting officers are "honor," "excellent," and "satisfactory." Fenger, Tilden, Englewood, and Kelly won honor ratings last year.

Englewood Lions to Hear Donald McGibeny Tuesday

Donald McGibeny, news commentator, will be the second speaker on the Englewood Lions club forum series. He will be at Englewood High school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday evening.

3 LAWSUITS, NO PAY PAY DAYS TANGLE VOTERS

Stickney Puzzle Up for Ballot Tuesday.

Confronted with 20 candidates for 5 offices, a rising crescendo of complaints against payless village pay days, and three lawsuits against the municipality, voters will go to the polls in the village of Stickney Tuesday to elect three trustees, a village clerk, and a village president.

The election will not improve the village's financial plight, which last spring caused a federal judge to order a special tax levy to retire defaulted bonds, but it is expected to break a stalemate in village politics.

The stalemate dates back to 1939 when one member of the six man village board quit the camp of President William Loeffler and joined a three man opposition bloc on the board. This gave the anti-Loeffler forces a 4 to 2 majority in the conduct of village affairs.

Hit a Stone Wall.

Since then the pro-Loeffler trustees have not been able to get anything—including village pay rolls—past the anti-Loeffler trustees, and vice versa. When the anti-Loeffler trustees refused to pass appropriation ordinances submitted by the pro-Loeffler trustees, President Loeffler declared board meetings adjourned on the voice vote of his two supporters.

The four anti-Loeffler trustees, refusing to be adjourned, conducted what Loeffler has called "rump sessions" and voted to pay the village's bills and salaries. Village Clerk William J. Svolba, who was elected as a Loeffler supporter, but is now running for reëlection on an opposition ticket, recorded all the proceedings in the board's minute book, but Loeffler refused to sign checks for payments authorized by the rump sessions.

Last fall, after hearings on three mandamus suits filed by village employés to force payment of their salaries, Superior Judge Francis B. Allegretti negotiated a partial settlement of their differences whereby Loeffler agreed to sign village pay checks if the opposition would discontinue its rump sessions. Salaries were then paid to the village police matron, janitor, and other litigants until November.

Suits Still Pending.

The mandamus suits are still pending in Superior court, with the next hearing set for April 21— six days after the election.

Meanwhile Loeffler, who blames the opposition forces for the payless pay days, is campaigning for reëlection on the Lower Taxes-Good Government ticket. Running with him are Edward V. Cutshaw for village clerk, and Charles Hadac, Jerry Cibulka, and Jerry Prokopec for village trustees.

The anti-Loeffler party, which blames Loeffler for the payless pay days, is running Edward C. Kabella, former village clerk and president, for the presidency. With Kabella on the Independent Citizens' party ticket are William J. Svolba, the incumbent clerk, and Emil Kovarik, Thomas Kalina Sr., and Frank E. Kohout for trustees. Kovarik is one of the four anti-Loeffler trustees on the present board.

The other three anti-Loeffler trustees are holdovers on the board.

Other Tickets Offered.

The other factions in the four way race, the Economy party and Regular party, are running full slates in opposition to both the Loeffler and Kabella groups.

Edward C. Janosky, a former police magistrate, is seeking the presidency on the Economy ticket. His running mates are Joseph Jaros for clerk, and James Ruscitto, Alex Stack, and Jerry J. Nemecek for trustees.

Running with Harry J. Voelker, candidate for president on the Regular party ticket, are Henry F. Trojka for clerk, and Harry G. Miller, John Pahis Jr., and Rudolph Krejci for trustees.

To many voters the mystery of village politics is "What makes pro-Loeffler and anti-Loeffler trustees?"

Mr. Loeffler has an answer to that. "It's purely a political situation."

Help Easter Seal Campaign

Pupils at the Gompers School for Crippled Children, 12302 South State street, do their bit toward working on the Easter Seal campaign which is the annual fund raising drive for the benefit of the crippled. The youngsters send each other Easter cards stamped with the seals, and Gompers boys, dressed as little mailmen, make the deliveries. Robert Morris, tenders a set of seals to Violet Zorich. Dennis Boersma is the lad in the chair, and Richard Dominic, standing behind him, smiles his approval of the whole thing. Gompers boys and girls have raised $100 by selling seals. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

11 DRAFT AREAS PASS 1,000 MARK IN SERVICE CALL

North Side Board No. 72 Reaches 1,342.

Eleven of the 151 local draft boards in Chicago by midnight last Tuesday had reached order numbers of 1,000 or over in supplying draftees to the army, examination of the figures revealed. This study does not take into account volunteers, who are inducted as they appear, regardless of their order numbers.

One board, No. 72 in the 47th ward, reached No. 1,342 in filling its April quota. The number is held by Earl Dall, 4913 North Ashland avenue, whose original national draft lottery number was in the 4,000's. Area No. 72 is bounded roughly by Clark street on the east, Foster avenue on the north, Damen and Lincoln avenues on the west, and Montrose avenue on the south.

The other boards that have passed the 1,000 mark are Nos. 6, 12, 15, 28, 29, 41, 45, 53, 57, and 69.

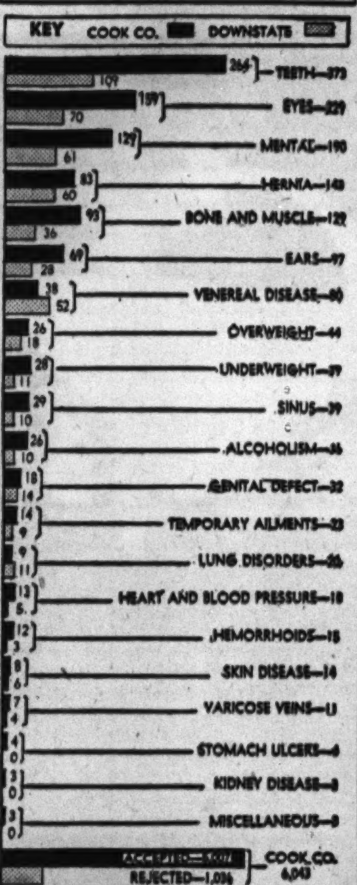
Up to April 1, the draft records show, 3,981 or 40 per cent of the 9,736 men inducted from Cook county were volunteers.

In an effort to encourage more voluntary enlistments, the Illinois department of the American Legion is sponsoring a contest among local boards, according to Paul G. Armstrong, state director of the draft.

Leaders among the Chicago boards as of April 1, and the totals of volunteers and inductions were:

Board No. 3, 35 volunteers, or 87 per cent of its total of 40 inductions; No. 85, 59 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 84 inductions; No. 121, 39 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 56 inductions, and No. 149, 43 volunteers, or 68 per cent of its 63 inductions.

Draft Rejections



This chart shows the reasons for 1,554 rejections among the 9,479 men examined by army physicians at the Chicago induction depot during March and draws a comparison between the Cook county figures and those for the rest of the state. Two Cook county men were rejected for every one downstate. Of the 80 venereal cases discovered, 65 per cent were from downstate. For the state as a whole, 16 per cent of the men sent by local boards were rejected at the induction station, as against 17.2 per cent in February and 18.5 per cent in January.

WAR OBJECTING DRAFTEES FIND GOING IS ROUGH

One Class Gets No Wage and Pays Board.

men in the first group may be assigned to service in such noncombative branches of the military forces as the medical, engineering or quartermaster corps. They cannot be compelled to bear arms or take instructions in their use.

Must Pay Own Way.

Those in the second group are placed in Class 4E and are subject to conscription for "civilian work of national importance," such as soil conservation or forestry. They must live in specially set up camps, away from their families. They not only serve without pay or other benefits accorded ordinary conscripts, but they must pay the government $35 a month for room, board and other services.

Under selective service laws, a man claiming to be a conscientious objector registers under the draft just as any other. In addition to his questionnaire, however, he must fill out a special form giving complete information in substantiation of his claims. In this form [No. 47], the government seeks to determine the genuineness of the registrant's objections.

Thereafter the registrant follows the regular draft channel. The local board can consider his claim as a conscientious objector only if it finds, after his physical examination, that he is eligible for Class 1 [those in service or fit for general or limited military service]. If he is found to be eligible for a lower classification, his claim is ignored.

Appeal Is Permitted.

If placed in Class 1, the conscientious objector can appeal, within five days after his classification. The appeal board then determines, before it can give weight to his objection, whether he should be placed in a deferred class. If not, it takes up his "C. O." claim.

The board's first step in this event is to turn the case over to the department of justice for full investigation and recommendation. The federal investigators must hold a hearing on the character and good faith of the claimant, and then advise the appeal board.

The justice department, if it approves the claim, recommends whether the registrant should be assigned to noncombatant military service or to civilian work of a national character. If noncombatant service is indicated, the letter O is placed by the appeal board after the registrant's classification. If civilian work is recommended, the man is placed in Class 4E.

Merely to claim that one is opposed to bearing arms against one's fellow men is not enough. The selective service act specifies that an objector must oppose participation in war "by reason of religious training and belief."

Inquiry Is Exhaustive.

Form 47 inquires deeply into the registrant's past actions and beliefs in order to help draft officials make up their minds whether he is shamming or not. Unless he has a pretty convincing record to substantiate his claim of anti-war scruples, he is in for disappointment.

Several religious organizations have begun work on the establishment of civilian camps for men of their faiths who claim to be conscientious objectors. Most of these groups plan to pay the per capita expenses of their followers serving in the camps.

These establishments still await acceptance by the government. The draft service of the men involved will not begin officially until they have been formally accepted into the government program.

DAWN SERVICES WILL USHER IN EASTER ON RADIO

The Mutual network will carry the pontiff's message and blessing at the time given, but W-G-N will record the program and rebroadcast it at 11:30 this morning.

Tipped off by fashion experts that Easter hats will be wilder and woolier than ever this year, W-G-N will bring a 15 minute Easter hat parade to the air between 12:30 and 12:45 p. m. today.

India Moffett, society editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Rea Seeger, TRIBUNE fashion editor, will be the W-G-N hat critics. They will post themselves near St. Chrysostom's church on the near north side and will describe the styles, particularly in hats, they see as the people emerge from the church.

Announcer Charles Victor, heard regularly on the Chicago at Night and Citizens of Tomorrow programs, will join Mrs. Moffett and Miss Seeger in a three way discussion of the Easter bonnets. Victor will express the masculine point of view. The W-G-N mobile unit will be used for this broadcast.

BRACE BEEMER RESUMES ROLE OF LONE RANGER

Takes Place of Graser, Killed in Accident.

Brace Beemer, who is resuming the rôle of the Lone Ranger he originated nine years ago, fits the part of the radio hero perfectly. He is an expert horseman and his war record proves him a hero in fact as well as in fiction.

Brace Beemer.

The Lone Ranger is heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System at 4:30 p. m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Opening of the baseball season will cause a switch in time next week.

Beemer has taken the Lone Ranger part once more because of the death of Earle Graser, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday.

Beemer was born in Mount Carmel, Ill., 38 years ago. He joined the army at the age of 14, when he was able to convince officers he was much older because of his size. He is tall [6 feet 3 inches] and weighs 200 pounds.

Beemer served in France with the 150th Field Artillery, Rainbow division. He was wounded in the fighting in the Argonne sector and again in the Luneville sector. He was awarded the Military Order of the Purple Heart, created by George Washington. Beemer went to WXYZ on Jan. 6, 1930.

W-G-N PROGRAM SHOWS VALUES OF DEMOCRACY

Each Saturday at 10 a. m. W-G-N broadcasts an historical quiz program which Chicago educators and historical society officials believe is of value in illustrating to the youth of the middle west the social advantages to be derived from life under a democratic form of government. Entitled "Acree's High School Aces," the quiz has featured honor students of Chicago's high schools answering questions about United States history, prepared by L. Hubbard Shattuck, director of the Chicago Historical society.

This is the general plan of the quiz broadcasts: Each week four boys—one from each of four different high schools—appear on the program to answer questions concerning American history. The questions are prepared under the direction of Mr. Shattuck, who also acts as judge on the program. Cash awards are given to the contestants. The one who correctly answers the most questions receives $10, next place winner gets $5, third, $3, and fourth, $2. In addition to Mr. Shattuck's questions, puzzlers from the listeners are propounded to members of the visible audience. The listeners whose questions are used receive $10. Chuck Acree acts as master of ceremonies. The show is broadcast from the Palace theater.

LOVE WILL SING ON CHICAGOLAND HOUR SATURDAY

Col. McCormick to Speak on W-G-N Hour.

Mark Love, W-G-N basso, will be featured in three solos and in a medley with the W-G-N chorus on the Chicagoland hour over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m. next Saturday.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Love expects to appear Saturday despite the fact that he is suffering from a broken ankle. He will make his way to the W-G-N studios with the aid of crutches.

His featured solo will be Mendelssohn's "I'm a Roamer." He also will sing Wagner's "Evening Star" from "Tannhäuser," "Grandfather's Clock" by Work, and parts of a Stephen Foster medley with the W-G-N Ensemble including "My Dark Virginny Bride," "Gentle Annie," "Old Black Joe," and "Glendy Burke."

Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N Concert orchestra in "The Angelus" from Massenet's "Scenes Pittoresque"; Bizet's "Farandole" from "L'Arlesienne Suite"; a waltz by Strauss, "Merry Old Vienna"; Schubert's "Moment Musicale," and Delibes' "Czardas" from "Coppelia Suite."

The W-G-N chorus will be featured in one number, the old Irish folk melody, "Oft in the Stilly Night," often attributed to Sir Thomas Moore.

BASEBALL CHIEFS TO BROADCAST ON W-G-N PREVIEW

W-G-N and the Mutual network will herald the opening of the baseball season with a special broadcast from 7:45 to 8 tomorrow night. Featured on the show will be Leslie M. O'Connor, representing Judge K. M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner; William Harridge, president of the American league, and Ford Frick, head of the National league. Also on the program will be leading members of the world champion Cincinnati Reds and players from the Detroit Tiger team.

'ARSENIC, OLD LACE' STARS TO PLAY ON IN CHICAGO TONIGHT

Eric Von Stroheim, Helen Twelvetrees, Effie Shannon, and Laura Hope Crews, stars of "Arsenic and Old Lace," now at the Grand Opera house, will appear in a radio adaptation of the comedy on In Chicago Tonight from 7:30 to 8 p. m. next Thursday.

Eric Von Stroheim.

The Russell Crouse-Howard Lindsay production, which has been running on Broadway for five months, has been called the funniest play of the season by critics.

The story concerns two sweet old ladies who like to put old, lonely men out of their troubles with a tasty glass of poisoned elderberry wine. Effie Shannon and Laura Hope Crews take these two rôles as the Brewster sisters, Abby and Martha. Von Stroheim takes the part of the brother, Jonathan Brewster, who, by plastic surgery, has his face changed to look like Eric Von Stroheim.

All four have been featured in many stage plays and motion picture productions. The adaptation will be by Walter Gould, assisted by Fran Coughlin. William A. Bacher will take charge of production. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra, and the chorus under the direction of Robert Trendler, will provide the music.

FUTURE CITIZENS HOUR MOVES TO 7:30 P. M. TUESDAY

The Citizens of Tomorrow program on W-G-N will salute Senn High school at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday. This is a new hour for Citizens of Tomorrow. Previously it has been aired at 4:30 p. m. Tuesdays. More than 600 Senn students will be in the W-G-N studios to witness the broadcast. The school glee club of 50 voices, under the direction of Dr. Samuel Burkholder, will sing two school songs and two other numbers.

David M. Davidson, principal, will speak briefly. He will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, member of the Tribune editorial staff, who takes the rôle of master of ceremonies on the program.

Special guests will be Dr. John W. Bell, district superintendent of the Chicago high schools; Harry Mess, assistant principal at Senn; Mrs. Mary E. Feuchtinger, president of the Senn PTA; Robert Markus, commander of American Legion post No. 121, and Harry Kalven, Senn graduate and prominent Chicago attorney.

The glee club will sing "The Senn Football Song," the "Twenty-Third Psalm," "The Marching Song," and Senn's "Alma Mater Song," composed by Dr. Burkholder.

EASTER COLORED BY TRADITIONS OF OLD WORLD

bers of the various sokols carried out the duty.

The celebration of Easter began at 7:30 o'clock last night with a Resurrection service. The cloth, which covers a statue of the risen Lord, is removed at this service and the triumphal ceremony begins.

The Slovaks keep the custom of having the Easter foods blessed. Children began carrying in their baskets for blessings at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The custom requires that the baskets contain baked ham, kolacky [buns], colored eggs, and some salt. Other foods may be added, but tradition doesn't require more.

The Poles also keep the blessing custom. According to the Rev. Bernard Sokolowski of Sacred Heart, this was "originally to assure themselves that on the feast of Easter no work—preparing food—would be done on Easter day."

Reasons for Blessing Food.

He gives the reasons for blessing the food as follows: "All food is from God. Food is to help us lead good lives. The Lenten fast is kept from religious motive, and therefore, on Easter, the day when the Lenten season ends, it is becoming that the food should be blessed."

The blessing takes place on Holy Saturday, as among the Slovaks, and the children carry the baskets to the church. As a rule, there is only a limited portion of food in the basket —that is, representative food. This includes bread, butter, ham, eggs, sausage, salt, and homemade cake.

Father Sokolowski says: "Upon returning from church on Easter morning the entire family partakes of the blessed food. Each one merely takes a morsel of each different food. This is done according to seniority, father, mother, eldest child, and so on. Easter greetings and wishes are expressed as part of the ceremony."

RALLY OF 1,000 WILL AID LITTLE HEART PATIENTS

La Rabida Benefit Is Set for April 22.

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the annual luncheon, bridge party and fashion show for the benefit of 46 year old La Rabida sanitarium in Jackson park on April 22 at the Palmer House. The affair is being sponsored by the senior board and junior auxiliary of the convalescent home, which is one of seven institutions in the United States devoted to caring for needy rheumatic heart patients.

The sanitarium is open to patients between 4 and 12 years old. Since "prolonged rest, bodily and mentally, is the most important curative measure" in the treatment of such children, the building is designed for maximum peace and comfort. Sixty patients is the present capacity, according to Miss Esther Anderson, superintendent, altho there is room enough for 100 with additional financial aid.

Stay Lasts Months.

Children are admitted on recommendation of accredited hospitals, social service departments or physicians. Most of them remain in bed continuously and the average stay necessary is from five to nine months. Instruction corresponding to the eight elementary grades is given daily by teachers.

The original sanitarium, which was a replica of the famous La Rabida of Palos, Spain, was built for the World's Fair of 1893. At the close of the fair the South Park commissioners granted the request of the Spanish consul to save the building for the use of needy sick babies in Chicago during the summer.

Woman's Board Formed.

After a woman's board was formed in 1896 the work was continued for 21 years. When the building became dilapidated in 1918 patients were cared for in St. Luke's hospital and in Hahnemann hospital, where infantile paralysis cases were accepted. Between 1922 and 1929 the board used the Stockyards Day nursery, 4758 South Marshfield avenue, and part of the Woodlawn hospital.

In 1930, when the South Park commissioners offered a site for a new convalescent home on the lake not far from the old one, the woman's board asked for financial assistant for the first time. On Oct. 18, 1932, the newly built structure was formally opened. Since then the junior auxiliary, consisting of young women, and the men's foundation were organized to help in maintaining the home.

On Senior Board.

Officers of the senior board are Mrs. Clifford G. Roe, president; Mrs. Harry Culver, 1st vice president; Mrs. L. E. Harmon, 2d vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Lindsay, recording secretary; Mrs. Irma Molt, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Work, treasurer, and Mrs. Adele Martin, auditor. Mrs. Frank K. Hoover is perpetual honorary trustee.

Officers of the junior auxiliary are Mrs. William J. Welsh, president; Mrs. John I. Duffy, and Mrs. David Jennings, 1st vice presidents; Mrs. Herbert Roney, 2d vice president; Mrs. Clyde S. Benham, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. I. Foley, recording secretary; Miss June MacArthur, treasurer, and Mrs. William J. Frazier, publicity chairman.

The executive committee of the men's foundation consists of S. E. Thomason, president; Carl Greenwold, secretary, and Joseph Grayson, treasurer.

Three Little Maids from College

Yum-Yum, Pitti-Sing, and Peep-Bo, the happy three little maids from school in the Chicago Teachers' college production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" remain young American co-eds despite kimonos, fans, and flowers in their hair. And as co-eds, they are, left to right: Miss Jessie Sivyer, Miss Nesta Jacob, and Miss Jacqueline Cusack. "The Mikado," being presented by the college a cappella choir at 8:15 o'clock Thursday and Friday evenings in the college auditorium, will go on tour next week. The players will stop in Detroit, Toledo, New York, Washington, D. C., and other eastern cities on the choir's annual good will trip.

One Owner Turns Garage Into Playroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Double and triple evidence is all around us these days that no spot is "hopeless" when it comes to renovation, and that few spots around a house exist which cannot have their original purpose in life drastically changed—if the owner so desires.

As a case in proof of just this one home owner looked at his down at the heels garage and decided he would convert it into an up to the minute recreation room.

An insulating wall board was used for the walls and ceilings; the type of wall board which is well worth looking into when one is considering ways and means of home improvements.

If you would have a "little more quiet, please!" in your house, such insulation boards will help to give it to you.

They have not the soundproofing effect of materials designed expressly to eliminate noise, but they do have a sound subduing value.

Acts Like a Carpet.

Give a room an insulating board ceiling, for example, and you will deaden the noise to a degree comparable to that resulting from carpeting a bare floor.

These insulation boards, which are known in building and remodeling parlance as "structural or rigid insulation," have other assets to warrant study of them. Besides their ability to retard the passage of heat, and to subdue sounds arising within a room as well as transmission of noise from one room to another, they come in new colors and surface textures, as an accepted interior finish for the walls and ceiling of any room in the house.

These predecorated insulating boards can be applied to provide patterns of interest and charm, and in the course of the remodeling there is a minimum of confusion and overturn, fuss, and bother. The boards come to your home in sizes and shapes ready for quick application.

How They're Applied.

In remodeling old rooms, insulating boards can be applied directly over existing wall surfaces, usually on furring strips. In new construction they are applied to the studs in the dry wall manner.

If you are checking on boards for an interior finish you will see building boards, plank, and tile boards.

In some cases the planks are run around the walls horizontally to harmonize with the lines of modern furnishings. There also are insulating planks in random widths to provide a nice background for Colonial spirited rooms. Or if you have some traditional 18th century room the plank can be beveled to resemble pilasters or columns, with prepared mouldings in classic Greek key designs.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, April 14.

Wrap trunks of trees with burlap or specially prepared paper to prevent borers and other pests from injuring the trunk and to prevent injury from the sun. Collect all egg masses and destroy them. Spray perennials early; use Bordeaux mixture on the ground around the plants and later spray the plants at intervals of 10 days.

Do not roll the lawn when it is spongy and wet, for footprints will show and soil stick to the roller. Pot or transplant house plants now.

Tuesday, April 15.

Straighten up labels and replace with new all that need labeling. There is nothing quite as satisfactory as an accurately labeled garden. Do not uncover beds too soon, for a late frost may injure the young growths. If the mulch is heavy, loosen it and draw some of it away from the plants, but leave it for sudden use.

Wednesday, April 16.

Remove water sprouts from fruit trees. Trim hedges before they make too much growth. Thin out crowded shrubs or the whole group will not do well. If the group needs to be rearranged, do it at once or as soon as the ground can be worked. Cut out old wood and prune back the young growth about one-third.

Thursday, April 17.

Cacti are now active and may be transplanted. Use a soil consisting of garden loam and sand in about equal amounts. Do not plant in too large pots and use plenty of drainage. After danger from frost plunge the pots in a well drained spot in the garden. A bit of shade will help, but not dense shade. It is a good place for the Christmas cactus during the summer.

Friday, April 18.

Cut back killed plants on hedge row. This applies to privet hedges especially, for some plants kill during certain winters. Make an application of food along both sides of the row. Many hardy annuals can be sown outdoors now. These include the petunia, calendula, four o'clock, zinnia, and others. Half hardy annuals, such as the ageratum, verbena, phlox drummondi, should be sown in the hotbed for protection.

Saturday, April 19.

In the vegetable garden asparagus, rhubarb, and horseradish may be divided and transplanted. A few plants of rhubarb is sufficient for a family and the leaves are ornamental for some time. They are gross feeders. Asters can be sown early in the house, but the young plants need to be hardened off before planting in the open ground. Handle vegetable plants similarly.

'M'GEE' ADOPTS A NEIGHBORHOOD OF TAG ALONGS

Officer Provides Sports for His 'Family.'

[PICTURE ON PAGE 1.]

He may be Officer Harold Gamble to the Chicago park district police force, but he's just "MeGee" to the kids along his beat on Garfield boulevard from Leavitt to Loomis. That is, the beat is Leavitt to Loomis when he's on the day shift. When he works nights, he swings along from Leavitt to Racine avenue. He's had the beat since Feb. 1, 1939, except for six months he was transferred to Marquette park. But he managed to get back to the old neighborhood again this winter, and now both he and the kids who walk the beat with him are happy.

The kids range in age from toddlers up. McGee can't stop to play with them when he's on duty, but the kids figure there's no ordinance against tagging along. So they tag.

No Place for Play.

It all began when Officer Gamble, a blue-eyed, handsome young fellow stepped out smartly along his first beat after breaking in along South Park way and working traffic downtown. He noticed that the youngsters played in the parkway that divides opposing lanes of traffic. "That's dangerous, you know," he explains. "And I'd no more than get them chased off the parkway on one end of my beat than they were playing at the other end, I worried plenty, so I started to figure."

To date, Gamble's figuring has netted an improved playground at St. Basil's school, Garfield boulevard and Honore street, the Catholic grammar school basketball championship, baseball teams, volley ball teams, badminton players, ping pong, and roller skating. And, of course, the permanent name of McGee, which should be explained.

Gamble isn't Irish, but he's a policeman, so the kids have made an Irishman of him. When he first went on his beat, they used to ask him to tell him about how many bandits he'd killed, what narrow escapes he'd had. He turned them off until one day he decided to give them a hair raiser that would last a long time. He said, "Did I ever tell you about the time I held off the 10 guys single handed?"

And one youngster looked up scornfully and said, "Cut it out, McGee," and all the youngsters walked away. He's been McGee ever since.

Finds Baseball Coach.

But Gamble or McGee, his devotion to the youngsters goes on. He noticed that the St. Basil school playground needed renovating. McGee asked Father John Bennett's permission to use it. Granted, the policeman used his free hours to clean up. The youngsters helped, and then a WPA crew polished off the job. The 700 boys and girls in the school lacked an athletic program. So McGee began.

He started baseball, but he had to find a coach, because McGee has to work at coaching hours. Father Francis Lavin, curate of St. Basil's, qualified for that. Then, says McGee, "I had to figure out what the kids were going to play with and play in." A policeman isn't allowed to solicit funds, but Officer Gamble got permission from Chief Roger Shanahan to go around and sort of explain the program to likely contributors. Then somebody else dropped in to pick up the money. Thus equipment and uniforms materialized.

That was a beginning, but by autumn, the kids needed basketball, and McGee didn't think he could ask too often in the same place. So he went north to Davis square and asked Joe Meegan of the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council for standards, and they were provided. And finally, McGee thought of the girls. He decided he should do something about them, and he further decided that that something could be volleyball.

Anonymous Donor Helps.

An anonymous donor supplied the basketball uniforms. Bill Hunt, a former Leo High school basketball star, volunteered to coach, and McGee "borrowed" the use of Sherman and Gage park gyms for his young players.

When volleyball gave out for the girls, he put up badminton courts in the old St. Basil's school building. Last winter the boys had a boxing show, and more than 100 took part. So McGee became conscience stricken about the girls again and added ping pong tables to their equipment.

Despite his efforts he realized that there were still some youngsters not benefitting from anything. And now he has a roller skating program. The motor coach company gives him a rate and so does the Planet rink on Racine avenue. One hundred youngsters get the motor coach ride and two hours of skating for 17 cents apiece.

Trips Come Next.

Now McGee's gone in for education, and he's planning trips to the Field museum, the Art institute, and the Brookfield zoo. He hires high school boys and girls for guides.

McGee, a Catholic and an alumnus of St. Bernard's and Mount Carmel schools, says he wants the youngsters to understand that the trips are for everybody. "I'm afraid some of them may think that what I plan is just for Catholic boys and girls. It just happens that I began working in St. Basil's school because it was there, and I saw the need of the children."

Gamble was born and reared on the south side. He's been in the service for four years, and he's just turned 30 years old. He resides at 7804 Morgan street and in explaining that he isn't Irish himself points out that he married an Irish girl.

Aids Spring Dance

Miss Jane Bickle, 10437 Hale avenue, president of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, is assisting with plans for the organization's spring dance which will take place Friday evening in the Southmoor hotel Venetian room. Miss Marjorie Thomas, 1721 West 106th street, social chairman, has charge of the event.

LILACS AGAIN TO GLADDEN SHUT-INS

19 LAKE COUNTY TOWNS TO ELECT HEADS TUESDAY

Deerfield Also Votes on Liquor Sales.

BY JOHN HAYES.

Voters of three cities and sixteen villages in Lake county will go to the polls Tuesday to elect their officials for the next four years. There will be contested elections in all but four of these communities. One village will have an additional feature, a vote on local option.

Cities and villages having contests for one or more offices follow:

Barrington, Deerfield, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Gurnee, Highwood, Lake Zurich, Libertyville, Mundelein, North Chicago, Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, Wauconda, Winthrop Harbor, and Waukegan.

The unopposed slates are in Antioch, Bannockburn, Lake Bluff, and Lake Villa. Officials were elected in Lake Forest last Tuesday, while Highland Park and Zion, cities operating under the commission form of government, do not have elections this year. The referendum on local option will be in Deerfield.

Talcott vs. Wallin.

The paramount political encounter will be in Waukegan, the county seat of Lake county and the city of largest population. There are two complete tickets in the field, Republican and Democratic. A mayor, clerk, treasurer, and an alderman in each of seven wards are to be chosen.

Mayor Mancel Talcott, who has been twice elected, the first time in 1935 for a two year term and again in 1937 for a four year term, is seeking reëlection on the Republican ticket. The Democratic party standard bearer is Frank G. Wallin, present city clerk. Like Talcott, Wallin has been in office for six years.

Mayor Talcott was born in Waukegan on Feb. 20, 1890, and has always lived in this city. He is married and resides at 252 Stanley avenue. His father, the late S. Delano Talcott, an early resident of Lake county, who was born in a log cabin at Half Day, was twice elected state's attorney of Lake county.

Talcott is a graduate of the University of Illinois. He took a two year course at Kent College of Law in Chicago. When war was declared in 1917 he enlisted in the navy, and was on subchaser and destroyer duty. He was the first adjutant of Homer Dahringer post, American Legion, and served as post commander in 1921-'22. He has been chairman for 11 years of the national graves registration committee of the American Legion.

Former Postmaster

From 1922 to 1934 Talcott was postmaster of Waukegan. He has been a member of the American Red Cross since 1920, having been executive committee chairman for 19 years. He has been a member of the advisory board of the Salvation Army for 20 years. For some 25 years he has played a major part in Republican circles, in the city, county, district and nationally. He was sergeant at arms at the last Republican national convention.

He is making the campaign for reelection to a third term on his record.

Waukegan has always been the home of Frank Wallin, he being a descendant of one of the pioneer families of the community. He was born in Waukegan on June 26, 1895. His grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCall settled in the town of Little Fort, now Waukegan, in 1840.

Served in Navy.

Wallin was educated in the schools of Waukegan, thru high school and business college. He learned the machinist trade and was employed in a number of industrial firms in Waukegan and North Chicago as an expert machinist. He and his father, the late Otto Wallin, were in business in Waukegan for several years, operating an automobile tire and accessory establishment.

During the World War he joined the navy and was on active duty in this branch of the service for a period of two years and four months. He lives at 322 South Sheridan road with his wife and three children.

Wallin, a talented musician, has directed bands, small and large, since 1920. He was stage band director at a Waukegan theater from 1927 to 1935. He has been a member of the American Federation of Musicians, Waukegan local 284, for 28 years. He was a member of the board of directors of the Musicians union for several years and served three terms as president of the local, 1925 thru 1927.

Practical economy is the main plank in Wallin's program for mayor.

Others Seeking Office.

The other aspirants for offices in Waukegan follow:

City Clerk—Edward R. Holmberg [R.] and Paul Terrien [D.].

Aldermanic candidates—1st ward, Charles Navard [R.] and Anton Urban [D.]; 2d ward, Jacob R. Kyndberg [R] and Robert Sabonjian [D.]; 3d ward, Edward Plonien [R.] and Walter Archdale [D.]; 4th ward, Joseph S. Welch [R.] and Walter Hallen [D.]; 5th ward, Henry Berkquist [R.] and James C. O'Shea [D.]; 6th ward, Newton E. Finn [R.] and Harry A. Lange [D.]; 7th ward, Walter Tannahill [R.] and Thomas A. Hogan [D.].

Holmberg is now city treasurer and McDermott is deputy treasurer. Wor-

War Objecting Draftees Find Going Is Rough

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Conscientious objectors under selective service are finding that while any honest scruples they hold against war are being respected, their detour around combatant pursuits is a rather rocky one.

In fact, the objector at the outset is likely to find himself confronted with so many special provisions that only a deep conviction in his principles will give him the hardihood to see the thing thru.

Many a conscript in the Chicago area who first asked to be listed as a conscientious objector has changed his mind and requested some other classification upon learning what rigors his original stand subjected him to.

To begin with, the "C. O.," as he is known to the initiate, must convince a pretty skeptical lot of officials of his sincerity in declining to take up arms. That done, he must still make his contribution to the nation's defense or wartime effort.

Number Not Estimated.

No accurate estimate has yet been made of the number of conscientious objectors in the Chicago area. Up to April 1 only 12 men had based draft appeals on such grounds. Many others, however, had been granted special classification by their local boards because of religious scruples against war.

At the conscientious objectors' bureau, an advisory organization with headquarters at 740 Rush street, it was reported that the names of 600 men who sought classification as conscientious objectors had been received from the Great Lakes region. This same source said that for the nation as a whole, it is expected that 7,500 to 10,000 such men will have been listed by July 1, and that provisions must be made to handle upwards of 10,000 a year.

Conscientious objectors fall into two classes; those opposed merely to combatant service, and those who object to any sort of military service. The men in the first group may be assigned to service in such noncombative branches of the military forces as the medical, engineering or quartermaster corps. They cannot be compelled to bear arms or take instructions in their use.

Must Pay Own Way.

Those in the second group are placed in Class 4E and are subject to conscription for "civilian work of national importance," such as soil conservation or forestry. They must live in specially set up camps, away from their families. They not only serve without pay or other benefits accorded ordinary conscripts, but they must pay the government $35 a month for room, board and other services.

Under selective service laws, a man claiming to be a conscientious objector registers under the draft just as any other. In addition to his questionnaire, however, he must fill out a special form giving complete information in substantiation of his claims. In this form [No. 47], the government seeks to determine the genuineness of the registrant's objections.

Thereafter the registrant follows the regular draft channel. The local board can consider his claim as a conscientious objector only if it finds, after his physical examination, that he is eligible for Class 1 [those in service or fit for general or limited military service]. If he is found to be eligible for a lower classification, his claim is ignored.

Appeal Is Permitted.

If placed in Class 1, the conscientious objector can appeal, within five days after his classification. The appeal board then determines, before it can give weight to his objection, whether he should be placed in a deferred class. If not, it takes up his "C. O." claim.

The board's first step in this event is to turn the case over to the department of justice for full investigation and recommendation. The federal investigators must hold a hearing on the character and good faith of the

Double Feature in the Easter Parade

Twins Dorothy Jean (left) and Alice Jane Tracy are ready for the Easter parade. Their straw bonnets trimmed with ribbons and tiny flowers will vie with any Easter hat mother might wear. But the twins are more interested in the Easter bunnies and chicks some one gave them. Alice Jane even wonders if her bunny might be good to eat. They are the 2½ year old daughters of Mrs. Dorothy Tracy, 1431 Fargo avenue.

OUR TOWN

TWO eighth grade pupils of the Central school, Glencoe, are winners of silver and bronze medals in a recent essay contest on national unity. Gloria Piner, 13 years old, was awarded a silver medal for her essay, and Henry Newman, who is news editor of the school paper, won the bronze award.

Announcement was made last week that the first annual Lane High school alumni dance will be held Friday evening, May 16, at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Officers of the alumni group are Gene Cwik, president; Charles Dietz, Edward Lux, and George Selgrat, vice presidents; James Crowe, secretary; Elmer Larson, treasurer, and Frank Boege, sergeant at arms. Members of the dance committee are W. Edward Anderson, Roy Koop, George Matheis, Henry Schlosser, and Albert Metzger.

CLASSES in Red Cross home nursing will open tomorrow in two north shore suburbs. The courses, to be taught by a Red Cross nurse, will be held at the Glencoe Woman's club and at the Highland Park Community center. Instruction will cover care of babies and the aged, and personal and household hygiene.

Two Our Town cadets at St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis., have been promoted to sergeants. They are William Schwefer Jr., 939 Armitage avenue, and William Maute, 421 Melrose street.

William A. Forshee Jr., 850 Lake Shore drive, Culver Military academy student, recently was named corporal in the Rifles Honor guard, crack drill squad composed of 125 cadets at the school.

HIT tune of the week in classical music circles, as picked by the audience of the Illinois Symphony orchestra, is "Symphony No. 5" by Shostakovich. It will be played by popular request tomorrow evening by the orchestra, under the direction of Izler Solomon, at the Great Northern theater. Symphonies that were runners up in the voting by the audience also will be presented. They are Enesco's "Rumanian Rhapsody No. 1," Prokofieff's "Classical Symphony," and "Academic Festival Overture" by Brahms.

William J. Roberts, 1716 Isabella street, Wilmette, a student at Brown university, Providence, R. I., recently was appointed one of three managing editors of the university daily newspaper. He is a graduate of Evanston High school and winner of a John Hay scholarship.

JOYOUS EASTER MUSIC TO HAIL CHRIST ARISEN

North Side Services Open at Sunrise.

BY JUANITA DALY.

Easter services from sunrise until sunset today will attract thousands to north side and suburban churches. Beauty, in the graceful lilies banking the altars, in the sacred music sung by the choirs, will provide the setting for the story of the resurrection.

Catholic churches will hold low masses every hour beginning at 6 o'clock, climaxed with the solemn high mass at noon with special Easter music sung by a full choir. Smaller churches may have fewer low masses.

Two identical services of song, sermon and worship will be held at 9 and 11 o'clock this morning in the Evanston First Presbyterian church. Dr. Emory Wylie Luccock will preach on the word "Invincible." Easter music, arranged by Elias Arnold Bredin, organist and choirmaster, will include numbers by the high school choir, led by Miss Sadie Raferty; a chancel choir number, with a solo by Robert Long, tenor; Warren's "The Magdalene" by the quartet composed of Agatha Lewis, Elaine Dahlgren, Roy A. Schuessler and Mr. Long, and a solo by Miss Lewis.

Young People's Service.

The young people will hold a communion at 7 o'clock in the sanctuary, followed by breakfast. C. B. Macdonell's class of junior-senior boys will decorate the sanctuary with lilies and return them to members or deliver them to shut-ins afterward.

Evanston Second Presbyterian church will have a sunrise breakfast service at 6:30 o'clock for the young people and the morning worship at 11 o'clock. Dr. Frank M. Silsley will preach and Edgeley Woodman Todd will direct the adult choir and Mrs. Paul M. Pair the children's echo choir. Julian Stripe, tenor, and Margaret Lunn, contralto, will be the soloists.

Episcopal churches expect capacity throngs. Church of the Atonement, 5749 Kenmore avenue, will begin its services at 6 o'clock and climax with the solemn high pontifical mass at 11 o'clock, with Bishop Wallace E. Conkling of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago as preacher. Leo Sowerby will direct the music and Dr. Duncan H. Browne the Holy Communion services at St. James' church, Wabash avenue and Huron street.

Children's Service.

In addition to its 6, 7:30 and 11 o'clock services, All Saints church, 4550 North Hermitage avenue, will hold a children's service at 4 o'clock this afternoon. St. Luke's in Evanston will hold three morning services and a carol service, with music by the junior choir, at 4:30 o'clock.

Bishop Conkling will celebrate Holy Communion at 7 o'clock in the St. Matthew's, Evanston, and solemn choral Eucharist will be at 11:15 o'clock. St. Mark's in the same suburb will have Holy Communion at 6 and 7:30 o'clock, children's Eucharist at 9 o'clock, the choral Eucharist at 11 o'clock, and close with an evensong at 5 o'clock.

Christ church, Winnetka, will have services at 7, 10, 11 and 4:30 o'clock, with sermons by the rector, the Rev. Ashley Gerhard. The Rev. Herbert W. Prince, pastor of Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, will conduct a festival communion at 11 o'clock and a children's festival at 4 o'clock. St. Peter's church, 621 Belmont avenue, will offer Holy Communion at 6, 7:30 and 9 o'clock and choral Eucharist with a sermon at 11 o'clock.

Meeting at Sunrise.

Albert Hachmeister, former president of the Northern District Epworth league, will preach at the 6:30 o'clock sunrise service arranged by the young people of Joyce Memorial

BY CHARLES ROBERTS.

Pine wood, wrapping paper, and mucilage—the three standard ingredients of most old fashioned kites, and a good many new fangled ones—were at a premium in 88 park fieldhouses and thousands of Chicagoland homes last week as an estimated 6,000 kite enthusiasts began construction of craft they will enter in the third annual Chicago Tribune Kite contest.

Ten thousand kite builders and flyers of all ages are expected to be entered in the contest when registration closes at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in the fieldhouses. To enter the contest, kite flyers need only to fill out the entry blank appearing elsewhere in this section and take it to the nearest park fieldhouse.

Elimination contests will begin in some of the 88 parks tomorrow and continue thru April 26. By that date, each park will have chosen one contestant to complete in each of the seven events in the finals.

Contest Set for May 3.

The finals, a tournament of champions which annually attracts thousands of spectators, will be staged in the parking lot south of Soldiers' field, at 16th street and Columbus drive, on May 3. THE TRIBUNE will award silver trophies to each of the seven winners and the park district will award ribbons to the runners-up.

Kites of all sizes and descriptions—and fashioned out of silk, tissue paper, cambric, and bamboo as well as wrapping paper and pine wood—were under construction last week. As in the past, plane surface kites, box kites, and combinations of the two will be entered in all seven events of the contest.

Kites entered in the artistic and novelty events will be judged on flying performance as well as their appearance on the ground. In the hand-winding and, mechanical winding events, the flyers' dexterity at "reeling in" their kites on 75 yard strings will determine the winners. These events are sometimes know as "75 yard dashes."

Best for Spectators.

Two of the most interesting events from the spectator's point of view are the messenger and pulling power contests. In the messenger event, the first entrant to get a "message"—usually a conical or triangular shaped piece of paper—from the ground to his kite will be declared the winner. In the pulling contest, a spring scale will be hooked into each kite string at intervals to determine which one has the greatest pulling power.

Kites as large as 18 feet in diameter and with a pulling power of 80 to 100 pounds have been entered in this event in the past.

With 200 contestants registered and building kites, Pulaski park, at Blackhawk and Noble streets, led the city in registration last week.

The Preliminary Contests.

Dates for preliminary contests—in which all entrants must compete—were set at nine parks during the week. They are: Tuley park, 90th street and St. Lawrence avenue, April 19; Franklin, 14th place and South Kolin avenue, April 15; Samuel Gompers, 4224 Foster avenue, April 19; Portage, 4100 North Long avenue, April 23; Kilbourn, 3501 North Kilbourn avenue, April 23.

Wilson, 4630 Milwaukee avenue, April 22; Norwood, 5801 North Natoma avenue, April 18; Chase, Leland and Ashland avenues, April 21; Indian Boundary, Lunt avenue and Rockwell street, April 22, and Waveland fieldhouse in Lincoln park, Addison street and the lake, April 24.

DePaul Academy Dad's Club Is to Hold Cabaret Party

De Paul Academy Dads' club will hold its second annual cabaret party Saturday evening in the school auditorium, 2229 Sheffield avenue. Members of the arrangements committee include Dr. Daniel Potter, Al Comyn, Stephen R. Loughman, Frank L. Fischer, Walter Herbster, Dennis Ganey, George Jarolin, Paul Slivinski, Carl Dietrich, and John Horan.

FLOWER GUILD OPENS DRIVE TO SHARE BLOOMS

Fragrant Bouquets to Go to Thousands.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Mrs. Stanley D. Grace.

Thousands of fresh lilac blooms will be placed at the bedsides of shut-ins in the city's hospitals and institutions this spring in the 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign. The campaign is sponsored jointly by the Chicago Plant Flower, and Fruit guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

With warmer weather and sunshine hurrying the arrival of the blooms, officials of the guild already have begun work on the campaign. The delicate blossoms are gathered from all over Chicagoland and are brought to the city for distribution to hospitals and institutions. Detailed plans are necessary to see that the lilacs arrive fresh and dewy and are promptly delivered. Last year 82,400 bouquets of lilacs were distributed among 147 hospitals, settlements and other institutions in the city.

81 Clubs Assist.

More than 2,000 members of the 81 garden clubs affiliated with the guild coöperate to make the gathering of the lilacs possible. Last year the lilacs brought cheer to more than 23,000 shut-ins.

Each year the guild and the Tribune act as the link between the floral beauty of spring and the thousands of bedridden people in the city. Blooms are gathered from thousands of home yards, gardens, parks and estates in the Chicagoland area. They are sent to the charity wards and sick rooms of hospitals and institutions where the patients rarely see fresh flowers.

The work of gathering the blossoms and shipping them is done entirely by voluntary workers who each year give freely of their time to see that the less fortunate people of the city are brought a breath of spring.

Days to Be Named.

As in the past, there probably will be two dates set for the distribution of the bouquets. The dates have not been chosen, but will be determined when the guild officials feel that the majority of the lilacs in the suburban areas have reached their peak. This depends largely on the weather. Lilac days generally have fallen between May 10 and 20.

The lilacs are shipped free to Chicago on suburban trains. Last year 62 trains on nine suburban railroads brought the blooms into terminal stations where they were picked up for distribution by Tribune trucks.

Started in 1929, the "Share Your Lilacs" campaign has grown to be one of the largest and most unique community enterprises of its kind in the United States.

The work of gathering the lilacs is delegated to 10 division chairmen of the guild who will be under the general supervision of Mrs. Stanley D. Grace of Highland Park, general chairman.

Chairmen of Divisions.

Each railroad line or division has a separate chairman who is in charge of the garden clubs served by that railroad. They supervise the committees of the various garden clubs that assemble the lilacs and load them on the trains.

The chairmen are:

Mrs. Joseph E. Callender, Calamus lodge, St. Charles—Aurora and Elgin railway.

Mrs. K. Edgar Tholin, 4541 Forest avenue, Downers Grove—Burlington.

Mrs. Robert J. Pabodie, 104 Oak street, Maywood—Galena division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Lloyd G. Rees, 1636 Forest avenue, Wilmette—Southern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Herschel Missey, 7514 South Ridgeland avenue, Chicago—Illinois Central.

Mrs. Warner R. Nelson, 1062 Bluff road, Glencoe—Northern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Other Leaders Named.

Mrs. Albert W. Torbet, Bannockburn, Deerfield—North Shore line.

Mrs. William O. Korten, 11301 South Lothair avenue, Chicago—Rock Island railway.

Mrs. Clyde B. Kennard, 1008 Greenview avenue, Des Plaines—Eastern Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Fred A. Record, Barrington—Western Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Working under the direction of the division chairmen will be the president and guild chairman of the 81 garden clubs. A complete list of these workers will be published later.

Sorority to Dance.

Rho Delta Pi sorority of De Paul university will hold its dance this evening at the Lake Shore club, 850 Lake Shore drive.

Senn Students Keep Abreast of Modern Times in Their Classes

The molding of plastics is only one of the many modern subjects taught at Senn High school, 5900 Glenwood avenue, guest school on the "Citizens of Tomorrow" program to be heard at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday over W-G-N. John Wantuch, instructor, is shown pouring hydrochloric acid which is used in the molding process. Charles Wright (with saw), sophomore, is about to cut a slice of the already hardened plastic material, which is to be molded into useful articles.

IS FOR AMERICA FIRST.

As an active member of the Lincoln Park chapter of the America First committee, may I express my personal appreciation of the stand your paper takes against the insidious war mongering that is undermining our country. I congratulate you upon your courage to put the facts before the public—a public too befuddled with foreign propaganda to see and act sanely. Our America can only be saved if papers such as yours refuse to be muffled and continue to serve "America First." My congratulations for your grand work. Don't fail us!

ALICE H. MILLER,
2244 Cleveland avenue.

LONGEST MARRIED COUPLE.

I have read many golden wedding notices in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE, and I have seen several announcements of couples celebrating their 60th and even their 65th anniversaries. But never have I read of a couple celebrating a 75th wedding anniversary. It would be an interesting thing to find the longest married couple on the north side. The city ought to award them a medal.

If any one knows of a couple married for more than 70 years I wish he would write about it. I, for one, am interested in knowing. CURIOUS.

CIVIC PACE SETTERS.

The rest of the north side wards should take an example from the 47th ward. A committee there has been formed to plant flowers in vacant lots to beautify the community, and to cut the weeds all over the area, thus eliminating a great deal of hay fever suffering. Why can't this same plan be adopted in other north side communities? 48TH WARD RESIDENT.

'RIP SNORTERS,' OLD NEIGHBORS, TO HOLD REUNION

The Chicago Rip Snorters, city-wide organization composed of old friends who grew up in the same neighborhood, will hold the 1941 reunion Friday evening at the North Side auditorium, 3730 North Clark street.

The club, which meets only once a year, was founded 18 years ago by Attorney Walter B. Prendergast, 155 North Clark street. It is composed of members who were neighbors in the vicinity of Sheffield and Webster avenues.

Field Apartment Players Rehearsing Wilde Comedy

Residents of the Marshall Field Garden apartments, 411 Blackhawk street, last week began rehearsals of Oscar Wilde's comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest" to be given Saturday evening, May 3, in the auditorium of the building. Members of the cast, all residents of the building, include Alice Alinder, Winifred Carr, Mildred Spitler, Emory Worthington, William Spitler, James Coultrap, Gladys Kennedy, Ken Seyfried, and John Carr.

BOYS PRACTICE HIGH NOTES FOR FEMININE PARTS IN A COMEDY

Douglas Wilson.

Lane High school boys who are still able to pitch their voices in high key have been called to do their part by the Mask and Shears club. They will play the feminine rôles in "You Can't Take It With You," to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday and Saturday night in the school auditorium, 2501 Addison street. Not only must the boys sound their parts but they have been learning to walk in high heels.

Mrs. Dorothy Weber, sponsor, is directing the play, assisted by Miss Dorothy Popp. Douglas Wilson, a senior and president of the club, will play the rôle of Grandpa, and Harold Matthies, secretary and treasurer, will portray the Russian dancing instructor. Others in the cast are Harry Maiberger, Harold Rhein, Richard McMillan, Hilary Anderson, Richard Lucas, George Lupo, Richard Brandt, Edward Beamish, Donald Gibe, Richard Aspril, Dick Johnson, Ted Pladis, Charles Gunther, Robert Haley, and Kenneth Stearn.

Proceeds will be used by the athletic and music departments. These semester productions are the only means the school has of raising funds for extra equipment, music, or trips to participate in contests.

SENN TEACHING KEEPS UP WITH MODERN TRENDS

Plan Will Be Sketched on W-G-N Tuesday.

BY DAVID ANDERSON.

There is an unwritten motto at Senn High school, 5900 Glenwood avenue: "A school is as modern as the subjects it teaches."

You have a better idea of how modern this 28 year old school is when you consider its curriculum. There is a class, for example, in plastics, a tough chemical substance which is being used today in the making of practically everything from bracelets to furniture, from steering wheels to buttons. And Senn is the only school in the city teaching the art of making plastics.

The school opened 28 years ago before its building was completed. Benjamin Franklin Buck, then at Lake View High school, was appointed principal. He brought to Senn a staff of a dozen handpicked Lake View teachers, a student body of 400 and some definite educational ideas.

Ideas Still Prevail.

Mr. Buck is retired now but his ideas are still in practice at Senn. He became famous in educational circles for his methods of selecting teachers. He insisted that teachers should have, in addition to a theorectical knowledge of their subjects, practical experience. He chose art teachers who were artists, drama teachers who had been on the stage in some capacity or other, and French teachers who had lived in France.

David M. Davidson became principal in 1928 after Mr. Buck moved up to the position of assistant superintendent of all Chicago public high schools. Mr. Davidson, wherever possible, follows out the Buck ideas.

One random example of Senn's theory plus practice type of teaching staff is to be found in the auto shop. Students there are taught auto mechanics by Jud Mitnick who has been teaching in high school auto shops for 15 years. Before he became a teacher he was a designing engineer for the new extinct Marmon auto company.

"Arts in Industry."

In February, Senn opened what it calls its Laboratory of Arts in Industry. Two hundred students take this course for the purpose of getting 12 different experiences in industry, all in one semester. The course is not designed to make students jacks of all trades, but, rather, to teach them enough about each subject so that they can make an intelligent vocational choice later in life.

It's a survey course divided into five departments: Graphic, which includes printing and etching; plastics, industry's latest development; transportation, the study of auto mechanics, Diesel engines and dynamos; metals, the working with foundry tools, and communications, a course which encompasses telephone, radio, and television.

More details of the operation of the school will be told over the air on radio station W-G-N Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Six hundred Senn students will take part in the studio "Citizens of Tomorrow" show which will be held at 4:30 in the afternoon. The show will be recorded at that time and played back over the air in the evening. Philip Maxwell of THE TRIBUNE staff will be master of ceremonies. Thus the students will be able to hear their own broadcast.

Runs on Single Shift.

The school is one of the few in the city that runs on a single shift. Students report at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and leave for the day at 3:30 in the afternoon. Senn has 4,600 students and a staff of 155 teachers.

Altho Senn has no formal subject in hospitality, nevertheless it is stressed at all times. Visitors are escorted thru the building by one or more Senn hostesses, 48 senior girls selected for their good manners and pleasing personalities. At least one hostess is on duty each period of the day.

Principal Davidson recently took a survey of the percentage of Senn students who go to college. He found that during the last three years 42 per cent of all enrolled freshmen will enter college for at least a year.

11 DRAFT AREAS PASS 1,000 MARK IN SERVICE CALL

Board 72 in 47th Ward Reaches No. 1342.

Eleven of the 151 local draft boards in Chicago by midnight last Tuesday had reached order numbers of 1,000 or over in supplying draftees to the army, examination of the figures revealed. This study does not take into account volunteers, who are inducted as they appear, regardless of their order numbers.

One board, No. 72 in the 47th ward, reached No. 1,342 in filling its April quota. The number is held by Earl Dall, 4913 North Ashland avenue, whose original national draft lottery number was in the 4,000's. Area No. 72 is bounded roughly by Clark street on the east, Foster avenue on the north, Damen and Lincoln avenues on the west, and Montrose avenue on the south.

The other boards that have passed the 1,000 mark are Nos. 6, 12, 15, 28, 29, 41, 45, 53, 57, and 69.

A total of 69 Chicago boards have filled their monthly quotas since induction started. They called up 48,507 registrants to find the 6,724 men who were acceptable to army physicians.

14 From Each 100.

This meant that only 14 of each 100 men examined qualified for immediate service, the other 86 falling into deferred classifications.

The table below shows the highest order number reached by each Chicago local board up to and including last Tuesday, exclusive of volunteers:

40 Per Cent Volunteer.

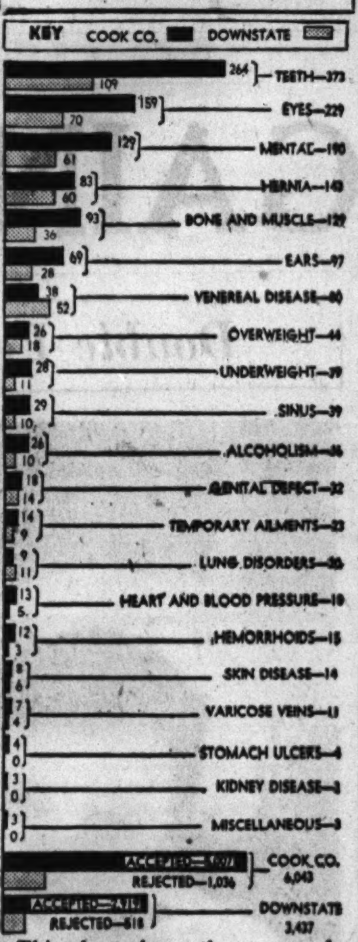
Up to April 1, the draft records show, 3,981 or 40 per cent of the 9,736 men inducted from Cook county were volunteers.

In an effort to encourage more voluntary enlistments, the Illinois department of the American Legion is sponsoring a contest among local boards, according to Paul G. Armstrong, state director of the draft.

Leaders among the Chicago boards as of April 1, and the totals of volunteers and inductions were:

Board No. 3, 35 volunteers, or 87 per cent of its total of 40 inductions; No. 85, 59 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 84 inductions; No. 121, 39 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 56 inductions, and No. 149, 43 volunteers, or 68 per cent of its 63 inductions.

Draft Rejections



This chart shows the reasons for 1,554 rejections among the 9,479 men examined by army physicians at the Chicago induction depot during March and draws a comparison between the Cook county figures and those for the rest of the state. Two Cook county men were rejected for every one downstate. Of the 80 venereal cases discovered, 65 per cent were from downstate. For the state as a whole, 16 per cent of the men sent by local boards were rejected at the induction station, as against 17.2 per cent in February and 18.5 per cent in January.

claimant, and then advise the appeal board.

The justice department, if it approves the claim, recommends whether the registrant should be assigned to noncombatant military service or to civilian work of a national character. If noncombatant service is indicated, the letter O is placed by the appeal board after the registrant's classification. If civilian work is recommended, the man is placed in Class 4E.

Form 47 inquires deeply into the registrant's past actions and beliefs in order to help draft officials make up their minds whether he is shamming or not. Unless he has a pretty convincing record to substantiate his claim of anti-war scruples, he is in for disappointment.

Several religious organizations have begun work on the establishment of civilian camps for men of their faiths who claim to be conscientious objectors. Most of these groups plan to pay the per capita expenses of their followers serving in the camps.

These establishments still await acceptance by the government. The draft service of the men involved will not begin officially until they have been formally accepted into the government program.

Civilian camps for the middle west have already been set up. One is in Michigan and three are in Indiana, which has an unusually large number of citizens belonging to religious sects opposed to war participation.

Members of 21 garden clubs along the north shore are invited to take a two day course in gardening this week at the Garden institute to be held in the Evanston Woman's club. FIND MANY USES FOR INSULATING BOARD IN HOME

One Owner Turns Garage Into Playroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Double and triple evidence is all around us these days that no spot is "hopeless" when it comes to renovation, and that few spots around a house exist which cannot have their original purpose in life drastically changed—if the owner so desires.

As a case in proof of just this one home owner looked at his down at the heels garage and decided he would convert it into an up to the minute recreation room.

An insulating wall board was used for the walls and ceilings; the type of wall board which is well worth looking into when one is considering ways and means of home improvements.

If you would have a "little more quiet, please!" in your house, such insulation boards will help to give it to you.

They have not the soundproofing effect of materials designed expressly to eliminate noise, but they do have a sound subduing value.

Acts Like a Carpet.

Give a room an insulating board ceiling, for example, and you will deaden the noise to a degree comparable to that resulting from carpeting a bare floor.

These insulation boards, which are known in building and remodeling parlance as "structural or rigid insulation," have other assets to warrant study of them. Besides their ability to retard the passage of heat, and to subdue sounds arising within a room as well as transmission of noise from one room to another, they come in new colors and surface textures, as an accepted interior finish for the walls and ceiling of any room in the house.

How They're Applied.

In remodeling old rooms, insulating boards can be applied directly over existing wall surfaces, usually on furring strips. In new construction they are applied to the studs in the dry wall manner.

If you are checking on boards for an interior finish you will see building boards, plank, and tile boards.

In some cases the planks are run around the walls horizontally to harmonize with the lines of modern furnishings. There also are insulating planks in random widths to provide a nice background for Colonial spirited rooms. Or if you have some traditional 18th century room the plank can be beveled to resemble pilasters or columns, with prepared mouldings in classic Greek key designs.

This WEEK in the GARDEN

Monday, April 14.

Wrap trunks of trees with burlap or specially prepared paper to prevent borers and other pests from injuring the trunk and to prevent injury from the sun. Collect all egg masses and destroy them. Spray perennials early; use Bordeaux mixture on the ground around the plants and later spray the plants at intervals of 10 days.

Tuesday, April 15.

Straighten up labels and replace with new all that need labeling. There is nothing quite as satisfactory as an accurately labeled garden. Do not uncover beds too soon, for a late frost may injure the young growths. If the mulch is heavy, loosen it and draw some of it away from the plants, but leave it for sudden use.

Wednesday, April 16.

Remove water sprouts from fruit trees. Trim hedges before they make too much growth. Thin out crowded shrubs or the whole group will not do well. If the group needs to be rearranged, do it at once or as soon as the ground can be worked. Cut out old wood and prune back the young growth about one-third.

Thursday, April 17.

Cacti are now active and may be transplanted. Use a soil consisting of garden loam and sand in about equal amounts. Do not plant in too large pots and use plenty of drainage. After danger from frost plunge the pots in a well drained spot in the garden. A bit of shade will help, but not dense shade. It is a good place for the Christmas cactus during the summer.

Friday, April 18.

Cut back killed plants on hedge row. This applies to privet hedges especially, for some plants kill during certain winters. Make an application of food along both sides of the row. Many hardy annuals can be sown outdoors now. These include the petunia, calendula, four o'clock, zinnia, and others. Half hardy annuals, such as the ageratum, verbena, phlox drummondi, should be sown in the hotbed for protection.

Saturday, April 19.

In the vegetable garden asparagus, rhubarb, and horseradish may be divided and transplanted. A few plants of rhubarb is sufficient for a family and the leaves are ornamental for some time. They are gross feeders. Asters can be sown early in the house, but the young plants need to be hardened off before planting in the open ground. Handle vegetable plants similarly.

19 LAKE COUNTY TOWNS TO ELECT HEADS TUESDAY

Deerfield Also Will Vote on Liquor Sales.

ack holds an appointive office as city collector. The aldermanic candidates now holding these offices are Urban, Plonien, Welch, Finn, and Tannahill. Kyndberg and Hallen are former aldermen.

The local option vote in Deerfield, which will affect the sale of liquor only across the bar, will be the first by a municipality in Lake county since prohibition was repealed. It follows a similar vote in West Deerfield township on April 1 when the sale of liquor except in packages was banned by a 777 to 556 vote.

Affects Three Taverns.

The township includes Deerfield, Bannockburn, parts of Lake Forest, and Highland Park, and some unincorporated land. The only taverns in the area, however, are in Deerfield. The three in that village pay yearly license fees of $600 each. Milton Olson, village attorney, said the fate of the taverns hangs on the village and not the township vote.

In the regular election a president, clerk, three trustees for four year terms and one trustee for two years, to fill a vacancy, will be chosen. Two tickets, the Nonpartisan and Independent, are in the field. Candidates are:

IRON LUNG IS GIFT OF TWO DOCTORS TO NO. SIDE HOSPITAL

Dr. Sylvan Coombs.
[Harry Johnson Photo.]

Residents in the neighborhood of Grant hospital, 535 Grant place, have had the health protection of another iron lung since last Wednesday. In commemoration of his fiftieth anniversary in medicine, Dr. Sylvan Coombs, with his son, Dr. Robert Coombs, gave the hospital one of the latest model respirators.

It is the first installed in a Chicago hospital with the enlarged head-end to facilitate splinting and resting of the patient's arms, an important factory in some cases of infantile paralysis. Tho not so commonly known, the respirator also is used for resuscitation of persons suffering from drowning, carbon monoxide poisoning, tetanus, and other causes of respiratory failure.

Dr. Coombs is chairman of the surgical committee at Grant and his son is a member of the attending staff. The older Coombs was born in Altoona, Pa., in 1868 and entered Rush Medical college when he was 18 years old. He worked as a nurse at Cook County hospital to earn his college expenses and later served on the surgical staff there. After his graduation from Rush he interned at St. Elizabeth's hospital and in 1900 joined the Grant staff.

DAWN SERVICES WILL USHER IN EASTER ON RADIO

W-G-N to Air Hat Parade at 12:30 o'Clock.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Sunrise services this morning will usher in the numerous special Easter broadcasts scattered thruout the radio schedules today. Pope Pius XII. will be on the air from the Vatican at 5 a. m. today voicing an appeal for peace. The Mutual network will carry the pontiff's message and blessing at the time given, but W-G-N will record the program and rebroadcast it at 11:30 this morning.

Tipped off by fashion experts that Easter hats will be wilder and woolier than ever this year, W-G-N will bring a 15 minute Easter hat parade to the air between 12:30 and 12:45 p. m. today.

They'll Describe Bonnets.

India Moffett, society editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Rea Seeger, TRIBUNE fashion editor, will be the W-G-N hat critics. They will post themselves near St. Chrysostom's church on the near north side and will describe the styles, particularly in hats, they see as the people emerge from the church.

Announcer Charles Victor, heard regularly on the Chicago at Night and Citizens of Tomorrow programs, will join Mrs. Moffett and Miss Seeger in a three way discussion of the Easter bonnets. Victor will express the masculine point of view. The W-G-N mobile unit will be used for this broadcast.

On Chicago Hour

Helen Twelvetrees, featured in the stage success, "Arsenic and Old Lace," will be one of the headliners of In Chicago Tonight at 7:30 p. m. next Thursday over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

Eric Von Stroheim, Helen Twelvetrees, Effie Shannon, and Laura Hope Crews, stars of "Arsenic and Old Lace," now at the Grand Opera house, will appear in a radio adaptation of the comedy on In Chicago Tonight from 7:30 to 8 p. m. next Thursday.

Eric Von Stroheim.

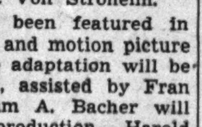
The Russell Crouse-Howard Lindsay production, which has been running on Broadway for five months, has been called the funniest play of the season by critics.

The story concerns two sweet old ladies who like to put old, lonely men out of their troubles with a tasty glass of poisoned elderberry wine. Effie Shannon and Laura Hope Crews take these two rôles as the Brewster sisters, Abby and Martha. Von Stroheim takes the part of the brother, Jonathan Brewster, who, by plastic surgery, has his face changed to look like Eric Von Stroheim.

All four have been featured in many stage plays and motion picture productions. The adaptation will be by Walter Gould, assisted by Fran Coughlin. William A. Bacher will take charge of production. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra, and the chorus under the direction of Robert Trendler, will provide the music.

BRACE BEEMER RESUMES ROLE OF LONE RANGER

Brace Beemer, who is resuming the rôle of the Lone Ranger he originated nine years ago, fits the part of the radio hero perfectly. He is an expert horseman and his war record proves him a hero in fact as well as in fiction.



Brace Beemer.

The Lone Range will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System in a new series starting Monday, May 5.

Beemer has taken the Lone Ranger part once more because of the death of Earle Graser, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday.

Beemer was born in Mount Carmel, Ill., 38 years ago. He joined the army at the age of 14, when he was able to convince officers he was much older because of his size. He is tall [6 feet 3 inches] and weighs 200 pounds.

Beemer served in France with the 150th Field Artillery, Rainbow division. He was wounded in the fighting in the Argonne sector and again in the Luneville sector. He was awarded the Military Order of the Purple Heart, created by George Washington.

STEELMAKERS TO PRESENT TWO TALENTED BOYS

Three talented performers are scheduled for the Musical Steelmakers broadcast at 4 p. m. today over W-G-N and the coast-to-coast Mutual network for a special Easter program.

Mario and Aldo Mancinelli, 14 and 10, respectively will play Schubert's beloved "Ave Maria" on the violin and piano.

When the Steelmakers broadcast began in 1936, Mildred Whitley, sister of Tommy Whitley, director of the Musical Steelmakers orchestra, was one of the first headliners. Today she returns as Mrs. Mildred Whitley Jeffers to sing "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" for the listening friends of the Musical Steelmakers.

LOVE WILL SING ON CHICAGOLAND HOUR SATURDAY

Col. McCormick to Speak on W-G-N Hour.

Mark Love, W-G-N basso, will be featured in three solos and in a medley with the W-G-N chorus on the Chicagoland hour over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m. next Saturday.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Love expects to appear Saturday despite the fact that he is suffering from a broken ankle. He will make his way to the W-G-N studios with the aid of crutches.

His featured solo will be Mendelssohn's "I'm a Roamer." He also will sing Wagner's "Evening Star" from "Tannhäuser," "Grandfather's Clock" by Work, and parts of a Stephen Foster medley with the W-G-N Ensemble including "My Dark Virginny Bride," "Gentle Annie," "Old Black Joe," and "Glendy Burke."

Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N Concert orchestra in "The Angelus" from Massenet's "Scenes Pittoresque"; Bizet's "Farandole" from "L'Arlesienne Suite"; a waltz by Strauss, "Merry Old Vienna"; Schubert's "Moment Musicale," and Delibes' "Czardas" from "Coppelia Suite."

The W-G-N chorus will be featured in one number, the old Irish folk melody, "Oft in the Stilly Night," often attributed to Sir Thomas Moore.

W-G-N PROGRAM SHOWS VALUES OF DEMOCRACY

Each Saturday at 10 a. m. W-G-N broadcasts an historical quiz program which Chicago educators and historical society officials believe is of value in illustrating to the youth of the middle west the social advantages to be derived from life under a democratic form of government. Entitled "Acree's High School Aces," the quiz has featured honor students of Chicago's high schools answering questions about United States history, prepared by L. Hubbard Shattuck, director of the Chicago Historical society.

This is the general plan of the quiz broadcasts: Each week four boys—one from each of four different high schools—appear on the program to answer questions concerning American history. The questions are prepared under the direction of Mr. Shattuck, who also acts as judge on the program. Cash awards are given to the contestants. The one who correctly answers the most questions receives $10, next place winner gets $5, third, $3, and fourth, $2. In addition to Mr. Shattuck's questions, puzzlers from the listeners are propounded to members of the visible audience. The listeners whose questions are used receive $10. Chuck Acree acts as master of ceremonies. The show is broadcast from the Palace theater.

DANCING PARTY TIMES TO START NEW SCHEDULE

Orrin Tucker and his orchestra, with Songstress Bonnie Baker, will open an engagement at the Trianon ballroom and over W-G-N-Mutual Tuesday evening. Lawrence Welk and his "champagne music" will be heard from the Trianon starting today. A new schedule of broadcasting becomes effective from the two ballrooms this week.

The Dancing Party will be aired over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. Both orchestras will be heard between 9:45 and 10:15 p. m. Fridays.

CHURCH'S FIRST EASTER IN BARN RECALLED TODAY

Our Saviour Group Now 75 Years Old.

Seventy-five years ago, 25 north side families stepped into their buggies and drove over muddy roads to the Van Wegener barn at Hurlburt street [now Cleveland] and Belden avenue.

It was Easter day, and the grand opening in a barn of what now is the Church of Our Saviour, 530 Fullerton parkway. The Easter communion ceremony was the first service held by the church. Richard D. Van Wegener, a pioneer north sider, turned over his barn to the parish to be used as a church. He himself built the crude altar and nailed together rough benches for the parishioners.

Descendants to Attend.

That is the sketchy story of the first Easter service as told in the faded record books of the Church of Our Saviour. Today several descendants of the charter members are expected to attend the 75th Easter rites. The descendants are second and third generation members of the Halsted family.

The first Easter sermon was preached by the Rev. Edward Porter, but what his topic was the records do not say. Today's sermon will be given by the Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot, who has been rector for the last 20 years.

Will Use Old Flagon.

The Rev. Mr. Gratiot in his communion service today will use a blackened pewter wine flagon that was given to the church at Christmas, 1868, by St. James Episcopal church, 666 Rush street. The flagon has a half gallon capacity.

Five hundred persons are expected to attend the festival eucharist at 11 o'clock this morning. Holy communion will be celebrated at 6 and 8 o'clock this morning. At 4 o'clock this afternoon there will be a children's carol service.

LILY PONS SINGS ON KOSTELANETZ PROGRAM TODAY

Lily Pons, coloratura soprano of concert, opera, screen, and radio, will make a guest appearance with her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, the conductor, and Albert Spalding over WBBM-CBS at 3:30 p. m. today. Miss Pons will sing "Estrellita," by Ponce, and Schubert's "Ave Maria." She will sing the Rachel Field lyrics to "Ave Maria" as used in Walt Disney's "Fantasia." Mr. Spalding is to play Hungarian Dance No. 7, by Brahms, "The Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and an arrangement of the "Easter Recitation Over Good Friday." The orchestra will play "A Waltz Dream" from "Waltzes," by Strauss; "If This Be Love"; a Hawaiian group—"Aloha Oe," "Song of the Islands," "My Hawaiian Maid," and "Moanalua"; "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," and "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

LILACS AGAIN TO GLADDEN SHUT-INS

'SAFEST' TITLE AGAIN AWARDED TO LA GRANGE

1,091 Deathless Days Is Its Record.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

A message of congratulation has been received in La Grange from the National Safety council, along with the award of first place to the village in the 10,000 to 25,000 population group in the 1940 national traffic safety contest.

La Grange achieved a record of 1,091 deathless days up to the close of the contest and this unusual showing attracted special credit from judges who made the awards.

Oak Park received second place award in the group of towns between 50,000 and 100,000 population.

On April 21, Walter P. Saunders, president of La Grange, will attend a dinner given by the national council in his honor at the Mayflower hotel, Washington, D. C., where he will be presented with a plaque emblematic of achievement.

Town Achieves Record.

In accepting the invitation of the council, President Saunders said his village felt particularly proud of the award as it is the fifth in nine years with which La Grange has been honored. Two of the awards have been first prizes. No other city in any population bracket has equaled this record.

In announcing the award the National council pointed out that the La Grange Safety commission had carried on an effective program of public safety thru the year. Almost maximum credit was also given La Grange for the program carried on in public and parochial schools.

Safety work in La Grange is administered by an official village commission whose membership includes Ralph Johnson, chairman; Mrs. John Mangold, secretary; Raymond Keller, Ambrose Hezeltine, and William Seymour Jr. Walter P. Saunders, George Shiffer, police commissioner, and Harry Oakes, chief of police, are ex-officio members.

The group acts as a coördinating committee for safety work carried on by civic organizations including the Kiwanis club, Civic club, Women's club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and the American Legion.

Schools Teach Safety.

Under the leadership of Myron Pease, superintendent of public schools, and Mrs. Nell Hashagen, a coördinated program of safety was placed in the curriculum of all grade schools, while Dr. G. W. Willett, principal, introduced the safety educational material into the high school curriculum.

The La Grange Civic club and La Grange post of the American Legion conducted a safety campaign in which every child of grade school age was checked to determine his knowledge of the rules of the road and safe bicycle riding.

Another feature of the campaign was a 10 week safety educational drive jointly sponsored by La Grange Safety commission and the La Grange Citizen. During the opening week merchants coöperated by displaying posters in store windows and by featuring safety at service group luncheons. Signs were painted at each crosswalk warning pedestrians. to cross streets cautiously and between corners other signs warned pedestrians against jay walking and urged use of the crosswalks.

Safety education material was delivered to every home in the community and driver aptitude tests were offered to motorists. A home safety inspection campaign was instructed by the commission, during which school children checked home hazards and advised parents as to conditions discovered.

Patrols Set Perfect Record.

School safety patrols completed a second year free of accidents at corners under their supervision. Safety poster boards were maintained at various points thruout the community and safety material was furnished to the schools and civic organizations.

Coupled with public education was an enforcement campaign by the La Grange police department which while it did not stress heavy fines it maintained close observance of safety traffic rules on the part of the public. From an engineering standpoint constant study was made of high accident locations in the community which resulted in many changes in regard to stop signs, curbing, and street lights.

Introduction of new street lights on one thorofare alone resulted in an appreciable reduction in property accidents. Obstruction surveys were made twice during the year to increase visibility at street corners.

Ask Lighting for Section of Highway Near Aurora

A petition bearing the signature of practically every property owner and tenant of land lying on state Route 31 between Aurora and North Aurora, recently was presented to the Fox Valley Area council of the Chicago Motor club at its meeting in St. Charles. The petition states that numerous accidents and fatalities have occurred in the area and asking the council to exert all possible influence to obtain illumination for the entire stretch of highway. Copies of the petition will be sent to county and state highway authorities.

Practicing for Oak Park Easter Egg Festival Today

Except for last year, when the weather intervened, annual Easter egg rolling contests have been held in Oak Park since 1934. Sponsored by the Southern District association, plans for the festivity in Fox park this afternoon have been made for 600 young participants. Practicing for the feature that calls for conveying eggs toward the goal on a spoon are Eleanor Haines, Joan Esch, Janet McConachi, Thomas Becker, Marlene Merle, Patricia Loversky, Carol Barney, and Joan Woodruff, left to right. If the weather is unfavorable today, the tournament will be postponed for one week.

War Objecting Draftees Find Going Is Rough

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Conscientious objectors under selective service are finding that while any honest scruples they hold against war are being respected, their detour around combatant pursuits is a rather rocky one.

In fact, the objector at the outset is likely to find himself confronted with so many special provisions that only a deep conviction in his principles will give him the hardihood to see the thing thru.

Many a conscript in the Chicago area who first asked to be listed as a conscientious objector has changed his mind and requested some other classification upon learning what rigors his original stand subjected him to.

To begin with, the "C. O.," as he is known to the initiate, must convince a pretty skeptical lot of officials of his sincerity in declining to take up arms. That done, he must still make his contribution to the nation's defense or wartime effort.

Number Not Estimated.

No accurate estimate has yet been made of the number of conscientious objectors in the Chicago area. Up to April 1 only 12 men had based draft appeals on such grounds. Many others, however, had been granted special classification by their local boards because of religious scruples against war.

At the conscientious objectors' bureau, an advisory organization with headquarters at 740 Rush street, it was reported that the names of 600 men who sought classification as conscientious objectors had been received from the Great Lakes region. This same source said that for the nation as a whole, it is expected that 7,500 to 10,000 such men will have been listed by July 1, and that provisions must be made to handle upwards of 10,000 a year.

Conscientious objectors fall into two classes; those opposed merely to combatant service, and those who object to any sort of military service. The men in the first group may be assigned to service in such noncombative branches of the military forces as the medical, engineering or quartermaster corps. They cannot be compelled to bear arms or take instructions in their use.

Must Pay Own Way.

Those in the second group are placed in Class 4E and are subject to conscription for "civilian work of national importance," such as soil conservation or forestry. They must live in specially set up camps, away from their families. They not only serve without pay or other benefits accorded ordinary conscripts, but they must pay the government $35 a month for room, board and other services.

Under selective service laws, a man claiming to be a conscientious objector registers under the draft just as any other. In addition to his questionnaire, however, he must fill out a special form giving complete information in substantiation of his claims. In this form [No. 47], the government seeks to determine the genuineness of the registrant's objections.

Thereafter the registrant follows the regular draft channel. The local board can consider his claim as a conscientious objector only if it finds, after his physical examination, that he is eligible for Class 1 [those in service or fit for general or limited military service]. If he is found to

In the Oak Park contests this afternoon, Bette Woodruff and Lanny Borse believe their best chances are in paddling eggs. The egg rolling Easter custom dates back to medieval England. Dolly Madison started it on the White House lawn, but only Washington and Baltimore, among American cities, are said to have preceded Oak Park in the annual observance.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

SUN-UP this morning will find an army of young friends of the Easter rabbit scattered over the 144 acres of Columbus park, diligently searching for the 1,000 rainbow hued eggs hidden by Supervisor Erwin Weiner and his park staff. Lucky is the boy or girl who turns up with a red, white and blue prize egg at the field-house. Such a find brings an award. In Weiner's collection of prizes, which local merchants have donated, are toy rabbits, roller skates, fountain pens, and many other attractive articles.

That elusive fellow, the Easter rabbit.

MODERATION in all things was the recipe for longevity given on the occasion of her 91st birthday recently celebrated by Mrs. Magdalena Mey, who makes her home with Mrs. Anna Cusky, 783 Western avenue, Glen Ellyn. Mrs. Mey was born in Alsace Lorraine. She came to America on a sailing boat in 1872. Her first marriage was to Hans August Rush, who died in 1892. Mr. Mey, whom she married in 1898, died in 1911.

MRS. ESTHER MERVINE WREDE, 3531 Hollywood avenue, Hollywood, born on Easter Sunday 57 years ago, finds that today is the first time her birthday has fallen on Easter Sunday. She wonders how many others are having a similar experience in the Chicago area.

Miss Marion Walsh, a junior at Rosary college, River Forest, will be one of the principal speakers at the meeting of the Student Peace Federations of the Catholic Association for International Peace, which convenes Wednesday at Trinity college in Washington, D. C. Another Rosary delegate will be Miss Marguerite Stewart, a junior sociology student.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Wade of 406 Linden avenue, Oak Park, are enjoying a three week vacation in the west. Their itinerary includes Hollywood, Tucson, and Guaymas, Mexico. Daughter Patricia, they report, spent her spring vacation from Wellesley college at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she was the guest of Miss Dora Wezerek of River Forest.

George Stone of Oak Park recently was elected president of the student body at North Central college, Naperville. During the campaign, halls of the administration building were covered with posters, literature was passed out to students, and the band played before chapel meetings.

Robert Black and Alexander G. Shennan of Oak Park and George Bulk of Maywood are among the honorary chairmen named by the United Scottish Clans and Daughters of Scotia for the concert and tartan ball to be given Thursday, May 8, at the Aragon ballroom. SONGS, SERMONS TELL STORY OF CHRIST ARISEN

Note of Faith Will Sound Today.

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Jubilee of bells and choirs singing, altars white with lilies and washed with candlelight—these symbols that gladden the churches of the city today will renew again for thousands of Easter worshippers man's dream of immortality. Sermon, rite and pageantry will relimn for them the picture of an ancient dawn and a gray sepulcher emptied of the crucified Christ; will repeat for them the words of faith triumphant, "He is risen. He is not here. Behold the tomb where they laid him!"

The procession of church bound parishioners will begin in the early hours. Solemn high mass, with its richness of ancient ritual beauty of the white and gold altar vestments for this, the greatest of Christian fiestas, will be celebrated at noon in most of the larger Catholic churches of west side Chicago.

Will Return for Vespers.

Many choirs will return to sing vespers for late afternoon and evening congregations. Morning communion services and vesper devotions also will be the day's order in most of the Episcopal churches in the city and suburbs.

In addition to their morning worship, several of the large west side Protestant churches have announced sacred concerts, cantatas and pageants for the afternoon and evening.

New First Congregational, the historic church at Washington boulevard and Union park, which celebrates its 90th anniversary this year, is to present at 8 o'clock tonight a choralogue composed by the minister, Dr. O. W. S. McCall. Called "The Fulfillment," the work combines a narrative in cadenced prose with some of the greatest of church music. The narrative, relating the progression of man thru the ages to the ultimate spiritual light of Christ, will be read by Dr. McCall. The united choirs—there are five at the church—will sing the music, with Dr. George L. Tenney conducting and Dr. William E. Lester at the organ.

Columbia commandry of the Knights Templar will hold an Easter service in the church at 3:30 o'clock at which Dr. McCall will speak. "My Lord and My God" will be the title of his sermon at the 11 o'clock morning service.

Services at 6:30.

Easter services at Austin Methodist church, North Central and Race avenues, will begin at 6:30 o'clock with a youth sunrise ceremony and close at 7:30 in the evening with the singing of Rossini's "Stabat Mater."

To accomodate all who wish to attend church in the morning, two identical services will be conducted, the first at 9:30 o'clock and the second at 11. Dr. Herbert B. Rhodes' sermon theme will be, "Resurrection and Life." Frank Bennett will direct the oratorio in the evening. Soloists with the choir will be Margaret Christy, Mildred Fleet, Earl Bichel and Rai Sturgis. Bichel is the young tenor who won sectional honors last summer in the Chicagoland Music festival.

The principal service at the Halsted Street Institutional Methodist church at 1935 South Halsted street, where the Rev. Arthur Mohns is the minister, will be a vesper ceremony at 4:30 o'clock.

The gospel text beginning, "For God so loved the world. . ." will be the theme of the sermon. Lela Hanmer will direct a special program of Easter music. Robert Holmes will sing "The Holy City" as a solo.

Pageant of Easter.

"A Pageant of Easter," musical and dramatical portrayal of the last week of Jesus' life, will be presented at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Oak Park's First Methodist church, North Oak Park avenue and Superior street.

Forty members in the cast will appear in costumes. Forty members of the Choral society and of the Aeolian choir of the church will sing in the chorus. Narrators will read the Bible story.

BY CHARLES ROBERTS.

Pine wood, wrapping paper, and mucilage—the three standard ingredients of most old fashioned kites, and a good many new fangled ones—were at a premium in 88 park fieldhouses and thousands of Chicagoland homes last week as an estimated 6,000 kite enthusiasts began construction of craft they will enter in the third annual Chicago Tribune Kite contest.

Ten thousand kite builders and flyers of all ages are expected to be entered in the contest when registration closes at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in the fieldhouses. To enter the contest, kite flyers need only to fill out the entry blank appearing elsewhere in this section and take it to the nearest park fieldhouse.

Elimination contests will begin in some of the 88 parks tomorrow and continue thru April 26. By that date, each park will have chosen one contestant to complete in each of the seven events in the finals.

Contest Set for May 3.

The finals, a tournament of champions which annually attracts thousands of spectators, will be staged in the parking lot south of Soldiers' field, at 16th street and Columbus drive, on May 3. THE TRIBUNE will award silver trophies to each of the seven winners and the park district will award ribbons to the runners-up.

Kites of all sizes and descriptions—and fashioned out of silk, tissue paper, cambric, and bamboo as well as wrapping paper and pine wood—were under construction last week. As in the past, plane surface kites, box kites, and combinations of the two will be entered in all seven events of the contest.

Kites entered in the artistic and novelty events will be judged on flying performance as well as their appearance on the ground. In the hand-winding and, mechanical winding events, the flyers' dexterity at "reeling in" their kites on 75 yard strings will determine the winners. These events are sometimes know as "75 yard dashes."

Best for Spectators.

Two of the most interesting events from the spectator's point of view are the messenger and pulling power contests. In the messenger event, the first entrant to get a "message"—usually a conical or triangular shaped piece of paper—from the ground to his kite will be declared the winner. In the pulling contest, a spring scale will be hooked into each kite string at intervals to determine which one has the greatest pulling power.

Kites as large as 18 feet in diameter and with a pulling power of 80 to 100 pounds have been entered in this event in the past.

The Preliminary Contests.

Dates for preliminary contests—in which all entrants must compete—were set at nine parks during the week. They are: Tuley park, 90th street and St. Lawrence avenue, April 19; Franklin, 14th place and South Kolin avenue, April 15; Samuel Gompers, 4224 Foster avenue, April 19; Portage, 4100 North Long avenue, April 23; Kilbourn, 3501 North Kilbourn avenue, April 23.

Wilson, 4630 Milwaukee avenue, April 22; Norwood, 5801 North Natoma avenue, April 18; Chase, Leland and Ashland avenues, April 21; Indian Boundary, Lunt avenue and Rockwell street, April 22, and Waveland fieldhouse in Lincoln park, Addison street and the lake, April 24.

FLOWER GUILD OPENS DRIVE TO SHARE BLOOMS

Fragrant Bouquets to Go to Thousands.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Mrs. Stanley D. Grace.

Thousands of fresh lilac blooms will be placed at the bedsides of shut-ins in the city's hospitals and institutions this spring in the 13th annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign. The campaign is sponsored jointly by the Chicago Plant Flower, and Fruit guild and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

With warmer weather and sunshine hurrying the arrival of the blooms, officials of the guild already have begun work on the campaign. The delicate blossoms are gathered from all over Chicagoland and are brought to the city for distribution to hospitals and institutions. Detailed plans are necessary to see that the lilacs arrive fresh and dewy and are promptly delivered. Last year 82,400 bouquets of lilacs were distributed among 147 hospitals, settlements and other institutions in the city.

81 Clubs Assist.

More than 2,000 members of the 81 garden clubs affiliated with the guild coöperate to make the gathering of the lilacs possible. Last year the lilacs brought cheer to more than 23,000 shut-ins.

Each year the guild and the Tribune act as the link between the floral beauty of spring and the thousands of bedridden people in the city. Blooms are gathered from thousands of home yards, gardens, parks and estates in the Chicagoland area. They are sent to the charity wards and sick rooms of hospitals and institutions where the patients rarely see fresh flowers.

The work of gathering the blossoms and shipping them is done entirely by voluntary workers who each year give freely of their time to see that the less fortunate people of the city are brought a breath of spring.

Days to Be Named.

As in the past, there probably will be two dates set for the distribution of the bouquets. The dates have not been chosen, but will be determined when the guild officials feel that the majority of the lilacs in the suburban areas have reached their peak. This depends largely on the weather. Lilac days generally have fallen between May 10 and 20.

The lilacs are shipped free to Chicago on suburban trains. Last year 62 trains on nine suburban railroads brought the blooms into terminal stations where they were picked up for distribution by Tribune trucks.

Started in 1929, the "Share Your Lilacs" campaign has grown to be one of the largest and most unique community enterprises of its kind in the United States.

The work of gathering the lilacs is delegated to 10 division chairmen of the guild who will be under the general supervision of Mrs. Stanley D. Grace of Highland Park, general chairman.

Chairmen of Divisions.

Each railroad line or division has a separate chairman who is in charge of the garden clubs served by that railroad. They supervise the committees of the various garden clubs that assemble the lilacs and load them on the trains.

The chairmen are:

Mrs. Joseph E. Callender, Calamus lodge, St. Charles—Aurora and Elgin railway.

Mrs. K. Edgar Tholin, 4541 Forest avenue, Downers Grove—Burlington.

Mrs. Robert J. Pabodie, 104 Oak street, Maywood—Galena division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Lloyd G. Rees, 1636 Forest avenue, Wilmette—Southern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Herschel Missey, 7514 South Ridgeland avenue, Chicago—Illinois Central.

Mrs. Warner R. Nelson, 1062 Bluff road, Glencoe—Northern Milwaukee division, North Western railway.

Other Leaders Named.

Mrs. Albert W. Torbet, Bannockburn, Deerfield—North Shore line.

Mrs. William O. Korten, 11301 South Lothair avenue, Chicago—Rock Island railway.

Mrs. Clyde B. Kennard, 1008 Greenview avenue, Des Plaines—Eastern Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Mrs. Fred A. Record, Barrington—Western Wisconsin division, North Western railway.

Working under the direction of the division chairmen will be the president and guild chairman of the 81 garden clubs. A complete list of these workers will be published later.

Young People's Dance.

The Young People's club of St. Agatha's parish will give its annual dance Saturday night in the parish hall at Douglas boulevard and Kedzie avenue.

MUSICAL AUTO HORNS.

Tho there are often cries against the noise of autos and particularly the use of auto horns, little is done about this, partly because there is no way of being sure that unreliable pedestrians will behave properly in traffic.

But the noise of auto horns has become a serious nerve irritant in the cities. If we are to make our cities more livable—and that should be the constant aim of all of us—we might persuade the auto makers to provide a horn strictly suitable for city life. With the short distances from curb to curb a horn is not of much use in stopping an accident.

Urban dwellers must insist on the use of musical horns. Let the harsh, jarring, blistering horns be used on country roads where their use might be reasonable against cows and chickens. Why subject human beings to their racket?

FRIENDLY BLUEBIRDS.

In answer to the letter of Mrs. E. T. G. about bluebirds, may I say that bluebirds came to our yard last April, kept watch for a month and finally nested in the birdhouse which my husband made. A storm came in July and both parents were evidently killed. Only one of the young survived and he was our pet.

We had him until we moved, and even after that he came back. Our neighbors saw him. But he did not stay because our birdhouse was not there and we had gone.

I would like to ask Mrs. E. T. G. if there was any shooting around her place. If so, that may be the cause of them not staying. That is our trouble now.

MRS. A. E.

EXHIBIT A SUCCESS.

A big "thank you!" to THE TRIBUNE for the article in Sunday's paper on the homemaking exhibition of the West Side Council of Parents and Teachers. Informed by your article, strangers from far and wide crowded Austin Town hall for our highly successful show.

CAR LINE BUSES TO GIVE SERVICE ON HOMAN AVE.

C. of C. Wins Six Year Fight for Route.

Recent action of the Illinois Commerce commission directing the Chicago Surface Lines to install and operate buses on Homan and Kimball avenues is welcomed by the West Towns chamber of commerce which filed its first petition calling for the improvement in 1935.

According to Julian T. Fitzgerald, president of the chamber, the Homan avenue bus extension will relieve congestion on the Kedzie and Pulaski, as well as the east and west car lines. The commission gave the company 100 days within which to obtain the additional buses needed.

Expenditure Approved.

The West Towns chamber of commerce petition to the commission was approved last Sept. 11 and the surface lines were authorized by the federal court on Oct. 17 to expend the money necessary to install the service. The chamber was represented by W. H. McManus, vice president; Fred J. Loyda, general counsel, and William Devlin, secretary.

President Fitzgerald explained that orders of the commission and the federal court have not been complied with because the park district asked payment by the Chicago Surface Lines of 2 cents per bus mile to operate over Homan boulevard [two blocks] between Madison and Lake streets. The chamber was of the opinion that calling the two blocks a boulevard, so far as boulevard drives are concerned, was not only a misrepresentation, but caused confusion and disappointment to autoists expecting a connection with the boulevard system.

Street Retrieved to City.

The surface lines were unwilling to pay the fee and so advised the commission. At a hearing before the commission Jan. 24, the attorney for the park district agreed to return the two blocks [Homan boulevard] to the city of Chicago.

"This action," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "removes a barrier to thru traffic on a north and south highway about 12 miles long, which will result in the improvement of transportation in the Kedzie-Pulaski area."

SUBURB WOMEN ARE TO DISCUSS WORLD AFFAIRS

Elmhurst Institute Is Set for Wednesday.

Spring housekeeping problems will be postponed in the west suburbs Wednesday while feminine attention is concentrated on world affairs and the trends of American public opinion in relation to them. The Elmhurst Woman's club has announced an institute for that day to inform its members and other Du Page county clubwomen of recent developments in the world situation.

The parley, opening at 9:45 o'clock, will be conducted at Elmhurst college. Three authoritative speakers, the Rev. Frederick Schmell, George B. De Husza and Dr. George Axtelle, representing divergent opinions, will present their views on what this country's position should be in the international crisis.

Mrs. Ralph H. Mears, president of the Elmhurst club, has issued an invitation to the college faculty and students and to the state and Eleventh district officers and department heads of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, to attend.

Subject for Discussion.

The subject for discussion at the morning meeting will be "Our Relations to and Responsibility for the Present War."

A student of national and international economics and a member of the American First committee, the Rev. Mr. Schmell will explain the views of those advocating a hands-off policy for America in the European struggle.

De Huszar will speak for those urging American intervention. A native of Hungary, De Huszar was a member of the Hungarian delegation at the plenary congress of the International Union of Associations for the Society of Nations, held in 1937 in Czecho-Slovakia, and he served as secretary of the commission for the political basis of peace at the second World Youth congress which met the following year at Vassar college. He has lectured at the University of Chicago and has spoken frequently on the American radio.

Talks on National Issues.

Dr. Axtelle, a faculty member of Northwestern university, will have the afternoon for a discussion of "Pertinent National Issues and Their Relative Importance." Those attending the institute will be given an opportunity to question the speakers.

The committee on management has arranged for a 1 o'clock luncheon between sessions at nearby St. Peter's church.

Mrs. Kenneth L. Van Auken is general chairman of the special committee appointed to conduct the institute. Dean Genevieve Staudt of Elmhurst college and Mrs. Grantley D. Graue and Mrs. Walter R. Corlett of the club have charge of the program. Mrs. Margaret Shattuck is student registrar, and Mrs. Claude L. Van Auken is corresponding secretary. Mrs. Timothy Lehmann and Mrs. Archibald Wengler will take over hostess duties on institute day.

Gene Fletcher of Naperville is readying his Tennessee walking horse, Ginger Carlton, for the spring shows.

Ralph Wagner of Aurora has sold his chestnut walk-trot mare, Gay Highland, to Gene Harris, Chicago horseman and night club owner.

Forty members and friends of the Oakbrook Saddle and Suds club and the Stanton Silver Spur club turned out for the recent moonlight ride from the Stanton stable which was followed by a party in the Stanton clubhouse. It was decided to hold other similar meetings thru the summer.

Arthur Scheef of La Grange, Tony Remick of Hillside, and Roy Swangren of Maywood have just been awarded their pins as top riders of the Oakbrook Saddle and Suds club. New members include Dennis Peyton of Forest Park, Jack Davenport of Wheaton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tarrant of Elmhurst.

Destiny Hangs on a Royal Sneeze

It's just a little cold in the head, but when a royal nose tickles, personal destinies and the course of history may be affected. Richard Atwater's "The King Sneezes" is one of two fairy tales to be enacted by boys and girls of the Oak Park playgrounds at their drama festival Friday night in the local Children's theater. Here are Alice Ross, playing the sneezing king, Lois Frase as the princess, and Billy Schaefer as Max Luckyfoot. "Snickerty Nick and the Giant" is the other play on the program.

11 DRAFT AREAS PASS 1,000 MARK IN SERVICE CALL

North Side Board No. 72 Reaches 1,342.

Eleven of the 151 local draft boards in Chicago by midnight last Tuesday had reached order numbers of 1,000 or over in supplying draftees to the army, examination of the figures revealed. This study does not take into account volunteers, who are inducted as they appear.

One board, No. 72 in the 47th ward, reached No. 1,342 in filling its April quota. The number is held by Earl Dall, 4913 North Ashland avenue, whose original national draft lottery number was in the 4,000's. Area No. 72 is bounded roughly by Clark street on the east, Foster avenue on the north, Damen and Lincoln avenues on the west, and Montrose avenue on the south.

The other boards that have passed the 1,000 mark are Nos. 6, 12, 15, 28, 29, 41, 45, 53, 57, and 69.

A total of 69 Chicago boards have filled their monthly quotas since induction started. They called up 48,507 registrants to find the 6,724 men who were acceptable to army physicians.

14 From Each 100.

This meant that only 14 of each 100 men examined qualified for immediate service, the other 86 falling into deferred classifications.

The table below shows the highest order number reached by each Chicago local board up to and including last Tuesday, exclusive of volunteers:

Board.	High No.	Board.	High No.	Board.	High No.
1	214	51	727	101	282
2	386	52	781	102	332
3	234	53	1,118	103	445

40 Per Cent Volunteer.

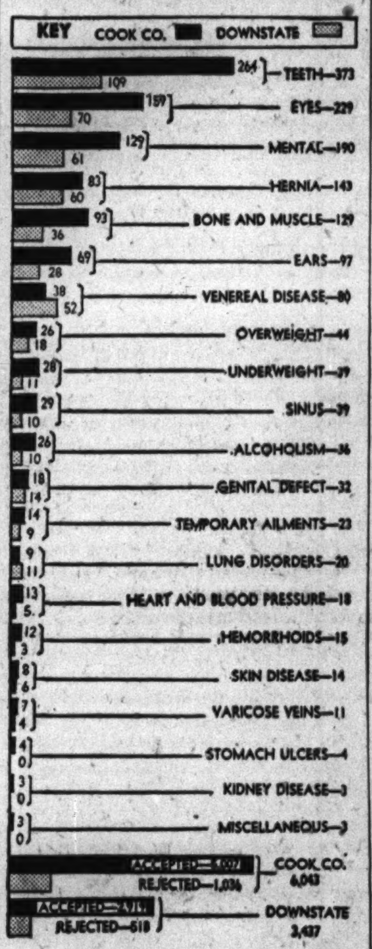
Up to April 1, the draft records show, 3,981 or 40 per cent of the 9,736 men inducted from Cook county were volunteers.

In an effort to encourage more voluntary enlistments, the Illinois department of the American Legion is sponsoring a contest among local boards, according to Paul G. Armstrong, state director of the draft.

Leaders among the Chicago boards as of April 1, and the totals of volunteers and inductions were:

Board No. 3, 35 volunteers, or 87 per cent of its total of 40 inductions; No. 85, 59 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 84 inductions; No. 121, 39 volunteers, or 70 per cent of its 56 inductions, and No. 149, 43 volunteers, or 68 per cent of its 63 inductions.

Draft Rejections



This chart shows the reasons for 1,554 rejections among the 9,479 men examined by army physicians at the Chicago induction depot during March and draws a comparison between the Cook county figures and those for the rest of the state. Two Cook county men were rejected for every one downstate. Of the 80 venereal cases discovered, 65 per cent were from downstate. For the state as a whole, 16 per cent of the men sent by local boards were rejected at the induction station, as against 17.2 per cent in February and 18.5 per cent in January.

FIND MANY USES FOR INSULATING BOARD IN HOME

One Owner Turns Garage Into Playroom.

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

Double and triple evidence is all around us these days that no spot is "hopeless" when it comes to renovation, and that few spots around a house exist which cannot have their original purpose in life drastically changed—if the owner so desires.

As a case in proof of just this one home owner looked at his down at the heels garage and decided he would convert it into an up to the minute recreation room.

An insulating wall board was used for the walls and ceilings; the type of wall board which is well worth looking into when one is considering ways and means of home improvements.

If you would have a "little more quiet, please!" in your house, such insulation boards will help to give it to you.

They have not the soundproofing effect of materials designed expressly to eliminate noise, but they do have a sound subduing value.

Acts Like a Carpet.

Give a room an insulating board ceiling, for example, and you will deaden the noise to a degree comparable to that resulting from carpeting a bare floor.

These insulation boards, which are known in building and remodeling parlance as "structural or rigid insulation," have other assets to warrant study of them. Besides their ability to retard the passage of heat, and to subdue sounds arising within a room as well as transmission of noise from one room to another, they come in new colors and surface textures.

How They're Applied.

In remodeling old rooms, insulating boards can be applied directly over existing wall surfaces, usually on furring strips. In new construction they are applied to the studs in the dry wall manner.

If you are checking on boards for an interior finish you will see building boards, plank, and tile boards.

In some cases the planks are run around the walls horizontally to harmonize with the lines of modern furnishings. There also are insulating planks in random widths to provide a nice background for Colonial spirited rooms. Or if you have some traditional 18th century room the plank can be beveled to resemble pilasters or columns, with prepared mouldings in classic Greek key designs.

LITTLE THEATER IN RIVERSIDE TO GIVE COMEDY

Miss Claire Powell.

"Smilin' Through," romantic comedy, will be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights by the Riverside Little theater in Riverside town hall. Thursday night the play will be sponsored by the auxiliary to the medical staff of the Berwyn hospital and proceeds will go for erection of the hospital's new addition.

Friday night the class of 932 of Riverside-Brookfield High school will hold its first reunion in connection with the Little theater presentation. Miss Claire Powell, managing director of the Little theater, played a leading rôle in "Smilin' Through" when it was the senior class play. Recently she completed a professional engagement in the same play at Erie, Pa. Robert Phelps Jr., president of the class of 1932, is active in arranging for the reunion.

The cast, directed by Ramsey G. Burch, will have Warren Raeburn as a guest player. Other members of the cast are William Carroll, Anthony DiTorrice, Ann Stark, Doris Kubicek, William Vail, William Gardiner, Jo Davisson, Oneta Gardhouse, and Roger Moran. George Huml has designed the stage sets.

Starting Kite Enthusiasm Early

Altho most of the kites are bigger than he is, and he has not yet had time to master the details of kite construction, 3 year old Dickie Sweetman, 748 North La Vergne avenue (center), has shown a lively interest in preparations at Garfield park fieldhouse for The Chicago Tribune kite contest. Shown with Dickie are Thomas Kittredge, 11, 522 North Troy street (left), and Neil McKenty, 8, 3403 West Madison street, who are inspecting a 7 foot kite made in the fieldhouse. Park preliminaries in the contest will continue thru April 26, and the finals will be held in Grant park on May 3.

WAR OBJECTING DRAFTEES FIND GOING IS ROUGH

One Class Pays Board, Gets No Wage.

Appeal Is Permitted.

If placed in Class 1, the conscientious objector can appeal, within five days after his classification. The appeal board then determines, before it can give weight to his objection, whether he should be placed in a deferred class. If not, it takes up his "C. O." claim.

The board's first step in this event is to turn the case over to the department of justice for full investigation and recommendation. The federal investigators must hold a hearing on the character and good faith of the claimant, and then advise the appeal board.

The justice department, if it approves the claim, recommends whether the registrant should be assigned to noncombatant military service or to civilian work of a national character. If noncombatant service is indicated, the letter O is placed by the appeal board after the registrant's classification. If civilian work is recommended, the man is placed in Class 4E.

Form 47 inquires deeply into the registrant's past actions and beliefs in order to help draft officials make up their minds whether he is shamming or not. Unless he has a pretty convincing record to substantiate his claim of anti-war scruples, he is in for disappointment.

Several religious organizations have begun work on the establishment of civilian camps for men of their faiths who claim to be conscientious objectors. Most of these groups plan to pay the per capita expenses of their followers serving in the camps.

These establishments still await acceptance by the government. The draft service of the men involved will not begin officially until they have been formally accepted into the government program.

Civilian camps for the middle west have already been set up. One is in Michigan and three are in Indiana, which has an unusually large number of citizens belonging to religious sects opposed to war participation.

90 YOUNG FOLKS TURN MINDS TO CIVIC AFFAIRS

Maywood Group Solves 'Evening' Problem.

In Maywood, the complaint frequently made by young people that they have "no place to go evenings" has been met by a novel social and civic organization known as the Junior South Side Community club. Sponsored by their seniors of the South Side Community club, the group has been functioning since the first of the year and now has 90 members.

Robert Ellis, president of the club, was graduated from Proviso High school last June and is now a part time medical student at Lewis institute. Associate officers are Kenneth Johnson, first vice president; David St. Jean, second vice president; Arthur Misicka, treasurer; Gene Schoonover, recording secretary and Helen Pitts, corresponding secretary.

Heads of Committees.

Committee chairmen are Ben Schoonover, publicity; Betty Fay and Irvin Miller, reception; Bonnie Phelps, program, and Dorothy Taylor, refreshments.

Meetings of the club are held every other Friday night in the auditorium of Garfield school. On other Friday nights of the month board meetings are held at the homes of members.

Leaders of the senior club are privileged to attend the junior meetings, and among those who have taken an active interest in the progress of the group are Don Wagech, president of the senior club, and Attorney Edward Pitts, chairman of the sponsoring committee. The juniors have been endorsed by C. O. Krausser, president of Maywood, and E. R. Sifert, superintendent of Proviso High school.

Object of the Club.

Object of the club is "to encourage and foster matters of civic interest and further all projects for the benefit of Maywood," and "to promote fellowship and recreation among membership, guests, and other youth organizations."

The club has representatives at meetings of the village board and holds itself in readiness to express its attitude on questions of civic welfare.

MUSIC PAGEANT TO BE DISCUSSED NEXT THURSDAY

Carl Stockholm.

The Greater West Side Fine Arts association, advancing plans for its 4th annual pageant of music, will meet Thursday at the home of Carl Stockholm, 5927 Washington boulevard. Philip Maxwell, director of The Tribune sponsored Chicagoland Music Festival, is to tell how the great show at Soldiers' field is managed and give suggestions to the west siders for their concert, which is set for Sunday, Aug. 10.

It was in 1938 that the association was organized to further classical and modern music, drama, dancing, singing, and instrument playing among the young people of the west side. Five hundred participated in the first pageant. Last year 1,200 persons, representing 22 nationalities, took part.

Stockholm, who heads the Garfield Park Business Men's association, was elected president of the fine arts organization by unanimous vote at a recent meeting. Bernard Baer was elected vice president, Miss Bessie Ryan, secretary, and Howard Harvey.

JEWISH GROUPS TODAY REREAD PASSOVER STORY

Festival of Freedom Is Celebrated.

This is the third day of the Passover, which the Jewish people celebrate as their festival of freedom. West side families are rereading the Passover story, in which the parting of the Red sea is one of the noted events, and eating unleavened bread, known as matsos, in memory of similar fare which the Israelites ate during their flight from Egypt.

Beginning each spring on the 14th day of Nisan on the Jewish calendar, the feast of unleavened bread is the oldest of Jewish festivals. Originally it was a celebration at the first harvest of barley and became the occasion to celebrate the safe passage of Israel from bondage in Egypt to freedom in Palestine. The first two days and the last two of the eight day festival are full holidays.

In Ook Park Center.

Austin Congregational.

At the Austin Congregational church, Pine avenue and Ohio street, the Rev. William I. Caughran will preach on "The Burning Heart." In the absence of Loren Rohrbaugh, the choir will be directed by Clifton A. Bermeister of the music school of Northwestern university. The service will be at 10:30 o'clock. The children will have their devotions at noon. Mrs. Fred Scott has rehearsed them in a program of tableaux and pantomine based on the Easter story.

A sunrise service with choir music will be held at 6 o'clock at the Moreland Lutheran church, Lotus avenue and Huron street. Easter festival worship will be conducted by the Rev. Alvin A. Snesrud at 10:45 o'clock, when he will speak on "Unnecessary Fears."

St. Barnabas Episcopal church, 4241 Washington boulevard, will have special festival music at its principal service at 11 o'clock. Margan Merrifield is organist and choirmaster of St. Barnabas. The Easter sermon by the Rev. Walter S. Bond will be on, "Some Evidences of the Resurrection."

In Catholic Church.

At Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic church, Jackson boulevard and Albany avenue, world famous center of the novena to Our Sorrowful Mother, the Servite Fathers will celebrate solemn high mass at noon in the main church.

The accompanying music, from Joseph Moos' "Mass of Christ the King", will be sung by two choirs, the radio choir of adult voices stationed in the grilled loft above the east transcept, and the Servite choristers, a boys surpliced choir, singing from the sanctuary. Moos is the choirmaster and organist. Soloists will be Rose Buonaguidi, soprano; Janice Mack, contralto; Glynn Elliott, tenor, and Alexander Kulpak, bass.

The regular Sunday schedule of low masses will be followed both in the basement shrine and upper church, services at the shrine culminating at 11:30 o'clock in a solemn high mass, sung by the St. Cecilia girls' choir. Solo parts will be carried by Ann Gemini, Anita Traynor, Betty Lou Sprankle, Angie Amodio, Pauline Solome and Rosemary McIntyre. Bessie Ryan is director and organist.

DAWN SERVICES WILL USHER IN EASTER ON RADIO

W-G-N to Air Hat Parade at 12:30 o'Clock.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Sunrise services this morning will usher in the numerous special Easter broadcasts scattered thruout the radio schedules today. Pope Pius XII. will be on the air from the Vatican at 5 a. m. today voicing an appeal for peace. The Mutual network will carry the pontiff's message and blessing at the time given, but W-G-N will record the program and rebroadcast it at 11:30 this morning.

Tipped off by fashion experts that Easter hats will be wilder and woollier than ever this year, W-G-N will bring a 15 minute Easter hat parade to the air between 12:30 and 12:45 p. m. today.

They'll Describe Bonnets.

India Moffett, society editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Rea Seeger, TRIBUNE fashion editor, will be the W-G-N hat critics. They will post themselves near St. Chrysostom's church on the near north side and will describe the styles, particularly in hats, they see as the people emerge from the church.

Announcer Charles Victor, heard regularly on the Chicago at Night and Citizens of Tomorrow programs, will join Mrs. Moffett and Miss Seeger in a three way discussion of the Easter bonnets. Victor will express the masculine point of view. The W-G-N mobile unit will be used for this broadcast.

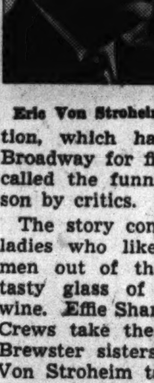
On Chicago Hour

Helen Twelvetrees, featured in the stage success, "Arsenic and Old Lace," will be one of the headliners of In Chicago Tonight at 7:30 p. m. next Thursday over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

Eric Von Stroheim, Helen Twelvetrees, Effie Shannon, and Laura Hope Crews, stars of "Arsenic and Old Lace," now at the Grand Opera house, will appear in a radio adaptation of the comedy on In Chicago Tonight from 7:30 to 8 p. m. next Thursday.



Eric Von Stroheim.

The Russell Crouse-Howard Lindsay production, which has been running on Broadway for five months, has been called the funniest play of the season by critics.

The story concerns two sweet old ladies who like to put old, lonely men out of their troubles with a tasty glass of poisoned elderberry wine. Effie Shannon and Laura Hope Crews take these two rôles as the Brewster sisters, Abby and Martha. Von Stroheim takes the part of the brother, Jonathan Brewster, who, by plastic surgery, has his face changed to look like Eric Von Stroheim.

All four have been featured in many stage plays and motion picture productions. The adaptation will be by Walter Gould, assisted by Fran Coughlin. William A. Bacher will take charge of production. Harold Stokes and the W-G-N orchestra, and the chorus under the direction of Robert Trendler, will provide the music.

LILY PONS SINGS ON KOSTELANETZ PROGRAM TODAY

Lily Pons, coloratura soprano of concert, opera, screen, and radio, will make a guest appearance with her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, the conductor, and Albert Spalding over WBBM-CBS at 3:30 p. m. today. Miss Pons will sing "Estrellita," by Ponce, and Schubert's "Ave Maria." She will sing the Rachel Field lyrics to "Ave Maria" as used in Walt Disney's "Fantasia." Mr. Spalding is to play Hungarian Dance No. 7, by Brahms, "The Good Friday Spell," by Wagner, and an arrangement of the "Easter Recitation Over Good Friday." The orchestra will play "A Waltz Dream" from "Waltzes," by Strauss; "If This Be Love"; a Hawaiian group—"Aloha Oe," "Song of the Islands," "My Hawaiian Maid," and "Moanalua"; "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," and "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

Lily Pons.

STEELMAKERS TO PRESENT TWO TALENTED BOYS

Three talented performers are scheduled for the Musical Steelmakers broadcast at 4 p. m. today over W-G-N and the coast-to-coast Mutual network for a special Easter program.

Mario and Aldo Mancinelli, 14 and 10, respectively will play Schubert's beloved "Ave Maria" on the violin and piano.

When the Steelmakers broadcast began in 1936, Mildred Whitley, sister of Tommy Whitley, director of the Musical Steelmakers orchestra, was one of the first headliners. Today she returns as Mrs. Mildred Whitley Jeffers to sing "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" for the listening friends of the Musical Steelmakers.

LOVE WILL SING ON CHICAGOLAND HOUR SATURDAY

Col. McCormick to Speak on W-G-N Hour.

Mark Love, W-G-N basso, will be featured in three solos and in a medley with the W-G-N chorus on the Chicagoland hour over W-G-N and the coast to coast Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m. next Saturday.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Love expects to appear Saturday despite the fact that he is suffering from a broken ankle. He will make his way to the W-G-N studios with the aid of crutches.

His featured solo will be Mendelssohn's "I'm a Roamer." He also will sing Wagner's "Evening Star" from "Tannhäuser," "Grandfather's Clock" by Work, and parts of a Stephen Foster medley with the W-G-N Ensemble including "My Dark Virginny Bride," "Gentle Annie," "Old Black Joe," and "Glendy Burke."

Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N Concert orchestra in "The Angelus" from Massenet's "Scenes Pittoresque"; Bizet's "Farandole" from "L'Arlesienne Suite"; a waltz by Strauss, "Merry Old Vienna"; Schubert's "Moment Musicale," and Delibes' "Czardas" from "Coppelia Suite."

The W-G-N chorus will be featured in one number, the old Irish folk melody, "Oft in the Stilly Night," often attributed to Sir Thomas Moore.

W-G-N PROGRAM SHOWS VALUES OF DEMOCRACY

Each Saturday at 10 a. m. W-G-N broadcasts an historical quiz program which Chicago educators and historical society officials believe is of value in illustrating to the youth of the middle west the social advantages to be derived from life under a democratic form of government. Entitled "Acree's High School Aces," the quiz has featured honor students of Chicago's high schools answering questions about United States history, prepared by L. Hubbard Shattuck, director of the Chicago Historical society.

This is the general plan of the quiz broadcasts: Each week four boys—one from each of four different high schools—appear on the program to answer questions concerning American history. The questions are prepared under the direction of Mr. Shattuck, who also acts as judge on the program. Cash awards are given to the contestants. The one who correctly answers the most questions receives $10, next place winner gets $5, third, $3, and fourth, $2. In addition to Mr. Shattuck's questions, puzzlers from the listeners are propounded to members of the visible audience. The listeners whose questions are used receive $10. Chuck Acree acts as master of ceremonies. The show is broadcast from the Palace theater.

DANCING PARTY TIMES TO START NEW SCHEDULE

Orrin Tucker and his orchestra, with Songstress Bonnie Baker, will open an engagement at the Trianon ballroom and over W-G-N-Mutual Tuesday evening. Lawrence Welk and his "champagne music" will be heard from the Trianon starting today. A new schedule of broadcasting becomes effective from the two ballrooms this week.

The Dancing Party will be aired over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. Both orchestras will be heard between 9:45 and 10:15 p. m. Fridays.

BASEBALL CHIEFS TO BROADCAST ON W-G-N PREVIEW

W-G-N and the Mutual network will herald the opening of the baseball season with a special broadcast from 7:45 to 8 tomorrow night. Featured on the show will be Leslie M. O'Connor, representing Judge K. M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner; William Harridge, president of the American league, and Ford Frick, head of the National league. Also on the program will be leading members of the world champion Cincinnati Reds and players from the Detroit Tiger team.

This Week in the Garden

Monday, April 14.

Wrap trunks of trees with burlap or specially prepared paper to prevent borers and other pests from injuring the trunk and to prevent injury from the sun. Collect all egg masses and destroy them. Spray perennials early; use Bordeaux mixture on the ground around the plants and later spray the plants at intervals of 10 days.

Do not roll the lawn when it is spongy and wet, for footprints will show and soil stick to the roller. Pot or transplant house plants now.

Tuesday, April 15.

Straighten up labels and replace with new all that need labeling. There is nothing quite as satisfactory as an accurately labeled garden. Do not uncover beds too soon, for a late frost may injure the young growths. If the mulch is heavy, loosen it and draw some of it away from the plants, but leave it for sudden use.

Wednesday, April 16.

Remove water sprouts from fruit trees. Trim hedges before they make too much growth. Thin out crowded shrubs or the whole group will not do well. If the group needs to be rearranged, do it at once or as soon as the ground can be worked. Cut out old wood and prune back the young growth about one-third.

Replace poor, wornout soil with fresh soil. Prune late flowering shrubs, such as the hydrangea. Rugosa roses should be cut back severely, removing the old, gnarled wood.

Thursday, April 17.

Plant fruit trees as soon as conditions are favorable for digging. When the ground can be dug, spade between shrubs to a depth of about six inches. Prune before digging. Pussy willows root easily when cutting are placed in bottles of water. Transplant to the garden and enjoy fine plants.

Cacti are now active and may be transplanted. Use a soil consisting of garden loam and sand in about equal amounts. Do not plant in too large pots and use plenty of drainage. After danger from frost plunge the pots in a well drained spot in the garden. A bit of shade will help, but not dense shade. It is a good place for the Christmas cactus during the summer.

Friday, April 18.

Cut back killed plants on hedge row. This applies to privet hedges especially, for some plants kill during certain winters. Make an application of food along both sides of the row. Many hardy annuals can be sown outdoors now. These include the petunia, calendula, four o'clock, zinnia, and others. Half hardy annuals, such as the ageratum, verbena, phlox drummondi, should be sown in the hotbed for protection.

Saturday, April 19.

In the vegetable garden asparagus, rhubarb, and horseradish may be divided and transplanted. A few plants of rhubarb is sufficient for a family and the leaves are ornamental for some time. They are gross feeders. Asters can be sown early in the house, but the young plants need to be hardened off before planting in the open ground. Handle vegetable plants similarly.

Plow under cover crops. Be sure to sow vegetables for succession in order to utilize every inch of ground, avoiding waste space.

Prepared in coöperation with Garfield park conservatory.

Miniature Grand Opera on Russell Bennett Notebook

Russell Bennett's unusual "Music Box Opera No. 1," a miniature grand opera based on the old American folksong, "Clementine," will be given a repeat performance on "Russell Bennett's Notebook" over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 6 p. m. today. Written especially for this series, it had its première on one of Bennett's broadcasts last fall.

BRACE BEEMER RESUMES ROLE OF LONE RANGER

TakesUp Mutual Hero Part After Graser's Death.

Brace Beemer, who is resuming the rôle of the Lone Ranger he originated nine years ago, fits the part of the radio hero perfectly. He is an expert horseman and his war record proves him a hero in fact as well as in fiction.

Brace Beemer.

The Lone Range will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting System in a new series starting Monday, May 5.

Beemer has taken the Lone Ranger part once more because of the death of Earle Graser, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday.

Beemer was born in Mount Carmel, Ill., 38 years ago. He joined the army at the age of 14, when he was able to convince officers he was much older because of his size. He is tall [6 feet 3 inches] and weighs 200 pounds.

Beemer served in France with the 150th Field Artillery, Rainbow division. He was wounded in the fighting in the Argonne sector and again in the Luneville sector. He was awarded the Military Order of the Purple Heart, created by George Washington.

FUTURE CITIZENS HOUR MOVES TO 7:30 P. M. TUESDAY

The Citizens of Tomorrow program on W-G-N will salute Senn High school at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday. This is a new hour for Citizens of Tomorrow. Previously it has been aired at 4:30 p. m. Tuesdays. The program will be recorded henceforth at 4:30 p. m. and put on the air at the evening hour. Thus students will be able to hear their own school show on the air.

More than 600 Senn students will be in the W-G-N studios to witness the broadcast. The school glee club of 50 voices, under the direction of Dr. Samuel Burkholder, will sing two school songs and two other numbers.

David M. Davidson, principal, will speak briefly. He will be introduced by Philip Maxwell, member of the Tribune editorial staff, who takes the rôle of master of ceremonies on the program.

Special guests will be Dr. John W. Bell, district superintendent of the Chicago high schools; Harry Mess, assistant principal at Senn; Mrs. Mary E. Feuchtinger, president of the Senn PTA; Robert Markus, commander of American Legion post No. 121, and Harry Kalven, Senn graduate and prominent Chicago attorney.

The glee club will sing "The Senn Football Song," the "Twenty-Third Psalm," "The Marching Song," and Senn's "Alma Mater Song," composed by Dr. Burkholder.

Mr. Maxwell will place two more Chicagoland students on the Citizens of Tomorrow rôle of honor. They are Jacob Henry [Jack] Schmidt of Flint, Mich., and Ben Davis, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

SUAVE BULLDOG DRUMMOND NOW ON W-G-N-MUTUAL

With a cast of actors including prominent Broadway featured players, the adventures of "Bulldog Drummond," suave, wealthy amateur detective, are now heard over W-G-N and the Mutual network each Sunday from 5:30 to 6 p. m.

Five members of Orson Welles' Mercury theater group, including Agnes Moorehead, famous actress, make up the nucleus of the Drummond cast. They are: George Coulouris, Everett Sloane, Paul Stewart, and Ray Collins.

Coulouris, whose characterization of the villain in the new Broadway success, "Watch on the Rhine," has received high praise, is the only one in the company who plays the same rôle each week. He has the Bulldog Drummond part. The other three men are all in the hit, "Native Son," and along with Coulouris appear in the Welles film, "Citizen Kane."

FINAL SYMPHONY CONCERT TO BE AIRED THURSDAY

The last Thursday evening concert in the 50th season of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will be heard over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 9:30 to 10:15 p. m. next Thursday. Dr. Frederick Stock will conduct.

The broadcast portion will include "Variations on an American Folk Song" and Stock's "Festival Fanfare" which the conductor wrote for the opening of the Golden Jubilee season last fall.

The "Variations on an American Folk Song" is unique in that it is made up of contributions from 12 Chicago composers based on a song which appears in Sandburg's "Songbag." It is a ditty sung by early residents of southern Illinois and bears the phonetic title of "Elanoy."

The arrangements and variations heard are from the pens of Felix Borowski, John Alden Carpenter, Rossetter G. Cole, Edward Collins, Rudolph Ganz, Samuel Lieberson, Florian Mueller, Albert Noelte, Arne Oldberg, Thorwald Otterstrom, Leo Sowerby, and David Van Vactor. This will be the first presentation of this work.
